241.35 The witness has admitted that the members of the committee are given identity cards with photographs. The witness is shown a yellow-coloured card on which "Peace Committee, Naroda Police Station' is written. The witness has taken the card in his hand and has observed that it is a Naroda Police Station, Peace Committee Card which does not bear a photograph. The name of Kishanchand Khubchand Korani is written on it. The card bears a round seal and on the reverse side, it bears the seal and signature of P.I. of Naroda Police Station. The card is given Exhibit No.1774.

241.36 The witness has stated that he does not know as to when the incident of the mutilated dead body of a person named Ranjit had taken place. The witness has stated that he has not seen any such incident and has no personal knowledge about it, but he had heard about it. The witness has admitted that in connection with the mutilation of the corpse of a person named Ranjit, an offence has been registered with the Naroda Police Station. The witness has denied that in his complaint Exhibit 1773 he has stated only the facts which he has seen with his own eyes. The witness has stated that he has also stated the facts which he has heard.

241.37 The witness has denied that at the instance of Muslims and police officers, he has wrongly given the names of the five accused named in the complaint and that as they are political leaders, with a view to implicate them, their names have wrongly been given. The witness has denied that he has given the complaint at the instance of Shri Mysorewala. The witness has stated that he cannot say as to in which area of Naroda Patiya, the five accused named by him are residing. The witness has denied that none of the five persons was present at the scene of the incident on the day of the incident.

241.38 SUBMISSIONS: The learned counsel for the appellants invited the attention of the court to the testimony of the witness to point out that he was at the S.T. Workshop Gate continuously till 7 o'clock in the evening. He reached the water tank at 12:00 to 12:30 at night and Shri Mysorewala was with him at that time. He saw fifty eight dead bodies in the passage of the water tank and prior thereto, he had not gone to Jawannagar or Hussainnagar. He went from the rear side and not from the side of the S.T. Workshop. It was pointed out that the witness did not go to the place of incident before 12:30 at night and prior to the incident coming to his knowledge, he was at the S.T. Workshop Gate till 7:30 p.m. He saw fifty eight the dead bodies at the passage, when he reached there at night.

241.39 Mr. Prashant Desai, learned Special Public Prosecutor, submitted that from the testimony of this witness, it emerges that he could recognize only the leaders. He had given the names of known persons, which shows the credibility of the witness qua the names of the accused persons. According to the learned counsel, just because the police did not discharge their duties properly, the benefit would not go to the accused. It was submitted that the witness has named and identified the accused and nothing has been brought out in the cross-examination of the witness which shows that the identity of the accused is not believable. The cross-examination does not dislodge the presence or identity of the accused. It was urged that the evidence of this witness qua the accused is credible, reliable and believable.

241.40 ANALYSIS: According to this witness at around nine to nine thirty in the morning mobs started gathering on the road and they made attempts to disperse them during the course of patrolling. At about 11:00 to 11:30 in the morning, while patrolling they came to Naroda Patiya near the Noorani Masjid, at that time Hindu mobs had gathered in large numbers and were shouting slogans like "kill them, hack them". In the meanwhile their Deputy Police Commissioner, Shri P.B. Gondia and A.C.P. Shri M.T. Rana and Naroda Police Station Senior P.I. Shri K.K. Mysorewala also arrived there. At that time mobs from Krushnanagar, Saijpur, Fadel, Kubernagar, Chharanagar started gathering near the Noorani Masjid and Hussainnagar hutments. At the relevant time, active members of the V.H.P. and B.J.P., Kishan Korani, P.J. Rajput, Haresh Rohera, Babu Bajrangi and Raju Chaumal were leading the mobs and were instigating them and in a while, shops, houses of Muslims and the Noorani Masjid were targeted and ransacked and set ablaze and looted.

241.41 The witness has deposed that they had warned the mobs through the loudspeakers on the jeeps to disperse but the mobs were beyond control and continued with the above criminal acts. Thereafter, they had resorted to firing and lobbing tear gas shells, whereupon the mob split into three parts. One such mob assaulted and attacked people at the corner of Gangotri Society in Hussainnagar and caused the deaths of fifty eight men, women and children belonging to the Muslim community. He had lodged a complaint in this regard. The witness has clarified that he had not stated the facts regarding the presence of the five accused at the scene of incident to his higher officers, for the reason that the higher officers were present at the scene of incident.

241.42 The witness has admitted that no police firing took place prior to 11:00 to 11:30 in the morning. On the day of the incident he was continuously present near the S.T. Workshop Gate till 7:00 to 7:30 in the evening. He has further admitted that till he was on duty he did not allow the people in the mob to enter the Muslim areas from the corner of the S.T. Workshop. He has admitted that glass, stones and tube lights, etc. were lying at the entrance of the lane going to Hussainnagar and it was not possible to go inside through the S.T. Workshop road. He has seen people rolling gas cylinders and bringing them. The gas cylinders were thrown in the masjid and at that time there were loud sounds. He has not seen any tanker being rammed into the wall or door of the Noorani Masjid. He had seen the named accused between 12:00 to 2:00 in the afternoon, near the S.T. Workshop gate.

241.43 In his cross-examination it has come out that prior to lodging the complaint he had not gone near the Gangotri Gopinath water tank through the S.T. Workshop road. He had gone to this place at around 12:00 to 12:30 at night at which point of time Shri Mysorewala was with him. He had seen fifty eight corpses in the passage of the water tank. He had gone to the passage of the water tank through the road on the rear side and not through the S.T. Workshop road. He has further stated that as a P.S.I. of the Surveillance Squad, it was his duty to prevent offences in the police station area and to maintain law and order.

241.44 From the testimony of this witness, it emerges that he was near the S.T. Workshop gate right from 11:00 to 11:30 in the morning till 7:00 to 7:30 in the evening. From the evidence of the witness, it emerges that a huge Hindu mob had gathered on the road and was ransacking, destroying and setting ablaze shops and houses of Muslims as well as Noorani Masjid. From the evidence of this witness, there is nothing to indicate that except for announcement on the loudspeaker to the people to disperse, any other positive steps were taken for dispersing the mob. It appears that police firing was resorted to and teargas shells were lobbed on occasional intervals, however, no serious efforts appear to have been made to prevent the mob from destroying the properties of the Muslims.

241.45 Despite the fact that the witness was there throughout the day, all that he says is that, the mobs on the road split into three mobs and one such mob attacked the people at the corner of Gangotri Society and caused the death of fifty eight people belonging to the Muslim community. It is a matter of deep concern that though the witness was present near the S.T. Workshop throughout the day, he does not refer to any houses being set ablaze in the chawls of Hussainnagar, Jawannagar as well as other chawls, starting right from the entrance of the S.T. Workshop. It is not possible that a policeman, who was standing at the corner of the S.T. Workshop, could not have noticed the incidents taking place inside the chawls. However, not a single police witness, including this witness, has stated regarding having taken any steps for preventing the mob from damaging and destroying the houses in the chawls and causing harm to the lives of the Muslim people living inside the chawls. This witness has deposed that while he was on duty, he did not allow the mob to enter the Muslim areas from the corner of the S.T. Workshop. From the topography of the area, it is evident that apart from the road parallel to the S.T. Workshop compound wall, it was also possible to enter the chawls from the side of the S.R.P. Quarters and from the Uday Gas Agency lane, all of which is visible from the corner of the S.T. Workshop road. Despite this fact, huge mobs have entered the chawls from near the S.R.P. Quarters and the Uday Gas Agency road and none of the police personnel present at the scene of offence appear to have made any efforts to prevent them from entering the chawls. In fact, all the police officers and other staff members appear to have developed amnesia insofar as the events that took place between 1:00 to 7:30 in the chawls. None of the witnesses, including this witness, have even mentioned having seen any houses being burnt inside the chawls. Thus, it is evident that the police officers and personnel have turned a complete blind eye to the happenings inside the chawls as if their duty was to maintain law and order only on the highway, where too, they have miserably failed because the shops and houses belonging to the Muslims as well as the Noorani Masjid were damaged and destroyed in the presence of the police personnel, who did nothing except make nominal attempts to disperse the mobs.

241.46 While the witness speaks about a Muslim boy having fled with a Tata-407 which led to the mob getting agitated, he pleads complete ignorance about a tanker having been rammed into the Noorani Masjid though he claims to have been present at the S.T. Workshop throughout the day. A perusal of the scene of offence panchnama as well as the photographs of the Noorani Masjid clearly show a tanker having been reversed into it, however, the witness is not aware of the same, which gives reason to believe that the witness has not come out with the truth.

241.47 Nonetheless, despite the above conduct of the witness, he has stated that at the relevant time, active members of the V.H.P. and B.J.P., Kishan Korani, P.J. Rajput, Haresh Rohera, Babu Bajrangi and Raju Chaumal were leading the mobs and were instigating them and in a while, shops, houses of Muslims and the Noorani Masjid were targeted and ransacked and set ablaze and looted. The presence of the witness at the scene of incident cannot be doubted. There is no reason for the witness to falsely implicate the above accused. In his cross-examination except for a suggestion that he was falsely implicating these accused as they were political persons, nothing has been brought out to indicate that there was any animosity with the accused named by him. Under the circumstances, through the testimony of this witness, the prosecution has proved the presence of the above named accused in the mob on the road.

242. PW-264 Kirankumar Parshottambhai Makwana has been examined at Exhibit 1778. This witness has deposed that from the year 2006 he was working as a Police Constable at Sardarnagar Police Station. Prior thereto, from January, 2000 to June, 2006, he was working as Police Constable at the Naroda Police Station. In February, 2002 he was discharging duties at Saijpur Police Chowky under the Naroda Police Station.

242.1 The incident took place on 28.2.2002. On that day he was posted at the Noorani Masjid point in the Naroda Patiya area. In the context of the train incident that took place on 27.2.2002, the Vishwa Hindu Parishad had given call for Gujarat Bandh on 28.2.2002. On that day in the context of the bandh, bandobust has been arranged.

242.2 In the morning at around 7 o'clock he was on duty at Noorani Masjid. On that day, ASI Rambhai Parsottambhai, ASI Vijaykumar T. Ahari, Police Constable Indravadan Ramjibhai and Police Constable Pradeepsinh Ratansinh were with him. On that day Chandravadan had a rifle and rest of them had lathis with them.

242.3 The Noorani Masjid Police point was on the road outside the Noorani Masjid. On that day, in the morning at around 9 o'clock, mobs of people slowly started gathering on the road side at Noorani Masjid which goes from Naroda Patiya to Thakkarnagar. Out of these mobs, several mobs were also on the side of the Noorani Masjid. Therefore, he and the police staff accompanying him, had given instructions to the people in the mob who had gathered there, to disperse and had made attempts to keep the mob away from the Noorani Masjid.

242.4 In the meanwhile at around 10:30 to 11:00, despite their efforts, more and more mobs started gathering on the road. More and more people started gathering in the open space near the Noorani Masjid.

242.5 In the meanwhile, Police Inspector Shri K.K. Mysorewala and Police Sub-Inspector Shri V.K. Solanki, Police Sub Inspector Shri P.U. Solanki as well as other police staff came to the Patiya area in their vehicles. They too made lawful attempts to disperse the mob; however, the mobs did not disperse.

242.6 In the meanwhile, D.C.P. Shri P.B. Gondia and Assistant Police Commissioner Shri M.T. Rana also arrived there. In the meanwhile, more and more mobs were gathering. A Tata 407 was parked near the Noorani Masjid. Some person sat inside and all of a sudden drove the vehicle through the mob in the direction of Naroda Patiya. Upon the vehicle being driven towards Naroda Baithak, Police Inspector Shri K.K. Mysorewala followed it and returned back after about twenty to twenty five minutes.

242.7 He had come to know that the Tata 407 vehicle had caused the death of one person and had injured two persons. Due to this incident, the mob on the road which was comprised of fifteen thousand to twenty thousand people, got provoked and started shouting 'kill, hack' and started pelting stones at Noorani Masjid. Therefore, the Muslim people residing in the houses near the Noorani Masjid, as well as those who were on the top of the Noorani Masjid, also started pelting stones to resist.

242.8 In the meanwhile, several people from the mobs on the road entered the Noorani Masjid and started damaging and setting it ablaze. At this time the police had lobbed teargas shells to disperse the mob. However, the mob did not disperse and became more aggressive and started entering the shops and residential houses near the Noorani Masjid and damaging houses and shops and torching them. At this time the police had fired at the mob on the road and had attempted to disperse the mob. Chandravadan, who was with them, had also fired one round, but the firing was not successful and there was misfiring.

242.9 In the meanwhile the people from the mobs started pelting stones at Pandit-ni-Chali, Hussainnagar-ni-Chali and Jawannagar hutments situated opposite the Noorani Masjid and from inside the chawls also, there was cross stone- pelting at the people on the road and tube-lights, etc. were being thrown. Upon this happening, firing was resorted to to disperse the mob. As soon as there was firing there was a stampede.

242.10 In the mob he had seen Naresh Agarsingh Chara, who resides near Saijpur Cemetery and Umesh Bharvad, who resides in Krushnanagar Housing, shouting 'kill and hack' and had also seen Kalu alias Kalio Hathisingh Rathod who resides at Krushnanagar Fadeli, who was throwing burning rags on the houses in the chawls. In the meanwhile, on account of the stampede, several people entered into the lanes next to the S.T. Workshop.

242.11 In this incident, several people entered Jigar Hasan-ni-Chali and commenced loot and assault there. The mobs were comprised of the people belonging to the Hindu community.

242.12 These mobs became peaceful after around 7:30 in the evening and the people in the mob had dispersed. They had come to know that behind Hussainnagar, about fifty eight people including women, men and children had been burnt to death.

242.13 The victims, who had sustained burn injuries in the incident, were taken in ambulances and police vehicles to the hospital.

242.14 In this incident P.S.I. Shri V.K. Solanki had lodged the complaint. His (the witness's) statement was recorded on 3.3.2002. Thereafter, the SIT had also recorded his statements on two occasions.

242.15 The witness has stated that he could identify Naresh Agarsinh Chara, Umesh Bharvad and Kalu and has, accordingly, correctly identified all the three accused.

242.16 CROSS EXAMINATION: In the cross examination of the witness it has come out that his first posting was at the Naroda Police Station. The witness has admitted that in the year 2002 his residence was at the S.R.P. Headquarters. The witness has stated that he had discharged his duties at Saijpur Chowky for two years. The distance between Saijpur Chowky and Noorani Masjid must be around one kilometre. He has admitted that none of the five persons, who were posted at the Noorani Masjid, were allotted any teargas.

242.17 The witness has admitted that on the day of the incident in the morning at 10 o'clock, he had occasion to meet the constable on duty at the S.T. Workshop point. He has stated that amongst the five persons who were posted at Noorani Masjid point, no one was in charge under whom the rest of them were required to work.

242.18 The witness has denied that on the day of the incident till 10 o'clock in the morning, everything was peaceful near Noorani Masjid. The witness has stated that there was a lot of movement and the mobs of people had started gathering. The witness has denied that they were required to stay at their point near Noorani Masjid and were not supposed to move from there. The witness has voluntarily stated that for the purpose of maintaining bandobust, they could move around within the range of one hundred to two hundred metres.

242.19 The witness has stated that on that day with a view to persuade the mobs not to gather near Noorani Masjid, sometimes two of them would go together and sometimes they would also go in pairs. The witness has denied that from their point, they were required to send messages to their P.I. that there is no rioting or stone pelting at the spot. The witness has admitted that the Naroda Police Station Van No.1 and Van No.2 used to come for inspection when they were at the point. The witness has admitted that if there was peace or unrest at the spot, they were required to inform the Naroda Police Station Van No.1 and Van No.2 when they came for inspection to their point, and they in turn, they would inform the Police Control Room. The witness has admitted that P.I. Shri Mysorewala had come to their point, but he does not remember, the time when he had come.

242.20 The witness has stated that they were making oral requests on an individual basis to the people in the mob. The witness has admitted that they did not have a loudspeaker. The witness has denied that the mob got provoked after the driver of a Tata 407 drove the vehicle recklessly. The witness has stated that the mob was already provoked. The witness has stated that on account of this incident, the mob had got more provoked and this was one of the reasons for the mob getting more aggressive.

242.21 The witness has admitted that from the top of Noorani Masjid as well as the houses of Muslims nearby, burning rags, tube-lights, bulbs, empty glass bottles and stones were being pelted at the mob. The witness has stated that the said articles were being thrown in defence.

242.22 The witness has stated that as the number of people in the mob was very large; they (the police) were not normally standing at one place, but were required to go to different places to persuade the people in the mob.

242.23 The witness has stated that he is not aware that teargas was being released near the S.T. Workshop and that any youth belonging to Muslim community has been injured by the teargas. The witness has admitted that neither he nor the other police employees, who were with him, have caught any of the persons in the mob while they were looting or taking away the looted goods. The witness has admitted that he has not seen any Hindu injuring or causing burn injury to any Muslim.

242.24 The witness has denied that from 27.2.2002 to 3.3.2002 he was continuously in touch with his P.I. and P.S.I. The witness has admitted that they used to come to their point while patrolling.

242.25 The witness has denied that till 3.3.2002 he had not informed his P.I. about having seen the accused named by him in the mob. The witness has stated that he had orally informed him.

242.26 The witness has denied that his statement was recorded on 3.3.2002, because till then, he did not know the names of the accused. The witness has denied that since no accused was being found, to detect the offence, with the assistance of the surveillance staff squad, names of these three accused have wrongly been given. The witness has denied that the three accused named by him were not present in the mob and that he has not seen them.

242.27 In his cross-examination it has further come out that the witness has not gone to Natraj Hotel or till the Krushnanagar Road. He has not gone inside Krushnanagar. The witness has admitted that from 7:00 to 9:00, he had not seen mobs gathering. The witness has stated that the mobs started gathering after 9 o'clock. Upon being asked as to whether after the mobs started gathering, anyone has asked the mobs to disperse, the witness has stated that they had. The witness has stated that he had approached the mobs that had gathered towards Naroda Patiya and had asked them to disperse. The witness has stated that he had gone about fifteen to twenty steps from his police point to ask the mob to disperse. The witness has stated that upon the mob not dispersing, he had not spoken to the mob in a strict tone.

242.28 The witness has admitted that the mob had gathered out of curiosity. The witness has admitted that the police at their police point as well as at the S.T. Workshop point were continuously attempting to disperse the mob. The witness has voluntarily stated that they could not succeed.

242.29 In the cross-examination of the witness, it has come out that at his police point as well as at the S.T. Workshop police point and at the site, together with the police staff which had come with the higher officers, in all, about fifty policemen had gathered at the spot. The higher officers who had come there were standing in the open space opposite Noorani Masjid, near the S.T. Workshop. The witness has admitted that when the officers came, their vehicles were parked near the spot where they were standing. The witness has admitted that before the Tata 407 was driven away, he had not seen stone pelting. The witness has admitted that on account of a person dying due to the Tata 407 incident, the mob got provoked and thereafter pelted stones.

242.30 The witness has stated that he cannot say with certainty as to at what time the incidents of throwing burning rags, pelting stones and tube-lights and bulbs as well as glass bottles, had taken place. The witness has stated that it was at a little distance from their police point. One mob was from the direction of Thakkar Bapanagar and the other was from the side of Natraj Hotel. The witness has admitted that the fifty to fifty five policemen, who were there, had got divided and were at different places. Some were near the Natraj Patiya, some were near the Noorani Masjid point, and some were at the S.T. Workshop point. Thus, they were at different places. The witness has admitted that the mob was at a little distance from them.

242.31 The witness has stated that there was no Muslim mob where he was standing near Noorani Masjid. The Hindu mob was at a little distance from where he was standing. The senior officers had lobbed teargas shells from their vehicles. The witness has voluntarily stated that there were gasmen in the vehicles of the senior officers. About twenty to twenty two teargas shells were lobbed. The witness has admitted that the teargas shells were lobbed towards Naroda Patiya.

242.32 The witness has denied that where teargas shells were lobbed, the mob had dispersed. The witness has stated that he does not know as to whether eyes were burning on account of gas being released. The witness has stated that on that day he did not feel any burning sensation in his eyes. The witness has denied that he was not at the scene of the incident and therefore, his eyes were not burning.

242.33 In his cross-examination, it has further come out that from the rear side of Noorani Masjid, Muslims were throwing tube-lights, bulbs and stones at the mob on the side of Patiya. The witness has stated that he and the police staff, who were with them during this period, had not caught anyone doing this. The witness has stated that they were blowing whistles and asking the people above to move away from there. The witness has admitted that from where he was standing, the terrace of Noorani Masjid and other terraces were close-by. The witness has stated that he cannot name any of the Muslims who were present on the terrace. He also does not know any Muslim residing near Noorani Masjid.

242.34 The witness has stated that he has seen the mob which came to the corner of the chawl near the S.T. Workshop. The mob was comprised of around four hundred to five hundred people. He has admitted that the people in the mob had swords, dharias, pipes, etc. The witness has admitted that the mob was comprised of Muslims. The witness has stated that from where he was standing, the mob was at a distance of one hundred to one hundred and fifty metres. From this mob, the mob towards Patiya was at a distance of one hundred and fifty metres and the Thakkar Bapanagar mob was at a considerable distance.

242.35 The witness is sought to be confronted with his statement dated 3.3.2002. However, the statement is not put to him to bring on record any contradiction or omission, and hence, the same is not admissible in evidence.

242.36 The witness has admitted that during this entire incident, he had not sustained any kind of injury. The witness has denied that there was a hand to hand combat between the mobs in front of the S.T. Workshop compound wall and at that time, Muslims were pelting stones, tube-lights, glass bottles, etc. from the terrace of Noorani Masjid and the houses and terraces of the houses behind Noorani Masjid at the S.T.

Workshop mob.

242.37 The witness has admitted that during the course of his duty in the entire day of the incident, he was near Noorani Masjid from 7:00 in morning to 7.30 in the evening. The witness has voluntarily stated that as per the rules they can move around within a range of two hundred metres from their point.

242.38 In his cross examination, it has come out that on the day of the incident he has not gone with his officers towards Krushnanagar, Gangotri Society or Jawannagar. The witness has admitted that Hussainnagar is within a range of two hundred metres from Noorani Masjid.

242.39 The witness has admitted that in all, three statements of his, have been recorded, out of which, two have been recorded by the SIT.

242.40 Certain extracts of his statements dated 3.3.2002 and 16.12.2008, are put to the witness; however, since the witness is not sought to be contradicted with any part of his evidence, the same is not admissible in evidence.

242.41 The witness has admitted that Bipin Auto Centre is situated on this road, on the main highway. The witness has denied that on that day he had seen Bipin Auto Centre burning and has stated that he has not noticed any such thing.

242.42 The witness has admitted that he had seen mobs on both the sides of the national highway. He has admitted that the mobs were in huge numbers and there was a lot of commotion. The witness has denied that on the day of the incident it was not possible, on an individual basis, to hear what anyone was speaking. The witness has stated that if one was near, one could hear. The witness has denied that he had not heard anyone's voice by going near. The witness has stated that he had heard Umesh Bharvad and Naresh Agarsingh Chara shouting. The witness has stated that when they went to drive away the mobs that had gathered on the road, the accused were present there. The witness has also stated that they had not gone up to the S.R.P. Camp to drive away the mob. They had gone up to S.R.P. Quarters to chase the mob. He does not remember as to how far they had gone to drive away the mobs.

242.43 The witness has stated that the mob in which the accused were present was at a distance of twenty to twenty five feet from him; this mob had come from the side of the S.R.P. Camp. The witness has admitted that the mob, in which he has mentioned the presence of the accused, came from the direction of Krushnanagar and not the S.T. Workshop. The witness has stated that when they went to drive away the mob, from amongst the police staff accompanying him, probably Sajjansinh was present and other policemen also might have been present, but he does not remember.

242.44 The witness has admitted that on the road going towards Krushnanagar, he had seen mobs and he had seen the accused in those mobs.

242.45 In his cross-examination it has come out that while he was on the spot he had not noticed any policewoman. The witness has admitted that while he was on duty, the door of Noorani Masjid was open. The witness has admitted that the mob had entered Noorani Masjid through the door.

242.46 The witness has denied that in fact, he has not seen the three accused on the day of the incident, but at the instance of his higher officers he was giving their names and that because they have introduced them, he is in a position to identify them.

242.47 ANALYSIS: This witness was posted at the Noorani Masjid police point on the day of the incident. From the testimony of this witness, the futile attempts made by the police, to disperse the mobs and prevent the mobs from carrying on destruction, is evident. The efforts made by the police are on the face of it ludicrous. According to the witness they used to go in groups or pairs to ask the mobs to disperse and used to blow the whistle and ask them to disperse. From the testimony of the witness it appears that not only were any strict steps taken to disperse the mob, they had not even addressed the people in the mob in a strict tone to disperse from them. The police thus cut a very sorry figure regarding the attempts made by them to disperse the mobs and to bring them under control. The witness claims to have identified three persons in the mob, whom he has named. However, considering the overall reluctance of the police to bring the culprits to book, there is no reason to disbelieve the witness when he names the three accused whom he has seen in the mob. As is the case with all the other police witnesses, this witness also feigns ignorance about all the incidents that took place in the chawls throughout the day. While the witness speaks about the mob indulging in destruction of properties of the Muslims, he does not speak about any earnest efforts having been made to prevent the mobs from doing so. It appears that the police were mute spectators to the entire incidents that took place throughout the day, except for lobbing tear gas shells and resorting to firing, wherein surprisingly it is the Muslims who were the targets. The witness says that the mobs calmed down at around 7:00 to 7:30 in the evening and dispersed and they came to know that fifty eight people had been done to death behind Hussainnagar. The apathy of the police to what was going on inside the chawls, where the rampaging mobs had entered, is highly regretful and shocking. Another notable aspect of the evidence of this witness is that while he refers to the Tata 407 incident, he is totally silent about a tanker being reversed and rammed into the Noorani Masjid, though he was posted at that point throughout the day. Thus, the entire attempt of the police appears to be to show that it was the Muslims who provoked the mobs leading to the rioting. It may also be noted that the witness is totally silent about the police firing wherein a Muslim and a Hindu youth had died, and several Muslims were injured. Thus, the police have adopted a partisan attitude not only while on duty on the day of the incident, but also at the time of deposing before the court. The fact that the conduct of the police who were present at the scene of incident has been condoned and most of them have been promoted within a short time, speaks volumes about the intention of the Government insofar as safeguarding the lives and properties of the Muslims and bringing the culprits to book is concerned.

242.48 This witness has deposed that in the mob he had seen Naresh Agarsingh Chara, who resides near Saijpur Cemetery and Umesh Bharvad, who resides in Krushnanagar Housing, shouting 'kill and hack' and had also seen Kalu alias Kalio Hathisingh Rathod who resides at Krushnanagar Fadeli, who was throwing burning rags on the houses in the chawls. The witness is consistent in this regard. His presence at the scene of offence cannot be doubted. Under the circumstances, there is no reason to disbelieve the witness when he says that he had seen the named accused as described by him. In the cross-examination of the witness nothing has been brought out to show any previous enmity with the accused and hence there is no reason for the witness to falsely implicate them. Through the testimony of this witness, the prosecution has proved the presence of the above three accused in the mob on the day of the incident.

243. PW-265 A.S.I. Sajjansinh Jaswantsinh Puwar has been examined at Exhibit 1781. This witness has deposed that he has retired as ASI, Odhav Police Station in January 2008.

243.1 In the year 2002 he was discharging his duties as an unarmed ASI at Naroda Police Station. At that time he was discharging duties at Krushnanagar Police Chowky.

243.2 The incident took place on 28.2.2002. On that day, in the context of the Godhra train incident, the Vishwa Hindu Parishad had given a call for Gujarat Bandh. On the day of the incident he was discharging his duties outside the S.T.

Workshop gate at Naroda Patiya. He had reported on duty at 7 o'clock in the morning. Head Constable-Ganpatsinh, Vinubhai Haribhai and Jayendrasinh Bapalal were with him. Except Jayendrasinh, all of them had batons, whereas Jayendrasinh had a rifle. On that day, at the point near Noorani Masjid, Ramjibhai Parsottambhai, Vijaykumar Trilokilal, Kirankumar Parshottambhai, Chandravadan Ramjibhai were present; out of whom Chandravadan had a rifle and the rest of them had batons.

243.3 On that day when he was present at his point, in the morning at around 9 o'clock people started gathering near Natraj Hotel, Naroda Patiya as well as Krushnanagar Road and out of curiosity they started roaming around the Noorani Masjid. For this reason, the police staff at their point as well as the policemen at the Noorani Masjid point, tried to persuade the people in the mob. They informed the mob to disperse and move away from near the Noorani Masjid. However, the mob did not disperse and went on swelling. In the meanwhile, PSI Shri V.K. Solanki of 'D' staff and Chowky PSI Shri P.U. Solanki as well as Naroda First P.I. Shri Mysorewala also arrived and lawfully tried to persuade the mob to go away from there. However, the people in the mob were not persuaded.

243.4 In the meanwhile Deputy Police Commissioner, Zone-IV Shri Gondia and 'G' Division ACP Shri Rana also arrived there and told the people in the mob present there, to go away. In the meanwhile, some individual started a Tata 407 mini-truck which was lying near the Noorani Masjid and drove it towards Naroda Baithak, and hence, Shri Mysorewala followed it in his Government vehicle. Due to this, the mob became aggressive and started pelting stones at the Noorani Masjid. At this time, Muslims also resorted to cross stone pelting and also pelted empty bottles, tube-lights and burning rags.

243.5 Therefore, under the orders of Zone-IV, teargas shells were lobbed from Shri Mysorewala's vehicle. Shri Mysorewala had followed Tata-407 and had returned in about twenty five minutes.

243.6 Upon the Tata 407 being driven into the mob, one person had died and two to three other persons were injured. The people in the mob went below the masjid and torched it and damaged it, due to which, the Deputy Police Commissioner, Zone-IV Shri Rana ordered firing, whereupon firing was resorted to. The people in the mob were burning shops nearby the Noorani Masjid. At this time also the Zone-IV Deputy Police Commissioner ordered firing. However, the firing did not have any effect on the mob. Lobbing teargas shells also did not have any effect on the mob.

243.7 There was a constant growth in the mob near the Noorani Masjid and the number of people in the mob must have been around fifteen to seventeen thousand.

243.8 Thereafter, the people in the mob started going towards the road near Pandit-ni-Chali, Hussainnagar and Jawannagar. This mob, which was near the Noorani Masjid, was a Hindu mob. Moreover, mobs of Hindus had also come from Krushnanagar, Thakkarnagar, etc.

243.9 When the mob of Hindus was trying to enter Hussainnagar, Jawannagar and Pandit-ni-Chali, at that time a mob of around four hundred to five hundred Muslims had resorted to cross fighting with weapons. Therefore, Deputy Police Commissioner Shri Gondia had ordered firing for the second time. Upon firing having been resorted to, the people in the mob went from the lanes and jumped over the walls and fled towards the rear side.

243.10 The Hindu mobs which had come from the direction of the Noorani Masjid and Krushnanagar, was shouting 'kill, hack'. The people in the mob resorted to arson and burning houses. In the mob he had seen Naresh Chara, who resides near Saijpur cemetery, as well as Kalu Alias Kalio Harisingh from Saijpur Fadeli, as well as one more person, whose name he does not remember at present. These persons were throwing burning rags. These three persons were together in the mob and were pelting stones and burning rags. At present, he does not remember what else they were doing.

243.11 Subsequently, after the evening, those persons, who had sustained burns in the incident as well as those who had sustained different injuries, were taken to hospital for treatment under instructions of the police officers, and they had remained present at their post for their duties. As regards those people who had survived in the incident, arrangements were made to take them to the relief camps.

243.12 Shri V.K. Solanki, PSI had lodged his complaint in connection with the incident. In the context of the complaint, his statement was recorded in the year 2002. The witness has stated that he knows Naresh Chhara and Kalu alias Harisingh and can identify them. The witness has stated that he does not remember the name of the third person, but he can possibly identify him. The witness has thereafter identified Naresh Chhara and Kalu alias Harisingh, but could not identify the third person.

243.13 [The court has made note below wherein it is recorded that third accused named in the statement was present amongst the accused when the witness went for identification. It may be noted that the witness in his examination-in-chief or his entire testimony has not named the third accused. Therefore, one fails to understand as to on what basis the trial court has referred to the presence of the third accused. The use of the police statement in this manner by the trial court, is, therefore, required to be deprecated in the strictest terms.]

243.14 CROSS-EXAMINATION: In his cross-examination, the witness has admitted that Shri P.U. Solanki was a Chowky PSI of the Krushnanagar Police Chowky. In his cross-examination, it has come out that at the S.T. Workshop point there were four people including him. The witness has admitted that he was the in-charge of the police point team. The witness has denied that he was not required to remain stationary at the point. The witness has stated that during the course of discharge of his duties, he was required to ensure bandobust near the point. At the spot, in terms of the instructions of the higher officers, they were required to discharge duties and were required to take decisions according to the incidents that took place at the spot.

243.15 The witness has admitted that at around 10:30 to 11:00, Shri M.T. Rana, ACP had come to their point. The witness has admitted that prior to 10:30, there were no disturbances, riots or incidents, at the point where he was standing. The witness has voluntarily stated that only mobs were gathering there. The witness has stated that he does not know whether at that time Shri Gohil, 2nd P.I., Naroda Police Station had also come there.

243.16 The witness has admitted that from Naroda Patiya to Krushnanagar and Thakkarnagar there was a mob of about ten thousand to fifteen thousand people. The witness has admitted that the mob was on the side of Natraj Hotel. He has admitted that from 7:00 in the morning till the bandobust was over, he was required to continuously remain at the point. The witness has stated that he had gone nearby wherever it was necessary. In his cross-examination, the witness has stated that he does not know as to how many teargas shells were lobbed from Shri M.T. Rana's vehicle. The witness has admitted that when the masjid was attacked, twenty to twenty one teargas shells were lobbed from Shri Mysorewala's vehicle. The witness has admitted that they had not arrested anyone from the riotous mob. The witness has voluntarily stated that number of people in the mob was so large that it was impossible to arrest anyone.

243.17 The witness has admitted that the mob had become aggressive after the incident of the Tata 407. The witness has admitted that after the Tata mini-truck was driven, the mob was provoked.

243.18 The witness has denied that Shri Mysorewala and Shri Gohil were coming to their point for checking. The witness has voluntarily stated that Shri Mysorewala was present at the spot and hence, the question of checking did not arise.

243.19 The witness has admitted that on the day of the incident, right from the beginning, till the end, Shri Mysorewala was present at the spot. The witness has denied that from the day of the incident till 3.3.2002, he had not given the names of the two persons named by him in his evidence and the third person, whose name he does not remember, to Shri Mysorewala.

243.20 The witness has denied that he has not seen the accused named in his examination-in-chief throwing burning rags or stones on the day of the incident. The witness has denied that till 3.3.2002, since he could not find the names of any accused to be implicated in the offence, at the instance of his higher officers, he had falsely given names of the accused implicating them in the offence.

243.21 In his cross-examination it has further come out that his statement was recorded at the Naroda Police Station. The witness has stated that he does not know whether there was a third police point at S.R.P. Quarters. The witness has stated that there were no S.R.P. Jawans at his police point. The witness has stated that after the riots took place, the S.R.P. Jawans were posted at Noorani Masjid. The witness has stated that he does not know as to how many S.R.P. Jawans had come there. The witness has admitted that the police vehicles had come in open space near the road between the S.T. Workshop and Noorani Masjid.

243.22 The witness has stated that from the S.T. Workshop point, he had not gone up to Natraj Hotel to disperse the mob. The witness has admitted that he was making attempts to drive away the mob coming from that direction. The witness has stated that he is not aware whether the policemen at the Noorani Masjid point were making attempts to drive away the mob from Krushnanagar.

243.23 The witness has stated that he came to know about one person having died and two persons having been injured by the Tata 407 vehicle from the people in the public. The witness has denied that stone pelting initially started when Shri Mysorewala went after the Tata 407 and returned from there.

243.24 The witness has stated that around four hundred to five hundred Muslims had come up against the Hindu mob which was trying to enter Hussainnagar, Pandit-ni-Chali and Jawaharnagar, which he had seen from a distance. The witness does not remember as to whether anyone other than their officers had come.

243.25 Certain extracts of the police statement dated 3.3.2002 of the witness, are sought to be brought on record by the defence. However, since this part of the police statement does not, in any manner, contradict any part of the evidence of this witness the same is not admissible in evidence. The trial court was, therefore, not justified in permitting the defence to bring the same on record.

243.26 The witness has admitted that he had seen Bipin Auto burning on that day but has stated that he does not know as to who had set it on fire.

243.27 SUBMISSIONS: Mr. Prashant Desai, learned Special Public Prosecutor, submitted that the witness has named two accused and has identified them. So far as the two accused named by him are concerned, there is no substantial cross-examination in that regard. Therefore, the presence of these two accused is duly established through the testimony of this witness.

243.28 ANALYSIS: This witness was posted outside the S.T. Workshop gate on the day of the incident and claims to be present there from 7 o'clock in the morning till the evening. The witness has named two persons whom he had seen in the mob on that day in the morning on the road, viz. Naresh Chhara and Kalu @ Kaliya Harisingh and has alleged that they were throwing burning rags and pelting stones. According to this witness, Shri Mysorewala lawfully tried to persuade the mob to disperse but the people in the mob were not persuaded. Thereafter the higher officers arrived and told the mob to go away. In the meanwhile the Tata 407 incident took place and the mob became aggressive. The Muslims also pelted stones, bottles, tube lights and burning rags. He refers to firing and lobbing of tear gas shells by the police, which had no effect. According to this witness, when the Hindu mobs attempted to enter the chawls, four hundred to five hundred Muslims came out with weapons and the mobs started fighting each other, due to which the Deputy Commissioner ordered firing, whereupon the people in the mob jumped over the walls in the chawls and fled on the rear side. Thus, from the testimony of this witness it emerges that the firing by the police, facilitated the entry of the mobs into the chawls. After referring to the police firing, the witness then jumps straight to the evening when the people who had sustained burns and injuries were taken to the hospitals for treatment. The witness is totally silent about any of the happenings in the chawls throughout the day, despite the fact that he was posted outside the S.T. Workshop gate from which most parts of the chawls would have been visible. Thus, the police appear to have deliberately turned a blind eye to the happenings in the chawls and have pretended to be totally unaware of the incidents that took place inside the chawls throughout the day on the day of the incident, presumably to wriggle out of the responsibility of the deaths and destruction that was caused inside the chawls on the day of the incident.

243.29 Having regard to the fact that the police have been totally unwilling to bring the culprits to book, when at least two persons have been named by this witness, may be as a face saving exercise, there is no reason to disbelieve their presence at the scene of incident on that day. Thus, through the testimony of this witness, the prosecution has proved the presence of Naresh Chhara (A-1) and Kalu @ Kaliya Harisingh (A-27) in the riotous mob on the road in the morning on the day of the incident.

244. PW-266 Parbatsingh Vajesinh Thakore has been examined at Exhibit-1775.

244.1 This witness has deposed that, at present, he is working as a P.S.O. at Odhav Police Station. Prior thereto, he was in the Crime Branch and in the year 2002, he was discharging duties as an Unarmed Police Constable at Naroda Police Station. At the relevant time, he was working as a Wireless Operator in the police jeep known as Naroda One. At the relevant time, Shri K. K. Mysorewala was the Senior Police Inspector at Naroda Police Station. His duties involved working as a Wireless Operator in his vehicle.

244.2 Out of the ten kar sevaks who were victims in the incident of burning of the train at Godhra on 27.2.2002, nine belonged to the Naroda area. Therefore, unrest had spread.

244.3 A Cotton Workshop in the Nava Naroda area came to be set on fire. Hence, on 27.2.2002, he was required to go with Shri K. K. Mysorewala to the area in which the shop was situated and Shri K. K. Mysorewala as well as the A.C.P. of 'G' Division had convinced the mob which had gathered there and dispersed it.

244.4 On 28.2.2002, the Vishwa Hindu Parishad had given a call for Gujarat Bandh. On that day, on account of the call for bandh, there was a stand-to bandobust and they were required to remain on duty continuously and, accordingly, they had remained present for their duties.

244.5 On 28.2.2002, he had reported on duty at the Naroda One vehicle at 7 o'clock in the morning. The other staff of the vehicle had also come. They were patrolling in the Naroda Police Station area. Shri Mysorewala was with them and they had mostly patrolled in the Naroda Patiya area. In the morning at around 9:15, they had received a message from the Police Control that mobs of people had gathered at Naroda Patiya and were pelting stones. Thereafter they reached there. Mobs of people had gathered there. They tried to convince the mobs to disperse; however, the mob did not fully disperse.

244.6 As time went by, the mob started growing larger and larger. The mobs were comprised of Hindus. Mobs gathered from Krushnanagar, Patiya and all four sides. The mob had started pelting stones at Hussainnagar-ni-chali, the Noorani Masjid, etc. Hence, the police had resorted to lathi charge. The police had lobbed teargas shells and had used force to try to stop the stone pelting. However, the mobs continued with rioting.

244.7 At this time, Shri Gondia D.C.P. Zone-4 had come to the spot. He must have come at around 10:30. Upon the mob becoming uncontrollable, Shri Gondia ordered firing. Thereafter, the police had resorted to firing.

244.8 Thereafter, Shri Tandon, Joint Police Commissioner, Sector-2 arrived at the spot. He instructed that curfew be declared. Hence, they made an announcement from the Naroda No.1 vehicle declaring curfew. They made such announcement in the entire Naroda Police Station area.

244.9 At around 2:00 to 2:15 in the afternoon, he had seen workers from around the Naroda area, namely, Kishan Korani, Babu Bajrangi, P. J. Rajput and Raju Chaumal, amidst the mob at Naroda Patiya. They were talking about something. The mob was pelting stones and rioting and were also creating a lot of commotion. The witness was present near the Noorani Masjid when there was an attack on the Noorani Masjid. He saw that the people in the mob were pelting stones. They had received such a message from the Police Control Room also. They had resorted to lathi charge near the Noorani Masjid also and had tried to drive away the public. Pursuant to their attempts, the mob would disperse for a while and then return.

244.10 The Hindus made a representation to Shri Mysorewala that two Hindus had been pulled and taken inside Hussainnagar-ni-chali. Therefore, they reached inside Hussainnagar-ni-chali. Upon inspecting inside Hussainnagar, they did not find any such thing and they could not find any one.

244.11 They came to know that outside Hussainnagar-ni-chali a dead body of a Hindu is lying in a distorted condition. Shri Mysorewala and his staff members reached the spot. They went where the dead body was lying. They followed the legal procedure in connection with the dead body, which was sent to the Civil Hospital. On account of this incident, the mob became more enraged and became violent and started pelting stones. They started pelting stones at the Noorani Masjid, Hussainnagar-ni-chali and other areas. The people in the mob were throwing burning rags, tube lights and stones also. The people in the mob were pelting stones at the Noorani Masjid as well as residences of Muslims and shops. They were damaging and burning houses, shops etc.

244.12 In the stone pelting, Senior P.I. Shri Mysorewala and other staff members sustained simple injuries. Despite there being a curfew in the Naroda Police Station area, the mob continued with violent attacks, stone pelting etc.

244.13 In the evening time, they came to know that houses in Hussainnagar-ni-chali have been burnt and there is loss of life. Hence, he, together with Shri Mysorewala, reached Hussainnagar-ni-chali. The witness has stated that he is referring to Hussainnagar as Hussainnagar-ni-chali.

244.14 When they reached Hussainnagar-ni-chali, many people had been injured, some were also burnt. They took steps to immediately give treatment to the injured. There were many dead bodies lying in the interior of Hussainnagar-ni-chali. They took steps to do the needful in connection with the dead bodies.

244.15 Necessary arrangements were made to take the Muslims who had escaped, wherever they wanted to go.

244.16 Shri V. K. Solanki, P.S.I. had given a complaint in connection with the incident. In connection with the complaint, the Assistant Police Commissioner, Crime Branch had recorded his statement on 25.5.2002. Moreover, his statement was also recorded by the S.I.T. on 16.12.2008. The witness has deposed that the four accused, whom he has referred to in his examination-in-chief, can be identified by him. The witness has thereafter correctly identified Raju Chaumal (Accused No.24) and Babu Bajrangi (Accused No.18) correctly, whereas the witness has identified Accused No.44 Bipin Panchal as Shri P. J.

Rajput. Accused No.20 Kishan Korani had filed an exemption application and, therefore, is deemed to have been identified.

244.17 CROSS-EXAMINATION: In the cross-examination, the witness has admitted that on 27.2.2002, Jivabhai Pujabhai and Chhababhai Chhaganbhai were in the One Vehicle and Hirasinh was the driver. He and Shri Mysorewala were also there. On 28.2.2002, all of them were in the one vehicle. The witness has admitted that on 28.2.2002 they were on duty till 12 o'clock at night. In his cross-examination, it has come out that as a part of his duties as a Wireless Operator, he is required to receive the messages, coming from the Police Control Room and to inform the Officers about these messages and correspondingly to give necessary messages to the officers and the Police Control Room. The witness has admitted that he is required to sit in front of the Wireless message equipment. The witness has voluntarily stated that if Shri Mysorewala entrusts some work to him or calls him, he is required to go with him, which had happened on that day. The witness has admitted that he records the messages which come from the Police Control Room as well as other Police Officers in a Wireless Book in his own handwriting wherein the time of receipt of the message and other details are written down by him.

244.18 At this stage, the learned counsel for the defence had sought permission to refer to internal page No.915 to 918 of the charge-sheet papers to cross-examine the witness. The witness is shown internal page No.915, which is an extract of the Naroda-1 Vehicle-1 log book, which starts from 27.1.2002, which is produced along with the purshis Exhibit-767.

244.19 The witness is shown pages 515 to 520, which he has identified to be extracts of the log book which are in his handwriting. The witness is shown internal pages 921 to 927 which also are extracts of the log book relating to the Naroda Police Van, which is known as No.1 Vehicle. The witness has stated that the handwritings up till the first lines of internal pages No. 921 to 927 are not his and that the handwritings are of his then colleague Jivabhai Punjabhai, who also was working as Wireless Operator -2 with them. The witness has stated that there are entries from 8 o'clock in the morning of 1.3.2002. Pages No.915 to 928, all of which are certified copies, have been given combined Exhibit No.1786.

244.20 The attention of the witness is invited to internal page No.921 and more particularly to the entry of 9:30 in the morning of 28.2.2002. The witness has stated that this entry is not in his handwriting but is in Jivabhai's handwriting. The witness has stated that he knows Jivabhai's handwriting. This message was received by them from the Police Control Room asking them to inform whether all is well (Khairiyat Janavo). The witness has admitted that in response to the message, the reply that was given was that all was well in Naroda Police Station area. The attention of the witness is drawn to page 921 and more particularly, to the entry relating to 10 o'clock wherein also the Police Control Room had asked regarding whether everything was all right in that area and in response they had stated that all is well in the Police Station area.

244.21 The attention of the witness is drawn to page 924 dated 28.2.2002 relating to evening 18:45 hours wherein

'Naroda-1 calling', there is a fight at Gopinath Ganga (the words that follow are not legible) Society.

244.22 The witness has stated that in the wireless message wherein they had employed the word "king" the same has been used for the Ahmedabad City Police Commissioner. The words, "lion" and "tiger" used in the wireless messages are respectively used for the Joint Police Commissioner of Sector-1 and Sector-2 respectively. The witness has admitted that the word "Khairiyat" has been used to demonstrate peace.

244.23 Certain extracts of the statement dated 16.12.2008 recorded by the SIT are put to the witness, however, the facts which are brought out in the extract are not put to him to bring out any contradiction in the evidence of the witness, and hence, are not admissible in evidence. The trial court was, therefore, not justified in permitting the same to be brought on record.

244.24 The attention of the witness is invited to the first four lines of paragraph 6 of his examination-in-chief. The witness has admitted that in the log book Exhibit-1786, there is no mention of the message received from the Police Control Room at 9:15 in the morning. The witness has stated that Exhibit-1786 is a Wireless Book. The witness has admitted that he does not know as to whether this message has been written in the Message Book Exhibit-1776.

244.25 The witness has admitted that at around 10:15 in the morning, upon it coming to the notice of Shri Mysorewala that mobs had started gathering near Thakkarnagar Cross Roads and Bhagyodaya Hotel, they had reached there. Bhagyodaya Hotel is at a distance of around two kilometres from Naroda Patiya. They had reached Bhagyodaya Hotel at around 10:20 to 10:25. The witness has admitted that while going to Bhagyodaya Hotel from Patiya on that day, there were no obstacles in their way. When they reached the hotel, the stone pelting had already taken place. The witness has stated that they had remained there for about fifteen minutes. When they reached there, the mobs were nearby. They had dispersed the mobs. They had stayed there for fifteen minutes, during which period, the mobs had dispersed.

244.26 The witness does not remember as to whether after they had dispersed the mob at Bhagyodaya they had received any message that the Noorani Masjid was attacked. The witness has admitted that at around 11:00 to 11:15 he had reached the Noorani Masjid with Shri Mysorewala.

244.27 The witness has admitted that from Bhagyodaya Hotel they had gone straight to the masjid at Naroda Gam via Krushananagar and Naroda Patiya. The witness has admitted that when they went to Naroda Gam Masjid, there was no obstacle in their way. They had stayed at the masjid of the Gam for about fifteen minutes. They had dispersed the mobs which had gathered near the Naroda Gam Masjid. The witness has admitted that from the Gam Masjid, they had come to the Noorani Masjid at around 11:00 to 11:15 in the morning.

244.28 The witness has admitted that at this time, huge mobs had gathered near the Noorani Masjid and people were walking on the road and were coming running from the direction of Naroda Patiya. The witness has admitted that on all the roads on the sides of Naroda Patiya circle there were mobs.

244.29 The witness has admitted that they had parked their Naroda-1 vehicle near the S.T. Workshop gate. The witness has admitted that at that time, policemen were present at the S.T. Workshop compound. The witness has admitted that at that time, all their higher Officers were present at the spot. He has further admitted that all their higher Officers, namely, Shri Tandon, Shri Gondia, Shri Mysorewala, Shri Gohil and Shri V.K. Solanki were present there. The witness has admitted that all the Officers had gathered near the S.T. Workshop together with their vehicles and their police staff was with them.

244.30 The witness has admitted that at this time in the morning at around 11:00 to 11:15, the driver of the Tata 407 Mini Truck had started the truck and had driven the same in full speed from the mob towards Naroda Baithak, due to which, there was a stampede amongst the people and the people in the mob became very incited. The witness has admitted that Shri Mysorewala had followed the mini truck and had apprehended the person and had handed him over to the police station P.S.I. Shri Katara. The witness has admitted that when Shri Mysorewala followed the vehicle, he was with him in the vehicle.

244.31 The witness has admitted that by the time they went and came back, the mob had increased. The witness has admitted that a rumour had spread that three Hindus had died in the incident and the unrest amongst the mob increased. The witness has admitted that at that time, it had happened that the Hindu Muslim mobs were pelting stones, tube-lights, glass-bottles and burning rags, at each other. The witness has admitted that thereafter they had resorted to lathi charge.

244.32 The witness has stated that he does not know the exact time, however, curfew must have been declared at around 12 o'clock. The witness has admitted that prior to the curfew being declared Hindus had come and made a representation to Shri Mysorewala that two Hindus have been pulled in Hussainnagar-ni-Chali by the Muslims and thereafter, after about half an hour, a dead body of a Hindu was thrown out from Hussainnagar-ni-Chali. The eyes and face of the dead body had been injured with sharp edged weapons and was mutilated. The witness has admitted that at that time, the mobs on both the sides had become aggressive and came against each other. The witness has admitted that at that time, the Deputy Police Commissioner had ordered the persons under him to fire.

244.33 The witness has stated that on the day of the incident, he was on duty at the S.T. Workshop gate since 7 o'clock in the morning. Upon receiving different messages, they used to go to the spot, however, except that, that till 7 o'clock in the evening; they were at the S.T. Workshop gate. The witness has admitted that during this period, they used to go and drop the Muslim people to safe places.

244.34 The witness has stated that when they received messages they used to go, otherwise they used to send the

P.S.I. in the requisitioned vehicle. The witness has admitted that in the evening at 16:20, they, together with Shri Mysorewala and A.C.P. 'G' Division, had reached the masjid at Naroda Gam and had dispersed the mob which had gathered there. All this had taken around twenty to twenty five minutes.

244.35 The witness has admitted that they had kept about twenty families safely at Naroda Police Station and had taken steps to take them there. The witness has admitted that the police station is situated opposite the Naroda Gam Masjid. The witness has admitted that it had taken them about fifteen to twenty minutes to transport the families. The witness has admitted that from there they had gone to the Noorani Masjid.

244.36 In his cross-examination, the witness has stated that he does not remember as to whether they had stayed at the Noorani Masjid or had gone elsewhere. The witness has stated that he does not know as to whether at five thirty to quarter to six, on that day, he was at the Bhagyodaya Hotel. The witness has stated that he is not aware as to whether at quarter to six, they had received a message that there are riots in Gopinath Gangotri Society. The witness has admitted that their P.S.I. had received news that some incident had taken place at Hussainnagar, but he does not remember the time.

244.37 The witness has stated that he had gone from the Noorani Masjid to Hussainnagar but does not remember the time. It was evening time but he does not know the exact time. The witness has admitted that after going to Hussainnagar they had gathered all the persons who were injured. The witness has admitted that they had gone to the chawls and called them and had gathered them at one place and had taken them in the requisitioned vehicle. The witness has admitted that they had gathered around twenty seven injured persons there which took around one hour. The witness has stated that he himself had not accompanied the injured people to Civil Hospital but he had sent them.

244.38 The witness has admitted that after the twenty seven injured persons were sent to the hospital, thereafter, they had tried to extinguish the fire in Hussainnagar-ni-Chali. The witness has stated that they had tried to extinguish the fire in around ten to fifteen houses. The witness has admitted that when they extinguished the fire in ten to fifteen houses, Shri Mysorewala was with them.

244.39 The witness is not aware as to whether Shri Gondia and Shri Tandon were present or not. The witness has admitted that it had taken them around an hour to extinguish the fire. The witness has admitted that thereafter, they had returned to the Noorani Masjid.

244.40 The witness has admitted that by the time they returned back, it was night and the lights were on. The witness has admitted that when they returned to the Noorani Masjid, Shri V.K. Solanki, Shri Gohil and Shri Mysorewala were at the Noorani Masjid. The witness is not aware as to whether thereafter they had received any wireless message to go to Gopinath Gangotri Society.

244.41 The witness has admitted that thereafter, they had gone near the passage in Gopinath Gangotri Society. The witness is not aware as to whether at that time, Shri Mysorewala was present. The witness has admitted that at that time, he had come out of the vehicle and has voluntarily stated that, at that time, Jivabhai was a Wireless Operator. The witness has stated that when he went to the Gopinath Gangotri Society passage, there were many Officers there. D.C.P. Zone-4 Shri Gondia, Shri Mysorewala, Shri Rana and Shri V.K. Solanki were present there.

244.42 The witness has admitted that those who had sustained burns in the passage were separated and the dead bodies were counted. The witness has admitted that steps were taken to send the dead bodies which were lying in the passage for post mortem and the injured persons were also taken to the hospital. The witness has admitted that after they returned from Civil Hospital, Shri Solanki had given his complaint.

244.43 The witness has admitted that while they were on the spot, at that time, their centre point was the S.T. Workshop. The witness has admitted that all the mobs were at a distance of 150 to 200 feet. from the S.T. Workshop gate. The witness has admitted that he had seen that several people in the mob were coming walking and several people were coming running and some people were going back.

244.44 The witness has stated that he is not aware as to at what time, he had seen the mobs. The witness has stated that the accused whom he has referred to in his examination-in-chief were seen by him at around 12:00 to 2:00 in the afternoon. The witness has stated that he cannot say as to in which mob the four people whom he had seen were. He cannot say what kind of clothes they were wearing.

244.45 The witness has denied that though he had not seen the four persons in the mob, at the instance of his Higher Officers he was falsely deposing before the court. The witness has admitted that the people whom he has identified are social workers. The witness has denied that he has not seen any of the four accused at the scene of offence on the day of the incident and is falsely deposing before the court.

244.46 PW-307 S. S. Chudasama, the Investigating Officer has admitted that he has recorded the statement of this witness on 25.5.2002. He has admitted that this witness had stated before him that at around 9:00 to 9:15, scattered people started gathering and coming on the road and as time passed, more and more people started gathering.

244.47 SUBMISSIONS: Mr. Prashant Desai, Learned Special Public Prosecutor, submitted that this witness has testified that he saw the four accused between 2:00 to 2:15 in the afternoon and he has identified all of them. It was submitted that there is no substantial cross-examination of the witness, and hence, the presence of all the four accused at the scene of offence is established through the testimony of this witness.

244.48 ANALYSIS: From the testimony of this witness, it emerges that at the relevant time, he was working as a Wireless Operator with Senior Police Inspector Shri K. K. Mysorewala. The witness was on duty with Shri Mysorewala right from 7 o'clock in the morning of 28.2.2002. This witness has deposed that he had seen accused Kishan Korani, Babu Bajrangi, P.J. Rajput and Raju Chobal at around 2:00 to 2:15 in the afternoon in the Naroda Patiya mob. The witness refers to instances of police firing, clamping down of curfew in the area as well as the attack on the Noorani Masjid by the mobs. The witness has also referred to the Hindus making a representation to Shri Mysorewala that two Hindus had been dragged inside Hussainnagar-ni-Chali, whereafter they had gone to Hussainnagar-ni-Chali and investigated there, but could not find anything. Thereafter, a mutilated dead body of a Hindu was found outside Hussainnagar-ni-Chali due to which, the mob got provoked and became aggressive. The witness has thereafter stated that in the evening, they came to know that houses of people in the Hussainnagar-ni-Chali had been set ablaze and there was loss of life, and hence, he along with Shri Mysorewala reached Hussainnagar-ni-Chali, where many people were injured, some had also sustained burn injuries. They had taken steps to provide treatment to the injured. There were many dead bodies inside Hussainnagar-ni-Chali. Out of the accused named by him, the witness has identified accused No.24 and 18, but has wrongly identified accused No.44 Bipin Panchal as accused No.19 P.J. Rajput. Accused No.20 Kishan Korani had filed an exemption application and is, therefore, deemed to be identified. From the cross-examination of the witness, it emerges that he was on duty till 12 o'clock at night on 28.2.2002. From the messages sent to the Control Room recorded by the witness, it emerges that at 9:30 a.m. and also at 10:00 a.m., they had sent messages to the Police Control Room that everything was alright in the police station area. Thus, despite the fact that large mobs had gathered on the highway and the higher police officers had already started coming to the spot, the messages were sent to the Control Room that all is well.

244.49 From the testimony of this witness, it emerges that they had parked their vehicle near the S.T. Workshop Gate, where the police who were deputed at the S.T. Workshop point were present. The witness has also admitted that the higher officers, viz., Shri Tandon, Shri Gondia, Shri Mysorewala, Shri Gohil and Shri V.K. Solanki were present at the spot near the S.T. Workshop with their vehicles and their staff. The witness has also admitted that the incident of the Tata 407 mini truck took place at around 11:00 to 11:15 in the morning. From the evidence of the witness, it further comes out that he was on duty at the S.T. Workshop Gate from 7 o'clock in the evening. The witness has also stated that they had tried to extinguish the fire of ten to fifteen houses, at which point of time Shri Mysorewala was with him. In the cross-examination of the witness, it has been brought out that while they were at the spot, their centre point was the S.T. Workshop Gate and that the mobs were at a distance of about 150 to 200 feet from the S.T. Workshop Gate.

244.50 Though this witness states that he was present at the scene of incident right from 7 o'clock in the morning till late at night, the witness is totally silent about the incidents that took place inside the chawls throughout the day. From the testimony of this witness, it emerges that in the morning hours at around 11 or so, all the high ranking officers were present near the S.T. Workshop Gate. Though this witness refers to the incident of a Tata 407 vehicle being driven, and the dead body of a Hindu being found from Hussainnagar, he is totally silent with regard to the other incidents that have taken place, viz., deaths and injuries in police firing. The witness also does not refer to a tanker being reversed into the Noorani Masjid. The witness is also totally silent about the events that took place from the afternoon till the evening when the fifty eight dead bodies were found near the passage of the water tank. It is not possible to believe that the police officers who were deputed at the S.T. Workshop Gate would not have seen the houses in the chawls burning and the mobs attacking the people in the chawls. Evidently therefore, since the witness was present at the spot, he must be aware of the incidents that were taking place inside, but pretends to be totally ignorant about everything that took place in the chawls and thereafter, states that he came to know about the incidents inside the chawl only late in the evening. The witness, therefore, is not a truthful witness as regards all the incidents that took place on the day of the incident. However, when the police who are otherwise reluctant to investigate and name any accused, have still named a few of them, there is no reason to disbelieve the witness qua the accused named by him. The presence of the accused named and identified by the witness, viz., accused No.24 Raju Chobal, accused No.18 Babu Bajrangi and accused No.20 Kishan Korani, is, therefore, duly established through the testimony of this witness and there is no reason to disbelieve the witness to the extent he has named and identified these accused as being present in the mob in the afternoon.

245. PW-267 Manubhai Madhabhai Rathod, aged 47 years, has been examined at Exhibit-1789. This witness has deposed that, at present, he is working as a Head Constable in the Miscellaneous Branch at Shaheer Kotda Police Station.

245.1 In February, 2002, he was discharging duties as Police Constable at Krushnanagar Police Chowki of Naroda Police Station. At the relevant time, Shri P. U. Solanki, P.S.I. was posted at Krushnanagar Police Chowki and his duties at the relevant time were to serve summons as well as to take part in the bandobust in the area, night rounds, etc.

245.2 On 27.2.2002, the Godhra railway carnage took place. In connection therewith, there was a call for Gujarat bandh by the Vishwa Hindu Parishad on 28.2.2002. Keeping in view the declaration of bandh, police points were arranged by the Naroda Police Station in the sensitive areas. On that day, his duty was to remain in the requisitioned vehicle with P.S.I. Shir P. U. Solanki. Police Constable Vinubhai Naththubhai, Police Constable Pradeepsinh Manujina were with them in the vehicle. On that day, he had a Muscat-410 rifle with him. The incident took place on 28.2.2002. On the said day, he was in the requisitioned vehicle with the P.S.I. He was present at the requisitioned vehicle at 7 o'clock. They were patrolling in the Police Chowki area on the date of the incident.

245.3 On the date of the incident, they were patrolling in the Thakkarnagar, Krushnanagar and Naroda Patiya road of the Krushnanagar Chowki area.

245.4 In the morning at around 9 o'clock, mobs of people started gathering on the road. The mobs slowly started increasing and hence, they instructed the mob to disperse. The mobs did not listen to them and the mob kept on increasing.

245.5 During this time, on the road from Patiya to Krushnanagar near Noorani Masjid, on the Saijpur road as well as open spaces nearby, mobs of people started gathering. The mobs had come out of curiosity. The mobs created a tense situation.

245.6 At this time around 10:30 to 11:00, Shri Mysorewala, Senior Inspector, Naroda Police Station came with the staff and vehicle. Shri V. K. Solanki also came to the scene of incident. Both these Officers came in their vehicles. The Police Officers made lawful attempts to disperse the crowd, however, the crowds did not disperse. The population of the crowd kept on increasing and increasing. At this time, Shri M. T. Rana, A.C.P. 'G' Division and Shri Gondia, Deputy Police Commissioner, Zone-4 also came on the spot.

245.7 At this time, a Tata-407 Matador was standing opposite the Noorani Masjid. Some individual set at it's steering, started it, and went in speed towards the Noorani Masjid where there were people in the mob. The then P.I. Shri Mysorewala, went after the vehicle. He returned after 20 to 25 minutes. They came to know that the individual who had driven the Matador had dashed against two-three people, due to which, the mob got very agitated. The mob started pelting stones at the Noorani Masjid. The people in the mob started pelting stones at the Noorani Masjid as well as the shops nearby. They also started pelting stones at the chawls situated near Noorani Masjid. At this time, the police had resorted to lathi charge and had released tear gas, despite which, the mob assumed a very violent form and started pelting more and more stones. At that time, from the opposite side burning rags, tube lights, etc. were thrown due to which, the mob became even more violent. To control the people in the mob, the Deputy Police Commissioner, Zone-4 ordered firing and hence, firing was resorted to. At this time, Shri Mysorewala has resorted to firing. He also has resorted to firing. On all these attempts, the mob used to disperse for a slightly while and gathered again.

245.8 The mob caused damage to the Noorani Masjid as well as to the shops situated near the Noorani Masjid. The mob attempted to enter Hussainnagar-ni-chali, Jawannagar Chhapra, Panditji-ni-chali situated opposite S.T. Workshop. The mob was comprised of Hindus. In this manner, when they were trying to enter inside Hussainnagar-ni-chali, a mob of around four hundred to five hundred Muslims opposed them with weapons like sticks, pipes, dharia and the mobs came against each other. At this time, attempts were made to disperse the Hindu mob.

245.9 Naresh Agarsingh (A-1), Umesh Bharwad (A-3) and Kalu alias Nawab (A-27) were in the Hindu mob. They were shouting "kill" "cut". At this time, Kalu was throwing burning rags. He was throwing the burning rags on the Muslim mob. At this time also, they had resorted to firing. Assault and firing started between the two mobs. The mob entered the lanes and jumped over the walls and entered inside. The mob resorted to looting and assault.

245.10 In the evening, the Hindu mob started slightly dispersing. They came to know that inside, next to Gangotri Society, about fifty eight women, men and children have been burnt alive.

245.11 Upon the mob dispersing, the police had taken steps to send those who were injured as well as burnt to the Government Hospitals for treatment. They took out the people who had survived in the incident and convinced them and sent them to the relief camp in Government vehicles.

245.12 Police Sub-Inspector Shri V. K. Solanki had lodged a complaint in connection with the entire incident. During the investigation of the complaint, his statement was recorded on 3.3.2002 and another statement was recorded by the S.I.T.

245.13 The witness has deposed that he can identify Naresh Agarsingh, Umesh Bharwad and Kalu alias Nawab whom he knows from out of the mob. The witness has thereafter identified Naresh Agarsingh (A-1), Kalu alias Nawab (A-27) and Umesh Bharwad (A-3) correctly.

245.14 CROSS-EXAMINATION: In his cross-examination, the witness has stated that he has never discharged duties at Naroda Police Station Saijpur Police Chowky. One or two months prior to the incident, he was discharging duties at the Krushnanagar Police Chowky. In his cross-examination, it has come out that in the morning from 7 to 8 o'clock; they were patrolling at Thakkarnagar, Krushnanagar and Naroda Patiya area. The witness has stated that he had not heard that a person named Ranjit was killed inside Hussainnagar and Jawananagar chawls and there was any such rumour. The witness has stated that Shri P.U. Solanki had not informed him about this fact. The witness has denied that curfew had been declared after 12 o'clock in the afternoon. The witness has admitted that on 28.2.2002 till his duties were over, he was with Shri P.U. Solanki. The witness has stated that he has not arrested the three accused, at that time, for breach of curfew.

245.15 The witness has stated that it has not happened that he and Shri P.U. Solanki had occasion to go to the V.S. Hospital after the evening. The witness is not aware as to whether any offence has been registered against the driver of the Tata-407 at Naroda Police Station. The witness has stated that the incidents had taken place from 10:30 to 11:00 in the morning till late at night. He had fired three rounds under the instructions of the Deputy Police Commissioner. Shri Gondia was not with them, however, he had come to the spot and he had given orders. The witness has stated that Shri P.U. Solanki had not resorted to firing with his service revolver. The witness has stated that the walls over which the people of the mob were jumping were low and high walls near the houses. These walls were of the chawls and houses situated at the road.

245.16 The witness has admitted that from 28.2.2002 to 3.3.2002, he had not given the names of the accused mentioned by him in his examination-in-chief to Shri Mysorewala. The witness has admitted that he had not informed Shri Mysorewala that he had seen people in the mob jumping over the walls.

245.17 Certain extracts of his police statement dated 3.3.2002 are put to the witness to bring on record certain facts stated by him in the police statement. Since this part of his police statement is not used to contradict any part of the deposition of the witness, the same is not admissible in evidence.

245.18 The witness has denied that on the day of the incident, his point was at Bhagyodaya Hotel and Krushnanagar and that he had not come to the Noorani Masjid. The witness has denied that for this reason, he was falsely stating that the wireless set was off and that on the day of the incident, the three accused were not in the mob and were not present at the spot.

245.19 The witness has stated that after 11 o'clock also, he had remained there and from 11:00 till late at night, he had remained there.

245.20 In his cross-examination, the witness has stated that in the evening he was in the Noorani Masjid area, that is, he was near the Noorani Masjid. The witness has stated that from 10:30 in the morning till the evening, the higher officers had instructed them to fire, except that they had not given any other instructions. The witness has stated that he had fired towards the mob which was rioting. He has stated that the mob was scattered and that he cannot specifically say as to in which direction the mobs were.

245.21 The witness has stated that when he resorted to firing, there were around fifteen to seventeen thousand people. None of his bullets were successful, namely, that no one was injured in the firing. He had fired in all three bullets. At the time of firing, the mob was at a distance. When they resorted to firing, the mob would flee.

245.22 The witness has admitted that the mob was so huge that they could only see the heads of the people and it was not possible to know as to who is standing besides whom.

245.23 In his cross-examination, it has further come out that Shri Mysorewala had resorted to lathi charge, lobbed teargas shells and had made all lawful attempts to disperse the mob. The witness has admitted that out of the mob of fifteen to seventeen thousand people he had not beaten a single person or apprehended anyone. The witness has stated that he had chased the mobs to disperse them.

245.24 The witness has admitted that he had not gone upto Gangotri Society to drive away the mob. The witness has admitted that he had come to know about the details of the incident that took place in the chawls later on. The witness has admitted that he has not mentioned in his statement as to how far the accused were in the mob and where they were. The witness has stated that the police officers were parking their vehicles in the open space on the roads. The witness has stated that he does not know as to whether Hindu or Muslim people had caused any damage to the police vehicles. The witness has admitted that the mob had become incited against the police due to firing. The witness has stated that he does not know whether thereafter the mob had caused any injury to the police or police vehicles.

245.25 The witness has admitted that when he was on the road, at that time, one mob had come from the side of Krushnangar and another from the side of Naroda Patiya. He has admitted that there was a Muslim mob at the corner of S.T. Workshop. The witness has stated that the mob was near Hussainnagar towards the side of going inside the chawl. The witness has admitted that at the S.T. Workshop corner also there was a Muslim mob.

245.26 The witness has admitted that Muslim women were helping the Muslim men by handing over dharias, sticks and burning rags. The witness has denied that their statements were ready, and that on the previous day he had personally come and was acquainted with the three accused and, accordingly, he was able to identify the three accused.

245.27 The witness has denied that on the day of the incident, he was not present at the scene of incident and that he had not seen any of the accused at the scene of incident and, therefore, he has not mentioned as to at what distance the accused were and at which place.

245.28 SUBMISSIONS: Mr. Prashant Desai, learned Special Public Prosecutor, submitted that this witness establishes the presence of the accused named by him. There is no serious contradiction in the cross-examination to bring out that the accused were not present at the scene of offence.

245.29 ANALYSIS: This witness has named accused No.1 Naresh Agarsing, accused No.3 Umesh Bharwad and accused No.27 Kalu alias Nawab and has also identified all the three accused correctly before the court. This witness was patrolling in the Krushnanagar chowky area, Thakkarnagar and

Krushnanagar Naroda Patiya road on the day of the incident. According to the witness, at around 9 o'clock in the morning, the mobs of people started gathering on the road and which slowly started increasing. They had instructed the mob to disperse; however, the mob did not obey them and kept on growing larger. The witness refers to Shri Mysorewala and Shri V.K. Solanki arriving at around 10:30 to 11:00 and trying to disperse the mob, which did not disperse, but kept on getting larger and larger. He also refers to A.C.P., "G" Division Shri M.T. Rana and Deputy Police Commissioner, Zone-4 Shri Gondia arriving at the spot. He also refers to the Tata 407 incident. The witness also refers to police firing and the mobs ransacking the Noorani Masjid and the shops nearby and attempting to enter Hussainnagar-ni-Chali, Jawannagar hutments and Pandit-ni-Chali. According to this witness, when the mobs were trying to enter into the chawls of Hussainnagar, a mob of four hundred to five hundred Muslims opposed them by pelting stones armed with sticks, pipes and dharias. At that time, in the mob, he had seen the three accused who were shouting 'kill', 'hack'. The witness has attributed specific role to the accused and specially accused No.27 Kalu. According to this witness, the mobs entered into the lanes and jumped over the walls of the chawls and started looting and assaulting. He, however, is totally silent about the steps they took for preventing the mobs from doing so. The witness thereafter says that in the evening, the mobs started dispersing a little and they came to know that near Gangotri Society, fifty eight persons were burnt alive. Thus, this witness also is totally silent about the incidents that took place in the chawls throughout the day though they were present on the road and must have witnessed what was going on inside the chawls. While some of the police witnesses have stated that they had taken care to see that the mobs do not enter the chawls, this witness has specifically stated that the mobs had entered the lanes and had jumped over the walls and entered the chawls and started assaulting and looting inside. Thus, though the police were present at the scene of offence, they remained mute spectators and permitted the killing spree inside the chawls. In the cross-examination of this witness, he has admitted that in his statement dated 3.3.2002 recorded by the police, he had stated that in this mob he had not seen P.J. Rajput, Raju Chobal, Kishan Korani, Babu Bajrangi and Harish Rohera. He knows all of them by their faces, but had not seen them in the mob. From the evidence of the witness, it further comes out that they had not used any force against the people in the mob and that he had merely chased them. The witness has also admitted that to chase the mobs, he had not gone till Gangotri Society.

245.30 Through the testimony of this witness the prosecution has established the presence of accused No.1 Naresh Agarsing, accused No.3 Umesh Bharwad and accused No.27 Kalu alias Nawab in the mob on the road on the day of the incident. The presence of this witness at the scene of incident has not been challenged in his cross-examination. The witness has been consistent and has named the accused in his previous statement as well as in his deposition and has identified the accused. Nothing has been brought on record to indicate any prior enmity with the accused so as to falsely implicate them. Under the circumstances, there is no reason to disbelieve the testimony of the witness qua the accused named by him.

246. PW-274 Kerman Khurshed Mysorewala, aged 58 years, has been examined at Exhibit-1824. The witness has deposed that he is working as a Dy.S.P. Modasa Division since 2008.

246.1 In the year 2002, during the period from 27.9.2001 to 30.3.2002, he was working as Senior P.I. at Naroda Police Station.

246.2 On 27.2.2002, the incident of burning alive the kar sevaks who were returning from Ayodhya in the compartment of the Sabarmati Express train at Godhra, took place. In connection therewith, there was an alert in the entire Ahmedabad city and accordingly, Naroda Police Station was also alerted. On that day, police bandobust was placed in the Naroda Police Station area and the Naroda Police Station Chowky's Sub Inspectors as well as Sub Inspectors of the Surveillance Squads were assigned duties of patrolling. He as well as the second P.I. was also on duty.

246.3 In the meanwhile, on 27.2.2002 in the evening, a message was received from the Control Room that the kar sevaks who have survived are returning from Godhra to Ahmedabad and that such people should be escorted from the Kalupur railway station to their area under protection. In his area, twelve kar sevaks of Nava Naroda area returned alive. Upon coming, they described the incident that took place at Godhra to their friends and relatives whereupon, the goods inside a mattress shop by the name of Paras Cotton Works belonging to a Muslim at Naroda Village, were taken out and burnt and upon receiving such message, he and the ACP, "G" Division Shri M.T. Rana reached the spot. The people who had gathered there were forcibly removed. At the relevant time, they did not know as to who had set the fire. However, an offence was registered in this regard at the police station.

246.4 In the meanwhile, a Muslim was injured with some weapon on the back of his head at Kathwada road near Haridarshan Society. A second offence for the same was also registered against unknown person.

246.5 Thereafter, the Vishwa Hindu Parishad gave a call for Gujarat Bandh on 28.2.2002. Hence, a scheme for bandobust was made for Naroda Police Station Area on 28.2.2002. Since the Naroda Police Station was considered as a non-sensitive area, the Police Commissioner had not allotted additional police force and as per his instructions, keeping twenty persons in reserve for stand to, eighty police personnel, five sub inspectors, he and the second Police Inspector. In this manner, everyone was allotted bandobust. Five jeeps and one Tata 407 vehicle were requisitioned. All the chowky sub-inspectors were assigned their chowky areas for patrolling. Wherever there was possibility of riots taking place, keeping in view the earlier bandobust schemes, at every such place, points had been allotted. At every point, one Musket-410 rifle was allotted.

246.6 The bandobust started at 7 o'clock in the morning. The points were placed at Muthiya Jakat Naka, Dahegam Road Jakat Naka, Naroda Gam Kabrastan, Naroda Joshivado, Naroda Gam Masjid, Naroda Baithak, Naroda Noorani Masjid, Near S.T.

Workshop Gate, Saijpur Road, Near Jikarhasan-ni-Chali, Krushnanagar and Thakkarnagar areas. In this manner, twelve police points and five requisitioned vehicles for patrolling and three government vehicles for patrolling were available. In this manner, he had arranged for eight vehicles.

246.7 On 28.2.2002, in the morning at 7 o'clock, everyone from Naroda Police Station to whom he had allotted duties, had commenced their duties which he himself had verified, whereafter he had set off in his government vehicle with his staff from the Naroda Police Station. While they were patrolling in the police station area, after 9 o'clock, a few scattered people from the nearby area had started coming out and majority of the people started walking towards the Noorani Masjid at Naroda Patiya. Slowly, the mobs of people from Thakkarnagar, Krushnanagar, Sardarnagar area, Saijpur, Fadeli and Naroda Bethak started coming. These people were shouting slogans of "Jay Shri Ram".

246.8 In the meanwhile, at 10:25 hours, he received a message from the Control Room that there was stone pelting at Mayur Hotel at Naroda Gam and there were preparations to attack the masjid of the village. On the basis of the message, he reached Naroda Gam and lathi-charged the mob which had gathered there and dispersed it. In the meanwhile, at 10:40 hours, he again received a message to reach the Noorani Masjid. Hence, they set off from there and reached the Noorani Masjid, at Naroda Patiya.

246.9 When they reached the Noorani Masjid, their ACP Shri M.T. Rana was present there. A mob of approximately eight thousand Hindus had gathered there and was pelting stones at the Noorani Masjid. Several Muslims had gathered and there was cross stone pelting from the direction of the Noorani Masjid. At this time, together with their ACP, they had resorted to lathi-charge and tried to disperse the mob; however, the people in the mob ran hither thither inside the lanes and after a little while, again assumed the form of a mob.

246.10 During this period, their Deputy Police Commissioner Shri P.P. Gondia also arrived there, and together with him, they again tried to disperse the mob, however, the mobs instead of dispersing, their numbers kept on increasing.

246.11 At around 11:30 in the morning, a person sat at the steering of a Tata 407 vehicle which was parked opposite the Noorani Masjid and suddenly very quickly started the vehicle and where the people had gathered, drove the vehicle recklessly through the Hindu mob and took the vehicle out on the road and drove it with speed on the Naroda Baithak road. While following him in his government vehicle via Naroda Baithak and Galaxy Cinema, he reached Naroda I.T.I. He stopped the vehicle. On the way, this vehicle had dashed against three people, out of whom it was learnt that one had died on the spot and two were injured. After stopping the vehicle, they had brought the vehicle together with the driver to the Naroda Police Station and had handed it over to P.S.I. Shri Katara and after giving instructions to register the offence against this person, he returned to the Noorani Masjid.

246.12 At this time, the words spread amongst the Hindu mobs which had gathered at the Noorani Masjid, that the truck driver had taken a toll of three Hindus. Hence, the mob which had gathered there got very agitated and its fury was directed at the lower part of Noorani Masjid as well as the huts and houses nearby.

246.13 Under the orders of D.C.P. Shri Gondia, the people were instructed to disperse and that if they do not disperse, there would be firing. Such instructions were issued from the loudspeakers in the Government vehicles, despite which, it had no effect, and hence, firing was resorted to. He had fired two rounds from his revolver and the policemen with him had also resorted to firing. However, it did not have any effect on the mob.

246.14 At about 12:00 to 12:30, some of the Hindus made a representation that two Hindu youths have been pulled and taken into Hussainnagar-ni-Chali, and therefore, to rescue them, he took police personnel with him and he personally went inside to the end of Hussainnagar. Several Muslim elders were gathered together and they were interrogated. They informed him that no such youths had been brought there and after inspecting the chawls, they returned back.

246.15 About a quarter of an hour thereafter, the dead body of a Hindu individual Ranjit Vanzara was found in the pit behind Hussainnagar. The dead body was in a mutilated condition. Wounds inflicted by sharp cutting instruments were seen on his face and his eye-balls had been gouged out. Upon being informed about the dead body, they had sent the dead body in a police vehicle to the Civil Hospital. The investigation personnel at the police station were lawfully informed about the same. While they were taking the dead body from where it was lying to the vehicle, innumerable people had seen the mutilated face of the dead body and on that account, the fury of the mob increased and it directly attacked the houses on the road outside Hussainnagar-ni-Chali as well as the Muslim settlements near the Noorani Masjid.

246.16 Upon the orders for releasing tear gas and firing being issued again, tear gas shells were lobbed and firing was resorted to. At this time, he had fired two rounds from his service revolver and the other police personnel had also fired. However, there hardly appeared to be any effect on the mob and it went ahead with acts of ransacking and arson.

246.17 The police personnel were continuously taking steps to disperse the mob. At this time, the entire area of Naroda had slowly become volatile and news of incidents from different areas of his police station started coming. Upon receipt of such news, the requisitioned vehicles were being sent for taking necessary action.

246.18 At around 12:30 in the afternoon, the Joint Commissioner Shri M.K. Tandon had a discussion with the Police Commissioner and declared curfew in the Naroda area, wherein curfew was firstly declared at Saijpur, Krushnanagar, Fadeli area and Thakkarnagar. Thereafter, to implement the curfew, through loudspeakers attached to Government vehicles, the news regarding the implementation of the curfew was proclaimed and spread. However, the same did not yield any effect on the mob.

246.19 After the Joint Commissioner imposed curfew, he went away to his jurisdiction. The news with regard to untoward incidents started coming from other areas of the police station. During this period, whenever any Muslim came to ask for help, they were helping them and steps were taken to keep about six hundred people out of them, in the police station compound.

246.20 In the afternoon at around 15:10 hours, he received a message from a woman constable Varshaben at the police station that: "The police station is full of Muslims and huge mobs have gathered outside." On the basis of this message, as the twenty four S.R.P. personnel who were allotted to him had arrived, he took five armed personnel from them with him and dispersed the people who had gathered near the police station. Thereafter he posted the reserve police personnel kept at the police station and the S.R.P. personnel around the police station compound wall and returned to Naroda Patiya.

246.21 In the mob that had gathered there earlier in the afternoon, after 2 o'clock in the area between the Noorani Masjid and Hussainnagar-ni-Chali, he had seen Kishan Korani (A-20), P. J. Rajput (A-19), Rajubhai Chobal (A-24) and Babu Bajrangi (A-18) talking and he had seen them trying to explain something to the mob and at this time, the mob was shouting, "kill, cut". He had seen all these four persons in the mob till around 2:45 p.m.

246.22 During this period, he and about five police personnel were injured in the stone throwing.

246.23 At 15:10 hours, he had attended the police station pursuant to the message from woman constable Varshaben and had returned to the Noorani Masjid. At this time also, the mob was entering the Muslim chawls, Hussainnagar as well as the chawls near the Noorani Masjid and damaging them and setting them on fire. Sounds of several gas cylinders bursting could also be heard. The police had resorted to firing at that time. He too, had fired four other rounds with his revolver, in all he had fired eight rounds. The ammunition and tear gas shells with the police started depleting. The tear gas was having no effect on the mob. The firing had a momentary effect on the mob and thereafter, the mob would gather again.

246.24 Thereafter, in the afternoon at about 4:00 to 4:30, he felt that the fury of the mob had subsided a little, and hence, he and the ACP went towards Naroda Gam for patrolling and came to know that the incidents of murder have also taken place at Naroda Gam and the police had resorted to firing.

246.25 Even at Naroda Gam, the mobs were roaming around here and there. After arranging for bandobust at Naroda Gam, at around 5 o'clock in the evening, they returned to the Noorani Masjid.

246.26 At this time, at 5:30 in the evening, ACP Shri Rana went to attend another message received by him and he went for patrolling to Thakkarnagar via Krushnanagar, and there he saw that Bhagyoday Hotel was vandalized and was set on fire and was damaged. A mini-motor garage was damaged at Thakkarnagar and the vehicles parked there were torched. When he was returning, a person told him that on the rear side of Hussainnagar, near Gangotri Society, several Muslims have been killed. Therefore, he returned to Hussainnagar which is opposite the Noorani Masjid. On entrance to Hussainnagar from this road, there was scrap, burnt tyres, glass pieces, etc. and hence, it was not possible enter from that road. Therefore, he went via Mohannagar through the rear side road and came to the rear side of Gangotri Society.

246.27 Gangotri Society and Gopinath Society are situated next to each other and thereafter, there are the Hussainnagar settlements. Between both of them, there is a water tank with a "U" shaped open compound where there are walls on three sides and one side is open, from which, one can go out and at such place, several Muslims were killed and some inflammable substance was poured on them and they were burnt. When he was present at this place, he found that there was some movement insofar as twenty seven Muslim people are concerned, he therefore, took them out of the fire and buckets of water were brought from the neighbouring societies and the fire was extinguished, and a Tata 407 which had been requisitioned at the police station, was called for and he personally took those twenty seven persons and reached the Civil Hospital. His PSI Shri Katara was present there. He instructed him to issue a yadi to the doctor to provide treatment to the twenty seven persons at the Civil Hospital and returned.

246.28 While returning, he had informed his ACP about the incident and he told him that he himself was present with the Meghaninagar DCP and that he would visit that incident and come to Naroda. He returned back to the place of incident. At the time of leaving that spot, he had deputed PSI Shri P.U. Solanki to take care of the spot and to look after the remaining dead bodies. He found that he was present there. Thereafter, he gave instructions for requisitioning large police vehicles for the purpose of shifting the Muslims who were kept under protection at the police station, to the relief camp or safe places.

246.29 At the "U" shaped passage of the water tank to which he has referred to, he had found fifty eight corpses which included women, men and children. Many dead bodies were burnt in a very mutilated condition, due to which, they could not be identified. At the time when the incident took place, the Surveillance Squad PSI Shri V.K. Solanki who is now known as V.K. Delwadia, had lodged a complaint before him at 20:45 in connection with the incident that occurred at Naroda Patiya.

246.30 He had recorded the complaint as stated by Shri V.K. Solanki. The witness is shown Exhibit-1773, that is, the complaint given by Shri V.K. Solanki. Upon reading the same, the witness has stated that this is the very complaint which was lodged before him. The witness has identified his signature and that of Shri Solanki as well as the contents thereof as being true.

246.31 The witness has further deposed that after receiving the complaint, he had made a report declaring the offence (Exhibit-1797). The witness has identified his signature on the report and has stated that on the basis of the report, Shri V.K. Solanki's complaint had been registered as Naroda I-C.R.

No.100/02. After the offence was registered, it was forwarded to him for further investigation.

246.32 For the purpose of investigating into the offence, he had made an investigation team in which PSI Shri Surela was entrusted the work of drawing panchnamas of the places where incidents had taken place and were damaged. The task of drawing the panchnama of the "U" shaped scene of incident at the water tank, as well as the inquest of the fifty eight dead bodies, was entrusted to PSI Shri Katara, and thereafter, the work of recording the dying declarations and statements of the injured who were admitted in the hospital was entrusted to Shri P.U. Solanki.

246.33 In connection with the investigation, on 3.3.2002, he had recorded the statements of the police personnel who were at the S.T. Workshop and the Noorani Masjid during bandobust. Upon the statements being recorded, the names of three accused were disclosed viz., Umesh Surabhai Bharvad (A-3), Naresh Agarsing Chhara (A-1) and Kalu alias Harisinh Rathod (A-27). He had sent the Surveillance Squad PSI to search for these three accused.

246.34 On 7.3.2002, late at night, Naresh Agarsing Chhara and Umesh Bharvad were found and after examining them, they were arrested on 8.3.2002. He had continued with the investigation. In the meanwhile, the investigation was entrusted to the ACP Shri P. N. Barot by an order of the Police Commissioner, and hence, he had handed over the investigation to Shri P. N. Barot on 8.3.2002 in the evening.

246.35 While the investigation was with him, the inquest panchnama Exhibit-662 of fifty eight dead bodies as well as other inquest panchnamas (as detailed in paragraph 37 of the deposition) came to be drawn. When he handed over the investigation to Shri P. N. Barot, all the investigation papers were handed over to him.

246.36 In his investigation, he had found evidence against three accused out of whom, Naresh Agarsing Chhara and Umesh Bharvad were arrested and they had stated that a person named Murli Narayan Sindhi was also with them, due to which Murli Narayan Sindhi was called and he had stated that he was present in the mob, and hence, he had also arrested him.

246.37 The witness has stated that he can identify four of the persons whom he had seen in the mob on the day of the incident as well as the three persons whom he has arrested. The witness has thereafter identified Umesh Bharvad, Murli Sindhi, Raju Chomal, P. J. Rajput and Babu Bajrangi and has stated that Kishan Korani and Naresh Agarsing are not present. It appears that Naresh Agarsing (A-1) and Kishan Korani (A-20) had filed exemption applications on that day, and hence, they are deemed to have been identified.

246.38 During the course of his investigation, he had recorded the statements of several witnesses. He had recorded statements of Police Constable Kiran Parsottambhai Makwana (PW-264), ASI Sajjansinh Jashvantsinh (PW-265) and Police Constable Manubhai Madhabhai (PW-267).

246.39 The witness has deposed that the Assistant Police Commissioner Shri S.S. Chudasama had recorded his statement while he was investigating the case. During the course of investigation by the SIT also, his statements were recorded on 25.10.2008, 3.2.2009, 6.7.2009 and 1.12.2009.

246.40 CROSS EXAMINATION: In the cross-examination of this witness, it has come out that he had information regarding the time when kar sevaks were going to arrive on 27.2.2002. They were in the train which was to arrive at 6 o'clock in the evening. The witness has admitted that he had come to know the names of kar sevaks afterwards. Prior thereto he did not know their names, but he knew that they were from Nava Naroda. The witness has denied that he did not have information to the effect that the kar sevaks were narrating the incident of the train to other people. The witness has voluntarily stated that as result of such narration, both the incidents had taken place at that time in Nava Naroda area. The witness has stated that on 27.2.2002, Zone-IV DCP Shri P.B. Gondia had instructed them to arrange for bandobust and to take necessary steps to see that incidents like the incident that had taken place after the kar sevaks came to Nava Naroda should not take place.

246.41 The witness has denied that on 28.2.2002 as there was a call for Gujarat Bandh, several unruly elements had been apprehended by way of precaution. The witness has voluntarily stated that prior to this incident, Naroda was considered to be a non-sensitive area for communal riots, due to which there was no such necessity. Moreover, there were no such persons in this area.

246.42 The witness has admitted that he had gone to the Noorani Masjid point for checking and has voluntarily stated that for majority of the time he was present there. The witness has admitted that he had requested for more help when huge mobs of fifteen to seventeen thousand people were openly roaming around. The witness has voluntarily stated that from the previous night itself he had asked for more help and that upon the happening of incidents also, he had asked for more police. The witness has denied that prior to his receiving information about the fifty eight persons near the water tank in the 'U' shaped area, he had not received any information about any such incident taking place in the chawls opposite the S.T. Workshop. The witness has voluntarily stated that he was receiving information about incidents of loot, arson, assault, etc. in the chawls. The witness has admitted that on 28.2.2002 in the morning at 10 o'clock, he had given a message that 'all is well' to the Police Control Room. The witness is confronted with an extract of his statement dated 24.5.2002; however, since such statement had not been put to contradict the witness qua any part of his evidence, the same is inadmissible in evidence.

246.43 The witness has denied that after curfew was declared at 12:30 on the day of the incident, he has not arrested a single person for breach of curfew. The witness has stated that there are eight cases of breach of curfew against thirty five accused under section 135. The witness has stated that he cannot say as to from which area persons have been arrested for breach of curfew. The witness has admitted that he has not arrested any person for breach of curfew from the mobs in the Naroda Patiya area.

246.44 The witness has admitted that on the day of the incident, prior to 11 o'clock in the morning, Basirkhan Nannekhan and Dilshan Pathan had not met him near Hussainnagar. The witness has voluntarily stated that he reached Hussainnagar at 11 o'clock.

246.45 The witness has stated that he had recorded Shri Solanki's complaint at the police station and had immediately sent a report under section 157 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. The witness has stated that it had taken as much time as it takes for the procedure for registration. The witness has admitted that he had immediately commenced all the proceedings for investigation at that time.

246.46 The witness has admitted that Police Constable Sajjansinh and Kiranbhai had not given names of the three accused till 3.3.2002. The witness has voluntarily stated that after commencement of investigation, he had called them for recording their statements on 3.3.2002, when they had given such names in their statements. The witness has admitted that the procedure for drawing inquest panchnama as well as panchnama of scene of offence, etc. was carried out under his supervision. The witness has admitted that at the time when the scene of offence panchnama was drawn, they had not called the dog squad, FSL or personnel from the Chemical Department of FSL. The witness has stated that however, he had given clear instructions to Shri Surela to do so.

246.47 The witness has denied that he has not seen any of the accused named by him in his examination-in-chief, at the scene of offence on the day of the incident. The witness has denied that with a view to falsely implicate accused No.1, 3 and 27, he had given their names and with a view to show progress in his investigation, he had falsely given names of all these three accused and had wrongfully arrested them.

246.48 The witness has admitted that Naroda Patiya as well as Naroda Gam are situated in the Naroda Police Station area. The witness has admitted that in both, the present case as well as Naroda Gam case, the SIT had recorded his statements. In his cross-examination, it has further come out that no divisions of the police stations have been formed, but since innumerable incidents had taken place on the day of the incident, for the sake of convenience, the area towards the east of Naroda Bethak was included in C.R. No.I-100 of 2002 and the area from Naroda Bethak to Galaxy Cinema and Naroda Gam as well as road towards Dehgam were included in C.R. No.I-98 of 2002. The witness has admitted that till the investigation was with him, statements of police staff had been recorded in his presence. The witness has stated that however, those whom he had entrusted work after forming the teams, had recorded statements of people other than police employees. The witness has stated that three Police Sub-Inspectors, namely, Shri P.U. Solanki, Shri Surela and Shri Makwana have recorded statements of witnesses. The witness has received these statements during the course of his investigation. The witness has admitted that from the statements of police as well as S.R.P. personnel recorded by him till 8.3.2002, he had not found any statement supporting the fact regarding presence of the five persons named by him. The witness has voluntarily stated that on the day of the incident the number of people in the mob was very large, that it was quite possible that one police witness may have seen certain specific persons and the same persons may not have been seen by other police personnel for the reason that every policeman was given a different point and from one particular point, someone could see a person, then another may not be able to see such person. The witness has stated that in statements of the police as well as the S.R.P., nothing has come on record to the effect that five accused named in the complaint were not present. The witness is cross-examined with regard to the bandobust plan drawn by him and the police placed at each point.

246.49 In his cross-examination it has come out that from Kalupur-Naroda Road to the road on the north of Naroda Patiya, there is a way, which is considered to be part of Sardarnagar Police Station. The witness has admitted that the area from Naroda Gam to Teesra Kuva open ground till the road going to the S.R.P. Quarters comes within the jurisdiction of his police station. The witness has admitted that the open ground behind Teesra Kuva, the area behind Gangotri Society as well as Gopinathnagar Society fall within the jurisdiction of his police station. The witness has denied that he had carried out patrolling on all the roads referred to by him on the day of the incident. The witness has stated that he had carried out patrolling on the main road, viz. on the national highway.

246.50 The witness has stated that on the day of the incident he had not gone for patrolling on the Kubernagar Road. He had gone for patrolling on the Ahmedabad - Kalupur Naroda Road on the day of the incident. The witness has admitted that he had gone up to Bhagyoday Hotel on the national highway while patrolling. The witness has admitted that he had carried out patrolling from around 7 o'clock in the morning till 10 o'clock. The witness has stated that on the day of the incident it was peaceful on these roads; however, there were mobs of people on the road. The witness has denied that the mobs of people were coming and going and has stated that the people in the mob were only coming, no one was going. The people in the mob were coming on foot and they were coming in groups of four and five.

246.51 The witness is shown a wireless message book-Exhibit 1786. Upon seeing the wireless message of vehicle No.1, the witness has stated that from 9:30 to 10:00 in the morning, Naroda-1 vehicle had given message of 'all is well' to the Police Control. The witness has admitted that till 10 o'clock no incident had taken place, and during this period, while patrolling in their vehicle, no one had tried to stop them. The witness has admitted that he had come from Naroda Gam to the Noorani Masjid. The witness has denied that at that time it was around 11:15. The witness has admitted that it must have been around 11 o'clock in the morning. He had gone to the Noorani Masjid point. The witness has admitted that there were mobs at that point. At that time, at that place, the then ACP, 'G' Division, Shri Rana was present. Those who were posted at the Noorani Masjid were also present there. The witness has denied that a huge mob of Saijpur Bogha had gathered at the Noorani Masjid point. The witness has admitted that at that time there was a mob of around seven to eight thousand people and the mob was pelting stones. The witness has denied that at that time there was a Muslim mob at the Noorani Masjid. The witness has voluntarily stated that there were Muslim people near the Noorani Masjid. The witness has admitted that there were Muslim people on the half-constructed terrace behind the Noorani Masjid. The witness has admitted that the Muslims standing near the Noorani Masjid and the Hindus standing near the S.T. Workshop were pelting tube-lights, stones, empty bottles, etc., at each other. The witness has admitted that after pelting all these things, they had started throwing burning rags.

246.52 The witness has denied that at that time the police staff had also got injured. The witness has stated that the police staff was injured after 12 o'clock and he himself had sustained injury on his chest. The witness has stated that he does not remember at which spot he was injured, but it was around 12 o'clock in the afternoon. He had sustained such injury in front of the Noorani Masjid.

246.53 The witness has denied that he had remained at the Noorani Masjid point for two to three hours from 11 o'clock in the morning. The witness has voluntarily stated that he was there, but used to keep on moving around. During this period he has also followed the Tata-407 vehicle and had gone to place the vehicle at the police station.

246.54 The witness has stated that he had seen the Uday Gas Agency road and has admitted that he had not gone on the Uday Gas Agency road till 4 o'clock. The witness has denied that he has not seen any private vehicle near the Noorani Masjid on that day. The witness has admitted that he knows the MLAs, MPs and Corporators of this area by their faces. The witness has admitted that while he was at the Noorani Masjid and the S.T. Workshop point, it had not happened that Mayaben had come and talked with him. The witness has stated that he had not seen that Mayaben had come there in her vehicle. He has admitted that he had not seen that after coming near his vehicle, Mayaben had distributed weapons from her vehicle. The witness has stated that on that day it has not happened that she had any discussion with him.

246.55 The witness has admitted that it has not happened that he has gone on the Uday Gas Agency road and that Mayaben had followed and Mayaben was in her vehicle and she had taken out weapons from her vehicle and distributed them.

246.56 The witness has admitted that since there were a large number of mobs on the road, there was lot of commotion and it was not possible to hear what an individual person was speaking.

246.57 The witness has denied that in his statement he has not stated exactly where he had seen the five persons. The witness has voluntarily stated that they were near the Noorani Masjid, at that time he had seen them in the mob on the opposite side. The witness has denied that the facts stated by him in paragraph 23 of his examination-in-chief to the effect that between the Noorani Masjid and Hussainnagar-ni-chali, he had seen Kishan Korani, P.J. Rajput, Raju Chomal and Babu Bajrangi amidst the mob, have not been stated by him in his statement recorded by the police. The witness has stated that he has clarified in the statement that when he was near the Noorani Masjid he had seen them in the middle of the mob and that he had seen them between the Noorani Masjid and Hussainnagar Chawl.

246.58 The witness has admitted that towards the south of the S.T. Workshop gate, Hussainnagar chawls are situated. The witness has admitted that he had seen them towards the south of the Noorani Masjid. The witness has denied that the mobs on the southern side were at a distance of about 150 metres from him. The witness has admitted that there were mobs on the northern side of the Noorani Masjid as well as the S.T. Workshop. The witness has voluntarily stated that on that day there were mobs in the entire area. The mobs standing towards his north were hardly at a distance of fifteen feet, towards the south, mobs were standing behind the police vehicles and that the mobs were approximately at a distance of sixty to seventy feet from him. The witness has admitted that in his area no lady constable had been placed on duty. The witness has admitted that he had not seen any woman wearing a woman constable's uniform, going around in that area. The witness has admitted that on the day of the incident, till 2 o'clock, they had not let any Hindu mob enter the Muslim chawls from where they were standing. The witness has admitted that the police staff was present at the S.T. Workshop corner and he himself also was on duty. The witness has denied that the police were present in front of the S.T. Workshop and the Hindu and the Muslim mobs were opposite to each other. The witness has denied that they had a police point at the S.T. Workshop gate, where on one side there was a Hindu mob and on the other side there was a Muslim mob.

246.59 The witness has admitted that the road passing near the S.T. Workshop wall goes towards Teesra Kuva and that this road is parallel to the S.T. Workshop road. The witness has admitted that on the day of incident, if he wanted to go on this road in the evening it was not possible to do so, because there was tube light glass, burning tyres, bottle glass, etc. on the road. The witness has denied that the Hindu and the Muslim mobs had pelted stones at each other at this place.

246.60 In the cross-examination of the witness it has come out that he had got information about the incident that took place at Gopinathnagar-Gangotri Society's water tank in the evening at around 6:15 to 6:30. The witness has denied that he had reached the water tank spot at about 7 o'clock in the evening. The witness has admitted that he may have reached there at 6:45 hours. The witness has admitted that the personnel of Naroda vehicle No.1 were with him.

246.61 The witness has denied that his higher officers were also present on the spot at that time. Shri V.K. Solanki has come to the scene of incident after him. He too came with his staff. He had come about fifteen minutes after he (the witness) reached there and that it was he who had called him there. The witness has stated that it has not happened that during this time he had called his higher officers and they had come there. Shri Gondia had not come there. However, it might have happened that after receipt of information he may have come. Thereafter, all the higher officers including Shri Gondia had arrived. The higher officers had come at 12 o'clock at night and there were no people from the public there. The witness has admitted that they had taken out the injured from that place and they had given them water and had extinguished the fire. The witness has admitted that it had taken them around half an hour to take out the injured persons and thereafter they were taken in police vehicles to the Civil Hospital. The witness has admitted that it must have been around 7:45 to 8 o'clock by the time they reached the Civil Hospital. The witness has admitted that thereafter he had entrusted the task of making further arrangements to Shri Katara and had reached the scene of incident and thereafter made necessary arrangement for taking out the dead bodies from the water tank area.

246.62 The witness has denied that it must have taken them around one and a half hour to two hours in separating the corpses and carrying out the necessary procedure. The witness has denied that he had counted the dead bodies in the presence of Shri Solanki and higher officers. The witness has stated that the higher officers had come after he had counted the dead bodies. Thereafter the witness has stated that Shri Solanki was present at that time.

246.63 The witness has admitted that he had seen that his higher officer Shri Gondia had rescued a child, which was lying in fire at the scene of incident. He has admitted that after counting the dead bodies, he had reached the police station.

246.64 The witness has admitted that he had gone to the Naroda Police Station to drop the Tata-407 driver as well as when in the evening at 15:10 hours, Police Constable Varshaben had given a message; except for these two occasions, he has not visited the police station on the day of the incident, and thereafter he had gone night at the time when the offence was registered.

246.65 The witness has admitted that the complainant in their Police Station C.R. No.I-98 of 2002 was Shri Vala. The witness is shown a document Exhibit-1799, which is the complaint given by Shri Vala. The witness has admitted that that the time of offence is shown to be 12:00 to 2:00 in the afternoon. The witness has admitted that in the said offence also, the names of only these five accused have been shown.

246.66 The witness is shown Exhibit-1796, which is an extract of the station diary. The witness has admitted that the time of the present incident is shown from 11:00 to 20:00 hours at night and the time for reporting to the police station is 8:45, viz. 20:45 hours. The witness has admitted that after the complaint is registered, a report is made under section 154 of the Code of Criminal Procedure and thereafter, the complaint is sent to the court within twenty four hours. The witness has admitted that the SIT had put questions to him in connection with I C.R. No.98 of 2002 and that his deposition was recorded in the Naroda Gam case viz., Sessions Case No.203 of 2009.

246.67 The witness has admitted that the complaint being I C.R. No.98 of 2002 was given by Shri Vala and it was recorded by 2nd P.I. Shri Gohil. The witness has admitted that he has not carried out any investigation in that case. The witness has denied that on 28.2.2002 he had gone to his chamber after 00:15 hours, viz., on 1.3.2002 and at that time he had called Shri Gohil and Shri Vala and at that time Shri Vala had told him that as he did not know any of the accused, he would not give their names in the complaint, and hence, under his orders, the complaint was registered after 12 o'clock at night viz. 1.3.2002 and was back-dated by showing a time earlier than the time when the complaint came to be lodged and thereafter the complaint was read over to Shri Solanki, the complainant in this case and by ante-dating it, the complaint was registered at night on 1.3.2002.

246.68 The witness has denied that accused No.2 Murli Sindhi was arrested on 4.3.2002 and has stated that he had arrested him on 8.3.2002. The witness has admitted that in the statements recorded by him during the course of the investigation, the name of Murli Sindhi was not disclosed by any of the witnesses.

246.69 The witness has admitted that in any of his statements he has not stated that upon Naresh Chhara and Umesh Bharwad being arrested, he had come to know that Murli Sindhi was with them and thereafter upon calling Murli Sindhi he had informed him that he was present in the mob. The witness has voluntarily stated that since he was not asked about it, he had not stated so. The witness has denied that he had fabricated the facts stated in paragraph 38 of his examination-in-chief.

246.70 Various parts of the statement of this witness recorded by the SIT are put to the witness to bring certain facts stated in those statements on record. However, since these parts of his statements are not put to the witness to contradict any part of his evidence, the same are not admissible in evidence. The trial court was, therefore, not justified in permitting such evidence to be brought on record.

246.71 In his cross-examination the witness has stated that during the course of patrolling he had not seen any people sitting on the road divider and eating snacks and drinking liquor.

246.72 The witness has denied that those whom he has named in his examination-in-chief were all social workers and time and again used to visit his police station and therefore he knew them. The witness has voluntarily stated that all of them were not social workers. The witness has stated that those named by him were not social workers. The witness has admitted that from the names given by him, several persons, time and again used to come to his police station. The witness has stated that five persons named by him in his examination-in-chief are workers of BJP, Vishwa Hindu Parishad and Bajrang Dal. The witness has admitted that they used to come to his police station with minor as well as major issues. The witness has denied that when they came with such issues and they were not resolved, at that time there were heated discussions between them, and hence, he has nurtured grudge against them and felt that they were always interfering with his duties; therefore, to falsely implicate them he had given their names in this case.

246.73 The witness has stated that he does not know the five persons named by him in his examination-in-chief in their capacity as members of the Peace Committee. The witness has denied that at the stated time, the five persons were not present at the spot and that despite the fact that there was no evidence against accused Murli Sindhi, on account of personal enmity against him, he had falsely given their names and had wrongly arrested them.

246.74 The witness has stated that from 1.3.2002 to 3.3.2002, he was continuously busy with the maintenance of the law and order situation. He was busy with maintaining law and order in the entire Naroda area. The witness admitted that other incidents had taken place in the Naroda area from 1.3.2002 to 3.3.2002. He was continuously engaged in bandobust up to 15.3.2002. On these fifteen days, he was also required to go to the police station, but stayed there for a very short time.

246.75 The witness has admitted that after 11:00 hours he had gone to follow the Tata-407. The witness has admitted that it must have taken him 30 to 45 minutes to follow the Tata-407 and return. The witness has admitted that he and other policemen were present at the time when the Tata-407 incident took place. There were mobs near Natraj and Krushnanagar. The witness has voluntarily stated that the mobs were spread everywhere.

246.76 The witness has stated that after apprehending the person driving the Tata-407, he had returned to the Noorani Masjid and thereafter upon receiving a message at 15:10 hours in the afternoon, he had left and till then he was present there. The witness has stated that the police mainly were not permitting any person in the mob to enter the Muslim chawls from the road. The witness has stated that he was present there till 3 hours and 10 minutes in the afternoon on the day of the incident, during which had not heard about any incident taking place in the Muslim chawls. Till 3:10, at times he had looked towards Hussainnagar and Jawannagar from the S.T. Workshop lane.

246.77 At 3:10 in the afternoon, he had seen a house in front of the Muslim chawls being demolished. There is a plot in front of the shops and houses in the lane of the national highway, after which the chawls begin and he had seen the houses in chawls being damaged. At that time he was at a distance of about 50 feet from there. He had tried to disperse the people who were damaging the houses, but had not arrested them. The witness has voluntarily stated that they were about fifteen policemen and the mob was comprised of fifteen to seventeen thousand people, and hence, it was not possible to arrest any accused on the spot. The witness has admitted that it was not as if all the fifteen to seventeen thousand people were damaging the houses. He has further deposed that they had gone near and resorted to lathi charge. The witness has admitted that despite having resorted to lathi charge, they could not catch any one. The witness has admitted that he does not know the name of any person from amongst the people who were beaten with lathis.

246.78 The witness has stated that till 3:10 in the afternoon he had gone to the Muslim chawls. He had gone once around 12:15 to 12:30 in the afternoon. He had gone to all the chawls, when he was told that two Hindus had been pulled inside the Muslim chawls. When he went to the Muslim chawls, at that time there was a Muslim mob at the corner outside. He had not seen any incident of assault inside the chawls at that time. After returning from the chawls, he had remained at the Noorani Masjid point.

246.79 When he was there till 3:10 in the afternoon, he had not seen any Muslim mob near the S.T. Workshop. At 3:10 in the afternoon, he had not seen any Muslim mob near the Noorani Masjid or on any house near it. Policemen were also there on the national highway on that day. On that day, the mobs kept on gathering and after they dispersed them, they again gathered together. The witness has denied that the mobs were coming out of curiosity. The mobs had caused injury to him. He and five policemen were injured by stones pelted by the mobs. The witness has admitted that he does not know any of the persons who had pelted stones at him and other police.

246.80 The witness has stated that after 3:10 in the afternoon he had gone to Naroda Police Station and had returned to the point after about fifty minutes. Thereafter he was there till 5:30 to 5:45. The witness has denied that there were no riots in any other area of Naroda, and hence, he remained at the Noorani Masjid. The witness has stated that at no other place riots were as intensive as at the Noorani Masjid, and hence, he stayed there.

246.81 The witness has stated that the Fire Brigade had not come to the Noorani Masjid on 28.2.2002. The witness has stated that upon the Noorani Masjid and nearby areas catching fire, he had called the Fire Brigade countless times; however, the Fire Brigade could not come. The witness has stated that he cannot state exactly where he was standing, as he continuously kept roaming around. The witness has admitted that there was no cross stone pelting and throwing of burning rags between the mobs standing near the S.T. Workshop and Natraj or between the mobs standing near Krushnanagar and the S.T. Workshop.

246.82 The witness has stated that the Hindu mobs standing on the road and the Muslims standing near the Noorani Masjid had pelted stones and burning rags at each other. The Muslims had thrown stones and burning rags on the Hindus from the slab of a half constructed building near the Noorani Masjid.

246.83 The witness has stated that at the time of the incident, except for the police, no person was available for recording statements for the reason that the Muslim chawls were totally vacant and they had all been dropped at the relief camps. The witness has admitted that he knows where relief camps were. The witness has stated that during the period from 1.3.2002 to 8.3.2002 he had got statements of witnesses recorded through his Sub-Inspectors at the relief camps. The witness has admitted that the Muslim population behind the Noorani Masjid was totally gone. Till 30.3.2002, till he was at the Naroda Police Station, none of the Muslims had returned to their houses. The witness has stated that he is talking about the Muslims residing in the Hussainnagar chawls and the chawls behind the Noorani Masjid. The witness has denied that in case of Umesh Bharwad, he had not got any statement against him. The witness has denied that he had got the names of the three accused disclosed through his constables.

The witness has stated that he had not met any person named Ashish Khetan and he had not verified anything from him. The witness has admitted that he had not got any test identification parade of the accused carried out. The witness has denied that he is falsely giving evidence implicating the accused in the offence.

246.84 EXAMINATION BY THE COURT: This witness has also been examined by the court, wherein, it has come out that the witness has stated that twelve kar sevaks from Naroda Patiya were not injured, but they were in the train where the incident took place. On 27.2.2002 in the evening around 5:00 to 5:15, he had received information from the Police Control Room that the police should be sent to fetch the kar sevaks belonging to the Naroda area, from the railway station. The witness has stated that after coming to know that there were kar sevaks from his area, he has not arranged for any special bandobust or made any police arrangement in the area.

246.85 In his examination by the court, it has come out that as to who was the person sitting in the Tata-407 and as to which community he belonged to, was something which he came to know when he stopped the vehicle near Sardarpura ITI and after inquiring from the driver.

246.86 The witness has stated that he was informed that Murli Narayan Sindhi was personally present in the mob. However, he had not recorded statements of the two accused who had informed him about it under section 164 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, for the reason that he was busy with the law and order, performing last rites of those who had died, their identification, handing over of custody as well as taking steps with regard to numerous rumours that were floating, that it was not possible to do any other work. The witness has stated that till 10 o'clock in the morning on the day of incident, he has sent messages of 'all is well' to the Police Control Room for the reason that as per his knowledge, no incident had taken place till 10 o'clock. The witness has admitted that from the road where he was near the S.T. Workshop, one could go to Hussainnagar and other Muslim chawls; however, there were two other roads from which one could enter the Muslim chawls. The witness has admitted that he had felt that he may need more vehicles than the six vehicles requisitioned by him, including the surveillance squad vehicle, on 28.2.2002 in the context of the bandh call; however, since he did not have more PSIs he could not do so. The witness has stated that sanctioned strength of PSIs at Naroda Police Station was eleven; however, he had been allotted only six PSIs.

246.87 RE-EXAMINATION: The witness has thereafter been recalled by the prosecution and in his re-examination he has stated that on 28.2.2002, several complaints, over and above Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.100 of 2002, had been registered in respect of the communal incidents that had taken place on 28.2.2002. He was in-charge of the investigation of I-C.R. No.100 of 2002 till 8.3.2002 as well as some other complaints, which had been registered in connection with the incidents that had taken place at Naroda Patiya. During the course of investigation into I-C.R. No.100 of 2002 and other complaints, different police staff and officers under his jurisdiction had, under his instructions, performed tasks. The witness has stated that he had given instructions in the context of investigation to the then PSI Shri Surela, PSI Shri L.K. Katara, PSI Shri P.B. Makwana, ASI Shri M.M. Parmar, ASI Shri A.M. Jhala and other police personnel under him. As Shri Katara was a PSI in his division, he had occasion to see his signature during the routine office work, and hence, he can identify his (Katara's) signature. The witness has stated that he knows that Shri L.K. Katara has passed away on 10.12.2003. The witness has stated that under his instructions, Shri Katara had recorded statements of the following witnesses:

PW No.	Name of the witness
151	Raziabano Mohammed Ayub Shaikh
54	Mohammed Alias Badshah Mehboobhusen Shaikh
165	Peermohammed Allabax Shaikh
167	Mohammedhusen Kaiyum Shaikh
205	Zarinabibi Nayeemuddin Shaikh
255	Mohammed Khalid Saiyed Ali Saiyed
155	Shehnazbanu Munavarbhai Shaikh

246.88 The witness has admitted that he had instructed all the officers, namely, PSIs and ASIs, to record statements of the witnesses as stated by them. Similarly, he had instructed them to draw panchnamas of loss and damage through independent and impartial panchas. The witness has admitted that he had not received any complaint against Shri Katara that he had not recorded any facts stated by him or that he had written down any facts in the statement, on his own. The witness has stated that whenever any police officer used to give him papers of the proceedings carried out by him during the course of the investigation, namely, panchnamas, copies of yadis, statements, etc. he used to read them and thereafter include them in the investigation papers. The witness has admitted that he has seen the Muslim chawl areas, like Jawannagar, Hussainnagar, etc. He has admitted that the water tank which is the scene of incident is not situated in Jawannagar. The witness has voluntarily stated that this spot, namely, the water tank is situated after the Muslim chawls in the centre of Gopinath and Gangotri Society. The witness is cross-examined with regard to the statements of witnesses recorded by him as well as by Shri Katara, reference to which shall be made while discussing the evidence of those witnesses.

246.89 BY COURT: The witness is further put certain queries by the court wherein it has come out that he had joined as PSI in the Police Department in 1974 and was promoted in the year 1993 and became PI and since then he is working as PI. The witness has stated that he had no experience of investigating into communal riot cases at the time when the communal riots of 2002 took place. The witness has admitted that when he reached the Noorani Masjid at 10:30 in the morning on 28.2.2002, prior thereto he did not have any personal knowledge about the situation at the Noorani Masjid. On 28.2.2002 they were required to rescue about three thousand people belonging to the minority community from the incidents. On the day of the incident around eighty three different incidents had taken place in the Naroda Police Station area. On the day of the incident teargas shells were lobbed only in the Noorani Masjid, S.T. Workshop area of Naroda Patiya from 10:00 in the morning till 7 o'clock at night; 171 teargas shells were lobbed, out of which some shells were of short range, some of long range and some were hand grenade shells. The witness has further stated that ninety one rounds were fired in this area from revolvers, 303 rifles, musket rifles and carbine guns. Out of this firing, part of the firing was in the air, and part of the firing was done keeping the object in view, but he does not have the break up thereof. The witness has admitted that at 10:40 when he reached Naroda Patiya, riots and stone pelting were going on at the Noorani Masjid as well as in the S.T. Workshop area. Certain extracts of his police statement and SIT statements are put to the witness. In the opinion of this court, in view of the bar contained in section 162 of the Code, it was also not permissible even for the court to bring such part of the statement on record in view of the fact that the witness is not sought to be contradicted by such statement.

246.90 The witness has stated that the fifty eight persons who died in a burnt condition, their dead bodies were found at this spot and over and above those fifty eight persons, at this very spot the twenty seven persons referred in his statement were found alive and they were sent for treatment. The witness has admitted that at this spot, in all, there were eighty five victims of the incident. The witness has admitted that the road from where he came was the open ground towards the east. The witness has admitted that he has reached the spot at 6:30 and when he reached there, except for eighty five victims, no one else was present at the spot.

246.91 The witness has further admitted that none of the police staff under his jurisdiction as well as the police staff attached to his higher officers was in a condition whereby he was required to be taken to the hospital for treatment. None of them were in a condition which required treatment.

246.92 The witness has admitted that no test identification of the accused was carried out as he was very busy and was under the burden of excessive work and the riots were continuously going on. Moreover, at that time the Naroda Patiya area had become almost vacant, and hence, test identification parade could not be conducted.

246.93 The witness has stated that he had talked with Shri Tandon about the incident at 9:45 hours in the morning and he had acquainted him with the fact regarding mobs gathering in the Patiya area. The witness has admitted that he does not consider the offences that took place on 27.2.2002 which are registered as Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.96 of 2002 and I-C.R. No.97 of 2002, as serious offences.

246.94 To prove the omissions and contradictions as to the previous statements of this witness, the defence has cross-examined the concerned assignee officer/Investigating Officer who had recorded such statement.

246.95 PW-307 S. S. Chudasama, the Investigating Officer, has admitted that he has recorded the statement of this witness on 24.5.2002. He has admitted that this witness in the statement recorded by him had stated that upon coming to know from a private person at around 10:00 to 10:15, regarding a mob having gathered at Thakkarnagar Cross Roads, near Bhagyodaya Hotel, he had reached there.

246.96 The contents of paragraph 23 of the examination-in-chief of the witness are read over to the Investigating Officer, wherein he has stated that in the area between the Noorani

Masjid and Hussainnagar-ni-Chali, he had seen Kisan Korani, P. J. Rajput, Rajubhai Chomal and Babu Bajrangi in the middle of the mob. The Investigating Officer has denied that these facts have not been stated by the witness before him. He has stated that in his statement, the witness has clearly stated that he had seen all four of them; however, he has not stated that the place was between the Noorani Masjid and Hussainnagar-ni-Chali.

246.97 Certain extracts of the statement of the Investigating Officer as recorded by the SIT on 22.1.2009 are put to him. In the opinion of this court, such questions ought not to have been permitted to be put to the witness, inasmuch as, the statement recorded by the SIT is in the nature of a statement under section 161 of the Code and hence, could not have been used for any purpose other than for contradicting the witness.

246.98 The Investigating Officer has, in his cross-examination, admitted that after the investigation came to him, no fact had been revealed to him that the dead body of any Muslim was lying on a platform or veranda and that any panchnama was drawn or that any dead body was found in a rickshaw and any panchnama was drawn or that there was any dead bodies in the chawls or in the lanes and any panchnama was drawn.

246.99 SUBMISSIONS: Mr. N.D. Nanavati, learned counsel for accused No.37, submitted that this prosecution witness who is a Police Inspector and was present on the spot has referred to the other prosecution witnesses; they in their evidence admit about his presence also. This witness in his says deposition that Mayaben never came, she was not there at all and that he had never interacted with her. He has also stated that there was no lady constable which clearly falsifies the case of PW 52.

246.100 It was submitted that the evidence of this witness is in direct conflict with the other ocular evidence led by the prosecution. Therefore, it is word against word; straightway in conflict with each other and if this is so, which evidence should be believed and which evidence should not be believed, is an exercise to be undertaken by the court. It was submitted that when this witness has specifically admitted in his cross-examination that he had not met accused No.37, then at least the version given by other witnesses becomes doubtful, who is right who is wrong is difficult to be gauged at this stage and even at the trial stage; therefore, the court will have to appreciate the evidence on the touchstone of probabilities.

246.101 It was submitted that the entire prosecution case about the presence of Mayaben (A-37) at the scene of offence first of all becomes doubtful. In other words, the prosecution has failed to prove by credible and reliable evidence about her presence at any point of time right from 9.00 a.m. to 11 a.m. It was submitted that conviction based upon this type of evidence particularly under section 120B of the Indian Penal Code is not sustainable.

246.102 On behalf of the other appellants, submissions have been made in respect of the testimony of this witness while arguing on the point of the first information report being ante-timed and ante-dated. Hence, reference to such submissions shall be made at the time of discussing that point.

246.103 Mr. Prashant Desai, learned Special Public Prosecutor, submitted that this witness has testified that he saw the four accused between 2:00 to 2:45 in the afternoon on the day of the incident. It was submitted that this witness was the Officer in-charge and he was present throughout the day except for some time. Two things are very clear from his evidence that prior to 3:10 in the afternoon, properties on the Highway were damaged and ransacked and after 3:10, the properties on the interior side were damaged. He received the information about the water tank incident and he immediately went there and saved at least twenty seven persons and took them to the hospital.

246.104 It was submitted that his witness also deployed police personnel at different points and tried to make necessary arrangement for stopping the mis-happening. Curfew was also imposed and they tried to implement it but were not successful. It was submitted that it may be a dereliction of duty on his part and the investigation carried out after the incident may have been done in a perfunctory manner, but this will not attach any criminal liability on him.

246.105 It was submitted that from the facts stated in the evidence, except some portion wherein there is some contradiction between the examination-in-chief and cross-examination, the other part is reliable and credible. It was submitted that the witness has deposed that the incident happened from the morning, there was a large mob pelting stones at the Noorani Masjid. He found these five persons named in the FIR on the spot and he saw fifty eight dead bodies and saved twenty seven persons. Therefore, he is witness to the dead bodies after the massacre. Therefore, it can be safely presumed that such a massacre happened at the water tank passage wherein fifty eight Muslims were done to death and twenty seven were injured, some of whom died later on. All this proves beyond reasonable doubt that the intention of the mob and accused was to kill the Muslims and take revenge of Godhra. It was submitted that the five persons who are named by this witness in his examination-in-chief as well as in his cross-examination, according to him, are the members of the Vishwa Hindu Parishad and Bajrang Dal, who had given a call for bandh on that day. There is no further cross-examination in respect of them being members of the VHP and the Bajrang Dal. Therefore, the fact that these five persons were members of the VHP and Bajrang Dal is proved beyond reasonable doubt.

246.106 ANALYSIS: From the testimony of this witness, it emerges that he was the Senior Police Inspector of Naroda Police Station and the area in which the riots took place fell within his jurisdiction. The witness has deposed that while patrolling in the area, at about 9 o'clock, scattered people were coming out on the road and most people were walking towards the Noorani Masjid situated in Naroda Patiya and slowly crowds of people started coming. These people were shouting "Jai Shree Ram!" From the testimony of this witness it is found that he had talked with his higher officer Shri Tandon about the incident at 9:45 hours in the morning and he had acquainted him with the fact regarding mobs gathering in the Patiya area. Nonetheless, on 28.2.2002 in the morning at 10 o'clock, the witness had given a message to the effect that 'all is well' to the Police Control Room. The reason for sending such message is that as per his knowledge, no incident had taken place till 10 o'clock. Thus, on the one hand, the witness informs his superior officer about mobs gathering in the Patiya area and on the other hand till 10 o'clock in the morning on the day of incident, he had sent messages of 'all is well' to the Police Control Room. From the evidence of the other witnesses including police witnesses, it emerges that by 10 o'clock huge mobs had gathered and the police were not able to control them, yet, for some inexplicable reason, this witness instead of asking for reinforcements had sent a message saying "all is well".

246.107 While curfew came to be clamped down in the area, which was completely disregarded by the mobs, the witness who was in charge as well as the other police personnel, have not arrested any person for breach of curfew from the mobs in the Naroda Patiya area.

246.108 The witness has deposed that he had seen in all four accused viz. Kishan Korani, P.J. Rajput, Rajubhai Chaubal and Babu Bajrangi in the afternoon after 2 o'clock. He had seen them in the mob talking to the people in the mob explaining something to them. At this time the mob was shouting kill cut. The witness claims to have seen all the four accused in the mob till 2:45 p.m. In his cross-examination, it has been elicited that when the witness was near the Noorani Masjid, he had seen them in the middle of the mob on the opposite side and that he had seen them between the Noorani

Masjid and Hussainnagar Chawl. In his cross-examination, it has further been elicited that the accused named by him were not social workers; however, the named accused time and again used to come to the police station. He has also stated that the five persons named by him in his examination-in-chief are workers of BJP, Vishwa Hindu Parishad and Bajrang Dal and that they used to come to his police station with minor as well as major issues. The witness has denied that when they came with such issues and they were not resolved, at that time there were heated discussions between them, and hence, he has nurtured grudge against them and felt that they were always interfering with his duties; therefore, to falsely implicate them he had given their names in this case. In the opinion of this court, such small skirmishes would not be sufficient for the witness to bear a grudge to such an extent that he would implicate them falsely in such a serious offence. Besides, he is not the only witness who has named these accused.

246.109 It has been contended on behalf of the accused that different police witness and other witnesses have named different accused, though many of them are stated to be present at the same time in the same area. In this regard, in the cross-examination of this witness, he has stated that on the day of the incident the number of people in the mob was very large, that it was quite possible that one police witness may have seen certain specific persons and the same persons may not have been seen by other police personnel for the reason that every policeman was given a different point and from one particular point, someone could see a person, then a policeman from another point may not be able to see such person. This explanation is a plausible explanation and a complete answer to the contention raised on behalf of the accused.

246.110 From the testimony of this witness it further emerges that the number of people in the mob kept on increasing as people kept on coming and joining the mob. The people in the mob were coming on foot and they were coming in groups of four and five.

246.111 In the cross-examination of this witness it is further elicited that he knows the MLAs, MPs and Corporators of this area by their faces. The witness has admitted that while he was at the Noorani Masjid and the S.T. Workshop point, it had not happened that Mayaben had come and talked with him. The witness has stated that he had not seen that Mayaben had come there in her vehicle. He has admitted that he had not seen that after coming near his vehicle, Mayaben had distributed weapons from her vehicle. The witness has stated that on that day it has not happened that she had any discussion with him. Thus, while several eyewitnesses have deposed that Mayaben Kodnani (A-37) either alighted from her car or came out of the mob and talked to Shri Mysorewala, this witness has denied such fact.

246.112 The witness has admitted that the police staff was present at the S.T. Workshop corner and he himself also was on duty, whereas a majority of the witnesses who have named accused No.37 Mayaben Kodnani claim to have seen her near the S.T. Workshop in the morning hours. Therefore, if A-37 had indeed come to the S.T. Workshop either in a car, which would have been very conspicuous as on that day there were hardly any vehicles on that road, or on foot in the mob, it is not possible that any of the police witnesses would not have seen her, more so, when there hardly appear to be any women in the mobs.

246.113 The trial court at page 721 of the judgement has observed that talking to Mysorewala on that day with the current MLA of the area viz. A 37 also seems very natural, he being Senior PI of the police station, it is but natural that if the MLA of the area would come at the spot, he would be talking to her but then it is not a crime. However, what the trial court fails to see is that if talking to the MLA was natural for the police officer, it was not necessary for him to suppress this fact from the court, inasmuch as, if the conversation between A-37 and the witness was an innocent conversation between a police officer on duty and the local MLA and it had nothing to do with the commission of the offence, there was no reason for the witness to suppress such fact, which gives reason to believe that either those witnesses are lying or this witness is lying. Therefore, either the witnesses have to be disbelieved that they have wrongly implicated A-37 or that Shri Mysorewala has not come up with the correct facts.

246.114 In his cross-examination, the witness has admitted that after 11:00 hours he had gone to follow the Tata-407. The witness has admitted that it must have taken him 30 to 45 minutes to follow the Tata-407 and return. The witness has admitted that he and other policemen were present at the time when the Tata-407 incident took place. There were mobs near Natraj and Krushnanagar. The witness has voluntarily stated that the mobs were spread over everywhere.

246.115 The witness has stated that after apprehending the person driving the Tata-407, he had returned to the Noorani Masjid and thereafter upon receiving message at 15:10 hours in the afternoon, he had left and till then he was present there. The witness has stated that the police mainly were not permitting any person in the mob to enter the Muslim chawls from the road. The witness has stated that he was present there till 3:10 in the afternoon on the day of the incident, during which had not heard about any incident taking place in the Muslim chawls. Till 3:10, at times he had looked towards Hussainnagar and Jawannagar from the S.T. Workshop lane.

246.116 At 3:10 in the afternoon, he had seen a house in front of the Muslim chawls being destroyed. There is a plot in front of the shops and houses in the lane of the national highway, after which the chawls begin and he had seen the houses in chawls being damaged. At that time he was at a distance of about 50 feet from there. He had tried to disperse the people who were damaging the houses, but had not arrested them. The witness has voluntarily stated that they were about fifteen policemen and the mob was comprised of fifteen to seventeen thousand people, and hence, it was not possible to arrest any accused on the spot. The witness has admitted that it was not as if all the fifteen to seventeen thousand people were damaging the houses. He has further deposed that they had gone near and resorted to lathi charge. The witness has admitted that despite having resorted to lathi charge, they could not catch any one. The witness has admitted that he does not know the name of any person from amongst the people who were beaten with lathis.

246.117 The witness has stated that till 3:10 in the afternoon he had gone to the Muslim chawls. He had gone once around 12:15 to 12:30 in the afternoon. He had gone to all the chawls, when it was told that two Hindus had been pulled inside the Muslim chawls. When he went to the Muslim chawls, at that time there was a Muslim mob at the corner outside. He had not seen any incident of assault inside chawls at that time. After returning from the chawls, he had remained at the Noorani Masjid point.

246.118 Thus, while the witness thought it fit to follow the Tata 407 at a time when there were huge mobs at the spot and apprehend the person inside the vehicle and bring him back to the police station along with the vehicle, he has failed to arrest a single person from the mob which had resorted to violence, destruction and arson under their very noses. At the time when the Tata 407 was driven away, curfew had not been declared and therefore, driving the vehicle was not an offence. As per the witness, the vehicle was driven recklessly and with great speed, which version is belied by the fact that not a single person in the mob present on the roads was injured. Considering the testimonies of the witnesses, who say that there were mobs of thousands of people on the road, it is not possible that a vehicle which was driven recklessly and with great speed would not injure a considerable number of people resulting in a high number of casualties, whereas here, not a single person has been injured at the spot. The accident wherein one person had died and two persons were injured took place near Naroda IIT which is at a considerable distance from the scene of offence.

246.119 Moreover, the concern shown by the witness for the Hindus in contrast to the treatment meted out to the Muslims of the area is evident on the face of the record. In the morning when the police had resorted to firing, apart from about two deaths, several persons belonging to the Muslim community were injured. However, despite requests by the Muslims to provide assistance to take the injured to the hospital, there was no response from the police, however, at around 12:00 to 12:30, when the aggressors, viz. the Hindus complained about two Hindus being dragged into the chawls, to rescue them, the witness went on foot with other police personnel and combed the area. Again it is only when Hindus were alleged to have been taken inside that the witness and other police thought it fit to go inside the chawls, but not a single policeman has entered the chawls despite the fact that mobs had entered the chawls and had resorted to violence, ransacking and arson. The discriminatory attitude of the witness is, therefore, manifest.

246.120 From the evidence of this witness, it further emerges that after 3:10 in the afternoon he had gone to the Naroda Police Station and had returned to the point after about fifty minutes. Thereafter, he was there till 5:30 to 5:45. The witness has denied that there were no riots in any other area of Naroda, and hence, he remained at the Noorani Masjid. The witness has stated that at no other place riots were as intensive as at the Noorani Masjid, and hence, he stayed there.

246.121 In the cross-examination of the witness it has further come out that he had got information about the incident that took place at Gopinathnagar-Gangotri Society's water tank in the evening at around 6:15 to 6:30. The witness has denied that he had reached the water tank spot at around 7 o'clock in the evening. The witness has admitted that he may have reached there at 6:45 hours.

246.122 Thus, though the witness was present on the highway till 5:30 to 5:45 in the evening, he feigns to be blissfully unaware of the incidents that were taking place inside the chawls and states that he came to know about the incident from someone at around 6:15 to 6:30.

246.123 The witness has admitted that it had taken them around half an hour to take out the injured persons and thereafter they were taken in police vehicles to the Civil Hospital. The witness has admitted that it must have been around 7:45 to 8:00 p.m. by the time they reached the Civil Hospital. The witness has admitted that thereafter he had entrusted the task of making further arrangements to Shri Katara and had reached the scene of incident and thereafter made necessary arrangement for taking out the dead bodies from the water tank area.

246.124 In his examination-in-chief, this witness does not refer to the arrival of the higher officers at the scene of offence. However, in his cross-examination it has been elicited that his higher officers had come at 12 o'clock at night and there were no people from the public there. He has further stated that it was after he had counted the dead bodies that the higher officers had arrived. He, however, has admitted that he had seen that his higher officer Shri Gondia had rescued a child, which was lying in the fire at the scene of incident.

246.125 In this regard it may be pertinent to note that PW 294 Shri Gondia, in his examination-in-chief, has stated that after he received information regarding people having been burnt at the spot, he had reached Naroda Patiya. Shri Mysorewala was present there and he had met him there. He has further stated that he, Shri Tandon and Shri Mysorewala had gone to the scene of offence on foot. He has further stated that he had inspected the scene of offence during which he saw a five year old child moving. Hence, Police Constable Manubhai Karshanbhai, the gunman accompanying him, was hung upside down by two other constables and the five year old child was taken out from the end of the heap of dead bodies. Now, Shri Mysorewala says that his higher officers came after 12 o'clock at night and before lodging the first information report the dead bodies had been counted. If that be so, one fails to understand as to why the corpses were lying in a heap when Shri Gondia reached the site, when they had already been counted. A perusal of the inquest panchnama (Exhibit 662) of the 58 deceased persons whose bodies were found in the passage of the water tank shows that the same was started at 00:00 hours on 1.3.2002 and was completed at 3:00 hours. Therefore, when the higher officers visited the site the panchnama was being drawn. However, a perusal of the extract of the station diary (Exhibit 1796) shows that the complaint was lodged at 20:30 hours pursuant to which the first information report came to be registered at 20:45 hours as Naroda Police Station I C.R. No.100/02. A perusal of the first information report (Exhibit 1773 show that the same refers to in all 58 persons having been done to death. Evidently, therefore, the dead bodies would have been counted before the lodging of the first information report. If that be so, it is strange that the corpses were still lying in a heap when PW 294 Shri Gondia arrived at the scene of offence and took steps to rescue the child, which lends credence to the submission advanced on behalf of the appellants that the first information report is ante-timed and ante-dated. Besides, though the inquest panchnama has been commenced at 00:00 hours on 1.3.2002, it does not bear the crime register number of the first information report.

246.126 However, though the bona fides of the witness insofar the discharge of his duties is concerned are suspect, there is no reason to disbelieve the witness when he states that he had seen the four accused named by him, viz. Kishan Korani, P.J. Rajput, Rajubhai Chaubal and Babu Bajrangi sometime after 2:00 p.m. till 2:45 p.m. in the afternoon in the mob between the Noorani Masjid and Hussainnagar chawls, inasmuch as, his presence at the scene of offence is not in doubt, nor is there any doubt that he was not aware of the identities of those accused as the cross-examination of the witness clearly shows that he had prior acquaintance with the accused. Thus, through the testimony of this witness, the prosecution has duly established the presence of the above four accused in the mobs at the scene of offence in the afternoon after curfew came to be imposed.

247. PW-275 Hareshkumar Prafulchandra Agrawat has been examined at Exhibit-1833. This witness has deposed that from May 2002 to September, 2007, he was discharging duties as a Police Inspector in the Ahmedabad city Crime

Branch. At the relevant time, he was the Senior P.I. in the Crime Branch and hence, whenever the A.C.P. of the Crime Branch had gone out for some Government work or was engaged in some Government work or on leave, he used to handle the charge of A.C.P. Shri S.S. Chudasama was discharging duties as A.C.P. Crime Branch when on 20.6.2002 as he had to go for some other work, the investigation of Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.100/02 was handed over to him as he was in-charge Crime Branch A.C.P.

247.1 During this period, he had also handed over accused Premchand Tiwari whom he had arrested as well as the investigation papers. He had interrogated Shri Premchand Tiwari and had made a remand application and obtained remand of the accused and upon the period of the remand being over, he was sent for the judicial custody.

247.2 During the course of investigation, accused Suresh alias Sahejad and Kalubhai Harisinh Rathod alias Nawab were absconding and as they were arrested in connection with the offence registered at Naroda Police Station and accused Suresh was yet to be arrested in connection with this offence, he had taken necessary steps for obtaining a transfer warrant from the court.

247.3 During the course of his investigation, he had recorded statements of witness Abdulaziz Shaikh and Naemuddin Shaikh. The witness has further deposed with regard to obtaining custody of Suresh alia Sahejad and Kalu alias Nawab on the basis of a transfer warrant and arresting them and following the normal procedures for arrest and thereafter obtained their remand. During the course of his investigation Shri S. S. Chudasama reported back and hence the accused who were on remand as well as the investigation papers were handed over to A.C.P. Shri S. S. Chudasama and further investigation was carried on by Shri Chudasama.

247.4 Thereafter, in the month of September the investigation was handed over to him. At that time absconding accused Ashok Hundaldas Sindhi was found and was arrested by the Crime Branch on 26.9.2002 and the panchnama of his physical position was drawn and further investigation was carried out. The remand of the accused was obtained.

247.5 During the course of his investigation, the identification parade of the accused was required to be carried out, and hence, a yadi was sent to the Executive Magistrate, Metropolitan Area, Ahmedabad city on the basis of which the Executive Magistrate had arranged the identification parade of the accused on 3.10.2002 at 16:00 hours.

247.6 Thereafter, he had taken the steps to again obtain remand of the accused, which the court had granted and had extended the remand upto 4.10.2002. Upon A.C.P. Shri S.S. Chudasama being present on 3.10.2002, the accused who was on remand and the investigation papers were handed over to Shri S.S.Chudasama, who had carried out further investigation.

247.7 Thereafter, A.C.P. Shri S.S. Chudasama was transferred on 19.11.2002 and he had once again taken over the charge of A.C.P. While he was in charge, he was also entrusted with the investigation of Naroda Police Station I-C.R.

247.8 After taking over the investigation, he had sent yadis for tracing out the absconding accused and had also taken steps under section 82 of the Criminal Procedure Code. He had also recorded statements of Bai Hanifabibi and witness Dahiben and upon A.C.P. Shri G.L. Singhal taking charge as A.C.P., he had handed over the charge of A.C.P. to him together with the investigation papers, whereafter Shri Singhal had carried out the investigation.

247.9 On 21.8.2004, A.C.P. Shri Singhal handed over this investigation to him. At that time, three accused who were arrested were handed over to him, namely, (1) Shri Ghanshyam Sindhi (2) Manoj Sindhi Kukrani (3) Haresh Parshuram Rohera. He had interrogated these three accused and had produced them before the court within the prescribed time and obtained remand. Since the identification parade of accused Ghanshyambhai was to be carried out, a yadi was sent to the Executive Magistrate, Metropolitan Area, who had fixed 25.8.2004 for test identification parade. The witness has deposed that he had obtained further remand of the accused on 26.8.2004. The witness has thereafter deposed with regard to a discovery panchnama at the instance of Shri Manoj Sindhi alias Kukrani, who was on remand. A panchnama was drawn on 25.8.2004 and after following the due procedure in the presence of panchas, a sword had been discovered at the instance of the said accused.

247.10 The witness is shown the panchnama Mark 134/85 and he has identified the signatures of the panchas as well as his signature thereon and had admitted the contents thereof. The panchnama is given Exhibit-1834.

247.11 The witness is thereafter shown the muddamal sword and he has stated that it is the same sword which was discovered at the instance of the accused.

247.12 The witness has further deposed that the test identification parade of accused Ghanshyambhai was carried out and upon the period of remand being over, the accused was sent to judicial custody.

247.13 The witness has further deposed that thereafter on 27.8.2004, Police Inspector Shri Tarun Barot of the Crime Branch had arrested absconding accused Hira Marwadi and had handed over his custody to him and the accused was sent to judicial custody. At this time, absconding accused Shri Bipinbhai Umedrai Panchal was arrested by the Naroda Police Station. The witness has further deposed that absconding accused Shri Bipinbhai Panchal was arrested in connection with the offence registered by the Naroda Police Station and since he was yet to be arrested in connection with the present offence, he had taken steps to obtain his custody through a transfer warrant from the court and on 26.9.2004, he had obtained custody of accused Bipinbhai Panchal and produced him before the court within the specified period and obtained his remand till 1.10.2004.

247.14 During this period, Bipinbhai was interrogated and on 1.10.2004, a discovery panchnama was drawn wherein a sword had been discovered at the instance of Shri Bipinbhai.

The witness has referred to the formalities which were followed while drawing the panchnama. The panchnama is shown to the witness and he has admitted his signature as well as the contents thereof and the same is exhibited as Exhibit-1494. The witness has also identified the signature of the panchas on the slips which have been exhibited as Exhibit-1495. The witness has thereafter identified the muddamal sword as being the sword which was recovered by him.

247.15 The witness has deposed with regard to obtaining the P.M. notes, sending the swords to the F.S.L. and has stated that thereafter the investigation was once again handed over to Shri G.L. Singhal. The witness has thereafter deposed with regard to the muddamal yadi etc. sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory for analysis. From the testimony of this witness it further emerges that he had obtained approximately fifteen to twenty post mortem notes and placed them with the investigation papers.

247.16 He had also sent yadis so that the relatives of the deceased can get the P.M. notes. The witness has thereafter proved the yadis of the P.M. notes with regard to several of the deceased persons, as enumerated in paragraph 32 of the deposition, which have been exhibited as Exhibits 1835 to 1850. The witness has further deposed that he had also recorded the statement of witness Iqbalhussain Amirmiya Kureshi.

247.17 CROSS EXAMINATION: In the cross-examination of the witness, he has admitted that he had reached upto the level of Dy. S.P. in the police department and has worked in the police department for 35 years. The witness has admitted that his statement was recorded by the S.I.T by Shri V.V. Chaudhary and that the end on the left side he has put his signature. The witness has admitted that ordinarily no signatures are obtained on statements recorded during the course of investigation.

247.18 The witness has denied that he has not arrested Ashok Hundaldas Sindhi and that to that extent he is falsely deposing before the court. The witness has voluntarily stated that in case of Ashok Hundaldas Sindhi he had drawn an arrest and physical position panchnama on 26.9.2002 from 20:05 hours to 20:25 hours and had also recorded his facial features. The witness has admitted that at the time when an accused is arrested his facial features identification statement is required to be filled up. The witness has stated that he had arrested Ashok Hundaldas Sindhi in the context of Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.100/02 when the investigation was with the Crime Branch.

247.19 The witness has admitted that he cannot say as to how many times the investigation of I-C.R. No.100/02 was entrusted to him and then taken back. The witness has stated that he has recorded the statements of witnesses who he thought were necessary for the investigation. The witness has stated that Naemuddin Shaikh's statement was recorded by the Crime Branch but he cannot say the date on which it was recorded. He has further stated that he does not remember as to when the statements of Abdulaziz, Hanifa and Dahiben's statements were recorded but he has certainly recorded such statements. The witness has stated that it has not happened that during the course of investigation any witness has given the names of accused and he has not written them down. The witness has stated that he has recorded all the facts in the statement. The witness has stated that he has no personal knowledge about the test identification parade of Ashok Hundaldas Sindhi. The witness has admitted that the sword which was recovered from accused No.41 was recovered from a place of common ownership.

247.20 The witness has denied that it has not happened that Manoj Sindhi had shown him any sword or that he has stated any such fact in this regard before the panchas. The witness has admitted that during the course of his investigation, he has not received any application making any allegations against any previous Investigating Officer.

247.21 ANALYSIS: This witness was in charge of the investigation as In-charge A.C.P., Crime Branch from 20.6.2002. While he was in charge he had arrested some of the accused and had recorded statements of two witnesses. Thereafter, he had handed back the charge to Shri S.S. Chudasama. In September, 2002, he was once again handed over the charge of the investigation. On 3.10.2002, upon Shri S.S. Chudasama reporting back on duty, he once again handed back the charge to him. Upon Shri S.S. Chudasama being transferred, the investigation was once again handed over to him on 19.11.2002. From the cross-examination of this witness, it emerges that the Investigating Officer (SIT) after recording the statement of this witness under section 161 of the Code, has obtained his signature below the same in flagrant violation of the provisions of section 162 of the Code.

248. PW-276 Pruthvisinh Udesinh Solanki has been examined at Exhibit-1854. The witness has deposed that in the year 1991, he had passed the departmental exam and was promoted as a P.S.I. He retired on 31.1.2004.

248.1 In the year 2002, he was working as a P.S.I. in the Investigation Squad of the Naroda Police Station and Krushnanagar Chowki. On 27.2.2002 and 28.2.2002, he was on duty. At the relevant time, Shri Mysorewala was the Senior P.I. of Naroda Police Station and Shri Gohil was the Second P.I.

248.2 In the context of the incident that had taken place at Godhra on 27.2.2002, there was bandobust in their area. Hence, from 11 o'clock he together with police constable Manubhai Madhabhai were continuously patrolling from the chowky area from Naroda Patiya to Thakkarnagar Cross Roads and till the canal area on the rear side which was within their chowky area and had taken care to see that no untoward incidents take place. The Noorani Masjid area comes within the Saipur Chowky area. On 27.2.2002, at about 7 o'clock in the evening, a Muslim mattress shop came to be set on fire in the Nava Naroda area and at Hari Darshan Char Rasta in the Naroda Police Station area, a person belonging to the minority community was assaulted by people and hence, tension had spread in the Naroda Police Station area and they were continuously on duty.

248.3 Late in the night of the 27th, that is, at around 2:00 to 2:30 in the morning of 28.2.2002, a requisitioned jeep came to be allotted to them for patrolling and police staff Vinubhai

Nathubhai and Pradeepsinh Manusinh had been allotted to him. Police Constable Manubhai Madhabhai, who was with him, was issued a rifle. Accordingly, with three police personnel, he was present for patrolling in the chowki area.

248.4 On 28.2.2002 as there was a call for Gujarat bandh, together with three police personnel he was present for patrolling from Naroda Patiya till Thakkarnagar Char Rasta and had returned and remained present at Naroda Patiya. On 28.2.2002 at around 9 o'clock in the morning, he had reported to Naroda Patiya. On account of the call for Gujarat bandh, people had gathered at Naroda Patiya. These people were getting the shops in the Naroda Patiya area shut down. Other mobs were also there were at Krushnanagar, the Noorani Masjid as well as near Hussainnagar and at the Patiya. In the meanwhile, at about 10.30 to 11:00 P.I. Shri Mysorewala also arrived at Naroda Patiya. He tried to disperse the people in the mob from there. However, the mobs slowly started increasing. At around 11 o'clock in the morning, on all four sides of the road, approximately fifteen thousand to seventeen thousand people had gathered there. Therefore, he and P.I. Shri Mysorewala together with police personnel had resorted to lathi charge and lobbing tear gas shells to disperse the mob and had made all attempts to disperse the mob.

248.5 During this period, upon A.C.P. Shri Rana and D.C.P. Gondia coming to know that mobs had gathered there, they too came to Naroda Patiya together with their staff.

248.6 In the meanwhile, a person started a Tata 407 vehicle lying opposite the Noorani Masjid and ran it over the mobs. Hence, one person died and several persons were injured, and hence, to apprehend that person, Police Inspector Shri Mysorewala with his staff followed him. Thereafter, he had apprehended him at the railway crossing opposite Galaxy Cinema and had taken legal steps against him.

248.7 The people in the mob were getting the shops in the Naroda Patiya area closed and the people belonging to the minority community were not shutting down the shops at the Noorani Masjid, Hussainnagar and Patiya area and there was cross stone pelting. At this time, A.C.P. Shri Rana, D.C.P. Gondia and Police Inspector Shri Mysorewala were also present and they had resorted to lathi charge and lobbing tear gas shells and attempted to disperse the crowd. However, the mobs did not disperse and more people from the neighbouring areas started gathering there.

248.8 Thereafter, they had resorted to firing. He had, through Police Constable Manubhai Madhabhai, fired three rounds. The people in the mob had sticks, batons, pipes, etc.

248.9 The witness has further deposed that during this period, a person named Ranjitsinh from Saijpur was killed by the Muslims and thrown in the pit next to Hussainnagar and Jawannagar, due to which, the Hindu mob got more incited and they put obstacles of all four sides on the road. Due to this, the police staff and the police vehicles could not move forward on the road. Hence, the police personnel attempted to disperse the mob on foot. The mobs entered into the chawls in the Noorani Masjid area, Hussainnagar, etc. The mobs entered the houses in the chawls and damaged them and set them on fire.

The police did not have the sufficient strength and police force, and hence, they could not disperse the mob. In the meanwhile, at 12 o'clock curfew was declared in the city. The curfew was also proclaimed at Naroda Patiya; however, there were a large number of people in the mob and the people in the mob had put obstacles on the roads, and hence, the police could not go and disperse the mobs.

248.10 The mob kept on rioting till the evening and at around 7 o'clock in the evening the mob slowly dispersed.

248.11 Late at night, at around 10 o'clock he came to know that fifty eight people have been killed and burnt near the water tank next to Gangotri Society. In this regard, Police Inspector, Shri Mysorewala had taken lawful action.

248.12 In connection with the incident, the Surveillance Squad, P.S.I. Shri V.K. Solanki had lodged a complaint which was registered as Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.100/02 and the investigation was taken over by Shri Mysorewala.

248.13 The witness has further stated that he was also included in the investigation team by Shri Mysorewala. On that day, they had taken part in rescue work and were constantly present. The houses of Muslims in the Muslims chawls were burnt. They had taken the Muslims who had survived to the relief camps.

248.14 On 4.3.2002, his second P.I. Shri Gohil informed him that the dead body of an unknown woman was lying in Jawannagar-ni-chali and hence, he had ordered investigation into the same. He had investigated and had found that the dead body of an unknown woman was lying at the site and he had taken steps for drawing an inquest panchnama. Prior thereto, he had sent a yadi to the Assistant Police Commissioner seeking permission to draw an inquest in connection with which the Assistant Police Commissioner Shri Rana had given him permission.

248.15 The witness has thereafter identified his signature on the inquest panchnama as well as the yadi and the sanction granted by the Assistant Police Commissioner Shri M.T. Rana. The yadi has been exhibited as Exhibit-1855.

248.16 The witness had deposed that in anticipation of permission, he had drawn the inquest panchnama on 4.3.2002 from 14:15 to 15:00 hours in the evening. Since the dead body was of an unknown woman, a female and a male panchas were called and he had drawn the inquest panchnama of an unknown woman aged 35 years. The witness has identified his signature on the panchnama Exhibit-937.

248.17 The witness has further deposed that in connection with this case, the complainant had given an application on which a separate crime register number had been given, which was registered as Crime Register No.111/02 and a panchnama of the scene of offence was done. The witness has identified his signature as well as the signature of both the panchas on the panchnama and has stated that the panchnama of the scene of offence is of the house of Mehmoodbhai Abbasbhai Bagdadi.

248.18 The witness has further deposed that he had also drawn a scene of offence panchnama on 16.3.2002 in connection with I-C.R. No.179 of 2002 of the house of Allarakhbhai Gulammohammed Malik. The witness has identified his signature as well as the signature on the panchnama of the scene of offence, which is exhibited as Exhibit-1856.

248.19 The witness has deposed that the dead body whose inquest panchnama he had drawn was swollen and it was not possible to take the ornaments from the body. The body had decayed and it was not possible to identify it. The dead body was thereafter sent for post mortem.

248.20 The witness has deposed that the Doctor who had carried the post mortem had removed yellow metal earrings and silver anklets, two rings and a nose ring etc. from the body and Police Constable Manubhai Madhavbhai, who was present at the time of post mortem had handed them over to him in connection with which a panchnama was drawn on 5.3.2002 between 13:30 to 14:15 hours and he had taken custody of such ornaments.

248.21 The witness has stated that the panchnama Exhibit-177 is the panchnama of taking custody of such ornaments.

248.22 The witness has thereafter identified the ornaments that were taken possession of under the said panchnama.

248.23 The witness has further deposed that as and when instructed by the Investigating Officer he had recorded statements of witnesses. The witness has deposed that he has recorded statements of Sarfarazkhan Abbaskhan Pathan (PW-144) and Shahnawazkhan Abbaskhan (PW-145) on 9.3.2002, the statement of Parveenbanu Salambhai Qureshi (PW-152) on 6.3.2002, Ahmed alias Badshah Maheboobhussian Shaikh (PW-154) on 7.3.2002, Abdulmajid Mahammadusman Shaikh (PW-156) on 6.3.2002, Pirmahammad Allabax Shaikh (PW-165) on 7.3.2002, Mahammadhusssain Kaiyumbhai Shaikh (PW-167) on 7.3.2002, Zarinabanu Naemuddin Shaikh (PW 205) on 7.3.2002 and Mahammadkhalid Saiyedali Shaikh (PW 255) on 7.3.2002.

248.24 The witness has further deposed that the SIT had recorded his statement on 24.10.2008.

248.25 CROSS EXAMINATION: In the cross-examination of this witness, he has admitted that he had recorded the statements of the witness as stated by them. He had not recorded any fact not stated by the witness in the statement. It had also not happened that he had not written down any fact which the witness had stated. The witness has been cross-examined with regard to the statements of the witnesses recorded by him, reference to which shall be made while discussing the testimonies of the concerned witnesses.

248.26 The witness has admitted that till he carried out the investigation, no witness had made any allegation before him that any police employee or police officer was not properly carrying out the investigation.

248.27 The witness has admitted that in the year 2002

during the time of the incident, the open space and the area thereafter where the canal is situated behind Gangotri Gopinath Society fall within the jurisdiction of his police chowky. The witness has admitted that he had carried out patrolling, including the above area viz., the canal and the adjoining open ground, and all the areas falling within the jurisdiction of Krushnanagar Police Chowky. The witness has voluntarily stated that they were able to carry out patrolling only in the morning.

248.28 In his cross-examination, it has further come out that he had gone for patrolling in the canal and the open space area on 28.2.2002 in the morning at around 7 to 8 o'clock. He has admitted that at that time, the situation was peaceful and under control. Thereafter, he had no occasion for going on the road behind the canal. The witness has further stated that the area of the passage of Gangotri Gopinath Society falls within the jurisdiction of his chowky. He came to know of the incident that took place in the passage of Gangotri and Gopinath Society at 9 o'clock at night. He was not informed about this through any private person. The witness has voluntarily stated that he was informed about the incident through P.I. Shri Mysorewala. The witness has stated that after he came to know, as he had stayed for bandobust at the scene of incident, he could not go there.

248.29 SUBMISSIONS: The learned counsel for the appellants submitted that this witness came to know about the incident of Gangotri Gopinath at 10:00 p.m. and according to what has been stated by him in paragraph 109 of his cross-examination is at 9 o'clock at night. It was submitted that the witness has admitted that he had never gone to the place of incident as he was busy with the bandobust. Therefore, the claim made by Shri Mysorewala that Shri P.U. Solanki was posted at the passage of the water tank to keep watch over the dead bodies while he was removing the injured to the hospital, is not correct.

248.30 ANALYSIS : This witness was patrolling in the canal and open space area in the morning at around 7 to 8 o'clock on the day of the incident, at which point of time the situation was peaceful and under control. According to this witness, the area of the passage and Gangotri Gopinath Society falls within the jurisdiction of his police chowky. This witness has also referred to the incident of a person starting the Tata 407 vehicle as well as the incident of a person by the name of Ranjitsinh being killed. In terms of the testimony of this witness, the Hindu mob had put obstacles on all four sides of the road due to which, the police staff and police vehicles could not move on the road and hence, the police attempted to disperse the mob. This witness has stated that the mobs entered the chawls in the Noorani Masjid area, Hussainnagar etc. and entered the houses in the chawls and damaged them. He has stated that the police did not have sufficient strength and police force, and hence, could not disperse the mob. Thus, though the area where the incident took place was within the jurisdiction of this officer and he was aware of the fact that the mobs had entered the chawls near the Noorani Masjid and Hussainnagar and had entered the houses in the chawls and damaged them and set them on fire, no steps were taken by him to prevent the mob. It appears that the witness continued to remain on the road and did not take any action against the mob inside the chawls.

248.31 This witness has deposed that he came to know about the incident at the water tank only at 9 o'clock at night when Mr. Mysorewala informed him about it, whereas Mr. Mysorewala has stated that he had posted Shri P.U. Solanki at the passage of the water tank to keep a watch over the dead bodies while he was removing the injured to the hospital, which is contrary to the testimony of this witness.

249. PW-277-Madansinh Takhatsinh Rana, aged 63 years, has been examined at Exhibit-1867. The witness has deposed that he has retired from service on 31.12.2005. Prior to his retirement, he was discharging duties as an Assistant Police Commissioner in "G" Division, Ahmedabad city. Meghaninagar Police Station, Sardarnagar Police Station and Naroda Police Station were included in "G" Division. However, in February 2002, over and above "G" Division, he was also holding the charge of "F" Division. Dariapur Police Station and Shahibaug Police Station were included in "F" Division. In the month of February 2002, he was holding the charge of Assistant Police Commissioner in respect of all the five police stations.

249.1 On 27.2.2002, Shri Tandel the Joint Commissioner of Police of his Department called him at 9:00 to 9:30 in the morning and informed him that the kar sevaks who had been attacked and burnt in the Sabarmati Express at Godhra in the morning that day, are to arrive. Since Dariapur Police Station was under him, hence, he should go to Dariapur Police Station and take care as the said area is a communally sensitive area. Hence, he had gone to the area of Tambu Police Chowky at Dariapur Police Station, which is considered to be most sensitive. After going there, he gave instructions to both the Police Inspectors at Dariapur Police Station and the Chowky P.S.I. to ensure that there is no communal tension. On 27.2.2002, at 18:00 hours in the evening, he had stayed at Dariapur Police Station area.

249.2 In the evening at 18:00 hours, their D.C.P. Shri Gondia had given instructions to the effect that a mattress shop of a Muslim in Nava Naroda Gam has been torched, and hence, he should reach there and maintain law and order. Hence, he went from Dariapur and came to the Nava Naroda area. Police Inspector Shri Mysorewala met him there. He informed him that the kar sevaks who have survived have returned to Nava Naroda Gam and they have talked to other people, whereupon the incident of burning of the mattress shop had taken place. Moreover, he also informed him that in this area, on Kathwada road, near Haridarshan Society, a Muslim has been assaulted. Hence, he visited both the spots. He had dispersed the small mob which was present there. Thereafter, he had carried out patrolling in the area with P.I. Shri Mysorewala. In connection with the incident that had taken place, he gave instructions to the police to take necessary action. Thereafter, upon it appearing to be peaceful at the spot, at around 21:00 hours, he returned to Dariapur Police Station and maintained patrolling at Dariapur Police Station till 24:00 hours.

249.3 At this time, he came to know that the Vishwa Hindu Parishad had given a call for Gujarat Bandh on 28.2.2002. A message was received from the Police Control Room that on 28.2.2002 in the morning, stand to bandobust be maintained from 7:00 hours in the morning due to which, he had come to Dariapur Police Station between 7:00 to 7:15 and carried out patrolling. On that day, in the morning at 10:00 hours, D.C.P. Shri Gondia had given instructions to the effect that it appeared that there was unrest in the Naroda Gam area of Naroda Police Station, and hence, he should reach there. Therefore, he departed and came to the Noorani Masjid.

249.4 After coming there, he saw that a mob of around five to seven thousand Hindu people had gathered near the Noorani Masjid. At this time, the Muslim mobs had also gathered in front of the Noorani Masjid at Hussainnagar and the Hindus resorted to nominal stone pelting at the Muslims standing at the Noorani Masjid. At this time, from Naroda Bethak, Naroda Gam, Sardarnagar, Krushnanagar, Saijpur, Thakkarnagar road, huge mobs of Hindus were coming towards the Noorani Masjid. Apart from pelting stones, the people in the Hindu mobs were burning scrap, tyres, etc. on the road and were trying to put obstacles on the roads.

249.5 After he reached the Noorani Masjid, P.I. Shri Mysorewala, Second P.I. Shri Gohel and D.C.P. Shri Gondia also arrived at the Noorani Masjid. They were trying to disperse the Hindu and Muslim mobs. They achieved a limited success in their attempts. The mobs would gather again in a little while. At this time, a Tata 407 tempo was lying near the Noorani Masjid, wherein a driver climbed in the vehicle and drove it towards the Hindu mob and the vehicle went in full speed towards Naroda Bethak. At this time, there was a stampede amongst the Hindu mob and the anger of the mob against the Muslims increased.

249.6 P.I. Shri Mysorewala chased the tempo and apprehended it at a short distance and handed over the driver and the tempo to Naroda Police Station and returned to the Noorani Masjid.

249.7 At this time, the anger of the Hindu mobs further escalated and hence, they started pelting stones and throwing burning rags, glass bottles, etc. on the Muslims as well as on their houses, shops, masjid as well as the shops and other places on the side of Hussainnagar. Because of this, the Muslims also got more provoked against the Hindus and they too resorted to pelting stones and glass bottles, etc. To disperse the mobs, he had resorted to strong lathi-charging. However, the lathi-charge did not have any special effect.

249.8 Since the lathi-charge did not have much effect, he had also got tear gas shells burst. However, even that did not have any effect on both the mobs and hence, they had to take support of firing.

249.9 Shri Mysorewala and Shri Gondia's staff, etc. had resorted to firing. At this time, the fire brigade was also called for, but it did not come.

249.10 At that time, at around 12 o'clock in the afternoon, Shri Tandon, Joint Police Commissioner, Sector-2 came to the Noorani Masjid and upon seeing the situation, he took steps to obtain orders for imposition of curfew and imposed curfew in the area. He declared curfew in the Naroda Police Station and returned to his area along with his squad.

249.11 They had announced about the curfew with loudspeakers. However, the curfew had no effect on the mob. The mob was not implementing the curfew at the spot.

249.12 At this time, messages of incidents taking place in the nearby Naroda area started coming, and hence, the concerned P.S.I. were sent to the scene of incidents in their area.

249.13 Thereafter, the Hindus made a representation to the police that the Muslims of Hussainnagar had pulled two Hindus into Hussainnagar, and hence, they should save them. Therefore, Police Inspector Shri Mysorewala went to Hussainnagar with his staff. He returned and informed that in connection with the representation, nothing has been found in Hussainnagar.

249.14 After a little while, a dead body of a Hindu was lying towards Hussainnagar. At that time, the Police Inspector took steps to remove the dead body to the hospital. The face of the dead body was highly mutilated and the eyes of the dead body were gouged out. Upon seeing the dead body, the Hindus became agitated to a large extent and with the firm intention of killing the Muslims, the Hindus rushed towards the Muslims.

249.15 The Muslims also were angry with the Hindus. Moreover, the Hindus had set the Muslims' residences, shops, Masjid and the Noorani Masjid on fire.

249.16 With a view to see that both the mobs do not come together, they had arranged that the police staff remains between two mobs. To disperse both the mobs, they had once again started making attempts like lathi-charging, bursting tear gas shells etc.; however, their efforts did not have much effect on both the mobs. Therefore, under the instructions of the DCP, they had resorted to firing at the spot. During this period, they had received a message to the effect that the houses of several Muslims have been burnt in the residential area of the Dargah behind the masjid which is situated in the area behind the Noorani Masjid.

249.17 In the stone pelting referred to by him, Shri Mysorewala and other police staff had sustained nominal injuries. At this time, it was around 1:30 in the afternoon.

249.18 Upon once again trying to disperse the mob, he had seen Shri P.J. Rajput (A-19), Kishan Korani (A-20), Raju Chaubal (A-24) and Babu Bajrangi present in the mob. All these four persons were talking about something with the people in the mob, but he had not heard what they were talking. However, the mob got more and more volatile. To disperse the mobs, the police once again resorted to lathi-charge, bursting tear gas shells and firing. Of course, there was some reduction in the mob; however, the mob was not dispersed. All this went on till 4 o'clock in the afternoon. In the afternoon between 4:00 to 4:30, upon the mob reducing a little, he and P.I. Shri Mysorewala went to other spots from which messages of other incidents had started coming. Prior thereto, upon receipt of such messages, he had also sent P.I. Shri Gohel to the spot.

These kinds of messages kept on coming from Naroda Gam and the masjid area of Naroda Gam.

249.19 They had gone to Naroda Gam and in the evening from 5:00 to 5:15, they had come to the Noorani Masjid when Shri Mysorewala was also with him. The mob at the site was very small and upon making attempts to disperse the mob, the mob was dispersed and he had instructed PI Shri Mysorewala to maintain bandobust and as the incidents were also taking place at Gulbarg Society situated in Meghaninagar, he set off from there.

249.20 While taking necessary action in connection with the incidents at Gulbarg, he was there till 24:00 hours. At this time, Shri Mysorewala had given a message to him on the telephone that near the water tank between Gopinath and Gangotri Society, there is a place which is enclosed from three sides, where dead bodies are lying. Shri Mysorewala also informed him that twenty seven injured (groaning) Muslims were there and that they have been removed to the hospital. Shri Mysorewala informed him that there are fifty eight dead bodies lying at the spot and that he has saved twenty seven Muslims from the spot and taken them to the hospital. He also informed him that an offence has been registered in connection with the incident at Naroda Police Station being I-C.R. No.100/02.

249.21 In connection with the incident, steps for drawing the inquest were taken and instructions were given to continue proper investigation.

249.22 Steps were taken to send the Muslims who were victims of the incidents to different relief camps.

249.23 On 28.2.2002, he had remained present at the Noorani Masjid and while maintaining law and order, thirty six tear gas shells were burst and the police staff had released one hundred and seventy one tear gas shells, fired ninety one rounds, wherein one Hindu and one Muslim person died.

249.24 In the meanwhile, representations were made to the Human Rights Commission that rapes were committed on Muslims on the day of the incident, therefore, he had received instructions from Shri Tandon to investigate in that regard. Hence, he had recorded the statements of several Muslim witnesses at the relevant time.

249.25 During this time, Shri Tandon had instructed him to record the complaint of Hussainabanu Asgarkhan Pathan (PW-135). Hence, he had gone to the relief camp and recorded her complaint. The complaint so taken was registered as Naroda Police Station I – C.R. No.238/2002. The witness has deposed that he had carried investigation into the offence till 30.4.2002 and had recorded the statements of the concerned witnesses. During the course of investigation, the scene of offence panchnama came to be drawn and upon Police Sub Inspector Shri S.S. Parmar producing a mobile phone in his presence, the custody of such phone was taken over by drawing a detailed panchnama.

249.26 The witness was shown Exhibit-880 which was the original complaint and the witness has deposed that he has signed below the complaint and Hussainabanu has put her thumb impression in his presence and that he identifies the signature on the complaint.

249.27 The witness has further deposed that in connection with the complaint of Hussainabanu, he had drawn a panchnama. The panchnama was of the scene of offence which was identified by Hussainabanu, from where they had collected burnt ashes and the control sample. The panchnama was of 15.4.2002.

249.28 The witness is shown the panchnama Exhibit-888 and he has stated that he had taken possession of the mobile under this panchnama and has identified his signature as well as the signatures of the panch on the panchnama. The witness has further deposed that on 17.4.2002, from 10 o'clock to 11 o'clock in the morning, he had drawn another panchnama, whereby Shri S.M. Parmar had produced the mobile phone before him. The witness has deposed that the panchnama was drawn in the presence of both the panchas and has identified his signature as well as the signatures of the panchas on the panchnama and has admitted the contents thereof. The panchnama is given Exhibit-1868.

249.29 The witness was thereafter shown the mobile phone which was seized under the panchnama, Exhibit-1868 which was without a seal and he has admitted that this is the same mobile phone which he had taken possession of.

249.30 The witness has deposed that in case of serious offences, he is also required to make a visit and that the visitations have been made in connection with this offence. The witness has deposed that whenever he goes for visitation, he is required to sign on the same document. The witness has thereafter identified his signature on the original complaint, Exhibit-1773 as well as on the inquest panchnama of fifty eight dead bodies, Exhibit-662. The witness has thereafter proved various documents enumerated in paragraph 35 of his deposition. The witness has further deposed that he has recorded the statements of several witnesses as enumerated in paragraph-37 of the testimony. The witness has stated that he can identify the people whom he had seen in the mob, namely, Kishan Korani, P. J. Rajput, Raju Chobal and Babu Bajrangi. The witness has thereafter correctly identified P. J. Rajput and Babu Bajrangi. Accused Kishan Korani and Raju Chobal had filed exemption applications and are, therefore, deemed to have been identified.

249.31 The witness has further deposed that during the course of investigation, Shri Chudasama as well as the SIT had recorded his statements. The witness has further deposed that the further investigation has been handed over to the Crime Branch and on 30.4.2002, he had handed over the investigation of C.R. No.238/2002 to the Crime Branch.

249.32 CROSS-EXAMINATION: In his cross-examination, the witness has stated that on 27.2.2002, he was not in the 'F' Division or 'D' Division office. The witness has voluntarily stated that he was patrolling. On 27.2.2002, there was no unusual situation at the tent chowky area; however, with a view to see that no communal incidents take place, they were required to carry on patrolling. The witness has stated that he cannot say as to exactly when he had occasion to go to the Noorani Masjid for the first time on 28.2.2002 and has stated that on 28.2.2002, he mostly had occasion to visit Naroda Patiya, Naroda Gam, Gulbarg and Dariapur. The witness has stated that till Shri Mysorewala informed him, he did not know that the kar sevaks of Naroda Gam, who had survived, were going to come back. However, he had general information that kar sevaks were going to return, but he did not know that they were also from Nava Naroda Gam. The witness has admitted that after the Tata-407 incident and the incident of throwing a Hindu's mutilated body as well as rumour about two Hindus being pulled inside Hussainnagar, the unrest amongst the Hindus increased. The witness has admitted that on 28.2.2002, the curfew was not implemented; however, not a single case of breach of curfew had been registered. At around 12 o'clock in the afternoon on the road near the Noorani Masjid, seventeen to twenty thousand persons had gathered in the mob and at 10:30 in the morning, there was a mob of five to seven thousand people at the Noorani Masjid. The witness has stated that he did not have any discussion at the Noorani Masjid with Shri Mysorewala regarding the mob; however, they were continuously trying to disperse the mob. His own Gas Man had lobbed thirty six teargas shells at the Noorani Masjid on the day of the incident. The witness has admitted that on account of lobbing of teargas shells, there was a burning sensation in the eyes, due to which one could not see, and hence the mob would flee. The witness has voluntarily stated that due to this, the mob would only retreat a little and go to a place where the smoke did not affect them and thereafter, would immediately return back. The witness has stated that he does not remember as to how many statements of persons have been recorded at Dariakhan Ghummat. The witness has stated that he remembers having gone to the Shah Alam camp but does not remember whether he had visited any other camp. The witness has stated that when he went to investigate, at that time, they used to call the witnesses from the camp to the police chowky situated near Shah Alam. The witness has stated that he used to call the affected persons to the chowky through his constable. The witness has admitted that during the course of his investigation, he has not gone inside the Shah Alam Relief Camp. The witness has stated that whenever he needed any witness he used to call only that witness to the chowky nearby. The witness has voluntarily stated that he had recorded one or two statements. The witness has stated that at a time he has not recorded statements of more than one or two persons. The witness has stated that during the course of the entire investigation, he has not recorded more than twenty five statements. The witness has stated that he had received a letter from Shri Tandon, wherein names of Muslim persons who had made representations were stated together with the camps and on the basis of the statements which were recorded, if it was necessary to call them, then from the statement, it would be revealed as to in which camp such person is.

249.33 The witness has admitted that he had seen the accused persons whom he had named and identified before the court between 1:00 to 1:30 in the afternoon. The witness has admitted that between 1:00 to 1:30 in the afternoon, their D.C.P. was also present at Naroda Patiya. The witness has admitted that at this time there were Hindu mobs on all four sides of the road and that he was at a distance of around 50 to 60 feet from the mob. The witness has admitted that his other officers were also at a distance of about 50 feet and they were trying to stop the mob. The witness has admitted that when he saw the accused in the mob they were talking with each other. The witness has admitted that people were coming and going from the mob and has stated that mostly the people were coming, namely that they were joining the mob. The contents of paragraph 21 of his examination-in-chief are read over to the witness wherein he has stated that he had seen all the four accused talking about something with the people in the mob, however, thereafter the mob had got more incited. The witness has denied that he has not stated such facts in any of his statements and has voluntarily stated that he has stated these facts in his statement date 24.5.2002.

249.34 The last three lines of paragraph 24 of his examination-in-chief are read over to the witness, wherein the witness has stated the Shri Mysorewala had further informed him that he had registered an offence in connection with the incident at Naroda Police Station. The witness has admitted that these facts have not been stated by him in his statement. The witness has admitted that he had reached Naroda Patiya at around 12:30 at night. When he reached there, the procedure for drawing the inquest panchnama was going on. The witness has admitted that at that time, he had a talk with Mysorewala with regard to what has been stated by him in paragraph 24 of his examination-in-chief. The witness has admitted that his statement was firstly recorded on 24.5.2002 and prior thereto, his statement was not recorded. The witness has admitted that till 24.5.2002, he had not stated before any authority that he had seen the accused named by him. The witness has stated that he does not remember, at present, as to whether his higher officer had given him in writing or an oral order to investigate into the offence No.282/02. The witness has denied that he had drawn the panchnama of seizing the Mobile Exhibit-1868 without calling the panchas. The witness has stated that this mobile was not received in a sealed condition. The witness has stated that he had sealed the mobile at the time of drawing the panchnama and thereafter, he had not opened the seal.

249.35 The witness has admitted that during the course of his investigation, he had not ascertained from the complainant Hussainabanu that this was the very mobile which she had deposited. He has stated that when he received the phone it did not have any black cover over it.

249.36 The witness has stated that in the context of Crime Register No.238/02, he had sent a yadi to the Talati-cum-Mantri to draw a map of the scene of offence; however, he had not received any such map during the time when the investigation was with him. The witness has stated that in the investigation of C.R. No.238/02, he had not received any information to the effect that the mobile phone had been produced by the managers of the camp. The witness has stated that Shri Tandon had not given him any instructions that the mobile phone had been produced by the managers of the camp. The witness has stated that the information regarding from whom, when and how the mobile phone was recovered, may be available in the statements.

into C.R. No.238/02, he had recorded the statements of only important witnesses when the investigation was with him, for the reason that sometimes even not very significant statements are recorded during the course of investigation. The witness has admitted that when the investigation was with him, statements of important as well as unimportant witnesses may have been recorded. The witness has denied that he has recorded several statements during the course of the Naroda Patiya investigation. The witness has voluntarily stated that he had performed the task entrusted to him by Shri Tandon. However, he had never taken charge of the investigation of this offence.

249.38 The witness has admitted that on the day of the incident, officers together with the staff were present at Naroda Patiya. The witness has voluntarily stated that in proportion to the number of people in the mob, the number of the staff was minimal. The witness has stated that he is aware that there were police points near Noorani Masjid and near S.T. Workshop on the day of the incident. The witness has admitted that they were continuously making efforts to disperse the mobs from all four sides near the Noorani Masjid area. The witness has stated that he cannot say with certainty as to at which point, he was on the day of the incident. The witness has stated that he kept on moving between and near the two points. The witness has admitted that while he was on duty, he had not seen any person on the footpath or the divider of the National Highway drinking liquor or eating snacks and rioting. The witness has stated that he has not seen anyone in an open jeep. On the day of the incident, he had not seen any persons wearing khakhi shorts and undershirts with saffron bands tied on their heads or having black bands on their eyes. The witness has stated that he has not gone towards Teesra Kuva. However, at present he does not even remember as to whether he had gone there. The witness has admitted that on the day of the incident while he was on duty, he had not seen any private firing.

249.39 The witness has been cross-examined by the defence to bring out the contradictions in the statements of the witnesses recorded by him, reference to which shall be made while discussing the evidence of the concerned witness.

249.40 The witness has also been examined by the court wherein he has stated that he is aware of the incident of taking out the goods from Paras Cotton Works and burning them as well as the incident of a person belonging to the minority community being assaulted at Hari Darshan Cross Roads at 7 o'clock in the evening on 27.2.2002. He had gone to both these places. The incident of Hari Darshan Cross Roads had taken place after 7 o'clock in the evening on 27.2.2002. Paras Cotton Works was a shop belonging to a Muslim. The witness has stated that when he went to Paras Cotton Works, there was a group of persons who had come to see the incident. At Hari Darshan Cross Roads also, there were many people who had come to see the incident. The witness has stated that as far as he knows, statements have been recorded in connection with both the incidents and complaints have been registered and both the offences have been investigated. The witness has admitted that despite the fact that the Naroda area is not a communally sensitive area, incidents took place on 27.2.2002 and in both the incidents, offences relating to human body and properties belonging to the Muslim community had taken place, which he had found to be alarming. The witness has stated that upon finding the incidents to be alarming, he had instructed Senior P.I. Shri Mysorewala to requisition more vehicles and to arrange for police bandobust at the places where there was a Muslim population. The witness has further stated that he had also instructed Shri Mysorewala to detain the antisocial elements in the area on 27.2.2002. The witness has stated that he came to know from Shri Mysorewala that he had not arrested anyone in the context of the incident that took place on 27.2.2002. The witness has admitted that on 27.2.2002, no antisocial element was detained. The witness has admitted that despite the fact that Shri Mysorewala had flouted his orders, and had not investigated into the incidents that took place on 27.02.2002 and arrested the accused, and despite the fact that he had not detained any antisocial elements, he had not taken any steps against him in this regard. He had also not informed his higher officers about it.

249.41 The witness has stated that after the incidents of 27.2.2002, he has not made any inquiry as to what was the population of Muslims in the Naroda Police Station area and what was the population of Hindus and the proportionate population of Hindus and Muslims in the area. The witness has stated that he had learnt that prior to the incident, on account of the festival of Eid, Shri Mysorewala had placed police points in the Muslim area. The Eid festival was prior to 27.2.2002, at that time, Shri Mysorewala had placed three police points wherein insofar as Naroda Patiya area is concerned, one point was at Jikar Hassan-ni Chali, which is behind the Noorani Masjid, the second point was at the Noorani Masjid and the third point was at the S.T. Workshop. The witness has stated that insofar as he knows, the number of police points which were placed during Eid had been maintained on 28.2.2002. On a query by the court, as to whether he was of the opinion that a stricter bandobust was necessary on 28.2.2002 compared to Eid, the witness has stated that he is in agreement that more police points than those put during Eid were necessary on 28.2.2002. The witness has stated that upon inquiring from Shri Mysorewala as to why more police points were not placed on 28.2.2002, he had stated that there were no chances of getting more help. The witness has stated that he may have asked for more assistance for Naroda Police Station from the Police Commissioner in writing, and if he finds any such letter having been written asking for more assistance, he will produce the same, but he himself has not sent any such letter.

249.42 The witness has stated that he is in agreement with the view that considering the seriousness of this case, it was necessary to place more documents with regard to efforts having been made for additional police on the record. The witness has stated that he believes that Shri Mysorewala must have asked for more police help on 27.2.2002. The witness has stated that he is not aware whether Shri Mysorewala had asked for more assistance by a letter dated 27.2.2002 on account of the incidents that had taken place or for any other reason. The witness has stated that there is a total staff of one hundred and twenty persons at Naroda Police Station, out of which, twenty members were kept in reserve and the remaining hundred police were used on the day of the incident.

249.43 The witness has stated he is conversant with the fact that the Muslim population in this area is mostly from Maharashtra and Karnataka. The witness has stated that he is aware that most of them do not even know how to speak Gujarati properly though they speak in Hindi. These Muslims are mostly illiterate or very little educated and are people who are engaged in labour work. The witness has admitted that protection to the people and properties in this area was insufficient on the day of the incident. The witness has admitted that Shri Mysorewala had prepared a list of the places where police points were placed as well as which person was placed at which point. The witness has admitted that he had not supervised such list. The witness has admitted that if the P.S.I.s are less, A.S.I.s or Head Constables can also be placed on police points.

249.44 The witness has stated that at the relevant time, there were three vehicles at the Naroda Police Station, which are Naroda-One, Naroda-Two and Police Van. Six other vehicles had been requisitioned on 27.2.2002. The witness has stated that he believes that they should have requisitioned more vehicles. The witness has stated that they had received a message from the Police Control Room to requisition vehicles as per necessity; however, Shri Mysorewala had requisitioned only six vehicles. The witness has stated that he believes that he (Mysorewala) should have requisitioned more vehicles. The witness has stated that he agrees with the view that it is not necessary that requisitioned vehicles have to be allotted only to P.S.I.s and that only that many vehicles can be requisitioned as the number of P.S.I.s. The witness has stated that on the day of the incident, requisitioned vehicles could also have been entrusted to A.S.I.s as well as Head Constables. The witness has stated that such arrangement could have been made on 28.2.2002, but it was not done.

249.45 The witness has stated that on 28.2.2002 at 11:30 or 12:00 to 12:30 in the morning, the corpse of a Hindu person named Ranjitsinh was found from outside Hussainnagar. On that day, after the dead body was found, nothing could be done immediately for providing more bandobust for the reason that there were instructions not to ordinarily send wireless messages. Moreover, their D.C.P as well as Sector-2 Shri Tandon were present there. The witness has admitted that on the day of the incident at around 1 o'clock in the afternoon, about twenty four S.R.P. personnel were sent. The twenty four S.R.P personnel, who were received by them, were not placed in the interior areas of Muslim chawls etc. opposite the S.T. Workshop for the reason that the Hindu mob on the road was so huge that if they reduced the number of police, the mobs would have entered the Muslim areas. The witness has admitted that later on it had dawned upon him that serious offences against the human body had taken place in the interior areas where police points were not placed and that in the other areas there were only scattered incidents.

249.46 The witness has stated that he could not pay attention towards the Naroda area for the reason that the Naroda area was not the kind of area where communal riots would take place and, hence, his attention was on the Dariapur area. The witness has admitted that he could not foresee that if proper police points or bandobust are not placed communal tension could take place at Naroda also. The witness has admitted that in connection with the two incidents that took place in the evening on 27.2.2002, except for giving instructions to the P.I., he was not able to do anything. The witness has stated that, at present, he does not remember as to whether any orders had been passed by the Police Commissioner giving powers to recall the police staff which was on leave on 27.2.2002.

249.47 The witness has admitted that when he reached the Noorani Masjid at 10:30, Hindus were pelting stones at the Noorani Masjid. Shri Mysorewala had arrived at the Noorani Masjid after he reached there. The witness has admitted that in his presence, witness Abdul Majid Mohammadusman Shaikh (PW-156) had stated that on 28.2.2002, in the morning at 9:30, the mobs were damaging the Noorani Masjid and setting it on fire. He could not investigate in this regard.

249.48 The witness has admitted that at 10 o'clock in the morning, he was receiving messages that mobs are gathering in the Noorani Masjid area. The witness has admitted that at 10 o'clock, a message saying "all is well" had been received from Naroda-One, however, no message had been received that mobs had started gathering there. The witness has admitted that the message of "all is well" which was received at 10 o'clock had been registered by Shri Mysorewala in the message book and was given to the Police Control Room; however, upon seeing the incidents at the Noorani Masjid at 10:30 in the morning, he had felt that all is not well in the area. However, thereafter he could not send any message to the Police Control Room, which, in fact he should have sent.

249.49 The witness has admitted that if through message book or wireless message, a message had been sent to the Police Control Room with regard to the situation at the spot and regarding the position of the incidents that took place near the Noorani Masjid, possibly, the highest Police Officers might have been able to help or give some instructions.

249.50 The witness has admitted that during the course of visitation, he is required to supervise the visitation offences of the police station. The object of visitation is that offences of a serious nature are properly investigated and in case there is any mistake or neglect in the investigation, then the attention of the Investigating Officer can be drawn towards it and the mistake can be rectified. The witness has admitted that he has found this offence to be a serious offence and the investigation was with an officer under his jurisdiction till 8.3.2002. During this period, no test identification parade had been carried out and no F.S.L. Officer had visited the place and taken samples and the assistance of a Dog Squad had not been taken.

249.51 The witness has stated that as far as he knows, in connection with the incidents that took place on 28.2.2002, as well as the breach of curfew by the people in the mob, not a single person has been arrested and no case been registered against anyone. They had dispersed the mobs at the site but had not arrested any person from the mob. The witness has agreed that on the day of the incident when the situation was under control, at that time, if they had taken proper steps, communal riots would not have spread to such an extent at Naroda and the loss of lives and damage to properties could possibly have been averted. The witness has stated that on that day, upon coming to know of the fact that the kar sevaks belonged to Nava Naroda, police arrangement had been made, however, no other bandobust had been arranged. The witness has stated that the reason for placing a police point near the S.T. Workshop was because there are Muslim chawls opposite to the S.T. Workshop compound wall and for the purpose of protecting such Muslims. The witness has stated that he was aware that it was possible to go into the Muslim chawls from paths other than the road next to the S.T. Workshop. The witness has stated that he is not aware that it was possible to go to the Muslim chawls from next to the S.R.P. Quarters. The witness has stated that Shri Mysorewala should have placed police points also at the points where one could enter inside Muslim chawls from the rear side. The witness has admitted that on account of the workload at Dariapur Police Station, it did not occur to him to give instructions to Shri Mysorewala to place police points on all the roads from which one can enter inside the Muslim chawls from the rear side. The witness has admitted that on 28.2.2002, keeping in view the date as well as the two incidents that took place in the Naroda area on the previous day as well as keeping in view the bandh call, he had not felt the movement of people to be routine and he had found it to be unnatural. The witness has stated that, at present, he does not remember as to how he received such information but he must have learned about it from Shri Mysorewala. The witness has admitted that when Shri Mysorewala informed him that he had given a message to the Police Control Room at 10 o'clock, that "all is well", at that time, he had felt that he ought to have given instructions about the movement at the site and should not have given a message of "all is well". The witness has admitted that he had not given him any instructions in this regard.

249.52 The witness is shown an extract of the Naroda-One Log Book Exhibit-1786. The witness has admitted that after giving the message at 10 o'clock that "all is well", not a single message has been given after he reached the Noorani Masjid at 10:30 and stone pelting was going on.

249.53 The witness has admitted that no steps were taken by the Naroda Police to provide treatment or to issue treatment yadi to a single person who was injured in the police firing on the day of the incident. The witness has stated that on account of the Godhra incident, Hindus were highly provoked against the Muslims and every Hindu, except for small children, had come out of his house. On that day, the anger of the Hindus was at its peak and they were opening their buttons and telling the police to shoot them on their chests.

249.54 The witness has admitted that he personally had not asked for any help by way of armed police from the Police Commissioner. Unarmed police are given firing practice every year and that during the course of training, they are given training for firing. The witness has admitted that on the day of the incident 91 rounds were fired wherein two persons died and five to six persons were injured. The witness has stated that it might be possible that more people who were injured belonged to the Muslim community and there might be some Hindus also. The witness has admitted that he has not taken any steps to see that those who were injured in the firing receive compensation. The witness has stated that he is in agreement with the suggestion that while investigating into any case, the initial days are considered to be most important days for collecting of evidence. The witness has admitted that till 8.3.2002, when the investigation was with an officer under his jurisdiction, scientific evidence could have been collected in connection with the incident; however, the Investigating Officer has not collected such evidence. The witness has voluntarily stated that after 28.2.2002, communal riots had continued. As an A.C.P. his area of jurisdiction was very wide and he had the charge of 'G' Division as well as 'F' Division. During this period, he was required to carry out visitation of many serious offences and Dariapur Police Station within his area was considered to be a communally sensitive area, and hence, his workload was very immense. The witness has stated that he could not use the experience gained by him during the communal riots that took place when he was a P.I.

249.55 To bring out the omissions and contradictions as to his previous statement, the defence has cross examined the Investigating Officer who had recorded such statement. PW-307, S. S. Chudasama, the Investigating Officer has admitted that he has recorded the statement of this witness on 24.5.2002. The contents of paragraph 21, from second line to the sixth line, of the examination-in-chief of the witness are read over to the Investigating Officer, wherein the witness has stated that thereafter, the mob got more instigated. The Investigating Officer has denied that the witness has not stated these facts in the statement recorded by him. He has stated before him that the witness had stated that at around 2:00 to 2:30 in the afternoon, he had seen Kishan Korani (B.J.P. Worker) and Raju Choubal, Babu Bajrangi as well as Shri P. J. Rajput (V.H.P.) in the mob. They were talking something in the mob. However, he could not hear them and know about it. The Hindu mob was still aggressive and continued shouting “kill, cut”. The Investigating Officer has admitted that this witness in his statement has not stated that after talking with the four people, the mob got further provoked. However, he has clearly stated that the mob was instigated and that the incitement continued.

249.56 SUBMISSIONS: Mr. Prashant Desai, learned Special Public Prosecutor, submitted that this witness has named five persons in the mob at around 1:00 to 1:30 p.m., talking to somebody. So far as he is concerned, he has taken action in respect of dispersing the mob and giving orders to his subordinates to use force like teargas firing and lathi charge to disperse the mob. He was not in charge of only one area but since on that day, there was disturbance in the area, he spent considerable time in controlling the situation. According to him, because of the Godhra incident Hindus were having a grievance against the Muslim community and the mob was so large in proportion to the police that it was difficult to control the situation. He has not avoided any duty on 28.2.2002 and acted as per the best of his ability. It was submitted that in the cross-examination of this witness, there are not many contradictions which would go to the root of the matter, more particularly, the names of the five accused mentioned by him in his examination-in-chief and the same is supported in the cross-examination. It was submitted that in that view of the matter, the evidence of this witness is believable and credible.

249.57 ANALYSIS: This witness is an eye witness of the incidents that took place on the highway on the day of the incident and has named four accused persons namely P.J. Rajput, Kishan Korani, Raju Chaubal and Babu Bajrangi, and has identified them. As per the version given by this witness, he received a message at 10:00 a.m. that mobs are gathering at the Noorani Masjid, and hence, he came there at around 10:30 a.m. At that time there were mobs of around five thousand to seven thousand people. The witness speaks about the mobs burning tyres etc. on the road to create obstacles, which has not been deposed by any other witness, including the police witnesses. According to the witness, attempts were made to disperse the mobs, with little success. Thereafter a Muslim youth drove a TATA 407 through the crowd, whereafter the tension escalated and the police had to resort to lathi charge and firing. At around 12:00 in the afternoon, there were around seventeen thousand to twenty thousand people in the mobs. Shri Tandon came at around 12:00 in the afternoon. From the testimony of this witness, it, therefore, emerges that police firing took place between 10:30 to 12:00 in the morning hours. The witness thereafter speaks of Hindus making a representation about two Hindus having been dragged inside the chawls and Mr. Mysorewala, together with his staff gone into the Muslims chawls on foot to ascertain such fact but found that it was not true. This is in stark contrast to the indifference shown by the very same police when Muslims died or were injured in the police firing. This witness in his examination by the court has admitted that no steps were taken to provide treatment to a single person who was injured in the police firing on the day of the incident nor had any treatment yadi been issued by the Naroda Police. It has come on record through the evidence of eyewitnesses that despite specific request having been made to call an ambulance, no help was provided to them. Thus, the injured Muslims were not provided any assistance and were left to the mercy of the mob. One can only think of the plight of the injured, inasmuch as, the Muslims were confined to the chawls and were not permitted to come out on the highway, whereas under the pretext of dispersing the mobs, in effect and substance, the police let the mobs loose in the chawls and turned a blind eye to what was happening in the chawls, the result whereof is evident.

249.58 The witness has further deposed about a mutilated dead body of a Hindu having been found which further provoked the mobs. Thereafter at around 1:00 to 1:30, he saw the accused named by him talking to the people in the mob. At around 4:00 to 4:30 there was a reduction in the mobs at which point of time he had left for other spots from which messages of other incidents had started coming. He returned to the Noorani Masjid by 5:00 to 5:15, at which point of time the mobs were so sparse that they could easily be dispersed, whereafter he left. Thus, according to this witness, there were no mobs on the road after 5:00 to 5:15, but the witness is totally silent regarding the situation in the chawls. It is quite strange that despite the fact that incidents of violence were taking place in the chawls throughout the day and there were numerous incidents of arson, which could not have gone unnoticed from the highway, the witness is totally silent about it and does not appear to have deemed it fit to send the police inside the chawls to stop such incidents. The witness has stated that the twenty four S.R.P personnel, who were received by them, were not placed in the interior areas of Muslim chawls etc. opposite the S.T. Workshop for the reason that the Hindu mob on the road was so huge that if they reduced the number of police, the mobs would have entered the Muslim areas. Nonetheless, not only did the mobs enter the Muslim areas and cause death and destruction, the police, including this witness have feigned total ignorance of what was going on in the chawls throughout the day. Besides, it appears as if the police have thought it their duty to maintain the law and order situation only on the road, which too, they miserably failed to discharge.

249.59 The witness has deposed that he had instructed Shri Mysorewala to requisition more vehicles as well as to detain anti-social elements; however, his orders were flouted with impunity but he did not deem it fit to take any steps against him or to report the matter to the higher authorities. According to this witness, when he inquired from Shri Mysorewala as to why he had not placed more police points, he had said that there were no chances of getting more help. If what is stated by this witness is true, then Shri Mysorewala has acted merely on the basis of assumptions and presumptions by not asking for more assistance.

249.60 From the testimony of this witness it further emerges that the witness agrees that Shri Mysorewala did not do the needful at the time of the incident to protect the Muslim residents and their properties. He further agrees that despite several defaults, he has not suggested that any action be taken against him.

249.61 This witness has deposed that when they were once again trying to disperse the mob, he had seen Shri P.J. Rajput

(A-19), Kishan Korani (A-20), Raju Chaubal (A-24) and Babu Bajrangji present in the mob. All these four persons were talking about something with the people in the mob, but he had not heard what they were talking. However, the mob got more and more volatile. Considering the testimony of the witness his presence on the road in cannot be doubted, nor has the defence sought to suggest that the witness was not present on the highway as deposed by him. In the cross-examination of the witness nothing has been brought out to suggest that the witness bore any animosity against the accused named by him. The witness is consistent in his version insofar as the accused named by him and the role attributed to them is concerned. Under the circumstances, there is no reason to disbelieve the witness in this regard. Through the testimony of this witness, the prosecution has therefore, succeeded in establishing the presence of the above accused in the mob on the road on the day of the incident.

250. PW-278 Rameshkumar Bhavanishankar Joshi has been examined at Exhibit-1886. The witness has deposed that since the last one and a half year he is discharging duties as a P.I. in C.I.D. Crime, Ahmedabad zone.

250.1 From 1997 to October, 2002, he was discharging duties as a P.S.I. in the Ahmedabad city Crime Branch. At that time, he was required to perform the tasks entrusted to him by the Police Inspectors in the Crime Branch or Officers of a higher designation. At the relevant time, Shri S.S. Chudasama was posted as the Assistant Police Commissioner in the Crime Branch and at that time Shri S.T. Agrawat was working as a Police Inspector in the Crime Branch.

250.2 In connection with the complaint lodged regarding communal riots that had taken place at Naroda Patiya in Ahmedabad city on 28.2.2002, a complaint was registered at the Naroda Police Station and the investigation into two other cases were being handled by Shri Chudasama.

250.3 In connection with the investigation, Shri Chudasama called him everyday and gave instructions and orders. Pursuant thereto, he had gone to the Shah Alam relief camp for recording statements of individuals who were victims of the communal riots and after meeting them and taking them to their residences at Naroda Patiya, they would show their residential houses and in the presence of two panchas, a detailed panchnama would be drawn regarding the damage caused to the properties in the communal riots as shown by the witness, a detailed panchnama was drawn in the presence of the witness and the panchas. After inquiring from the witnesses, as stated by them, detailed statements regarding the incident were also recorded. He had recorded statements on 7.5.2002 to 17.5.2002 as well as on 26.6.2002. Out of the statements recorded by him, he had recorded statements of Abdulhak Abdulrahim Luhari (PW 92), Nazirmahammad Faizmahammad Shaikh (PW 148), Chandbhai Abdurashid Shaikh (PW 124) on 7.5.2002, Shakurbhai Tajubhai Shaikh (PW 140), Abdulmajid Mahammadhussain Shiakh (PW 156), Rafiq Kallubhai Shaikh (PW 162) on 8.5.2002; Rahemanbhai Shakurbhai Saiyed (PW 114), Dildar (Dilawar) Umrao Saiyed (PW 143) on 9.5.2002; Mahammadkhurshid Mahammadnaseem Shaikh (PW 24) on 10.5.2002; Shabana Bundubhai Kureshi (PW 209), Rukshana Bundubhai Kureshi (PW 212); Noorjahan Abdulkadir Shaikh (PW 246) and Hajrabibi Abdulsamad Shaikh (PW 259) on 11.5.2002; Sarmuddin Khwajahussain Shaikh (PW 59), Naseembanu Mahammadkhalid Saiyed (PW 68), Rashidkhan Ahemadkhan Makrani (PW 77), Farhana Ayubkhan Pathan (PW 106), Faridabibi Abdulkadar Khalifa (PW149), Mahammadhanif Yusufbhai Shaikh (PW 184) and Taherabanu Mahammadkasam Abduldar (PW 186) on 12.5.2002; Sufiyabanu Yakubbhai Basirahemad (PW 45, Mahammadimran Imtiazhussain Momin (PW 189) on 13.5.2002; Mahammadbhai Bachubhai Belim (PW 188) on 15.5.2002; Noorbanu Zakirhussain Saiyed (PW 219) on 26.6.2002.

250.4 The witness has deposed that on 26.6.2002, he had recorded statements of several witnesses in connection with the task entrusted to him and had submitted a detailed report in that regard to the Investigating Officer Shri Chudasama. The witness has further deposed that in connection with the action taken by him, the S.I.T. had recorded his statement on 25.1.2009.

250.5 CROSS EXAMINATION: In the cross-examination of the witness, he has admitted that he had read the statement recorded by Shri Chaudhary and has understood it and signed the same. The witness has admitted that he has not recorded the facts regarding the statements recorded by him in his case diary because he was not the Investigating Officer but had only carried the task in terms of the instructions given by the Investigating Officer.

250.6 The witness has further admitted that in the statement of the witnesses he had recorded what was stated by them and has recorded what was referred by them in the panchnamas. The witness has admitted that it has not happened that he has not noted down any fact stated by the witness and that despite the witness having named some accused, he had not written them down. The witness has stated that he has not taken the signatures of any of the witness whose statements he has recorded. The witness has admitted that he used to go to the Shah Alam camp for recording the statements of the witnesses and thereafter used to take the witness to the concerned place for drawing the panchnama. The witness has stated that no police table was placed at the Shah Alam camp. He has not seen any one taking down complaints or writing down any printed complaint at the Shah Alam camp. The witness has stated that he has not seen any police station being setup at the Shah Alam camp. No police chowky has been setup near the camp or the masjid. However, there was a S.R.P. point there.

250.7 In the cross-examination of the witness, it has further come down that he has visited the Shah Alam camp approximately fifteen times. He would remain outside the Shah Alam camp and sit in his vehicle and his staff would go inside the camp and would call the concerned person outside to his vehicle. In the cross-examination of the witness, it has further come out that he has taken statements of witnesses as well as victims. The statements were in connection with the incident as well as the damage caused to the houses of the victims. The witness has thereafter been cross-examined to bring out the omissions and contradictions as to the statements of the witnesses recorded by him, reference to which is made in the testimony of the individual witness.

250.8 ANALYSIS: From the testimony of this witness, one can see the manner in which the statements of the victims were recorded. The Investigating Officer has assigned the task of recording statements of witnesses to the assignee officers. The statements of those witnesses who came forward for recording their statements have been recorded. The assignee officer has not gone inside the camp. He has parked the vehicle outside the camp and his staff would go inside, call the concerned person and he would record the statement while sitting inside his vehicle. This is the manner in which the statements of the witnesses have been recorded which gives an indication to the kind of treatment the victims of the offence have been meted out.

251. PW-279 Bhanjibhai Jivabhai Sadavrati has been examined at Exhibit-1907. This witness has deposed that till 30.6.2007, he was serving as a P.S.I. in the Keshod Division and has thereafter retired.

251.1 In the year 2002, he was working as a P.S.I. at the Ahmedabad Crime Branch. He was at the Crime Branch till November, 2002. While he was at the Crime Branch, as a part of his duties, he was required to perform the tasks entrusted to him by his senior officers like the Police Inspector, Assistant Police Commissioner, Deputy Police Commissioner and Joint Police Commissioner. Moreover, he was required to perform any task which was entrusted to him in connection with any offence which was being investigated by the Crime Branch.

251.2 The investigation in the offence registered as Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.100/02 was with then Assistant Police Commissioner Shri S.S. Chudasama in the year 2002. Moreover, the offences registered vide Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.98/02 and Meghaninagar Police Station I-C.R. No.67/02 were also with Chudasama. During this period, in connection with the instructions given to him by the Assistant Police Commissioner he had gone in a Government vehicle to Shah Alam camp for recording statements of the affected persons of I-C.R. No.100/02 who were at the relief camp on 12.5.2002 and 13.5.2002. He used to record the statements of the affected persons as stated by them and would read over the statements to them and would sign the same as having been made in his presence. He had given a detailed report regarding the task performed by him together with all the statements to Shri Chudasama.

251.3 The witness has further deposed that as per the instructions of Shri Chudasama on 14/15/16.5.2002, he had gone to the Shah Alam camp and had taken the affected persons to the spot, and as shown by them, he had drawn panchnamas of the damage cause to their houses in the presence of panchas and had also recorded the statements of the affected persons at that time. He would then report of the entire proceeding to Shri Chudasama on the same day.

251.4 The witness has further deposed that on 12.6.2002, he was instructed by Shri Chudasama to obtain blood samples of two relatives each of five persons who were stated to be missing or dead, through the C.M.O. Civil Hospital and hand over the same to the F.S.L. with the necessary yadi, in respect of which he had obtained a receipt.

251.5 The witness has thereafter proved the yadi Exhibit-1498, which he had returned to the CMO for obtaining a blood sample for D.N.A. profile analysis. The witness has further deposed that he had recorded the statements of Sardarali Kasamali (PW 74), Kaiyumkhan Rashidkhan (PW 141), Aiyeshabibi Abdulkadar (PW 168), Mustaqahemad Abdulrazzak (PW 171), Arifali Kasamali (PW 172), Gulammahammad Faizmahammad (PW 223) and Mahammadyunus Abdulhaik (PW 248) on 12.5.2002; Badshah Abdulkadir (PW 69), Altafhussain Abdulraheman (PW 187), Samsuddin Shahabuddin (PW 202), Shokat Nabibhai (PW 200) and Maiyuddin Ahmedmiya (PW 75) on 13.5.2002; Salim Yusifbhai (PW 91) on 15.5.2002 and Basirkhan Nanhekhan (PW 136) on 16.5.2002.

251.6 The witness has deposed that over and above the above statements, as and when the Investigating Officer Shri Chudasama had instructed him, he had recorded statements and taken other action. The witness has further deposed that in connection with all the proceedings taken by him, the S.I.T. had recorded his statement on 6.3.2009.

251.7 CROSS EXAMINATION: In his cross examination, the witness has admitted that except for the statement recorded by the S.I.T., no other statement of his has been recorded. He has admitted that his signature was obtained below his statement. Certain extracts of his statement recorded by the SIT are put to the witness, without seeking to contradict him qua any part of his evidence, which is not permissible and hence, not admissible in evidence. Therefore, it is not necessary to refer to the same. In his cross-examination, it has come out that when they went to the camp announcements were made on the mike calling upon the affected persons that vehicles had come for taking them to Naroda Patiya and anyone who wanted to go, may go. The announcement was made only in respect of loss and damage panchnamas and recording of statements. The witness has admitted that he had recorded all the statements in accordance with what was stated by the witness and it has not happened that he has not written what was stated by the witness or that he had written down anything on his own.

251.8 The witness has been cross-examined to bring out the omissions and contradictions in the statements of the witnesses recorded by him, reference to which is made in the testimonies of the individual witnesses.

251.9 ANALYSIS: From the testimony of this witness, it emerges that the statements of only those witnesses who came forward were recorded. No effort was made to carry out investigation to ascertain as to who are the culprits in the offence. From the evidence of the witness, it further emerges that no efforts were made to record the statements of the victims of the offence and merely the statements of affected persons who came forward were recorded. Thus, it appears that no genuine efforts were made to investigate into the case to ascertain as to who were the actual offenders in the offence and the prosecution has merely recorded the statements of witnesses who came forward for recording them.

252. PW-280 Bhanushankar Chhaganlal Joshi has been examined at Exhibit-1915. The witness has deposed that since the month of April, 1999 to 16.11.2002, he was discharging duties as a P.S.I. in the Ahmedabad City Crime Branch.

252.1 As a part of his duties, he was required to perform the task as per the instructions and orders of his higher officers, namely, the Police Inspector, Assistant Police Commissioner, Deputy Police Commissioner and Joint Police Commissioner.

252.2 On 28.2.2002, there were riots in Ahmedabad city in connection with the call for Gujarat Bandh. In connection with the incidents that took place, the investigation of Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.100/02 and Gulbarg case were entrusted to the Ahmedabad City Crime Branch. The investigation of C.R. No.100/02 was entrusted to their Assistant Police Commissioner Shri S. S. Chudasama. In connection with the investigation, he would issue oral and written instructions to them every day on the basis of which, together with their staff they would go to the relief camps where the affected persons and victims were staying. They would take them in Government vehicles to their residences, etc. and would draw the panchnama of the damage sustained by them, as shown by them, in the presence of panchas, and would record their statements, as stated by the witnesses. The witness has deposed that he has read over the statements to the witnesses.

252.3 The witness has deposed that he had made written reports and had handed over the papers to Shri Chudasama.

The witness has deposed that on 11.6.2002, he had taken the witnesses from the relief camp with him to Naroda Patiya and had drawn panchnamas of their houses, as shown by the witnesses and had recorded their statements. 257.2 The witness has deposed that as per the action taken by him, he had submitted a report to Shri Chudasama together with the panchnamas and the statements of the witnesses.

257.3 CROSS EXAMINATION: This witness, in his cross-examination, has admitted that it has not happened that the witness has said something before him and he has not written it down in his statement or that he has written down any fact other than that stated by the witness. The witness has stated that, at present, he does not remember as to whether in case where he had drawn the panchnama of loss and damage of any person's house, any complaint of that person had been given to him before carrying out such task. The witness has stated that he was required to draw the panchnama in connection with the Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.100/02. The witness has stated that Shri Chudasama had not asked him as to whether prior to Exhibit-931, a panchnama of this place was drawn. The witness has stated that he does not remember that when he went to draw the panchnama, Hasan Abubakr had informed him that a panchnama of that place had already been drawn earlier. The witness has admitted that the SIT people have recorded his statement and the statement was read over to him and his signature was taken below such statement.

257.4 The witness has stated that during the role played by him in the investigation of the offence, no facts which could be considered to be of significance had come to his notice, which he felt that he should inform Shri Chudasama about. The witness has admitted that at the Crime Branch they were instructed that they should go to Shah Alam and record statements of the victims of the communal riots. They were instructed to take them to Naroda Patiya at their residential houses and to record their statements. The witness has admitted that they had taken the victims from Shah Alam to their chawls. The witness has stated that except for the persons whom they had taken to the chawls they had not met any other persons.

257.5 The witness has stated that he had called the panchas at the place of incident after going there. The witness has stated that, at present, he does not remember as to whether he has recorded the statements to the extent of the loss sustained by the witnesses. The witness has, however, stated that he has recorded their statements, as stated by them. The witness has thereafter been cross-examined to bring out the contradictions in the depositions of the witnesses as to the statements recorded by him, reference to which shall be made while discussing the statements of individual witnesses.

257.6 The witness has admitted that at the time of recording the statements of witnesses, Shri Chudasama had not given any copies of complaints given by the witnesses.

258.5 He had also recorded the statement of Zulekhabegum MahammadAyub Shaikh (PW-231) on 7.9.2002.

258.6 The witness has deposed that while Shri Barot was the Investigating Officer as well as while Shri Chudasama was the Investigating Officer, at both stages, he had acted as per their instructions, and had submitted the connected documents to the Investigating Officer. The witness has deposed that the SIT has recorded his statement on 31.1.2009.

258.7 CROSS EXAMINATION: This witness in his cross-examination has admitted that the SIT has recorded his statement in this case. That he has read and understood the statement and has put his signature thereon.

258.8 The witness has stated that he can state as to how many statements he has recorded when he was assisting Shri Barot in the investigation by looking at the record. The witness has stated that Shri Barot had not instructed him to record statements of witnesses by name but had given him guidance in this regard to the effect that he should visit the areas near the place of incident as well as the relief camps and to record statements of available victims. The witness has admitted that at that time, he had investigated at the chawls at the scene of incident. The witness has admitted that at the scene of incident, majority of the Muslim victims were not found and that Hindu victims and Hindu witnesses were only found and he had recorded their statements. The witness has admitted that he had recorded the statements of other Muslims at the relief camp or at site. The witness has admitted that in case of those who had given details of the loss sustained by them, panchnamas of loss and damage had been drawn.

258.9 The witness has admitted that he had recorded the statements of witnesses as stated by them and it has not happened that he has not written down what is stated by the witness. It has also not happened that he has recorded facts different from the facts stated by the witness and had written down the statement on his own. The witness has admitted that at the time when the witness was giving his statement, it has not happened that the witness has named any accused and he has not written down such name.

258.10 The witness has admitted that he had recorded certain statements by visiting the relief camp. The witness has stated that he was required to go to the relief camp for the limited purpose of recording the statements. The witness has denied that at the relief camp there was a police table. The witness has admitted that they would go to the relief camp and would announce in the mike that if any person from that area wants to record his statement he should do so. The witness has denied that the announcement made in the mike was also for recording of complaints.

258.11 The witness has stated that he has not seen any social worker or service minded people in the relief camp. The witness has been cross-examined to bring out contradictions in the testimonies of the witnesses qua statements recorded by him, reference to which shall be made while discussing the evidence of the concerned witness.

259. PW-293 Bhailalbai Tulsibhai Karoliya has been examined at Exhibit-2010. This witness has deposed that upon his retirement on 30.9.2008, the Government had granted him an extension of service for a period of one year and, accordingly, he has retired on 30.9.2009.

259.1 The witness has deposed that in the year 2002, he was discharging duties as a P.S.I. in the Ahmedabad City Crime Branch. In the discharge of his duties, he was required to comply with any instructions or orders issued by his higher officers.

259.2 The investigation of Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.100/02 had been entrusted to the Assistant Police Commissioner Shri S.S. Chudasama. At that time, in connection with the investigation into the offence, he was entrusted duties on a daily basis, which he had fully discharged.

259.3 He had gone to the relief camps and had recorded statements of the victims and had drawn panchnamas of the properties of the victims as per the instructions. After performing the task entrusted to him in connection with the investigation, he would hand over all the connected documents together with his report to Shri Chudasama.

259.4 On 12.5.2002, he had recorded the statements of Zubedakhatoon Rahimbhai Shaikh (PW-70), Mahammadnaseem Shaikhbuddhu Shaikh (PW-173), Naseembanu Abdulraheman (PW-179), Apsarabegum Kabirali (PW-181) and Sairabanu Khwajahussain Shaikh (PW-229).

259.5 On 13.5.2002, he had recorded the statements of Bhikhabhai Habibbhai Mansuri and on 26.6.2002 he had recorded another statement of Naseembanu Abdulraheman.

259.6 Over and above the aforesaid, he had also recorded other statements and made panchnamas of properties as per the instructions given to him and had submitted a report to Shri Chudasama.

259.7 In connection with this case, his statement had been recorded before the S.I.T. on 6.12.2008.

259.8 CROSS EXAMINATION: In his cross-examination, the witness has admitted that he had understood and signed his statement recorded by the SIT. The witness is confronted with his statement recorded by the SIT to the effect that he had stated therein that in the statements recorded by him during the course of investigation, the witnesses had not named any accused. The witness has stated that this appears to be a mistake of the writer. Apart from the explanation given by the witness, since this part of the statement of the witness has not been put to him to contradict any part of his primary statement, even otherwise it is not admissible in evidence.

259.9 The witness has admitted that he has recorded the statements of the witnesses as stated by them and that it has not happened that he has not written down anything stated by them or that he has not written down the names of the accused named by them and has further stated that he had read over their statements to them.

259.10 The witness has stated that during the course of investigation, from the statements of the witnesses, it has been revealed that people wearing shorts and undershirts who had tied saffron bands were present in the mob with swords. The witness has stated that as per his impression, out of the six witnesses whose statements he has recorded, two witnesses have said such facts.

259.11 In the cross-examination of the witness, it has come out that he has not made any inquiry with regard to the presence of people wearing shorts and undershirts and saffron bands as he was not the Investigating Officer and that as an assignee officer, he was only required to act, according to the instructions of the Investigating Officer, and that he had no instructions in this regard.

259.12 The witness has been cross-examined to bring out the omissions and contradictions in the statements of the witnesses recorded by him reference to which shall be made while discussing the testimonies of the individual witnesses. The witness has admitted that he was not instructed to record the statements of the witnesses on the basis of their names. Different teams were instructed to go to the relief camps and record statements of refugees residing in different lines and, accordingly, in the line which was assigned to him, the above six persons and other witnesses were found.

259.13 In the cross-examination of the witness, it has come out that he had gone to the camp on three occasions to record statements, that is, on 12.5.2002, 13.5.2002 and 26.6.2002 and it had taken him about half an hour to record the statements of each witness. On the day when he had to record statements of more than one witness, he had stayed at the Shah Alam camp for almost the whole day. The witness has further stated that at the Shah Alam camp, he had met Shri Chudasama and policemen of other teams from the Crime Branch.

259.14 In the cross-examination of the witness, he has admitted that in the statement recorded on 26.6.2002, the witness has stated that he does not know the names of the riotous mobs. He, however, has clarified that the said sentence was in the context of the mob which had caused damage to the property.

259.15 PW-327 Shri V.V. Chaudhary, the Investigating Officer (SIT) has, in his cross-examination, admitted that he has recorded the statement of this witness on 6.12.2008. He has admitted that in the statement recorded by him during the course of investigation, the witness had stated that in the statements recorded by him, the names of accused have not been disclosed. The Investigating Officer has admitted that he has obtained the signature of Shri Karoliya on his statement and that such signature is put in his presence. He has further admitted that while he was taking the signature. The witness had not raised any dispute that something was wrongly recorded.

260. PW-294 Pravinbhai Bhadiyabhai Gondia has been examined at Exhibit-2014. This witness has deposed that, at present he is discharging duties as I.G.P. (Home-guards) at Ahmedabad.

260.1 From 23.4.2000 to 30.3.2002, he was working as a Deputy Police Commissioner, Zone-4, Ahmedabad City. At the relevant time, F & G Divisions were included in his jurisdiction of Zone-4. Such divisions have been formed for the purpose of smooth administration and the law and order situation. Out of the two divisions, Sardarnagar and the entire Naroda police area fell within his 'G' Division and at the relevant time, Shri M.T. Rana was the Assistant Police Commissioner of 'G' Division.

260.2 During that period, Shri Mysorewala (First Inspector) was working as a Police Inspector at Naroda Police Station. At the relevant time, his Mobile Phone Number was 98250 49197. His post was, in short, known as Zone-4 or DCP Zone-4. At the relevant time, his duties mostly included supervising the offences registered in the concerned police stations as well as to maintain law and order situation etc. His duties included giving instructions, guidelines and supervising the investigation into the offences registered in the police stations within his jurisdiction.

260.3 On account of the incident that took place at Godhra on 27.2.2002, the Vishwa Hindu Parishad had given a call for Gujarat Bandh on 28.2.2002. In the train which was coming to Godhra on 27.2.2002, out of the kar sevaks who were coming to Ahmedabad, twelve were from the Naroda Police Station area. Upon they reaching the Naroda area from the Kalupur Railway Station, discussions about the incident started taking place amongst the people. On 27.2.2002, a mattress shop belonging to two Muslims came to be burnt in the Parshawanth Township of Naroda Police Station, in connection with which, an offence was registered as Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.96/02. At this time, the fire brigade was called and the fire was extinguished. Thereafter, on the same day in the evening, a Muslim individual who was passing by Haridarshan Society at Kathwada road was assaulted with a pipe and his right leg was fractured, in connection with which, an offence was registered at the Naroda Police Station and in connection therewith, search for the accused was started.

260.4 In connection with the call for bandh, which was given on 28.2.2002, all the Inspectors of the police stations were instructed to contact the leaders of the Hindu as well as the Muslim communities and advise them to maintain peace. He had also directed that the antisocial elements in the concerned area be apprehended.

260.5 On 28.2.2002, instructions were issued that, upon the study of the past incidents keeping in view the past experience, considering the circumstances of the day, bandobust for armed policemen at the communal sensitive areas was arranged and in that regard, a scheme had been formulated, namely, which police personnel was to be allotted to which police point and a statement showing details thereof and to prepare a bandobast statement and send the copies of such statements to the higher officers.

260.6 On 28.2.2002, instructions had been issued for "stand to" from 7 o'clock in the morning. "Stand to" means that all Police Officers have to report on duty at 7 o'clock in the morning and remain on duty till further orders are passed. Accordingly, on 28.2.2002, all the police staff and officers had reported on duty at 7 o'clock in the morning, which was ascertained by him from the Police Inspectors through the control room.

260.7 As per the stand to orders, he himself had reached the Tent Chowky at Dariapur Police Station, which was the most sensitive area in his jurisdiction. When he was present at the chowky, at that time, in the morning at around 10 o'clock, he received a message that Hindu and Muslim mobs have gathered opposite each other at Naroda Patiya and the mobs are becoming volatile. Upon receiving such a message, he firstly sent the ACP 'G' Division, Shri M.T. Rana within his jurisdiction to Naroda Patiya. Thereafter at around 10:25, he received another message in connection with Naroda Patiya and as per the message, the situation had become more volatile at Naroda Patiya. Hence, he left the Tent Chowky and set off for Naroda Patiya and reached there at around 11 o'clock.

260.8 When he reached Naroda Patiya, at that time, from the direction of Natraj Hotel, from the direction of Naroda Bethak as well as on the other side, from the Narol Himmatnagar Highway and Hussainnagar-ni-chali and the Noorani Masjid, mobs were present opposite each other. In these mobs, on one side there were mobs of Hindus and on the other side, there were mobs of Muslims. Whenever they got an opportunity, the mobs would pelt stones at each other and attempt to attack each other. Hence, to disperse the mobs and to keep them calm, tear gas, lathi charge and firing shots in the air was commenced, due to which, the mobs, for a little while, went into the lanes inside and again gathered on the main road and attempted to attack each other.

260.9 The volatility of both the mobs kept on increasing and they kept on coming nearer to each other and were prepared to cause damage to property and life of each other. Hence, at that time, the police resorted to lathi charge, tear gas and firing shots at the spot.

260.10 In the meanwhile, an individual sat in a Tata 407 Tempo parked near the Noorani Masjid and drove it recklessly from Naroda Bethak towards Naroda Crossing. Police Inspector Shri K.K. Mysorewala followed the Tata 407 and he apprehended the driver together with the tempo and lodged a complaint against him. When the tempo was driven in a reckless manner, in an accident, a Hindu died and two Hindu persons were seriously injured. At this time rumours started spreading amongst the Hindus in connection with this incident that on account of reckless driving of the tempo, three Hindus had died, whereas in fact, one Hindu had died and two Hindus were seriously injured.

260.11 On account of this incident, the volatility of the Hindus in the mob escalated and the number of people in the mob also increased. The mobs started damaging and setting the shops near the Noorani Masjid and houses on the road on fire.

260.12 In the meanwhile, in the afternoon at 12:15 hours on 28.2.2002, the Joint Police Commissioner Shri M.K. Tandon also arrived at Naroda Patiya and assessed the situation at Naroda Patiya and discussed the same with the Officers and contacted the Police Commissioner, Ahmedabad city on telephone and declared curfew in the Naroda Police Station area from 12:30 hours.

260.13 For the purpose of implementing the curfew that was declared in the Naroda Police Station area, necessary lathi charge, patrolling with vehicles and bursting of tear gas shells on account of increase of the mob and when necessary even firing shots in the air were resorted to. In the meanwhile, the Officers received an oral representation from the Hindus that two Hindus have been taken inside Hussainnagar-ni-Chali and have been killed. Hence, to verify the said aspect, it was decided that Police Inspector Shri Mysorewala should go and accordingly, necessary instructions were issued to him.

260.14 Pursuant to such instructions, Shri Mysorewala together with the necessary armed force and man power, went on foot personally inside Hussainnagar-ni-chali and he went inside and investigated and after ascertaining, he came out and informed him that there are no dead bodies of Hindus in Hussainnagar and that no Hindu has been detained and kept there. In the meanwhile, from time to time, mobs from both the sides were coming on the road and hence, the police used force and sent them back inside the chawls. In the meanwhile, the Officers received another representation from the Hindus that between Hussainnagar-ni-Chali and S.R.P., opposite the Noorani Masjid, a Hindu man has been killed and has been thrown near the road. Upon verifying this fact, the dead body of a Hindu male whose eyes and face had been injured and mutilated was found. This dead body was found between Hussainnagar and S.R.P. The dead body was sent in an ambulance to the hospital.

260.15 On account of this incident, the Hindu mob became more aggressive. However, he cannot state the exact time. The incident took place at approximately 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

260.16 As a result of this incident, attack by the Hindus on the Muslims became more violent and police also started using force. Such use of force was continued for approximately half an hour. Use of force included lathi charge, bursting of tear gas shells and firing. During the firing by the police, one person had died and several persons were injured.

260.17 As a result of the effective use of force by the police, violence in the mob and the number of people in the mob also decreased and it was next to nil and the Police Commissioner had allotted a platoon, that is, about twenty four personnel to the Naroda Police Station, out of whom, one P.S.I. and around seventeen personnel were placed for bandobust at Naroda Patiya. Considering the situation on the day of the incident, they had been placed at the disposal of the Naroda Police Station.

260.18 On this day, in the afternoon at around 14:20 hours, armed S.R.P. having reached for bandobust, there was a considerable decrease in the groups of Hindus as well as the Muslims at Naroda Patiya, and hence he had departed for going to other police stations in his jurisdiction.

260.19 At this time, ACP 'G' Division, M.T. Rana, Police Inspector Shri Mysorewala and the S.R.P. people placed for bandobust were present at Naroda Patiya. Between 14:20 to 19:00 to 20:00 hours, he was discharging duties at his other police stations, when he came to know that between the boundary of Hussainnagar and Gangotri Society beyond Gangotri Society, adjoining the S.T. Workshop wall, in a closed house, several dead bodies had been burnt and over and above this, several persons had been burnt in the area and fatal injuries had been caused with weapons and other injuries had also been caused. The witness has stated that what he means to say is that on that day, in the evening, he came to know that at this spot people have been burnt, and hence, he reached Naroda Patiya.

260.20 Naroda Patiya Police Inspector Shri Mysorewala and Joint Police Commissioner Shri Tandon were also present there and met him. All three of them, namely, he, Shri Tandon and Shri Mysorewala reached the scene of incident in the chawls, namely, Gangotri Society, on foot. In the meanwhile on the way, they noted some movement on the terrace of a two storeyed house. He had inspected the scene of incident and at that time the electricity supply was shut off. Hence, he had inspected with a torch. In the meanwhile, he noted the movement of a five year old child. Hence, Police Constable Manubhai Karsanbhai who was a gunman, accompanying him, was held upside down from a wall by two constables and the five year old child was taken out from the heap of dead bodies. When the child was taken out, it was alive.

260.21 Thereafter, lawful steps were taken in connection with the dead bodies lying at Gangotri Society as well as the nearby societies. Before he reached the spot, Shri Mysorewala had reached the spot and had returned to the road to fetch him. During this time, Shri Mysorewala had performed the task of taking the persons who were injured in the incident for treatment to the Civil Hospital. Thereafter, he (the witness) had reached the two storeyed house where he had noted some movement and had flashed the torch light on his body and had given his introduction to the people on the terrace and had also introduced his higher officer Shri Tandon and the accompanying officers. Hence, two persons came down from the terrace and they had ascertained that they were really Police Officers. Thereafter, the people on the terrace were explained that if they wanted to go under police protection, the police vehicles would take them to safe places. Upon their trust being gained in this regard, he, the Police Officers in his area and other personnel took these people to the main road on foot. They had taken the people who had survived to safe places, namely, relief camps which were opened on that very day. However, once or twice while they were taking the victims to the camps, the mob present at Natraj Hotel had tried to disturb them. They had to resort to bursting tear gas shells to keep the mob under control. At this time, it was already midnight of the day and till 7 o'clock in the morning they had continuously performed the task of following the legal procedure in connection with the dead bodies which were lying on the spot and for taking the Muslim families who had survived to safe places, that is, the relief camps.

260.22 The process of taking the Muslim families who had survived to the relief camps continued from 1.3.2002 to 3.3.2002 and in this manner, all the Muslims, who had survived, were taken to relief camps.

260.23 During the course of police firing which had to be carried out during the entire day at Naroda Patiya, two persons had died and five persons were injured.

260.24 During the entire day, around 95 rounds had been fired and 171 tear gas shells had been used.

260.25 The S.I.T. had recorded his statement in this regard on two occasions. His first statement was recorded in connection with the investigation and the second statement had been recorded in connection with the further investigation.

260.26 CROSS-EXAMINATION: This witness in his cross-examination has admitted that on 23.1.2009, SIT has recorded his statement and that after reading and understanding the statement he had signed the same. The witness has admitted that the statement was in a question answer form. The witness has admitted that while recording his statement before the SIT on 23.1.2009, he had produced a copy of the bandobust statement arranged at the Naroda Police Station on 28.2.2002 as well as a zerox copy of the affidavit submitted by him before the Hon'ble Shri G.T. Nanavati Commission. The witness has stated that the facts stated by him in the affidavit dated 28.2.2002 are true and proper. The affidavit filed before the Hon'ble Shri G.T. Nanavati Commission is shown to the witness. The witness has admitted his signature below the affidavit and has admitted the contents thereof. The affidavit is exhibited as Exhibit-2015.

260.27 The witness has admitted that as a part of his duties, on the day of the incident also, he was required to visit the Naroda Police Station area. The witness has stated that he is not required to appoint the Peace Committee at the Police Stations. The witness is not aware as to whether there was any Peace Committee at the Naroda Police Station, at the relevant time. He, however, is aware of a Peace Committee in the Dariapur Police Station area. The witness has stated that ordinarily, such Peace Committees are appointed in communally sensitive areas where communal riots take place. The witness has stated that he cannot say as to whether he had instructed Shri Mysorewala to call the leaders of his area in the context of 28.2.2002 and to hold the requisite meeting for the purpose of maintaining communal harmony and peace. The witness has admitted that as the Supervising Officer of Naroda Police Station, he had an occasion to visit the Naroda

Police Station prior to the day of the incident. The witness has admitted that on the day of the incident, he had remained at Naroda Patiya area for around three hours. The witness has admitted that on that day, striking force personnel were with him together with their vehicles. The witness has admitted that the striking force personnel are armed and there are around five to six persons. The witness has stated that additional ten armed persons received by him from the Office of the Police Commissioner on the day of the incident were also present in a Tata 407 Tempo. In this manner, in all, including his vehicle, there were three vehicles. In the striking force, there was one Gas Man for teargas, one person with arms, one striking incharge, one driver and another armed person. Additional striking force means ten armed persons who had been arranged for him by the Office of the Police Commissioner on the day of the incident, for which a Tata 407 vehicle had been requisitioned. The witness has stated that on the day of the incident, when he went to Naroda Patiya in the three vehicles including him, there were eighteen persons. The witness has admitted that taking his entire convoy of three vehicles, he had gone to Naroda Patiya on the day of the incident, that is, on 28.2.2002 in the morning at 11 o'clock. The witness has admitted that before they reached Naroda Patiya area Shri Mysorewala and Shri Rana together with their staff had reached the Naroda Patiya area. The witness has admitted that the place where he stopped could be said to be a place in the vicinity of the S.T. Workshop gate. The witness has stated that at that time, at the spot he had seen Shri Mysorewala and Shri Rana. He had seen them at the spot in his presence. The witness has admitted that on all four sides from where he was standing there were mobs. The witness has stated that what he wants to say is that except for leaving a portion near the S.T. Workshop there were mobs on all the areas. The witness has admitted that except for Jawannagar, the S.R.P. Quarters, the S.T. Workshop there were Muslim mobs near Hussainagar-ni-Chali, etc. The witness has admitted that these Muslim mobs were on the southern direction towards Narol Himmatnagar Highway from where they were standing. The witness has admitted that towards Naroda Bethak and Natraj Hotel area there were Hindu mobs. The witness has denied that on the road going from Naroda Patiya to Kalupur, there were Hindu as well as Muslim mobs and has stated that there were Hindu mobs. The witness has admitted that in front of the door of the Noorani Masjid where there is a tea stall and an open space, Muslim mobs were present.

260.28 The witness has admitted that he had reached Naroda Patiya at 11 o'clock in the morning. The witness has admitted that when he reached Naroda Patiya there was a Muslim mob towards the south, whereas towards the north there was a Hindu mob. The witness has stated that he does not remember that when he reached Naroda Patiya, there was nominal stone pelting. The witness has admitted that when he reached Naroda Patiya they had tried to bring the mobs on both the sides under control. The witness has admitted that while he was there, attempts were made to see that there is no friction between the two mobs and that they do not cause any loss of life or property to each other.

260.29 The witness has denied that on the day of the incident from 11:00 to 2:20 in the afternoon, he had sat near the S.T. Workshop. The witness has stated that as per necessity they used to move back or forth from north-south-east and west. That as per the need, they had gone to that area and that they had gone upto the Naroda Bethak area. The witness has denied that he was at the place of incident till 14:20 hours and till then, they had not let the mobs of both the communities cause any loss of life or property. The witness has stated that, however, he had made earnest efforts, but all of them were not successful. The witness has denied that he had permitted the Hindu mob to go towards the south. The witness has stated that they had made earnest efforts to see that the mob does not go; however, their attempts had failed.

260.30 The witness has stated that he cannot say as to how many persons from the Hindu mob had entered the Muslim area on account of his failed attempts. The witness has denied that on the day of the incident, while he was there, the Muslims who were present at that time had also gone inside the Hindu area. The witness has admitted that from the Hindus who had gone to the Muslim areas in this manner, they could not catch any of the Hindus; however, they had carried out necessary lathi charge and had used other force to prevent them.

260.31 The witness has stated that when the Hindus were entering the Muslim areas, he had ordered firing in that area. The witness has stated that in his opinion, at that time, properties of Muslims were being damaged and hence he only ordered firing in the air and at that time, he had not taken shelter of effective firing. The witness has stated that he cannot say the exact time when he passed such orders of firing in the air because the incident went on from 11:00 to 20:00.

260.32 The witness has admitted that the mob which was going towards the south and was pelting stones was being pushed back by using force towards the northern direction.

260.33 The witness has stated that on the day of the incident, he had reached Naroda Patiya at 9:00 to 9:30 at night. The witness has stated that it took him about ten minutes to walk from Naroda Patiya via the S.T. Workshop to the chawls inside. The witness has admitted that at that time, Shri Mysorewala had come out to receive them and thereafter, he had accompanied them and till they were inside, Shri Mysorewala was with them. The witness has admitted that there were dead bodies and burning people inside and that after completing the procedure stated by him, it was almost 12 o'clock at night by the time he came out.

260.34 The witness has denied that after he went inside, he had taken steps to provide treatment to those who needed it and to save the lives of the people. The witness has stated that such action had already been taken before he went inside. The witness has admitted that when he went inside, he went through the entrance of Hussainnagar-ni-Chali. The witness has stated that he had not seen any dead body on the verandah of any house at the corner of Hussainnagar-ni-Chali. He does not remember as to whether on any verandah of Jawannagar, he had seen any burning dead body.

260.35 The witness has stated that he had not seen the area of the Muslim chawls prior to the incident, for the reason that he had no occasion to visit these chawls prior to the day of the incident. The witness has stated that the two storeyed house where he had seen movement, was on the road from Hussainnagar-ni-Chali to Gangotri Society on the right hand. The witness has denied that he was at the spot till 2:30 in the afternoon and during that time, no incident against the human body had taken place wherein he was required to pass orders of effective firing. The witness has stated that while he was there, he had passed orders as per necessity to fire in the air as well as effective firing.

260.36 The witness has admitted that on account of driving the Tata-407 recklessly and on account of a mutilated dead body being found, unrest in the mob had increased and thereafter, the riots escalated and he was required to order effective firing. The witness has admitted that on the day of the incident, there were around fifteen to seventeen thousand people in the riotous mob at Naroda Patiya and these people were shouting and there was a lot of commotion. The witness has denied that he could not see what anyone was doing on that day. He has admitted that it was not possible to hear what anyone was speaking, however, he could see that they were talking loudly, The witness has admitted that on the basis of the wireless message at 10 o'clock in the morning, he can say that the traffic on the Highway was shut down. The traffic was asked to stop wherever it was at the Naroda-Narol Highway near Naroda Patiya.

260.37 BY COURT: In his cross-examination by the court, the witness has stated that on 8.3.2002, after investigation was handed over to A.C.P. Shri Barot, supervision of the offence was not with him. However, as per his knowledge, from 15.3.2002, supervision was entrusted to then Crime Branch D.I.G. Shri Surela.

260.38 The witness has admitted that on 27.2.2002 and thereafter, since Dariapur Police Station was communally more sensitive, his priority was to maintain law and order situation at Dariapur Police Station. Such priority was keeping in view the past incidents that had taken place at the Dariapur Police Station.

260.39 The witness has admitted that at 10 o'clock in the morning, he and Shri Rana were in the Dariapur Police Station area when for the first time at 10 o'clock, upon receiving a wireless message, he was required to give instructions to A.C.P. Shri Rana to leave Dariapur and reach Naroda Patiya. Thereafter, at 10:25 upon receiving a second message on the day of the incident, he himself was required to leave the Dariapur Police Station at 10:30 and reach Naroda Patiya as there was a serious situation there. The witness has admitted that a decision to impose curfew in the area can be taken within ten minutes and that such a decision can be taken even if under his briefing, the Joint Police Commissioner informs the Police Commissioner on telephone.

260.40 The witness has stated that as per his opinion, as in contrast to the usual bandh calls which are given, the intensity and conduct of the mob on the day of the incident, selection of target, the spots chosen for the incident, as well as the number of people in the mob, was different and was in extremely higher proportion.

260.41 SUBMISSIONS: Mr. Prashant Desai, learned Special Public Prosecutor, submitted that this Officer is a higher officer. Pursuant to his duty, as soon as he received a message at around 10 o'clock in the morning, firstly he sent his subordinate A.C.P. M.T. Rana to the place of incident, and thereafter, he himself went to the place of incident looking to the gravity of the incident. It was submitted that, therefore, the witness was cautious about his duty, and hence, he personally went to the place of incident. After reaching there, at about 11 o'clock, he saw mobs of both the communities and to disperse the mobs and to have peace he used teargas, lathi charge and firing in the area. Because of this action for some time, the mob was dispersing and again collecting for attacking each other. Therefore, the first step that he had taken was to see that law and order is maintained in that area was proper and in accordance with law.

260.42 The next step was imposing a curfew by the Police Department and for the purpose of implementation of curfew, increased the patrolling of their vehicles, lathi charge, teargas and firing. In view of all the actions taken earlier, there was reduction in the size of the mob on the road and after entrusting duties to one P.S.I and fifteen others, he left at 1:20 in the afternoon for other areas because he was concerned with other areas also. During that time, the S.R.P. also came there and thereafter, when he got the information about the evening incident, he again went at around 9:00 to 9:30 and stayed till 12 o'clock.

260.43 The learned Special Public Prosecutor submitted that this witness also tried to repose confidence in the people who were saved and had taken shelter on the terrace that they will be given proper help and he was monitoring the police and taking them to the relief camp till 7:00 in the morning of 1.3.2002. It was submitted that looking to this, this witness has discharged the duty which was entrusted to him and there is no dereliction of duty so far as he is concerned. He has also named five accused who have been seen on the day of the incident in the afternoon and he has given proper instructions to his subordinates according to his ability. It was urged that, therefore, this witness is believable and credible. No contradictions have been suggested vis-a-vis his statement and he is required to be believed.

260.44 ANALYSIS: This witness was working as a Deputy Police Commissioner at the relevant time and the entire Naroda Police Station area fell within his "G" Division. As per the testimony of this witness, on the day of the incident at 10 o'clock in the morning, he received a message that the Hindu and Muslim mobs have gathered opposite each other at Naroda Patiya and the mobs are becoming volatile. It may be noted that at around the same time, a message was sent to the Police Control Room that "All is well". Therefore, one wonders as to how at the same time a message is sent to this witness regarding the situation becoming volatile and another message is sent to the Police Control Room stating that "All is well." This witness has deposed that upon receipt of the message, he had sent Shri M.T. Rana to Naroda Patiya and upon receipt of another message at 10:25, he had gone to Naroda Patiya at 11 o'clock. This witness talks about mobs of Hindus as well as mobs of Muslims and says that the volatility of both the mobs kept on increasing. This witness is the only witness who talks of two volatile mobs, inasmuch as, none of the witnesses have deposed regarding any violent mob of Muslims. The witness has deposed regarding the mobs damaging and looting the shops near the Noorani Masjid and the houses on the road, but does not speak about any action taken by him to restrain the mob. At 12:15 hours, Shri M. K. Tandon, Joint Police Commissioner arrived and after assessing the situation, contacted the Police Commissioner on telephone and declared curfew in the Naroda Police Station area from 12:30 hours. It may be noted that despite the fact that curfew was declared, the mobs did not disperse and continued with their violent acts. Despite this position, the Police Officers received an oral representation from the Hindus that two Hindus had been taken inside Hussainnagar chawl and had been killed, and hence, to verify the same, Police Inspector Shri Mysorewala was instructed to go inside the chawls with necessary armed force and manpower. It is quite confounding as to why despite the fact that curfew had been declared and the Hindu mob in flagrant breach of the curfew continued to rampage in the area, the concerned police officers thought it necessary to accede to their requests and go on foot inside Hussainnagar-ni-Chali to ascertain as to whether any Hindus had in fact been killed. When, none of the police officers thought it fit to go inside the chawls to curb the violence that the mobs were indulging inside Hussainnagar area, one fails to understand as to why at the request of the aggressors, viz., the Hindus, the police had so willingly complied. This witness further states that as a result of effective use of force by the police, violence in the mob and the number of people in the mob also decreased and it was next to nil and at 14:20 hours, there was a considerable decrease in the groups of Hindus as well as Muslims at Naroda Patiya and hence, he departed for going to other police stations in his jurisdiction. It may be noted that this is the only police witness who states that the mobs had decreased in the afternoon hours, inasmuch as, all the other police witnesses have stated that they continued to remain on the road trying to control the mobs, but to no avail. If the mobs had decreased on the road and the number of people in the mob was next to nil, one fails to understand as to why though a considerable police force was available, they did not go inside the chawls and prevent the mobs from indulging in violence.

260.45 The testimony of this witness, therefore, does not inspire confidence inasmuch as his testimony is not in consonance with the testimonies of the other witnesses. Moreover, though this witness was the Deputy Police Commissioner and the area fell within his jurisdiction, the Police Commissioner had allotted platoon of about twenty four persons to the Naroda Police Station, but no effective steps were taken to curtail the mob and prevent the violence. If the excuse given by the officer that despite all efforts they could not restrain the mob were to be accepted, one fails to understand as to how the police would look after the safety of the citizens. It is a matter of shame that though about eighty to eighty eight police personnel were available at the site, no steps had been taken against a single person in the mob throughout the entire day and the only step taken by the police was to chase the Muslim youth who fled with the Tata 407 vehicle and to comb the chawls to find out whether any Hindus had actually been taken inside. This shows the partisan attitude adopted by the police on the day of the incident.

261. PW-295 Bhupendra Chandidaan Gadhvi has been examined at Exhibit-2028. This witness has deposed that presently he is discharging duties as Deputy Superintendent of Police at Viramgam.

261.1 From June 2001 to 7.6.2002, he was discharging duties as a Police Inspector, Ahmedabad City Crime Branch. At the relevant time, his duties included following the orders and instructions issued by his higher officers. At the relevant time, Shri S.S. Chudasama was the Assistant Police Commissioner in the Crime Branch.

261.2 The investigation of the complaint lodged in connection with the incident that took place on 28.2.2002 at Naroda Patiya was handed over to Shri Chudasama. Upon Shri Chudasama passing orders, directing the witnesses to record statements of the persons affected by the communal riots and to draw panchnamas in that regard in connection with the present investigation, he had acted accordingly.

261.3 He was performing his task in consonance with the instructions issued to him and used to make a report in connection with the action taken by him and used to hand over the report along with all the papers to Shri Chudasama. If any important fact came to his notice, while recording the statement, he would also bring it to the notice of Shri Chudasama.

261.4 The witness has deposed that during the course of the work entrusted to him, he had recorded the statements of Jamilabanu Maheboobhussain Muslim (PW-88) and Sharifabibi Iqbalbhai Shaikh (PW 203) on 12.5.2002 and 13.5.2002 respectively.

261.5 In connection with the action taken by him pursuant to instructions, the S.I.T. had recorded his statement.

261.6 CROSS EXAMINATION: In the cross-examination of this witness, it has come out that he used to go for recording the statements to the relief camps and to Naroda Patiya. The witness has further stated that he has not gone into the chawls where the Naroda Patiya incident took place and that he has only seen those places which the witnesses had shown for the purpose of drawing panchnama. It has further come out in his cross-examination that Shri Chudasama had instructed him to record statements of the affected persons in the Naroda Patiya case. Shri Chudasama had not instructed him to record statements of any specific community.

261.7 The witness has been cross-examined to bring out the contradictions and omissions in the statements of the witnesses recorded by him, which shall be referred to while discussing the evidence of the concerned witness.

262. PW-296 Jashwantsinh Vasantsinh Surela, has been examined at Exhibit-2035. This witness has deposed that, at present, he has retired. In the year 2002, he was discharging duties as a Police Sub Inspector at Nava Naroda Chowky of Naroda Police Station. At that time, Nava Naroda Chowky fell under the jurisdiction of Naroda Police Station.

262.2 In the context of the incident that had taken place at Godhra on 27.2.2002, the Vishwa Hindu Parishad had given a call for Gujarat bandh on 28.2.2002. In the context of this declaration, on 28.2.2002, between 11:30 to 19:30 mobs of both the communities came opposite each other at Naroda Patiya, which he had heard. In connection therewith, an offence came to be registered vide Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.100/02. Shri Mysorewala was handling the investigation in this case.

262.3 On 1.3.2002, under instructions of Shri Mysorewala, the witness had taken over the task of drawing panchnama of the scene of offence for which he had summoned two panchas and had also kept the complainant Shri Solanki present. The panchnama was started at 12 o'clock in the afternoon, as shown by Shri Solanki. He had made the panchnama on 1st March from 12:00 in the afternoon to 18:30 hours in the evening. This panchnama was of the Noorani Masjid and the chawls etc. behind it where the Muslims were residing. While drawing the panchnama, it became 6:30 in the evening and it also became dark. Hence, the panchnama remained incomplete and he informed the panchas to remain present on the spot at 10 o'clock in the morning on the next day.

262.4 On 2.3.2002, both the panchas and the complainant had reached the spot where they had stopped on 1.3.2002. In this manner, on 2.3.2002, in the morning at 10 o'clock from the same spot, the procedure for drawing the remaining panchnama was further carried on. On 2.3.2002, they had drawn the panchnama of Imambibi-ni-Chali, Chetandas-ni-Chali, Hussainnagar, Kumbhaji-ni-Chali, Balvirsingh-ni-Chali etc. opposite the Noorani Masjid in front of the S.T. Workshop wall and other spots where houses of Muslims were damaged and were set on fire. The panchnama continued till 6:30 in the evening on the second day and at 6:30, further panchnama was postponed and the panchas and the complainant were asked to come on that spot at 10 o'clock in the morning of next day.

262.5 On 3.3.2002, in the morning at 10 o'clock both the panchas and the complainant had remained present at the spot where the panchnama had stopped and the procedure for drawing the remaining panchnama was carried further at 10 o'clock in the morning on 3.3.2002. On this day, they had drawn the panchnama of Jawaharnagar, which is also known as Jawannagar, Gangotri Society, behind Jawannagar in the pit and on the rear side towards the National Highway and from there they reached Thakkarbapanagar to Bhagyodaya Hotel. In this manner, they carried out the proceedings in the areas near Bhagyodaya Hotel and at 18:30 in the evening they postponed the proceedings of the panchnama and the panchas and the complainant were instructed to come to the road which goes to Kalupur on the next day.

262.6 On 4.3.2002, both the panchas and the complainant had come to the road going from Naroda to Kalupur at 10 o'clock in the morning and the proceedings of the panchnama were commenced. On that day, they had drawn the panchnama of the shops on the Naroda Kalupur road where the shutter of the mattress shop of a Muslim was broken and looted and set on fire as well as from a shop by the name of 'Janta Welding' the furniture was taken out and there were incidents of arson, a detailed panchnama was drawn and in this manner the panchnama which was commenced on 1.3.2002 at 12:00 hours was completed on 4.3.2002 at 12:30 hours in the afternoon.

262.7 He had drawn this panchnama on four days in four parts. The witness has further deposed that he had noted down the facts in the panchnama as dictated by the panchas and that the entire proceedings of the panchnama were drawn in the presence of the complainant and in his presence.

262.8 The witness has thereafter proved the panchnama Exhibit-1749 Part-1, Part-2, Part-3 and Part-4.

262.9 The witness has further deposed that at the relevant time, various complaints relating to the riots, regarding loss of property and other complaints came to be registered with the Naroda Police Station. In connection with the complaints, under the instructions of Shri Mysorewala, he had drawn different panchnamas of the damage caused to the properties of victims and of identification of dead bodies of the deceased, etc. All the panchnamas were drawn by him by calling two panchas. The witness has deposed that the contents of all the panchnamas drawn by him are correct and have been written down in terms of what was stated by the panchas and bear the signature of all the panchas as well as his signature.

262.10 Various panchnamas drawn by the said witness of the damage caused to the properties of Umedhasan Kallubhai Kureshi, Akbarmiya Junedmiya Sumrani, Sufiyabanu Yakubbhai Shaikh, Kasamali Akbarali, Munirkhan Pathan and Sarmuddin Khwajahussain Shaikh have been exhibited as Exhibits 2036, 2037, 2038, 2039 and 2040 respectively. The witness has further proved the panchnama Exhibit 2041, which relates to the identification of dead bodies of Zarinabanu Kureshi and Naseembanu Kureshi.

262.11 The witness has further deposed that pursuant to the instructions issued by the Investigating Officer Shri Mysorewala, he had recorded statements of the witnesses from 3.3.2002 to 20.3.2002 in connection with I-C.R. No.100/02 and other complaints. The witness has deposed that he has recorded the statements of Sufiyabanu Yakubbhai (PW 45) on 20.3.2002, Sarmuddin Khwajahussain Shaikh (PW 59) on 17.3.2002, Dhoriben @ Jaydabibi Mahmudishaq Shaikh (PW 90) on 4.3.2002, and Farzana Ayubkhan Pathan (PW 106), Naemuddin Ibrahimhai Shaikh (PW 158), Sabbirahemad Munirahemad Shaikh (PW 159), Afsanabanu Raheman Saiyed (PW 160), Shahjahan Kabirali Shaikh (PW 161), Usmanbhai Valibhai Mansuri (PW 163), Yasin Usmanbhai Mansuri (PW 164), Mahammadmaharroof Abdulraufkhan Pathan (PW 191) and Saberabanu Abdulaziz Shaikh (PW 214) on 3.3.2002 and Basirahemad Mahammadyusuf Shaikh (PW-207) on 10.3.2002.

262.12 The witness has further deposed that all the documents in connection with the action taken by him were handed over by him to Shri Mysorewala.

262.13 CROSS EXAMINATION: In the cross-examination of the witness, it has come out that in the year 2002, he was a Police Sub Inspector at Naroda Police Chowky and prior thereto, he had experience of twenty five years. He was a promotee PSI. At the relevant time, he had experience of fifteen years as a PSI. The witness has admitted that during these fifteen years, he had investigated many offences. The witness has admitted that at the time of drawing a panchnama, one is required to go around the spot and take note of the details minutely and record them in the panchnama.

262.14 The witness has admitted that Shri Mysorewala had not issued any written order to him for drawing a panchnama in connection with I-C.R. No.100/02 and that he had issued oral instructions. At the time of drawing the panchnama, he had obtained the complaint of I-C.R. No.100/02. The witness has stated that he had received the order to draw a panchnama early in the morning between 3:30 to 4:00 on 1.3.2002 and thereafter, he had received the complaint. He had studied the complaint and had understood the area in which the incident had taken place.

262.15 The witness has admitted that on 1.3.2002, at 12 o'clock in the afternoon, after meeting Shri Solanki, he had drawn the panchnama of the scene of incident shown by him in the presence of panchas. The witness has admitted that he, Shri Solanki and the panchas had observed all the places minutely and drawn the panchnama.

262.16 The witness has admitted that he had personally gone inside the Noorani Masjid and inspected it. The witness has admitted that on the reverse side of page 1 of part 2 of the panchnama Exhibit-1749, he has referred to three gas cylinders lying there, however, he has not examined or noted as to whether the gas cylinders were empty. The witness has admitted that on the basis of his experience in the police department, he can say that if there are blasts by throwing gas cylinders, the cylinders would be broken and the remnants of the broken cylinders would be found from the nearby area. The witness has admitted that at the Noorani Masjid, he had not found any remnants of broken cylinders.

262.17 The witness has stated that he does not remember as to whether Milan Tea Stall is situated outside the Noorani Masjid at a distance of 30 to 40 feet from the masjid. The witness has stated that at the relevant time, he had seen this stall. He has stated that at present, he does not remember as to whether Milan Tea Stall is situated in the south i.e. towards Narol. The witness has voluntarily stated that at the relevant time when the panchnama was drawn, the situation was very tense; there were a huge lack of instruments and amidst the non-cooperation of the residents, they had carried out all these activities. Only they know as to how they had worked at that time under those circumstances. The witness has stated that at present, he does not remember as to whether Milan Hotel's door opens towards the national highway and as to whether there was any window of the hotel opening towards the Noorani Masjid. The witness has denied that if he had seen the window, he would have mentioned it in his panchnama. The witness has voluntarily stated that when he went to draw the panchnama, at that time, he used to note down the bigger things and the main matters and move ahead.

262.18 The witness has admitted that in the panchnama drawn earlier, no article had been recovered from Jigar Hasanni-Chali and that he had not seized anything which supports the complaint from there. He has also admitted that he had not made any attempts to carry out any scientific investigation in the context of the burnt vehicles.

262.19 The witness has admitted that on the road, there was a shop by the name of Vikram Tyres in front of which, tyres had been burnt. The witness has denied that except for this place, he had not found any signs of tyres having been burnt. The witness has admitted that there is no mention of any vehicles having been set on fire near Vikram Tyres.

262.20 In his cross-examination, the witness has stated that the second and third parts of the panchnama are of the chawls in Jawannagar, the lanes, Hussainnagar, etc. The second and third parts of the panchnama were made till Bhagyodaya Hotel. The witness has denied that he had drawn a minute panchnama of the scene of the incident. The witness has stated that it can be said that loss which could be seen with naked eyes and major facts, had been included in the panchnama. The witness has admitted that whatever he had seen on the second and third day had been mentioned in the panchnama. The witness has voluntarily stated that he had seen the spots shown by the panchas and the complainant. The witness has admitted that he had not seen remnants of any burst gas cylinders in the chawl and had not seized any empty or full gas cylinders. The witness has admitted that he has not seized any burnt parts of the body of any person in this case and he had not seen any signs thereof. The witness has denied that he had not seen any burnt cots, etc. The witness has admitted that he has not seized them.

262.21 The witness has stated that at present, he does not remember as to whether he had seen that there was any masjid in the area up to Hussainnagar or Jawannagar. The witness has admitted that if he had seen a masjid, he would have mentioned it in the panchnama. The witness has admitted that in the burnt vehicles seen by him in the area, he had not seen any corpses nor had he seen any remnants of any dead bodies.

262.22 The witness does not remember as to whether he had seen any godown in Gangotri Society when he went to draw the panchnama. He had not gone to Teesra Kuva.

262.23 The witness has stated that he had gone till the passage of the water tank between Gopinath and Gangotri society. The witness has admitted that he had not seized any muddamal worth sending to the FSL from there. The witness has admitted that he has roamed about the entire chawls of Jawannagar and Hussainnagar for drawing the panchnama. During this period, he had not seen any corpse in any of the houses which were set on fire.

262.24 The witness has admitted that he had recorded all the statements in accordance with what was stated by the witnesses and had not recorded anything on his own. The witness has admitted that no officer who has carried out the investigation in this offence has recorded his statement.

262.25 The witness is thereafter cross-examined to prove the contradictions in the deposition of the witnesses as to the statements recorded by him, reference to which shall be made while discussing the evidence of the concerned witnesses.

269.21 The witness has also deposed that on 29.5.2002, he had received a map of the scene of offence and had kept the same with the investigation papers and on the same day, he had instructed Police Constable Himmatsinh Narubha to obtain and submit the injury certificates and P.M. notes of the victims, which he had submitted pursuant to his instructions and which were also kept with the investigation papers.

269.22 The witness has further deposed that he had instructed P.S.I. Pathak to trace out the individuals who were lost in the communal riots and he had traced out nine missing persons and had submitted a report to him, which was also kept with the case papers. On the same day, accused No.22 Suresh Ranchhod Kantibhai was arrested. The witness has thereafter deposed with regard to obtaining remand of accused Suresh on 30.5.2002 and on the same day, he had received approval for submitting the charge-sheet, which he had kept with the investigation papers.

269.23 The witness has further deposed that on 4.6.2002, he had prepared a charge-sheet in connection with the offence and had submitted the same in the Metropolitan Court No.11 together with all the record. The witness has deposed regarding the procedure followed with regard to different accused who had been arrested by him.

269.24 The witness has deposed that on 23.8.2002, he had prepared a supplementary charge-sheet and had submitted the same in Metropolitan Magistrate's Court No.11, which was registered as Criminal Case No.1662/02.

269.25 The witness has deposed that on 27.9.2002, since he was required to go out of station for some other investigation, the investigation of the present case was handed over to Senior P.I. Shri H. B. Agrawat. The witness has thereafter deposed that on 3.10.2002 upon returning back, he had taken over the charge of the investigation.

269.26 The witness has inter-alia deposed that he had instructed P.S.I. Shri Goswami to carry out test identification parade of Ashok Hundaldas Khatwani. On the same day, he had recorded the statement of witness Hussainabanu.

269.27 The witness has deposed that on 7.11.2002, since the other offences registered at the Naroda Police Station have been included in the present investigation 'C' Summary reports were prepared and submitted to the concerned court.

269.28 On 19.11.2002, he had handed over the investigation to P.I. Shri Agrawat as he was transferred to Gandhinagar.

269.29 The witness has deposed that he had recorded the statements of the following witnesses:

269.32 The witness has deposed that he is acquainted with the signature of Shri A.A. Chauhan as time and again, he had occasion to see his signature during the course of investigation and routine office work.

269.33 The witness has deposed that different Police Officers under him had recorded statements of different witnesses and had drawn panchnamas of the properties of the victims of the riots during the course of investigation of the offence, under his instructions, and had submitted all the papers of the task performed by them together with the reports and at times without reports and all of which had been kept by him with the investigation papers. The witness has submitted before the court a list of the names of the Police Officers who had recorded statements of the witnesses together with the names of the witnesses they had recorded.

269.34 CROSS EXAMINATION: In the cross-examination of this witness, it has come out that on the day of the incident, that is, on 28.2.2002, he has not visited Naroda Patiya. On 28.2.2002, he had not received any orders from the Police Commissioner to reach Naroda Patiya. The witness has stated that after he was handed over the investigation, he had personally visited the relief camp and he had not called the managers of the camp to the Crime Branch. The witness has denied that after he was entrusted with the investigation, he had obtained information with regard to all the relief camps in Ahmedabad city. The witness has admitted that if he needed any information as to which victim is in which relief camp, he used to get it through the managers of the camp. The witness has stated that he does not know the exact number of relief camps in Ahmedabad at the relevant time. The witness has admitted that during the course of investigation in this case, he had visited the Juhapura relief camp, the Shah Alam relief camp and the Dariakhan Ghummat relief camp.

269.35 The witness has denied that the team of officers which he had formed at the Crime Branch for the purpose of investigation had also visited all the relief camps. The witness has stated that the officers of the investigation team formed by him had only visited the Shah Alam camp. The witness has admitted that amongst the organisers of the relief camps, there were people from organisations and Muslim advocates. He did not know the name of the organisation, but it was an organisation which took care of affected Muslim persons.

269.36 The witness has admitted that whenever he met the victim, at that time the person from the organisation or the advocate present there used to announce the name on the mike and call the victim. The witness has denied that he used to put questions to the victims through the office bearers of the organisation and they used to dictate the same to them verbatim. The witness has denied that he used to record the statements of witnesses in the presence of the office bearers of the organisations.

269.37 The witness has admitted that when the office bearers used to announce the names of the victims on the mike, he used to record their statements. The witness has voluntarily stated that at that time also, he did not record the statements in the presence of the office bearers of the organisations. The witness has stated that he had recorded the statements of the witnesses about two months after the incident.

269.38 The witness has stated that it has not happened that any affected person of the incident had made a telephone call to him or had given him any application that Naroda Police Station had not recorded their statements as stated by them. The witness has admitted that if any such application was received, the Deputy Police Commissioner, Crime Branch would have sent him such application.

269.39 The witness has admitted that the reporters and media personnel used to time and again visit the relief camps. He has stated that he has not seen the victims in the camp give interviews to the political leaders, reporters or media personnel.

269.40 The witness has denied that some of the witnesses of the Naroda incidents were from the S.R.P. Quarters. The witness has stated that during the course of his investigation, it was not found necessary to record the statements of the people from the S.R.P. Quarters.

269.41 The witness has admitted that on 4.5.2002, he had recorded the statement of PW-143 Dildar Umrao Saiyed. The witness has denied that he had also recorded the statement of this witness on 9.5.2002. The witness has admitted that on 4.5.2002, Dildar Saiyed in his statement had not given the name of accused Tiniya (A-54) before him.

269.42 The witness has stated that during the course of investigation, he used to have discussion with Shri A. K. Sureliya, DCB Crimes. The witness has admitted that he had also read the report sent by the team which has inspected Teesra Kuva. In his cross-examination, it has come out that the distance between Jawannagar and the Noorani Masjid is approximately 700 feet. The witness has stated that he is not aware whether any officer from the investigation team had gone to the Civil Hospital personally and recorded the statements of any of the witnesses. The witness has stated that he himself did not keep any memorandum of how many victims were there in which camp. He has stated that he did not keep the names, addresses and telephone numbers of the managers of the camp.

269.43 In his cross-examination, it has come out that he has served in the police department for thirty eight years. The witness has admitted that during this period, he was also given training as to how to investigate cases. The witness has stated that he is conversant with the Gujarat Police Manual.

269.44 The witness has admitted that in all, three of his statements were recorded by the SIT on 22.1.2009, 30.6.2009 as well as 16.12.2009. The witness has admitted that he has put his signatures at the bottom of both his statements dated 22.1.2009 and 16.12.2009 and that in the statement dated 22.1.2009, he has put his signature on every page.

269.45 The witness has admitted that in his statement before the SIT, he had stated all the true facts regarding whatever he knew. The witness has admitted that the statement dated 22.1.2009 was in the form of questions and answers, viz., the issues and their reply.

269.46 Certain extracts of the statement are put to the witness regarding his reply to the issues put to him by the Investigating Officer. However, since all these extracts are part of a statement under section 161 of the Code and have not been put to contradict the witness qua any part of his primary statement, the same are not admissible in evidence. As noted earlier, the statement under section 161 of the Code cannot be used to contradict a witness qua anything elicited during the course of cross-examination.

269.47 In his cross-examination, the witness has admitted that when the Crime Branch handed over the investigation to him, he had studied all the papers received by him. The witness does not remember as to whether the muddamal articles seized by the previous Investigating Officer had been handed over to him. The witness does not remember as to whether during the course of his investigation, the panchnama of the scene of offence was given to him. The witness has stated that he had studied the earlier panchnama of the scene of offence.

269.48 The witness has stated that he does not know that the earlier Investigating Officer had got the videography of the scene of offence done. The witness has admitted that it has not happened that he has received the muddamal videography cassettes. The witness has admitted that after the investigation came in his hands, he felt that he should have visited the scene of offence. The witness has stated that when he thought so, he had not seen the map of the scene of offence and has voluntarily stated that he received the map subsequently. The witness has admitted that during the course of his investigation, he has not recorded the statement of any witness under section 164 of the Code. The witness has stated that the officers had given him a report regarding Teesra Kuva. The witness has admitted that during the course of his investigation, no remnants of any human body had been found from Teesra Kuva.

269.49 The witness has stated that he has not inquired regarding the number of family members of the accused from whose house he had seized the plastic can and that he has not recovered any documents to ascertain the ownership of the house from which such can was recovered. The witness has admitted that the plastic cans recovered from the house of the accused are similar to the ones which are sold in the open market. The witness has denied that he has not seized the cans in the presence of panchas. The witness has denied that in every case when an article is seized, the slip bearing the signatures of the panchas are required to be affixed and it is required to be sealed. The witness has admitted that the slips on the cans bear only his signature and do not bear the signatures of the panchas.

269.50 The witness has admitted that he had not sent these cans to the FSL for testing. The witness has stated that it is not necessary in every case to send the muddamal to the FSL. He has stated that he has not obtained any scientific opinion regarding the contents of the liquid in the cans and has voluntarily stated that upon the panchas of the panchnama being asked to smell the can, he had ascertained that the smell of kerosene was emanating which is mentioned in the panchnama.

269.51 The witness has denied that in every case where the muddamal is seized, it is necessary to affix the slips bearing the signatures of the panchas. The witness has admitted that he had not found it necessary to obtain the signatures of the panchas on the slips affixed on the swords, dharias and cans which he had seized during the course of his investigation. The witness has denied that in every case where the muddamal is seized, it is necessary to affix the slips bearing the signatures of the panchas. The witness has denied that he has not seized three articles in the presence of panchas and that he has got up these three articles during his investigation and placed them in the record. The witness has stated that he has carried out investigation from 1.5.2002 to 20.11.2002. The witness has stated that he cannot remember as to from which date to which date, he had carried out the investigation.

269.52 The witness has stated that he knows the procedure for conducting the test identification parade. The witness has admitted that the facial identification register. Exhibit-1851 of accused No.38 Ashok H. Sindhi bears his signature. He has stated that the facts stated therein are true facts. The witness has admitted that this facial identification register has been filled in while he was on duty. The witness has admitted that the identification marks of an accused are to be recorded in

269.53 The witness has stated that he is not aware that at the time of test identification parade, dummies who look like the accused are required to be kept present.

269.54 The witness has stated that he had gone to the chawls of the scene of incident. He has not prepared any note as to which incident has taken place in which chawl. The witness has voluntarily stated that the reason was that at that time, much time had not passed since he had taken over the investigation and that the position was not clear. The witness has admitted that when he went to the scene of incident, he had not called any victim there and questioned them. He has stated that he has not prepared the site map and has voluntarily stated that they are not required to prepare such maps.

269.55 In his cross-examination, it has come out that he had received video cassettes together with the investigation papers. He has stated that he has not opened the video cassettes prepared by the earlier Investigating Officer and seen them. The witness has admitted that when an Investigating Officer is transferred, the panchnama of the scene of offence is required to be read. He has stated that he did not feel that the scene of offence is not properly demonstrated and hence, it is necessary to draw another panchnama.

269.56 The witness has admitted that in the scene of offence panchnama, Exhibit-1749, Parts I to IV, the names of the chawls are not shown anywhere. The witness has admitted that in the panchnama, there is no mention as to which incident took place in which house. The witness has voluntarily stated that the reason may be that on that day, all the lanes had become ruins and when he himself had visited the scene of offence, all the chawls were in a state of ruins and no one was residing there on that day. The witness has stated that when he went to visit the scene of offence, he had not kept the panchnama Exhibit-1749 with him.

269.57 The witness has admitted that he has not verified the statements and the evidence collected by the earlier officer as there is no such practice. In his cross-examination, it has come out that during the course of investigation, no fact has been revealed that on the day of the incident, any gas cylinder had been burst. In his cross-examination, he has stated that he has not found any facts to the effect that there is an Uday Gas Agency in the Naroda area and that it deals with Indane Gas Cylinders and that on the day of the incident, gas cylinders were looted from Uday Gas Agency.

269.58 In his cross-examination, it has come out that the order for filing "C" summary in twenty seven offences was made by the Police Commissioner, Ahmedabad. The witness has admitted that the procedure for asking for "C" summary in twenty seven complaints had been carried out by the Crime Branch. The witness has admitted that the procedure for asking for "C" summary was carried out through him. The witness has stated that wherever necessary, he has studied the Gujarat Police Manual. At present, he does not remember as to whether "C" summary has been asked in this case for the reasons shown in rule 232 of the Gujarat Police Manual. The witness has admitted that he had studied the twenty seven complaints prior to processing the "C" summary in the court of the Metropolitan Magistrate. At present, he does not remember that in some of the twenty seven cases whether the panchnamas were drawn and in some cases, the statements were recorded.

269.59 The witness has admitted that after the weapons given to the police department are used, they are required to deposit the empty cartridges. The witness has denied that despite the fact that he did not have any evidence and no evidence had been revealed during the course of investigation, under pressure from NGOs and the media, he had wrongly arrested the accused during the course of his investigation. The witness has admitted that during the course of investigation, it has not been revealed that any accused had snatched any weapon from any police personnel.

269.60 The witness has admitted that some of the people from amongst the refugees in the relief camp had given complaints in printed form. The witness has admitted that that he had seen such complaints. The witness has stated that it has not happened that when he sent his investigation team to the relief camps for recording the statements, at that time, the printed complaints were given for recording the complaints. The witness has stated that he had investigated regarding the printed complaints and had recorded the statements of some complainants. However, no facts were revealed as to who had prepared the printed complaints. The witness has stated that the witness did not know the facts. They had stated the fact that someone from the relief camp had got the complaints printed, but the witness did not know such person. The witness has stated that he has not recorded any statements of the managers of the relief camps in connection with the printed complaints, nor had he recorded the statements of any advocates in connection therewith.

269.61 The witness has admitted that during the course of his investigation, it has not been revealed that seven to eight dead bodies were found in any house at Jawannagar or Hussainnagar.

269.62 In his cross-examination, it has come out that it has been revealed that at the scene of incident, in the police firing as well as in the communal riots, one or two Hindus had died. The witness has denied that during the course of his investigation, facts had been revealed regarding the damage caused to properties of Hindus during the communal riots.

269.63 In his cross-examination, the witness has admitted that PI Shri A.A. Chauhan, who has passed away, had recorded the statement of Ahmad Abbas, etc. The witness has thereafter been cross-examined to prove the contradictions in the testimonies of the witnesses as to the statements recorded by this witness as well as by Shri A.A. Chauhan (deceased), reference to which shall be made at the time of discussing the evidence of those witnesses.

269.64 BY COURT: The witness has been asked by the court to read item No.11 of his statement dated 22.1.2009 which has been recorded in paragraph 219 of the cross-examination. The witness is then examined by the court in that regard. It may be noted that the contents of the statement dated 22.1.2009 have not been put to the witness to contradict any part of his primary evidence. It is therefore, not open for the trial court to examine the witness as to his statement dated 22.1.2009, as it would be hit by the bar contained in section 162 of the Code, which prohibits the use of such statement for any purpose other than to contradict a witness in accordance with the provisions of section 145 of the Evidence Act. Therefore, the court does not deem it fit to refer to that part of the testimony of the witness. The witness has stated that without perusing the record, he cannot say as to how many persons had passed away during the duration of his investigation. The witness has stated that during his investigation, he had undertaken the procedure for DNA test of 20 to 25 unidentified dead bodies for the reason that he could find that there were many relatives. The witness has stated that they had created a DNA squad. The witness is shown Exhibit-1497 which is a yadi for DNA tests of ten dead bodies. The witness has stated that he had stated that in 25 cases the proceedings for DNA had been undertaken is on account of the mistake. The witness has stated that from the record, he can say that during the course of his investigation, it had been revealed that 86 persons had died in the incident.

269.65 The witness has admitted that his Assignee Police Officers used to go to the camp and announce on the mike and used to record the statements of the witnesses who came forward to given the statements. The witness has admitted that if a person's relative has died in the communal riots or if a person is injured, then after the assignee officer recorded the statement of such person, he had not verified their statements, nor had he gone to meet the witness at the camp. The witness has stated that, however, he used to carry out sample checking.

270. PW-313 Harishbhai Ranchhodlal Muliya has been examined at Exhibit-2207. This witness has deposed that presently he is discharging duties as a Superintendent of Police at Amreli. From 15.12.2006 to 18.4.2009, he was discharging duties as ACP Crime Branch, Ahmedabad City, During that period, he had carried out the investigation in connection with this offence and had taken over the charge from then P.I. Crime Branch Shri H.P. Agrawat. At the relevant time, the Investigating Officer Shri Singhal was promoted and hence, he had gone to take charge of the new post and, accordingly, he had handed over the charge of the investigation to Shri Agrawat and he (the witness) had taken over the charge from Shri Agrawat.

270.1 The witness has deposed that he has recorded the statements of, in all, six witnesses. Moreover, he has also arrested absconding accused Babu Vanzara on 19.11.2007 and had obtained remand of the accused. On 23.11.2007, test identification parade of the accused was carried out in the presence of the Executive Magistrate by witness Shaukat Nabi Qureshi. The test identification parade was successful.

270.2 The witness has deposed that he has kept the papers of the panchnama of the identification parade carried out by the Executive Magistrate with the investigation papers. The witness has further deposed that he had carried out the lawful procedure for filing chargesheet against accused Babubhai Vanzara and had obtained necessary sanction for prosecuting him under section 153A of the Indian Penal Code and had kept the papers of the sanction with the chargesheet papers.

270.3 The witness has stated that he had also taken steps for arresting absconding accused Pappu Sindhi. The witness has stated that on 15.2.2008 upon having found sufficient material against the accused he had filed the chargesheet against him.

270.4 The SIT having been constituted, pursuant to the order of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, he had handed over the investigation to the then Deputy Police Commissioner of Porbandar Shri V.V. Chaudhary on 10.4.2008.

270.5 The witness has deposed that out of the six witnesses whose statements he had recorded, he had recorded the statements of Jetunbanu Aslammiya Shaikh (PW 206) on 7.1.2007 and Basirahemad Mahammadyusuf Shaikh (PW 207) on 27.3.2007.

270.6 CROSS-EXAMINATION: This witness in his cross-examination has stated that he has not recorded any statement of Shaukat Nabi on the day when his test identification panchnama was drawn. However, the earlier Investigating Officer had recorded the statement of this witness. The witness has admitted that the statements of witnesses which he had recorded had all been recorded in accordance with what the witness had stated. He had not written any facts in the statement on his own. There is nothing in the statement which the witness has not stated and which he has written down. The witness has denied that though he had no evidence against accused Babu Vanzara, only with a view to harass the accused, he had wrongly arrested him and, therefore he had not drawn any arrest panchnama or panchnama of his physical position. The witness has denied that witness Shaukat was an accused in this case. The witness has stated that he is not aware as whether prior to arresting the accused, he had seen him. The witness has denied that he had called Shaukat to the police station and shown accused Babu Vanzara to him and thereafter had conducted the test identification parade for identification of accused Babu Vanzara.

271. PW-327 Vinaybhai Vanarbhai Chaudhary has been examined at Exhibit-2287. This witness has deposed that since the last two and a half years, he is discharging duties as Deputy Police Commissioner (Intelligence).

271.1 The witness has deposed that in April, 2008, he was discharging duties as Deputy Superintendent of Police, Porbandar city. Upon receiving instructions that he is required to investigate in the Godhra riot case, he had remained present at Gandhinagar before the Special Investigation Team, Godhra Riot Cell, Gandhinagar on 10.4.2008. In this investigation team, which is known as SIT, he was entrusted with the investigation of Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.100/02, which is also known as the Naroda Patiya case for the offence under section 302 etc. of the Indian Penal Code.

271.2 In the year 2008, Shri Raghavan, was the Chairman of the SIT team and Geeta Johri, Shri Shivanand Jha and Shri Ashish Bhatia were members thereof.

271.3 He had taken over the investigation from the then Assistant Police Commissioner of the Crime Branch Shri H.R. Muliya.

271.4 On 10.4.2008, pursuant to the order passed by the Convenor of the SIT, he had commenced further investigation into the offence.

271.5 Upon taking over the investigation, he had studied the record of the investigation which was collected so far as, well as the case diary of the action taken earlier. Moreover, he had also studied the notification whereby the SIT was constituted which he had got from the SIT.

271.6 The witness has further deposed that he had sent a yadi to the Metropolitan Magistrate Court No.11 to the effect that he was required to carry out further investigation under section 173(8) of the Cr. P.C. on the basis of the order of the Supreme Court.

271.7 The witness has further deposed that since as per the order of the SIT and further investigation having been taken over, over and above, the case diary of the record of the investigation, he had studied all the 27 complaints, which had been merged with the investigation the P.M. notes of the victims who died in the incident, the injury certificates of all the victims who were injured in the offence, the applications made by the different witnesses staying at the relief camps after the incident, the panchnamas of the scene of offence, the panchnamas of the damage caused to the household goods, etc.

271.8 Moreover, he had also inspected the scene of offence and since the main offence being I-C.R. No.100/02 was registered with the Naroda Police Station, he had requested for certified copies of the vardhi register, the allocation of police staff for the purpose of bandobust at the scene of offence and the distribution statement for the bandobust, the statement maintained regarding the firing and the teargas shells lobbed by the police staff on duty on the day of the incident, the station diary of the date of the incident, the log book of the Government vehicles used by the concerned officers, message book, etc. from the Naroda Police Station. He had made an in depth study of all the aforesaid documents.

271.9 Upon commencing with the investigation and studying the same, it came to his notice that several dead bodies of which post-mortem was performed were unidentified and that several injured witnesses had not received injury certificates, which were all necessary for the further investigation into the case. Hence, he had sent yadis to the Police Surgeon, Civil Hospital and the R.M.O. Vadilal Sarabhai Hospital to send information in this regard. On the basis of the yadis, he had received identification of several unidentified dead bodies as well as injury certificates of several injured persons.

has stated is their office copy, the original whereof has been sent to the Civil Hospital and there is an endorsement thereon with the date regarding the same having been received as per prescribed procedure. The witness has identified his signature on the document and has admitted the contents thereof. The witness has stated that by this letter he had written a yadi for writing the remaining details regarding the names of the deceased in the post-mortem notes. All the facts of the corpses of the concerned deceased which were identified by their relatives at the Kalandri Masjid, Momin Jamaat Kabrastan whereafter their burial ceremonies came to be performed in this yadi, were written down in the letter dated 18.5.2008. This letter was written in their office routine and at the time when the letter was written a carbon was kept. The witness is shown the letter Mark-576/29 and he has admitted the same. He has deposed that he had got this letter written and he has identified the handwriting of his writer. Mark-576/29 is given Exhibit No.2288.

271.11 Upon further study of the investigation papers, he had noticed the fact that several applications had been received from different relief camps, wherein it was stated that in the earlier investigation, sufficient investigation had not been made with regard to the suspects named by them. The investigation was carried out by the SIT, prior thereto, several applications had been received from witnesses wherein names, addresses and other details of accused were stated, he had studied those applications and had also recorded the statements of those witnesses during the course of his investigation.

271.12 During the course of the earlier investigation, DNA samples of the relatives of eighteen deceased persons had been obtained for the purpose of DNA match and were sent to the FSL. However, since the FSL report regarding the match of the samples was not on the record, a yadi was sent to the FSL through a messenger and the FSL report was sent with the messenger. Upon a perusal of the report, it was noticed that the FSL had already carried out inquiry and investigation of the issues in the year 2003 and, at the relevant time, had sent the analysis report of the samples in the form of a report. The same is exhibited as Exhibit-1498.

271.13 Thereafter, he had learnt that the accused who had been arrested and had thereafter been granted bail by the orders of the court had committed breach of the conditions, and hence, he had taken steps for cancellation of bail.

271.14 In this investigation, he had also taken steps to record additional statements of the witnesses whose statements had been recorded prior to the investigation being handed over to the SIT.

271.15 Moreover, certain persons had also filed affidavits in the case pending before the Supreme Court and he had taken steps to record their statements in connection with the affidavits. Moreover, since 27 complaints had been clubbed with these offences, he had taken steps to record the statements of those complainants and necessary witnesses. Moreover, during the course of further investigation, he had also taken steps to record the statements of those witnesses whose statements were necessary.

271.16 Pursuant to the order of the Supreme Court directing further investigation, the SIT had given a public notice in the local newspapers, etc. calling upon any person who wanted to give his statement before the SIT to make an application and several applications were received from the applicants in connection with the public notice. The applications made by the different persons were received by the SIT on different dates.

271.17 The witness is shown the applications Mark 644/1 to 66, which he has stated are all applications received from different applicants by the SIT. He has further deposed that the SIT had maintained a common register for the applications wherein numbers were given and on the application, the number and the date on which the application was received were written and the person who received the application in the SIT used to put his short signature thereon. After following this procedure, the applications in connection with the Naroda Patiya incident were allotted to him.

271.18 The witness is shown several applications as indicated in paragraph 20 of his deposition, which he has stated had been received by his office in the routine course.

271.19 The witness has further deposed that he had sent summons under section 160 of the Code to all the applicants and had called them and, accordingly, during the course of further investigation, he had recorded the statements of all those witnesses.

271.20 The witness is shown the application Exhibit-1744 Mark-644/15 which has been exhibited only to the extent of the signature. All the contents of the application are exhibited. Other than that the witness is shown Mark-644/1, 11, 14, 19, 20, 25, 26, 28, 29, 30, 32, 34, 35, 40, 45, 51, 52, 53 and 55 to 64, which he has stated were received by his office in the office routine which the SIT had accepted and allotted to him. He had carried out further investigation thereon and as stated by him in his deposition, all the procedure had been carried out in the context of these applications.

Note: The trial court has made a note that the learned counsel for the defence has submitted that when several applicants came to depose, the prosecution has not shown these applications to them and as they are the authors of such applications, the applications cannot be exhibited without being shown to them and that several applicants have still not been examined and in these circumstances, the applications cannot be exhibited.

The learned Special Public Prosecutor submitted that all these applications have been received by this witness for the purpose of investigation, and hence, he had carried out the work as per office routine and was deposing before the court when these documents are relevant, and hence, they should be exhibited.

The trial court has recorded a finding that it is worth mentioning that in this bunch, in case of many applicants, their applications, viz. Exhibit-1405, Exhibit-1130, Exhibit-907, Exhibit-953, Exhibit-1213, Exhibit-1623, Exhibit-609, Exhibit-1464, Exhibit-669, Exhibit-1744 (to the extent of signature only), Exhibit-741, Exhibit-896, Exhibit-1638, Exhibit-1306, Exhibit-1096, Exhibit-1355, Exhibit-1016, Exhibit-700, Exhibit-1112, Exhibit-1529, Exhibit-1663, Exhibit-670, etc. are there. All these are from this very bunch of applications and they were exhibited in the cross-examination at the request of the defence. The defence has relied upon them and has conducted cross-examination. Not only that, in case of the application Exhibit 670 which is a joint application of thirty applicants, wherein though all the witnesses have not been examined, in the cross-examination of PW 104 even on behalf of the applicants who have not been examined, a request has been made to exhibit the document, which has been accepted. It may be noted that the defence has placed reliance upon and has referred to majority of similar applications produced along with list Exhibit 644 and has got them exhibited. Moreover as discussed hereinabove, in case of Exhibit 670, even in case where the applicants have not been examined by the prosecution, the defence has placed reliance upon such application and has conducted cross-examination which this court has permitted in the interest of justice, hence at this stage, it is not proper for the defence to raise such objection when the Investigating Officer has give a detailed report of the investigation before the court in the form of his deposition.

Moreover, as per settled principles merely because a document is exhibited, it cannot be said that the court has accepted it beyond doubt. The objection raised by the defence is akin to the mentality of "heads I win and tails also I win", which is not in consonance with the interest of justice and the principles of evidence for exhibiting a document.

The court has observed that it is of the firm opinion that at present the Investigating Officer is present and he has personal information about the documents obtained by him in his office routine and the applications have been produced from his custody and when he is deposing about them, it would be in the larger interest of justice to exhibit all the documents.

The court has observed that it would be clear that both the defence and the prosecution have been given a fair trial or else the application Exhibit-670 will become an example wherein it would be considered that the court has given the defence complete and unlimited opportunity whereas the prosecution has not been granted reasonable opportunity, which the court cannot do and it is not in the interest of justice and equality before law, and hence, it is held that it is in the interest of justice to exhibit all the applications in respect of which the witness is deposing and overrule the objections raised by the defence.

In this regard it may be noted that the defence has cross-examined certain witnesses in the context of the applications made by them. In case where the witness has only admitted the signature, the application has been exhibited only to that extent. Now in testimony of the Investigating Officer who has merely received the applications in the course of routine office procedure, the applications are sought to be exhibited. It cannot be gainsaid that the contents of the document are required to be proved by the author of such document and when the author, viz. the concerned witness has not admitted the contents thereof, as a result whereof the document has been exhibited only to the limited extent of the signature, one fails to understand as to how such documents can be proved through the testimony of the Investigating Officer who has merely received such documents and had no role in the making of the same. The comparison with the application Exhibit-670 is totally misconceived, inasmuch as the application was signed by about thirty applicants and was proved through the testimony of a signatory to the document. When there are thirty signatories, it is not necessary to examine all the persons who have signed the document and it is sufficient if one of the signatories proves the contents thereof. At best it can be said that the signatures of the applicants who have not been examined have not been proved, but the contents of the document would certainly stand proved. Whereas the trial court was concerned with the contents of applications the contents whereof were not proved by the signatories thereto. Hence there was no basis for comparison between the two. Therefore, the defence was wholly justified in raising such objection and the trial court was not justified in commenting that the defence was displaying the attitude of "heads I win and tails also I win". The applications, therefore, have wrongly been exhibited at the instance of the Investigating Officer.

271.21 The applications described earlier are given Exhibits No.2289 to 2316. The witness has deposed that on various dates, as stated in paragraphs 24, 25, 26 and 27 of his deposition, he had recorded the statements of the witnesses named therein.

271.22 The witness has deposed that he had taken steps for cancellation of the bail of the accused, who were enlarged on bail, after which he had visited the scene of offence together with the members of the SIT. 271.27 The witness has deposed with regard to having arrested certain accused and the steps taken to arrest them etc. on 16.9.2008. The witness has further deposed that on various dates as stated in paragraphs 42, 43, 45, 46, 47 and 48 of his deposition, he had recorded the statements of the witnesses named therein. The witness has thereafter deposed regarding forwarding yadis to (1) Satish alias Bala Balaji Jadav, (2) Pappu Sindhi Renumal Kukrani and (3) Shamalbhai Jivabhai Rathod to remain present before the Executive Magistrate on 1.11.2008 for test identification parade. He had also issued yadis to (1) Iqbalhussain Amirmiya Kureshi, (2) Rukshana Bundubhai Kureshi and (3) Salim Roshanali Shaikh to remain present before the Executive Magistrate on 6.11.2008. The witness has thereafter recorded the statements of one Khillubhai Abdulgafur Maniyar on 2.11.2008. The witness has referred to the arrest of certain other accused on 4.11.2008 upon sufficient material being available against them. The witness has further deposed that he had issued yadis to (1) Praful alias Chakiyo Prakashbhai Sonar, (2) Vilas alias Viliyo, (3) Nilam Marathi, (4) Rajesh alias Raju Sitaram, (5) Sitaram Shankarbhai Dalvi, to remain present before the Executive Magistrate. Moreover, he had called for information from the R.M.O., V.S. Hospital as to whether during the course of treatment at the V.S. Hospital any bullets from the bodies of

(1) Mahammadkhalid, (2) Mahammadhussain, (3) Pir Mahammad and (4) Mustaqmahammad, who had sustained fire arms injuries during the course of firing.

271.28 The witness has further deposed that on 6.11.2008, he had kept a suspect Hundraj Renumal Kukrani (Pappu Sindhi) present before the Executive Magistrate for test identification parade, however, the test identification parade had failed.

271.29 The witness has deposed that on 10.11.2008, a test identification parade had been carried out through witness Shabana Bundubhai Kureshi in the presence of the Executive Magistrate in connection with the suspects of this offence, viz., (1) Vilas alias Viliyo Prakashbhai Sonar and (2) Praful alias Chakiyo Prakashbhai Sonar, she had identified Vilas alias Viliyo Prakashbhai Sonar, whereas the identification qua suspect Praful alias Chakiya had failed.

271.30 Thereafter, on 11.11.2008, a test identification parade was carried out through witness Abdulmajid before the Executive Magistrate, in respect of suspects of the offence, viz., (1) Nilam Marathi, (2) Raju Manek (3) Sitara Manek, wherein the witness has identified accused Nilam Marathi, who was arrested and examined.

271.31 Thereafter, there being sufficient material against Dinesh alias Tiniyo Govindbhai and witness Noorbanu Zakirhussain having identified Geetaben Ratilal alias Jaybhavani Rathod's daughter in the test identification parade, both the accused were arrested and their remand was obtained.

271.32 On 17.11.2008, there being sufficient material against (1) Pankajkumar Mohanlal Shah and (2) Santoshkumar Kodumal Mulchandani, they were arrested and their remands was obtained.

271.33 Attempts were made to trace out the absconding accused Vinod Marathi on 20.11.2008, however, he could not be found.

He had sent a request letter for obtaining the voice samples of the three accused. The witness has admitted his signature on the letter dated 5.3.2010 and has admitted the contents thereof and the same is exhibited as Exhibit-2319.

271.61 The witness has deposed that in the form of a reply to his letter (Exhibit-1729), they had received two letters dated 8.3.2010 and 30.3.2010 respectively, viz., Exhibit-2213 and

271.62 The witness has further deposed that on the date and time given by Akashvani, he had called three accused at Akashvani for obtaining their voice samples and their voice samples were taken there. The Akashvani had given him the voice samples of the three accused in a sealed CD, which he had seized by drawing a panchnama Exhibit-2203.

271.63 The witness has further deposed that he had taken the sealed CD to the Navrangpura Police Station and a muddamal receipt had been issued (Exhibit-2202).

271.64 The witness has further deposed that with a view to match the voices of the three accused in the Aaj Tak programme broadcast by Tahelka with the CDs of the voice samples of the accused, they had written a letter to the State Forensic Science Laboratory for analysis thereof. The witness has identified his signature on the letter and has proved the same which is exhibited at Exhibit-2277.

271.65 The witness has further deposed that the receipt Exhibit-2275 was issued to him by the Forensic Science Laboratory acknowledging the receipt of the CDs, etc. of the voice samples.

271.66 The witness has further deposed that the FSL, Jaipur had matched and analysed the samples and had sent the report which was received by him through messenger Rajesh Sharma. The witness has deposed that the sealed CDs Exhibit-A were received back by him and that the report with the forwarding letter Exhibit-2276 are the same which he had received. The witness has deposed that his messenger had handed over the sealed cover and packet, etc. Mark-Exhibit-A which he had received from FSL, Jaipur.

271.67 The witness has deposed that on 8.8.2010, the SIT passed order whereby further investigation was entrusted to the Police Commissioner, Crime Branch Shri Himanshu Shukla, hence, he had sent a forwarding letter to him together with the sealed cover and sealed packets which were received from the FSL, Jaipur, Rajasthan and had sent the voice spectrography reports which he had received. The witness has proved the letter Exhibit-2321 together with which he had forwarded the aforesaid articles to Shri Himanshu Shukla on 30.10.2010.

271.68 The witness has thereafter deposed with regard to other ministerial action taken by him during the course of his investigation.

271.69 Various omissions and contradictions as to the statements of the witnesses recorded by the said officer have been sought to be proved through the testimony of this witness, reference to which shall be made while discussing the evidence of the individual witnesses.

271.70 CROSS-EXAMINATION: In his cross-examination, the witness has admitted that despite the fact that the previous Investigating Officer had recorded statements of witnesses, he had again recorded all the statements. The witness has stated that he had done it for the purpose of further investigation. In his cross-examination, it has come out that he had not asked for any information from the TV Channel or the media regarding the coverage of the incident that took place on 28.2.2002. The witness has stated that in his investigation, it was not revealed that there was any Managing Committee in the Relief Camps which were set up after the incident and as to from where the printed applications which were made from the camp had been printed and who had got the same printed.

271.71 The witness has stated that he has recorded the statement of one Noormohammad Nazirmohammad Mev (Pathan) (PW-199) on 2.6.2008. The witness has admitted that he has recorded what was stated by the witness in his statement. The witness has stated that he cannot remember as to whether during the course of investigation, he had carried out any investigation at Kathwada or Bahiyal villages. The witness does not remember whether he had recorded the statements of any Sarpanch. The witness has stated that all the facts stated by him in his examination-in-chief include all the significant part of his investigation.

271.72 The witness has stated that he has not visited the scene of offence keeping in mind the incident of Ayub or any specific incident. When he visited Gangotri Society in the year 2008, a hall, as described by the witnesses was there. The witness has voluntarily stated that this was a shuttered place but he had no occasion to go inside it. The witness has admitted that Hindus reside in Gangotri Society. When he visited the place, majority of the houses in the chawls where the incident had taken place had single floors, namely, that there were only ground floors and that in a very few scattered houses, there were two floors. The witness has admitted that he had seen a temple between Gopinath and Gangotri Society. The witness has stated that he cannot say as to exactly how many times he had visited Jawannagar and Gangotri Society. The witness has stated that he had no occasion to go on any terrace when he visited Gangotri Society and that no witness had shown him any terrace of Gangotri Society. The witness has stated that he cannot say as to how many times he met the Doctors at the Civil Hospital but has stated that he had met them during the course of his investigation. The witness has admitted that in his investigation, it was revealed that after the incident, unidentified dead bodies were kept in the cold room at the Civil Hospital. The witness has admitted that after commencement of his investigation, when he carried out the test identification of the accused, it was six years after the incident.

271.73 The witness has denied that from 15.4.2002 till he took over the investigation, witness Abdulmajid Mohammadusman Shaikh (PW-156) did not give the names of Vilas and Neelam. The witness does not remember as to whether Abdulmajid Mohammadusman Shaikh had sent any application to the police prior to his investigation. The witness has voluntarily stated that he had made an affidavit in the Supreme Court. The witness has denied that he had given the identification of accused No.53 and 54 prior in point of time and thereafter, he had drawn the test identification parade panchnama Exhibit-246. The witness has denied that the names of accused No.53 and 54 were not there in Column No.1 or 2 of any charge-sheet. The witness has voluntarily stated that in the first charge-sheet filed by the SIT in Criminal Case

No.295/02 (Sessions Case No.246/09), the name of Vilas is shown in Column No.1 as accused No.9 and the name of Neelam Manohar Chaubal is shown as accused No.10. The witness has denied that under pressure of the NGOs, he had made a false investigation against the accused persons who were arrested subsequently and filed a false charge-sheet against them.

271.74 In the cross-examination of this witness, it has come out that as per the order Exhibit-2331; he was handed over the investigation of Naroda I-C.R. No.100/02 on 11.4.2008. The witness has admitted that he has abided by the order. The witness has admitted that when he took charge of the investigation from Shri Muliya, he had studied the record collected by him. The witness has admitted that he had studied the statements recorded by the previous Investigating Officer, the panchnama of the scene of offence, inquest panchnamas, P.M. notes, injury certificates, F.S.L. report etc. The witness has admitted that he has seen the defects in the earlier investigation. The witness has admitted that in the record collected by the previous Investigating Officer, there were some dying declarations also, which he had seen. The witness has admitted that he was required to study the affidavits made by the witnesses of I.C.R. No.100/02. The witness has denied that to obtain such affidavits he had gone to the Supreme Court. The witness has admitted that the affidavits made before the Supreme Court by the witnesses have been included in the case papers.

271.75 The witness has admitted that he has recorded the statements of Dildar Umrao Saiyed (PW-143). The witness has stated that he had made a note as regards which witnesses statements were required to be recorded again. The witness has stated that he had carried out the further investigation of the investigation carried out earlier.

271.76 Upon being asked as to whether he had conducted investigation in the criminal cases in which four charge-sheets had been filed earlier, the witness has stated that he has also carried out further investigation of the investigation which was carried out earlier.

271.77 The witness has denied that he did not have any personal information with regard to the test identification parade during his investigation. The witness has stated that as far as he remembers, he had personally gone to the Executive Magistrate, Shri Parghi and another Executive Magistrate and the entire procedure was carried out under his personal supervision.

271.78 The witness has stated that he does not remember the exact number but he must have recorded the statements of approximately three hundred witnesses or may be even more. The witness has admitted that summonses were served upon the witnesses. The witness has admitted that the witnesses who had given statements before him had given him some information as regards the offence during the course of his further investigation. The witness has stated that about 66 witnesses had made applications to the SIT for recording the statements. The witness has denied that he had the jurisdiction only to record the statements of those witnesses, who had made applications to him. The witness has denied that the investigation carried out by him, except for recording the statements of 66 witnesses, is unauthorised and that he had got up false witnesses and recorded false statements and in connivance with the prosecution had got up a false case. The witness has admitted that he had obtained four statements recorded by Shri Mal, the Investigating Officer of Naroda Gam and has kept the four statements as part of the present investigation. The witness has admitted that he has recorded the statements of all the witnesses mentioned by him in paragraph 104 of his examination-in-chief and recorded the statements on 30.12.2009, as stated by them. The witness has admitted that he has also obtained the signatures of the persons who had given their statements.

271.79 The witness is shown Exhibit-2190, which is an Attendance Register of the Legislative Assembly. Upon perusal of the same, the witness has stated that at Serial No.78 of the attendance statement, Mayaben's name is there in the Legislative Assembly List.

271.80 The witness has admitted that he had seen the panchnama Exhibit-662 of fifty eight corpses and had read it. The witness has stated that he has read the first four lines in the panchnama Exhibit-662 wherein it is written behind Jawaharnagar hutments in the kacchcha house behind the Workshop. The witness has stated that he had visited the spot. The witness has stated that he was not required to see as to in which hutments of Jawaharnagar, the fifty eight dead bodies were found for the reason that before him, the witnesses had stated that the fifty eight dead bodies were lying near the water tank.

271.81 The witness has stated that he has not seen the Operation Kalank, Aaj Tak CD. The witness has admitted that during the course of his investigation, he had come to know that the Aaj Tak had broadcast a programme by the name of Operation Kalank. The witness has denied that he has not seized the CD Operation Kalank during the course of his investigation. The witness has stated that in fact, the CD has been received by the SIT which was the investigating agency in the Gulbarg case, and hence, the CD was considered as muddamal and the same was sent to the FSL for the purpose of testing the voices of the accused. In the meanwhile, since three of the accused in this investigation are involved in the Operation Kalank CD and the CDs were with the F.S.L., the voice samples of the accused were collected and were sent to the F.S.L. for testing and the report was called for in this case.

271.82 The witness has admitted that he has never seen the Operation Kalank CD. The witness has voluntarily stated that the CDs were in the custody of the CBI and were straightway obtained by the Investigating Officer of Gulbarg case. The witness has stated that he had come to know from the statement of witness Ashish Khetan regarding the facts which were broadcast in this CD as well as upon receipt of the transcript prepared at the time of testing of the Operation Kalank by the FSL as well as the report sent by the C.B.I. and the certified copy of the transcript.

271.83 The witness has denied that he has not received the copy of any transcript. The witness has stated that he had received a certified copy of the transcript from FSL, Jaipur. The witness has admitted that no transcript or CD had been given together with the statement of Ashish Khetan; however, Ashish Khetan had given him a CD. The witness has denied that NGOs were meeting him in the matter of Operation Kalank and in the year 2009, he had recorded statements after seeing the CD and as per the say of the NGOs.

271.84 The witness has stated that the panchnama regarding fifty eight corpses having been found below the water tank is the panchnama Exhibit-662, which he had obtained during the course of investigation. The witness has denied that he had concocted the fact regarding fifty eight dead bodies being found near the water tank during the course of his investigation at the instance of NGOs and for the purpose of showing his investigation work.

271.85 The witness has denied that on the facts in the FIR, it has been revealed that mobs of Hindus and Muslims had come opposite each other at Hussain-ni-Chali and that fifty eight persons had been done to death after assaulting and setting them on fire. The witness has stated that during the course of his entire investigation, it has clearly come out from the statements of the witnesses recorded by him that the incident took place near the water tank whereas in the FIR of the incident, there is mention of such fact having been learnt. The witness has stated that he is not aware as to whether in his investigation, it has been revealed that there was cross fighting. The witness has admitted that he has not drawn any panchnama of the site of the water tank.

271.86 The witness has denied that the four names

mentioned in paragraph 68 of his examination-in-chief viz. Gulab, Dipak, Ramesh and Mahesh, all of them had died in the police firing on the day of the incident. The witness has voluntarily stated that only Gulab had died in the police firing and not the others. The witness has denied that the three other persons had died in the incidents that took place on the day of the incident.

271.87 The witness has stated that apart from the panchnama of the fifty eight bodies Exhibit-662, he had also sent other inquest panchnamas. He had sent the inquest panchnama of Jadikhala and Mariyam's son Moin. The witness has admitted that during the course of investigation, he had obtained the burial receipt of Kausarbanu daughter of Khalidbhai Shaikh.

271.88 In the cross-examination of this witness, it has come out that he does not remember that he had taken any witness or victim along with him and visited the scene of offence. The witness has stated that in case of some witnesses, he has verified their statements. The witness has stated that he did not find it necessary to reconstruct the scene of offence and reconstruct the incident and that he had not carried out any such investigation. The witness has stated that he had examined the possibility of the incidents taking place at the place, as stated by the witnesses. The witness has stated that he has not prepared any personal note in this regard but had satisfied himself with regard to such possibility. The witness does not remember as to in case of which witness he had carried out verification but by way of example he has stated that he had verified in the case of witness Dildar Umrao

Saiyed. The witness has stated that in case of several dead bodies, inquest of such dead bodies was also carried out, their post-mortem was also conducted; however, the dead bodies were not identified. The witness has denied that in case of all unidentified dead bodies, he had received burial receipts during the course of investigation.

271.89 On the basis of the record, the witness has stated that in case of eighty three deceased persons there were both post-mortem reports as well as inquests; however he had also received burial receipts in respect of many of these eighty three persons. The witness has stated that apart from the eighty three persons referred to, in case of eleven deceased persons, only burial receipts were received, which are on record. The witness has stated that apart from the eighty three and eleven persons, three other persons had died, which is revealed only from the statements of the witnesses and they are referred to as missing persons and that nothing in particular was found with regard to the three persons. However, on the basis of the statements of the witnesses, it may be presumed that the three persons have died.

271.90 The witness has admitted that in case of Mobile No.98250 20333, it has been revealed during his investigation that the name of the mobile holder is Sunil Prahlad Sevani and not Babu Bajrangi. The witness has voluntarily stated that in his investigation, it is revealed that this mobile phone was used in the Vishwa Hindu Parishad office at Ahmedabad and in the year 2002 this phone was being used at the Vishwa Hindu Parishad, Ahmedabad. The witness has admitted that he had recorded statements of Bharatbhai alias Bhano, Mahendrabhai Manilal Pandya, Bhartiben Prahladbhai Shevani, Prahladbhai Kishanbhai Shevani in the context of Mobile No.9825020333 and he had also obtained their signatures thereon. The witness has admitted that such statements were recorded in the year 2009.

271.91 The witness has admitted that during the course of his investigation, it has been revealed that apart from Babu Bajrangi, the telephone was used by other persons at the Vishwa Hindu Parishad office, Paldi, Ahmedabad. The witness has admitted that during the course of his investigation, it has been revealed that on the day of the incident, telephone No.9825020333 was not with any of the accused but was with some other person. The witness has further stated that the phone was being kept at the Vishwa Hindu Parishad Office at Ahmedabad and that Babu Bajrangi and others were using it, had also been disclosed during his investigation.

271.92 The witness has admitted that he has not received any video cassette or photograph indicating the position of the water tank in the year 2002. The witness has admitted that if any incident has taken place in the Jawannagar pit, he has not received any video cassette or photograph of the year 2002 during the course of his investigation. The witness has admitted that he has not received any photograph, panchnama or videography of any obstacles having been placed on the highway between the Noorani Masjid and the S.T. Workshop. The witness has voluntarily stated that the same is mentioned in the statement. The witness has admitted that there is no panchnama or video recording or photograph of the year 2002 indicating that tyres were burnt on the National Highway and obstacles were created. The witness has voluntarily stated that there is mention about the same in the statements.

271.93 The witness has admitted that in his investigation, it has come out that on the day of the incident, Bipin Auto Garage had been set ablaze. The witness has stated that for the purpose of investigating regarding the Motorola Company mobile phone of Ashok Sindhi, he had obtained the mobile from the court muddamal. The witness has admitted that he could not obtain call details of the mobile, though he had made attempts. The witness has stated that he had obtained information as regards who had talked with whom from 28.2.2002 till the mobile was seized in accordance with law.

271.94 In the cross-examination, the witness has stated that during the course of his investigation, he had recorded the statements of Hussainabanu (PW-135). The witness has stated that he has not examined as to whether from the place where Hussainabanu had stated that she had seen the incident, it was possible to see such incident. The witness has stated that he has not examined as to whether there is any toilet at that place and as to whether it had a window and a door on the side of the road from which it would be possible to see the incident.

271.95 The witness has admitted that Shri Ketan Parikh and Shri Dataniya were the Officers in the S.R.P. at the relevant time. The witness has admitted that he has recorded statements of both these persons. The witness has admitted that he has taken these persons as witnesses and not as accused.

271.96 The witness has admitted that he has recorded the statement of Abdulmajid Mohammadusman Shaikh (PW-156). The witness has stated that he has not visited Abdulmajid's house at the scene of incident. The witness has stated that he has not visited the house of Mariyambibi (PW-261) and Abdulmajid (PW-156) at the scene of offence. The witness has stated that he has not carried out reconstruction of the offence and has voluntarily stated that this was for the reason that he was investigating the offence six years after the incident.

271.97 The witness has admitted that Serial No.3 and 4 of Exhibit-2192 are shown as Raju Chaumal and Kishan Korani respectively, which are reflected as BSNL members and that the statements of the subscribers of both the telephones have not been recorded by him. The witness has voluntarily stated that he had obtained documents which reflected that in case of Serial No.3 Manjuben Chaumal and Serial No.4 Ishwariben Korani were the consumers of the telephone number. The witness has admitted that he had not investigated as to who was residing at the address where these telephones were located. The witness has voluntarily stated that he was under an impression that during the course of the earlier investigation, the addresses of the accused must have been verified, and hence, he had not carried out any investigation in this regard. The witness is extensively cross-examined with regard to the call details and telephone numbers etc.

271.98 The witness has admitted that he had recorded the statement of Ashish Khetan as regards the transcript of the Operation Kalank CD, which he had received from F.S.L., Jaipur. The witness has stated that in this statement, Ashish Khetan had given details of the talk which he had in the CD. The witness has admitted that upon inquiring about the Babu Bajrangji's visit to Abu, it is not revealed that Babu Bajrangji had gone to Gujarat Bhawan at Abu after the incident. The witness has admitted that during the course of his further investigation, it has not been revealed that Babu Bajrangji had collected 23 revolvers. The witness has further admitted that during the course of his further investigation, he has not investigated as to whether Babu Bajrangji had gone to Godhra on 27.2.2002.

271.99 The witness has admitted that in the statement of Amrish Govindbhai Patel recorded by him, it is stated that accused Mayaben was at Vidhan Sabha till 9 o'clock and till 12:30, she was at the Civil Hospital and in the evening at 3:30 she was once again at the Hospital. The witness has, however, stated that from the statements of several witnesses as well as her call details, there is also mention of her presence at Naroda Patiya at this time and that in his investigation, it was revealed that her mobile phone was switched off in the morning. The witness has stated that he is not aware as to whether when one goes to Legislative Assembly, the mobile phone is required to be switched off. [In this regard, it may be noted that Amrish Govindbhai Patel has not been examined as a witness in this case. Under the circumstances, the statement of this witness recorded under section 161 could not have been brought on record through the testimony of the Investigating Officer. That part of the deposition is, therefore, inadmissible in evidence.]

with regard to the statements of Dr. Anilkumar Chhadda, Dhirajbhai Lakhabhai Rathod, Mansukhbhai Dugarbhai Lathiya, Dr. Dhaval Rajnikant Shah, Lataben Jayendrakumar Gurjar, Jilaben Pankajbhai Chauhan recorded by this witness for the purpose of indicating that Mayaben Kodnani was present elsewhere at the time of incident. In this regard, it may be noted that none of the above persons has been examined as witnesses either by the prosecution or the defence. Since the witnesses have not been examined by the prosecution, the statements of such witnesses recorded under section 161 could not have been brought on record through the testimony of the Investigating Officer in view of the bar contained in section 162 of the Code. This part of the testimony of the Investigating Officer is, therefore, inadmissible in evidence and no reliance can be placed on the same.

271.101 In his further cross-examination, The witness has denied that at the instance of politicians, NGOs and victims he has carried out a false and illegal investigation, this investigation is one sided and biased, and hence, he has only arrested Hindu accused and has not arraigned Muslims as accused, and hence, the Hindus who have died in the incident have been been arraigned as accused and have been included in the list of accused and a false charge-sheet has been prepared. The witness has admitted that no facts have been revealed to the effect that on the day of the incident, there was any rioting inside the S.T. Workshop. The witness has admitted that nothing has been revealed before him that there was no kind of disturbance inside the S.T. Workshop. The witness has voluntarily stated that in his investigation, it has been revealed that on the interior side near the compound wall of S.T. Workshop, people had climbed on the barrels as well as buses, etc. lying there and had thrown burning rags. The witness has admitted that he has not carried out any panchnama of the place from where burning rags were thrown from S.T. buses and barrels.

271.102 The witness has admitted that the SIT had given advertisements in majority of the daily newspapers calling upon the witnesses that they can come to the SIT to give their statements, if they so desire. The witness has stated that he had received applications from witnesses and he had called the witnesses whose statements he had found necessary for the purpose of further investigation. The witness has admitted that it had happened that several witnesses had not given the name of any accused in the previous investigation and had revealed names during the course of investigation by him.

271.103 The witness has admitted that ordinarily when further investigation is carried out, the previous statements are read over. The witness has admitted that after the previous statement is read over, the witness says whether it is correct or incorrect. The witness has voluntarily stated that in this investigation, he wants to clarify that in majority of the cases, the statements of the witnesses were to the effect that their properties had been burnt in the incident, or goods and properties had been looted, their family members were injured and in several cases their family members had died and in this context, during the course of his investigation, the witnesses have stated as to whether these facts stated in their earlier statements were correct. The witness has stated that he has recorded the statements of witnesses in further investigation from all angles. The witness has stated that in case where the witness has not named an accused in the year 2002 and subsequently such witness had given the name in the year 2008, he had not found the statement of such witness to be suspicious but he had felt that the true facts are coming out. The witness has admitted that he has not inquired from the assignee officer or the Investigating Officer who had recorded the statements of such as to why he had not written down the names of the accused. The witness has stated that he did not find such necessity.

271.104 The witness is cross-examined with regard to the contradictions in the testimonies of the witnesses qua the statements recorded by this witness, reference to which shall be made while discussing the testimonies of these witnesses.

271.105 In his further cross-examination, the witness has stated that in case of those witnesses who had stated that they were given treatment at the camp in respect of injuries sustained by them, he had not obtained their certificates. The witness has voluntarily stated that since a period of six years had passed, it was not possible to obtain such certificates and it was not possible to obtain details of the Doctors who had given treatment at the camp.

271.106 The witness has admitted that in those cases, where witnesses have stated that during the earlier investigation, the police had not written their statements as stated by them, he had examined the concerned Officers who had recorded their statements and inquired from them and their statements are also included in the charge-sheet. The witness has admitted that the statements are not written down by the Officers but by the Writers and that he has not recorded statements of the Writers.

FINDINGS ON POLICE WITNESSES WHO ARE EYE WITNESSES AND CONDUCT OF THE POLICE AT THE TIME OF THE INCIDENT:

272. The complicity of the police in the sordid episode is writ large on the face of it. Right from the morning, they permitted mobs to gather without calling for reinforcements though having regard to the area being sensitive around 55 police personnel had been deputed in that area. Thereafter, when the Muslims came out of the chawls out of curiosity to see what was happening, the police told them to go inside. When the Muslims resorted to cross pelting in defence, the police resorted to firing to quell the mobs, and surprisingly almost all the casualties were amongst the Muslims. One Abid was killed and five to six other Muslims were injured, whereas it appears that one Hindu also died in the incident. Insofar as the Hindu who died is concerned, he was immediately taken back home which is evidenced by the police vardhi dated 28.2.2002 recorded at 13:15 hours (Exhibit 1798); and was thereafter taken to the Civil Hospital which is evidenced by a vardhi of the same date, whereas it has come on record that some Muslims requested the police to call an ambulance or make arrangements for taking the injured to the hospital but to no avail. The injured Muslims were therefore, taken inside the chawls and spent the day running from one lane to the other in trying to escape from the blood thirsty mobs.

272.1 A perusal of the testimony of PW 264

Kirankumar Parshottambhai Makwana shows the futile attempts made by the police, to disperse the mobs and prevent the mobs from carrying on destruction. The efforts made by the police are on the face of it ludicrous. According to the witness they used to go in groups or pairs to ask the mobs to disperse and used to blow the whistle and ask them to disperse. From the testimony of the witness it appears that not only were no strict steps taken to disperse the mob, they had not even addressed the people in the mob in a strict tone to disperse from them. The police thus cut a very sorry figure regarding the attempts made by them to disperse the mobs and to bring them under control.

272.2 The record of the case shows that all the other police witnesses without exception, have feigned ignorance about all the incidents that took place in the chawls throughout the day. While the witnesses speak about the mob indulging in destruction of properties of the Muslims, they do not speak about any earnest efforts having been made to prevent the mobs from doing so. It appears that the police were mute spectators to the entire incidents that took place throughout the day, except for lobbing tear gas shells and resorting to firing, wherein surprisingly it is the Muslims who were the targets.

272.3 Most of the police witnesses have referred to the incident where some Muslim youth drove a Tata 407 through the mob which resulted in the death of one person and injuries to two persons which took place at a considerable distance from the scene of offence, to highlight the fact that it was due to this incident that the crowd had got provoked and became violent. Thus, an attempt has been made on the part of the police witnesses to lay the blame for the violence at the door of the victims and to justify the acts of the mob. All the police witnesses who have deposed about this incident have said that Mr. Mysorewala immediately followed the Tata 407 in his police vehicle. One fails to understand as to why Shri Mysorewala followed the driver of the Tata 407 and apprehended him and brought him to the police station when he has failed to arrest a single person from the mob which had resorted to violence, destruction and arson under the very noses of the police. At the time when the Tata 407 was driven away, curfew had not been declared. Driving a vehicle was not an offence. The version that the vehicle was being driven roughly and with immense speed is not credible given that there were huge mobs on the road and the roads were filled with crowds. Had the version been correct, there would have been a large number of casualties at the spot itself. Besides, no one died on the road near the Naroda Patiya area. The accident took place at a distance. Therefore there was no question of any rumours instantly circulating in the mobs at Patiya.

272.4 The second incident referred to by the police witnesses is regarding a mutilated dead body of a Hindu named Ranjit being found from the Jawannagar Pit, resulting in the crowd became more aggressive.

272.5 Yet another incident which finds reference in the testimonies of several police witnesses is that around 12:00 to 12:30 hours, representatives of the riotous Hindu mob made a representation to Mr. Mysorewala that two Hindus had been dragged inside the chawls by the Muslims, whereupon Mr. Mysorewala, (who did not show any concern for the Muslims who were injured in the police firing), went on foot with other police personnel inside the chawls to ascertain as to whether anyone was actually taken inside. In the context of this incident, PW 294 Pravinbhai Gondia was working as a Deputy Police Commissioner at the relevant time and the entire Naroda police area fell within his "G" Division, has deposed that on the day of the incident at 10 o'clock in the morning, he received a message that the Hindu and Muslim mobs have gathered opposite each other at Naroda Patiya and the mobs are becoming volatile. It may be noted that at around the same time, the message was sent to the Police Control Room that "All is well". Therefore, one wonders as to how at the same time a message is sent to this witness regarding the situation becoming volatile and another message is sent to the Police Control Room stating that "All is well." This witness has deposed that upon receipt of the message, he had sent Shri M.T. Rana to Naroda Patiya and upon receipt of another message at 10:25; he had gone to Naroda Patiya at 11 o'clock. This witness talks about the mobs of Hindus as well as the mobs of Muslims and says that the volatility of both the mobs kept on increasing. This witness is the only witness who talks of two volatile mobs, inasmuch as, none of the witnesses have deposed regarding any violent mob of Muslims. The witness has deposed regarding the mobs damaging and looting the shops near the Noorani Masjid and the houses on the road, but does not speak about any action taken by him to restrain the mob. At 12:15 hours, Shri M. K. Tandon, Joint Police Commissioner arrived and after assessing the situation, contacted the Police Commissioner on telephone and declared curfew in the Naroda Police Station area from 12:30 hours. It may be noted that despite the fact that curfew was declared, the mobs did not disperse and continued with their violent acts. Despite this position, when the Police Officers received an oral representation from the Hindus that two Hindus had been taken inside Hussainnagar chawl and had been killed, to verify the same, Police Inspector Shri Mysorewala was instructed to go inside the chawls with necessary armed force and manpower. It is quite confounding as to why despite the fact that curfew had been declared and the Hindu mob in flagrant breach of the curfew continued to rampage in the area, the concerned police officers thought it necessary to accede to their requests and go on foot inside Hussainnagar-ni- chali to ascertain as to whether any Hindus had in fact been killed. When, none of the police officers thought it fit to go inside the chawls to curb the violence that the mobs were indulging inside Hussainnagar area, one fails to understand as to why at the request of the aggressors, viz., the Hindus, the police had so willingly complied.

272.6 Thus, though it was the Hindus who were the aggressors and did not disperse despite repeated announcements by the police, the police thought it fit to cooperate with the rioters and were more concerned about their safety than of the Muslims residing in the area, for whose protection they had been posted there.

272.7 Moreover, though PW-294 was the Deputy Police Commissioner and the area fell within his jurisdiction and the Police Commissioner had allotted platoon of about twenty four persons to the Naroda Police Station, no effective steps were taken to curtail the mob and prevent the violence. If the excuse given by the officer that despite all efforts they could not restrain the mob were to be accepted, one fails to understand as to how the police would look after the safety of the citizens. It is a matter of shame that though about eighty to eighty eight police personnel were available at the site, no steps had been taken against a single person in the mob throughout the entire day and the only step taken by the police was to chase the Muslim youth who fled with the Tata 407 vehicle and to comb the chawls to find out whether any Hindus had actually been taken inside. This shows the partisan attitude adopted by the police on the day of the incident.

272.8 Another notable aspect of the evidence of the witnesses is that while they refer to the Tata 407 incident, they are totally silent about a tanker being reversed and rammed into the Noorani Masjid, though they were present there throughout the day. Thus, the entire attempt of the police appears to be to show that it was the Muslims who provoked the mobs leading to the rioting. It may also be noted that the witnesses are totally silent about the police firing wherein a Muslim and a Hindu youth had died, and several Muslims were injured. Thus, the police have adopted a partisan attitude not only while on duty on the day of the incident, but also at the time of deposing before the court.

272.9 A perusal of the testimonies of the police witnesses, including the officers, who were deputed there, shows that their testimonies only refer to what was happening on the road and are totally silent about what happened from noon till 7:00 pm, when according to them they came to know that many people were killed near the water tank. The evidence on record shows that the incident at the tank took place sometime between 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. when the mob reached the end of Jawannagar to Gangotri Society; however, prior thereto, throughout the day, the mob had ransacked the houses in the chawls and set them on fire and had also killed the few persons who came in their hands, as most of the residents of the chawls had fled and had gone near the S.R.P. Quarters compound wall or had taken shelter in the godown in Gangotri Society, terraces of Gangotri Society or in the Pinjara's house. However the police witnesses, though present there throughout the day being on "stand to" duty, are totally oblivious of any incidents taking place inside the chawls. It is not believable that the police on the main road could not have noticed the houses being burned throughout the day, as considering the state of the houses a lot of flames must have risen and smoke must have billowed. Besides to prevent the mobs from entering the chawls all that the police were required to do was man the entry points of the chawls, namely the road adjoining the S.T. Workshop wall and the road from Uday Gas Agency. However, the police failed to do so and in fact all they did was confine the Muslim residents to the chawls and permitted the mobs to enter the chawls and cause havoc and kill and burn the Muslims to death, which culminated into the massacre that took place near the water tank. The apathy of the police to what was going on inside the chawls, where the rampaging mobs had entered, is highly regretful and shocking.

272.10 PW 322 Shri Ashish Khetan, who had conducted the sting operation, has deposed before the trial court that accused No.18 Babu Bajrangi had said that at the time of the incident if the police wanted they would not have let them enter the Patiya. He had said that there was only one entrance from where the Patiya where Muslims reside begins and that there were fifty to sixty policemen and if they wanted to stop them they could have done so. According to the accused if the police so desired, they would not have allowed them to enter inside and that they had a great deal of support from the police.

272.11 It is astonishing that though there was a considerable police force present throughout the day, which was vigilant to consider the welfare of the Hindu mob, though they were the aggressors, the very same police were oblivious to and deliberately turned a blind eye to the happenings inside the chawls which would have been easily visible from the highway where the police were said to be present and patrolling throughout the day.

272.12 Despite the fact that curfew had been clamped in the area and the mobs were openly resorting to ransacking and arson, not a single person from the mob has been arrested by the policemen posted there, though more than fifty five police personnel were on duty. It may be that the strength of the police force was too small to quell the riots, but there was nothing to prevent the police from arresting some of the miscreants. Even that might have had some effect, if the people in the mob had found that their actions would be visited with consequences. However except for mouthing platitudes that the police had taken all legal steps to disperse the mob, no other substantial action has been taken by the police. Not only that, despite the fact that the police found that their numbers were too small to bring the situation under control, there is no evidence worth the name on record to indicate that any message was sent to the control room or to the higher officers to send reinforcements, and on the contrary even when huge mobs had gathered and the situation was getting out of control, the message sent to the control room was "All is well", which gives reason to believe that the police had no intention of quelling the riots. The evidence of the witnesses in fact paints a contrary picture to the effect that it was the police which led the mob by firing at the Muslims and the mob followed.

272.13 Despite the overwhelming evidence on record which unerringly points towards the active connivance of the police in the incident, the trial court has given a more or less clean chit to the police. One factor that appears to have appealed to the trial court is that the police rescued the victims and ferried them to the relief camps else the number of casualties would have been much more. However, what is lost sight of by the trial court is that the police came to the scene of the offence only after the mob had dispersed, probably because it had become dark. Therefore, what was done by the police was merely a face saving exercise to lend some credibility to them. Besides the people who were rescued were sitting on terraces. In the opinion of this court the people who form part of such mobs are basically cowards who gain strength and support only from their numbers and get an opportunity to show that they are brave. Therefore, once it became dark, in the absence of any light it would not have been able to distinguish between the Muslims and the Hindus. Moreover, the access to the terraces was through narrow staircases with Muslims sitting on the terraces. Therefore, for the mob to attack the Muslims sitting on the terrace, they could have had to go single file in which case they could have been overpowered by those sitting on the terrace, which is probably why they did not attack the people who took shelter on the terraces. As far as burning the houses below and burning the people on the terrace is concerned, it may be noted that the houses in Gangotri and Gopinath Society were pucca houses mostly owned by Hindus, who were much better off than the Muslims who occupied the chawls. Therefore, the Hindu mob would be reluctant to destroy and damage properties belonging to reasonably affluent Hindus to attack those sitting on the terrace with fire

272.14 The helplessness displayed by the State authorities is mindboggling. After the occurrences commenced, officers of the rank of Deputy Police Commissioner, Assistant Police Commissioner, Senior Police Inspector, Police Inspectors, and Police Sub-Inspectors were present; however, it is astounding that they were so helpless, that not only could they not control the mobs, they could not arrest a single person even when the mobs had not grown very large. Though curfew was imposed, it was only namesake. No efforts were made to implement the curfew. The police witnesses have come up with huge figures of bursting of tear gas shells, lathi charge and firing, which does not at all tally with the testimonies of the other witnesses. None of the witnesses even mention that the police had resorted to lathi charge. While there was firing, it is surprising that it was not the aggressors who were injured or killed except for one Hindu, whereas one Muslim died on the spot and five to six others were injured. It appears from the messages received by Van I that the Police Commissioner had ordered that where mobs come up against each other the police may resort to firing, therefore, when the Muslims with a view to prevent the mob from entering the chawls put up some resistance, the police resorted to firing, which was directed at the Muslims and not at the aggressors.

272.15 What is most confounding is the amnesia developed by all the police officers insofar as what had transpired from 2:00 pm to 7:00 pm. What is also disturbing is that despite the police being present on the road from 7:00 a.m. till night, none of the officers have deposed anything about any tanker being pushed against the door of Noorani Masjid to break the door, though the presence of such tanker is evident from the panchnama of the scene of offence as well as the video of the scene of offence, likewise, the police have feigned ignorance about the presence of an Eicher truck at the boundary wall of Jawannagar, near the broken part of it, which had been used for breaking the wall to enter Jawannagar.

272.16 In the facts of the present case, the manner in which the incident has taken place suggests the active connivance of the police in the commission of the offence. As is evident from the evidence which has come on record, the police were present at the scene of offence since 7:00 a.m. in the morning. Though huge mobs started gathering since around 9:00 a.m., no serious efforts were made to disperse the crowd at the inception itself. The mobs swelled and resorted to stone throwing and damaging the properties on the road. No effective efforts were made by the police to quell the disturbances at that stage. It appears that the Commissioner had instructed the police to resort to firing when mobs come against each other. Therefore, though the Hindu mob went on rampage, firing was not resorted to. It was only when the mobs attempted to enter the chawls from the road on the side of S.T. Workshop that the resident Muslims resisted and resorted to cross stone pelting whereupon the police resorted to firing, not at the aggressors, viz. the Hindus but at the Muslims. No doubt a Hindu was also killed in the firing, but considering the number of casualties on the side of the Muslims, it is apparent as to against whom the firing was aimed, namely, who were the targets. One Muslim, Abid died on the spot and five to six others were injured. Though at that stage, the riots had not escalated much, no efforts were made by the police to take the injured and dead to the hospital and they were left to fend for themselves. Abid is stated to have been burnt by the mob whereas the other injured persons were moving around in search of a safe place. The partisan attitude of the police is evident on the face of the record.

272.17 A perusal of the video of the scene of offence shows that the houses and shops situated on the road are badly burnt. On the side of the Noorani Masjid the destruction is more. The large scale destruction caused under the very noses of the police has to be seen to be believed and which also indicates the extent to which the police were merely passive spectators.

272.18 The conduct of the police is disgraceful and shameful to say the least. The police officers and the staff deployed at Naroda Patiya on that day are a disgrace and a blot in the name of the Police Force. They have not only failed to discharge their duties diligently and impartially, but have deliberately sided with the mob in their attack on the minority community. The testimonies of the police witnesses indicate the depth to which they have descended, inasmuch as they have suppressed the correct facts and their entire testimonies reek of their partisan attitude at the time of and after the incident.

271.19 The fact that the conduct of the police who were present at the scene of incident has been condoned and most of them have been promoted within a short time, speaks volumes about the intention of the Government insofar as safeguarding the lives and properties of the Muslims and bringing the culprits to book is concerned.

272.20 During the course of hearing of the case, the court had put a query to the learned Special Public Prosecutor that from the evidence of the witnesses it emerges that A-37 Mayaben Kodnani alighted from her car and talked to K.K. Mysorewala and then left, after which the police started firing. If Mayaben has been arraigned as an accused, why is it that K.K. Mysorewala has also not been arraigned as an accused? In response to such query, the learned Special Public Prosecutor invited the attention of the court to a report submitted by the Investigating Officer (SIT) under section 173(3) of the Code of further investigation conducted under section 173(8) of the Code. The report appears to have been submitted at a much later date and is concerned with whether or not the police officers and political leaders mentioned therein should be prosecuted. While the court does not join issue with the fact that the Investigating Officer has not recommended any action against the officers concerned, the tenor of the report which is lopsided and tends to create an impression that it was the Muslims who were responsible for the mobs getting aggravated and violent, is certainly objectionable. Unfortunately, the Investigating Officer of the SIT which had been constituted due to allegations of bias against the earlier investigating agency, sings the same tune as the police witnesses in this report, which mentions the TATA 407 incident and the Ranjit incident as being responsible for the crowds getting incited, but fails to refer to the large scale damage caused to the life and properties of the Muslims under the very eyes of the police officers who were posted at site on that day. The report, while giving a clean chit to the officers refers to the situation having become calm at the time when they left the spot, however, from the evidence on record it emerges that from morning till the massacre near the passage of the water tank, the situation had never calmed down and the police were never in control of the situation. Insofar as investigation into the role of Shri K.K. Mysorewala, shockingly, the Investigating Officer has placed reliance upon statements of other police officers and the accused with whom he was alleged to be in contact on phone, without reference to the statements of any of the witnesses, who have clearly ascribed an active role to Shri K.K. Mysorewala and the police in abetting and conniving with the Hindu mob.

XIX FIR ANTE TIMED AND ANTE DATED:

273. Based upon the testimonies of the police witnesses, the learned counsel for the appellants have submitted that the first information report is ante dated and ante timed.

274. Mr. Y. S. Lakhani, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that PW-262 Shri V. K. Solanki is the first informant in this case and according to him, the time of the incident is 11:00 to 20:00 hours and the time of registration of the first information report is 20:45 hours. In all, five accused have been named in the said first information report. Referring to the testimony of the said witness it was submitted that as per the testimony of the witness, he was at the S.T. Workshop Gate continuously till 7 o'clock in the evening. He reached the water tank at 12:00 to 12:30 at night and Shri Mysorewala was with him at that time. He saw fifty eight dead bodies in the passage of the water tank and prior thereto, he had not gone to Jawaharnagar or Hussainnagar. He went from the rear side and not from the side of the S.T. Workshop. It was pointed out that the injured persons were taken to the hospital by Shri K. K. Mysorewala and that Shri V.K. Solanki did not go to the place of incident before 12:30 at night. Prior to this incident coming to his knowledge, he was at the S.T. Workshop Gate till 7:30 p.m. He saw fifty eight dead bodies at the passage when he reached there at night.

274.1 Reference was made to the testimony of Shri K.K. Mysorewala (PW-274) to submit that in paragraph 160 thereof, he has stated that he came to know about the incident that took place at the water tank between 6:15 to 6:30 in the evening. He reached there at around 6:45 p.m. and at this time, his Naroda-I staff was with him. It was submitted that out of all the persons who accompanied him, it is only Parbatbhai, a Wireless Operator, who has been examined as a witness by the prosecution. The witness has further stated that Shri V. K. Solanki came about fifteen minutes after him and the Senior Officers came at 12:00 p.m. at night. Referring to the contents of paragraph 113 of his testimony, it was submitted that, therefore, they must have reached the hospital at around 7:45 to 8:00 p.m.

274.2 Referring to the testimony of PW-276 Shri P.U. Solanki, it was submitted that, according to the version given by this witness in paragraph 14, he came to know about the incident at Gangotri Gopinath Society at 10:00 p.m., whereas as per the version given in paragraph 109, he came to know about it at 9 o'clock. It was submitted that the witness has admitted that he had never gone to the place of incident as he was busy with the bandobust. Therefore, the claim of Shri Mysorewala, that Shri P.U. Solanki was posted there to keep watch over the dead bodies while he removed the injured to the hospital, is not correct. It was pointed out that Shri Mysorewala, in paragraph 30 of his testimony, has stated that he had entrusted the work of taking care of the dead bodies to Shri P.U. Solanki when he went to the hospital, and when he returned, P.U. Solanki was present there.

274.3 Reference was made to the testimony of PW 268 Virchand Morarbhairathod, who was the Station-In-Charge of Naroda Police Station on 28.2.2002 to submit that this witness had registered the first information report in this case. He has produced the Station Diary of Naroda Police Station, a perusal whereof reveals that a first information report being I C.R. No.98 of 2002, viz., the Naroda Gam FIR was registered at 16:00 hours and the time of the incident is shown to be 12:00 to 14:00 hours and the very same accused persons named in I C.R. No.100 of 2002 relating to the Naroda

Patiya incident are named in the said FIR in the same chronological order. It was submitted that even the opening paragraphs of both the first information reports are almost similar, which cannot be a mere coincidence, more particularly considering the fact that the time of lodgment of both the first information reports is different and the officers who lodged the first information reports are different and in both the cases the allegations have been made against a mob of thousands of persons. It was urged that the fact that even the sequence of the names of the accused in both the FIRs are the same, gives reason to believe that after the Naroda Gam FIR was registered, the names of the accused recorded therein, have been taken down and recorded in the present FIR.

274.4 Referring to the testimony of PW-266 Prabhatsingh, it was submitted that, according to this witness (paragraph 48), after the dead bodies were taken out, counted and taken to the Civil Hospital and they returned, the first information report was lodged before Shri K.K. Mysorewala.

274.5 Adverting to the testimony of Mr. M.T. Rana (PW-277), it was pointed out that, according to the version given by this witness in paragraph 24 of his testimony, Shri K.K. Mysorewala, told him that I-C.R. No.100/2002 was registered. Reference was made to the contents of paragraph 66 of his deposition wherein the witness has admitted the contents of his statement dated 24.5.2002, to submit that the witness is not saying the correct facts, as compared to what he has stated in this paragraph. It was submitted that from the testimony of this witness, it emerges that till 24th May, none of the three Officers whose statements he had recorded had told anyone the names of the accused, except for lodging the FIR. It was contended that the fact is very clear that till 2:00 p.m., the witness was at Gulbarg and reached Naroda Patiya at 12:30 at night. In the FIR and forwarding letter, M.T. Rana's signature is found to have been made on 28.2.2002. It was submitted that it is inexplicable as to how Shri M.T. Rana could have signed the same on 28.2.2002. Reference was made to the first information report Exhibit-1773 to point out that the same was verified by Shri M.T. Rana on 28.2.2002. It was pointed out that Exhibit-1797 also indicates that it was signed by M.T. Rana on 28.2.2002, which was not possible in the present fact situation.

274.6 It was submitted that Shri K.K. Mysorewala and M.T. Rana have named the accused in their statements recorded on 24.5.2002 only to support the FIR. It was submitted that having regard to the fact that the FIR is ante-timed, the contents thereof naming five accused in an identical manner in two FIRs may not be believed. It was further argued that in the inquest panchnama, which is performed subsequent to the registration of the first information report, the crime register number is not reflected nor are the names of the accused indicated therein, which gives reason to believe that at the time when the inquest was carried out the first information report had not been registered.

274.7 Reliance was placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Meharaj Singh v. State of U.P., (1994) 5 SCC 188, wherein it has been held thus:

"12. FIR in a criminal case and particularly in a murder case is a vital and valuable piece of evidence for the purpose of appreciating the evidence led at the trial. The object of insisting upon prompt lodging of the FIR is to obtain the earliest information regarding the circumstance in which the crime was committed, including the names of the actual culprits and the parts played by them, the weapons, if any, used, as also the names of the eyewitnesses, if any. Delay in lodging the FIR often results in embellishment, which is a creature of an afterthought. On account of delay, the FIR not only gets bereft of the advantage of spontaneity, danger also creeps in of the introduction of a coloured version or exaggerated story. With a view to determine whether the FIR was lodged at the time it is alleged to have been recorded, the courts generally look for certain external checks. One of the checks is the receipt of the copy of the FIR, called a special report in a murder case, by the local Magistrate. If this report is received by the Magistrate late it can give rise to an inference that the FIR was not lodged at the time it is alleged to have been recorded, unless, of course the prosecution can offer a satisfactory explanation for the delay in despatching or receipt of the copy of the FIR by the local Magistrate. Prosecution has led no evidence at all in this behalf. The second external check equally important is the sending of the copy of the FIR along with the dead body and its reference in the inquest report. Even though the inquest report, prepared under Section 174 CrPC, is aimed at serving a statutory function, to lend credence to the prosecution case, the details of the FIR and the gist of statements recorded during inquest proceedings get reflected in the report. The absence of those details is indicative of the fact that the prosecution story was still in an embryo state and had not been given any shape and that the FIR came to be recorded later on after due deliberations and consultations and was then ante-timed to give it the colour of a promptly lodged FIR. In our opinion, on account of the infirmities as noticed above, the FIR has lost its value and authenticity and it appears to us that the same has been ante-timed and had not been recorded till the inquest proceedings were over at the spot by PW 8."

274.8 The decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Thanedar Singh v. State of M.P., (2002) 1 SCC 487, was cited wherein the court relied upon its earlier decision in the case of Meharaj Singh (supra).

274.9 Reliance was also placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Ramesh Baburao Devaskar v. State of Maharashtra, (2007) 13 SCC 501, wherein it has been held thus:

“18. A first information report cannot be lodged in a murder case after the inquest has been held. The first information report has been lodged on the basis of the statements made by PW 11 to the informant himself at the spot. If the said prosecution witness who claimed himself to be the eyewitness was the person who could lodge a first information report, there was absolutely no reason as to why he himself did not become the first informant. The first information report was recorded on the basis of his information given to the first informant at the spot. All information given by him to PW 13 was made before the investigating officer himself. What prevented him from lodging the first information report is beyond our comprehension. PW 11, we may place on record, categorically stated that he had disclosed the details of information to all concerned. Therefore, it is expected that the first informant was informed thereabout. We have noticed hereinbefore that the information given by PW 13 had at least been recorded by the police in the crime register and he categorically stated a few facts viz. the main accused Accused 9 committed murder of his brother Shivaji Patil and one Baburao Patil. Even the place where the murder took place was known to him. If we are to believe the investigating officer, he recorded the statement after holding inquest. The detailed report in regard to the nature of injuries as also the place where the injuries were inflicted was known to him as inquest report had already been prepared. Such an attempt on the part of the investigating officer has been deprecated by this Court in a large number of decisions. All other witnesses including the panch witnesses must have been present there. If despite the same, according to panch witnesses, at least in respect of Baburao, unknown persons are said to be his assailants, it is evident that PW 11 did not disclose the names of the assailants; at least all of them before PW 9 as also the investigating officer.

19. In a case of this nature, enmity between two groups is accepted. In a situation of this nature, whether the first information report was ante-timed or not also requires serious consideration. First information report, in a case of this nature, provides for a valuable piece of evidence although it may not be a substantial evidence. The reason for insisting on lodging of first information report without undue delay is to obtain the earlier information in regard to the circumstances in which the crime had been committed, the name of the accused, the parts played by them, the weapons which had been used as also the names of eyewitnesses. Where the parties are at loggerheads and there had been instances which resulted in death of one or the other, lodging of a first information report is always considered to be vital."

274.10 It was submitted that the medical certificates of the victims show that their treatment started at 10:30 p.m. It was pointed out that PW-179 (paragraph 18), PW-188 (paragraph 16), PW-231 (paragraph 12), PW-246 (paragraph 14) and PW-248 (paragraph 12) have also stated that late at night when the police came, they had seen dead bodies burning. It was pointed out that in fact PW-191 Mahammad Maharooof has stated that he had helped the police to find out the people who were alive. It was submitted that if the facts stated by the witnesses are correct, the version given by Shri Mysorewala cannot be believed, and hence, it is apparent that the first information report was not lodged at the time which is indicated therein.

274.11 It was pointed out that the first information report is stated to have been written down by Writer Jayendrasingh in his handwriting. It was submitted that except the Wireless Operator, no other person including Jayendrasingh, who was with Mr. Solanki and who was with Mr. Mysorewala, is sought to be examined by the prosecution in support of the prosecution case that the FIR, in fact, is registered, as stated by them.

274.12 It was submitted that thus there are in all three witnesses who are party to the recording of the first information report, that is, PW-274 Shri Mysorewala, PW-262 Shri Delwadia and PW-277 Shri Rana. If the evidence of these persons is read together, it is not possible that Shri Mysorewala and Shri Delwadia were present at the Naroda Police Station at the time of recording of the first information report, that is, between 20:15 to 20:45 hours on 28.2.2002 and that Shri Rana signing as visiting officer on 28.2.2002, is contrary to the events on record as per the deposition of such witnesses. Therefore, the evidence of such witnesses has to be closely scrutinized. By way of an example it was pointed out that accused No.18 has been named by four police personnel, namely, PW 262, PW 266, PW 274 and PW 277. After registration of the first information report, the statement of PW 262 came to be recorded on 24.5.2002 and 26.6.2002, the statement of PW 266 came to be recorded on 25.5.2002, the statement of PW 274 came to be recorded on 24.5.2002 and the statement of PW 277 came to be recorded on 24.5.2002. Therefore, about two and a half months after the registration of the first information report, for the first time the accused has been named by such police authorities who are themselves party to the ante-timed FIR and therefore are bound to support the contents thereof.

274.13 It was submitted that just because the names of the five accused figure in the FIR, it cannot be considered as evidence against them to get them involved in any crime, as the overall circumstances and evidence on record would on the contrary create a complete shadow of doubt about the genuineness of such names having surfaced in the FIR. Thus, there is no guarantee of the truthfulness of these five names figuring in both the FIRs in the same chronological order in the set of facts of the case and therefore benefit of such serious doubt ought to be extended to the accused persons.

274.14 It was, accordingly, urged that the first information report is ante-time and ante-dated and in no manner could the first information report have been recorded at the time shown in the report and no reliance can be placed upon such a first information report.

274.15 On the other hand Mr. Prashant Desai, learned Special Public Prosecutor, invited the attention of the court to the testimony of PW 191 Mahammad Maharooof to submit that from the evidence of this witness it is revealed that when twenty seven persons were saved at around 7:30 to 8:45, there was already a counting of fifty eight dead bodies and therefore the submission made by the defence that after Shri K.K. Mysorewala returned from the Civil Hospital they would have started counting the dead bodies is falsified by this witness. Referring to the testimony of PW 262 Shri V.K. Solanki, it was submitted that there is no cross-examination to the effect that he has mentioned the time and date which is not the correct fact and that he has given the complaint at a later point of time. It was submitted that though this witness is the first informant, no suggestion in this regard has been made to him so as to impeach the credibility of the version given by him. Similarly, during the course of the cross-examination of PW 276 Shri P.U. Solanki no question has been put to him about lodging of the first information report and the time and date of the FIR. Referring to the testimony of PW 277 Shri M.T. Rana, it was submitted that no question has been asked to this witness in his cross-examination that he had not verified the first information report on 28.2.2002. Referring to the testimony of PW 274 Shri K.K. Mysorewala, it was submitted that such suggestion has been made only to this witness and not to the other witnesses including the first informant.

274.16 It was argued that it has come out in the evidence of K.K. Mysorewala that the Naroda Gam and the Naroda Patiya FIRs relate to the same area and that it is only for the sake of convenience that two separate first information reports have been registered one by Mr. Vala in the respect of Naroda Gam and one by Mr. V.K. Solanki in respect of Naroda Patiya. It was contended that the argument of the defence about use of similar language in respect of the first paragraph is of no consequence and on that ground the first information report cannot be doubted.

274.17 It was submitted that the purpose which has been highlighted by the defence that the FIR has been filed late only to implicate some of the accused is not at all evident from any of the depositions of either the person who filed the FIR and the officer before whom the first information report was registered and the officer who verified it.

274.18 It was submitted that in the first information report the facts stated are such which have actually happened and the first information report is not tainted by mentioning of facts that had not happened. It was urged that merely because the first information report is ante-dated and ante-time it will not make the prosecution case weak as regards the incident.

274.19 In support of his submissions, the learned Special Public Prosecutor placed reliance upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Anjan Dasgupta v. State of W.B., (2017) 11 SCC 222: AIR 2016 SC 5510, wherein it has been held thus:

“18. The inquest report thus mentioned both unnatural death case (UD No. 43 of 2000) dated 16-6-2000 and PS Case No. 99 of 16-6-2000 under Sections 302/34 IPC and Sections 25/27 of the Arms Act. From the above, there can be no doubt that the FIR was registered before the inquest of dead body started. The evidence indicates that information of death was received by the police station before 1715 hours and the police officials arrived at the spot immediately and the IO arrived at the spot at 1745 hours, by that time other police officials had already reached. The receipt and the recording of first information report is not a condition precedent for setting in motion of a criminal investigation. When the information that Debol Kumar Ghosh is shot dead was received, police was duty-bound to start the investigation.

19. This Court in Apren Joseph v. State of Kerala, (1973) 3 SCC 114, stated the following in para 11:

“11. ... As observed by the Privy Council in King Emperor v. Nazir Ahmad Khwaja, (1943-44) 71 IA 203, the receipt and recording of information report by the police is not a condition precedent to the setting in motion of a criminal investigation.”

20. Much emphasis has been laid down by the learned counsel for the appellant on the fact that, FIR notes in Column C, “time 1735”. The time 1735 hours, we have already noted that Sunil Giri, Sub-Inspector of Police has recorded in the first information report. He had already received the information before 1715 hours since he had sent the RT message to the IO. Information of cognizable offence having been received by the ASI, with regard to the mention of time at 1735 hours in the FIR, which was recorded after 1730 hours could have been explained if any questions were put to ASI Sunil Giri. From the cross-examination of ASI Sunil Giri, it does not appear that any question was asked regarding the recording time of 1735 hours in the FIR. The possibility cannot be ruled out that while registering the FIR on the basis of written complaint, the ASI recorded the time when he received the information in the police station, of the death of Debol Kumar Ghosh. In any view of the matter, the above in no manner diminishes the value or credibility of the FIR.

21. The information of murder was received before 1735 hours at the police station which is fully proved by arrival of the police officers much before 1740 hours as proved by the IO. Hence mention of the time at 1735 hours can be treated as the time of receipt of the information of the offence in the police station and there is no such inconsistency in the FIR so as to come to the conclusion that FIR was ante-timed.

274.20 Reliance was also placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Mahmood v. State of U.P., (2007) 14 SCC 16, the relevant part whereof has been extracted herein below:

9. There is no doubt that FIR in a criminal case and particularly in murder case is a vital and valuable piece of evidence for the purpose of appreciating evidence led by the prosecution at the trial. FIR is the earliest information regarding the circumstances under which the crime was committed, including the names of the actual culprits and the part played by them, the weapons, if any, used as also the names of the eyewitnesses, if any. Delay in lodging FIR may result in embellishment, which is a creature of an afterthought. This Court in Meharaj Singh v. State of U.P., (1994) 5 SCC 188, observed that:

“12. ... With a view to determine whether the FIR was lodged at the time it is alleged to have been recorded, the courts generally look for certain external checks.

One of the checks is the receipt of the copy of the FIR, called a special report in a murder case, by the local Magistrate. If this report is received by the Magistrate late it can give rise to an inference that the FIR was not lodged at the time it is alleged to have been recorded, unless, of course, the prosecution can offer a satisfactory explanation for the delay in dispatching a receipt of the copy of the FIR by the local Magistrate. ... The second external check equally important is the sending of the copy of the FIR along with the dead body and its reference in the inquest report."

274.21 The decision of the Supreme Court in Om Prakash v. State of U.P., (1983) 2 SCC 358 AIR 1983 SC 431, was cited wherein it was held thus:

11. The learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the FIR Ex. Ka-1 is antetimed. He drew our attention to Section 157 of the Code of Criminal Procedure and submitted that the time of despatch of Ex. Ka-1 is not entered thereon. Section 157 only states that the first information report should be despatched forthwith and does not say that the time of despatch must be noted thereon. The learned Sessions Judge has observed in his judgment that Ex. Ka-1 seems to have been lodged at the police station without any inordinate delay and that there is nothing on record to show that there was any oblique motive for concocting a false story of the occurrence itself in that first information report.

274.22 Reliance was placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Budh Singh v. State of M.P., (2007) 10 SCC 496, wherein the court followed its earlier decision in Meharaj Singh (supra) and held thus:

23. *The question as to whether the first information report is an ante-timed one or not must be considered having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case as has been opined by this Court in Meharaj Singh (L/Nk.) v. State of U.P., (1994) 5 SCC 188, whereupon Mr Singh placed strong reliance. Having perused the first information report, we are of the opinion that although* the same was transcribed by PW 8 from the oral statement made by PW 1, it contained all the material particulars. The very fact that it was recorded almost immediately after taking place of the occurrence, the question of its being an ante-timed one would not arise.

274.23 In conclusion, it was submitted that it depends on the facts of each case whether the first information report is ante-timed or ante-dated. It was submitted that a delay of a few hours in lodging the first information report is not detrimental to the case of the prosecution in such type of circumstances where there are large casualties in a riot case and also in the FIR which has been registered there is no concoction of false story as regards the incident in question, which does not prejudicially affect the defence in any manner whatsoever. Therefore the argument regarding ante-timed and ante-dated FIR does not have serious consequences on the prosecution case.

274.24 From the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the respective parties and considering the evidence of the witnesses connected with the registration of the first information report as referred to hereinabove, this court is in agreement with the contention raised by the defence that the first information report in question is ante-timed and ante-dated. Having regard to the sequence of events as unfolding from the testimonies of the above witnesses, it would not have been possible to lodge the FIR at 8:15 in the evening as recorded therein. There are serious discrepancies in the testimonies of the police witnesses, namely K.K. Mysorewala and P.U. Solanki. Moreover, considering the sequence of events, viz. Mr. Mysorewala first visited the scene of offence and took the injured victims to the hospital and then went to the Naroda Police Station to record the first information report. Considering the time it took to rescue the victims and take them to the hospital, it is difficult to believe that the FIR could have lodged before Mr. Mysorewala at 8:15 p.m. Moreover, the first information report refers to fifty eight dead bodies having been found at the scene of offence. Reference to the number of dead bodies would not have been possible unless they had been counted. From evidence of the witnesses, it is not possible to believe that such counting could have been done before 8:15 p.m. when the FIR is stated to have been lodged. Mr. M.T. Rana has deposed that while taking necessary action in connection with the incidents at Gulbarg, he was there till 24:00 hours; at this time, Shri Mysorewala had given a message to him on the telephone that dead bodies were lying near the water tank between Gopinath and Gangotri Society and had also informed him that he has saved twenty seven Muslims from the spot and taken them to the hospital. He also informed him that an offence has been registered in connection with the incident at Naroda Police Station being I-C.R. No.100/02. Thus, if Mr. Rana was informed about the registration of the first information report in question at 24:00 hours, he could not have possibly verified it on 28.2.2002, which gives rise to a suspicion that the first information report is ante-dated and ante-timed. However, while this court agrees with the contention that the first information report is ante-timed and ante-dated, it does not agree with the reasons put forth by the learned counsel for the appellants in that regard.

274.25 In the opinion of this court, the first information report is shown to have been lodged at 8:15 p.m. and registered by 8:45 p.m. with a view to obviate recording of a first information report at the instance of any victim eye-witness so as to ensure that the investigation does not proceed in the correct direction. Had the first information report been lodged at the instance of any of such eye-witnesses, who were available in large numbers at the scene of offence when the police reached there, the correct facts reflecting the events that had unfolded throughout the day, including the complicity of the police in aiding and abetting the accused would have to be recorded, which would have resulted in implicating the police officers who were present at the site. Therefore, despite eye-witness versions being available to the police, the first information report has been lodged by a Police Sub-Inspector who came to the spot at a much belated stage, and which is totally bereft of the basic facts about the incident at the passage of the water tank and jumps directly from the early noon hours to fifty eight persons having been killed, without reference to the events that took place between the afternoon and the evening. Though the complaint is said to have been lodged in the presence of Shri K.K. Mysorewala after he returned from the Civil Hospital after taking the injured victims to the hospital, it is a matter of deep concern that the same is totally silent about the twenty seven injured persons who were rescued at the site; the spot from where the fifty eight dead bodies were found; and more particularly there is no mention regarding the deceased having been burnt to death. The conduct of the police, including the higher officers, in not registering the offence at the instance of injured eye witnesses or any other witness as the site and registering a complaint which is bereft of the basic facts regarding the incident through a police officer, is therefore, highly suspect. However, insofar as the accused persons who have been named in the first information report are concerned, there is nothing to show that they have been falsely implicated for any oblique purpose.

XX WITNESSES OF THE STING OPERATION:

275. The next set of witnesses referred to by the learned counsel for the appellants are the witnesses of the sting operation.

276. PW-322 Ashish Sureshchandra Khetan has been examined at Exhibit-2265. The witness has deposed that he can understand Gujarati to a certain extent but would find it more convenient to depose in Hindi.

276.1 In the year 2009, he was residing at Mumbai. In the year 2009 as well as prior thereto, he was working as a reporter. In the year 2009, he was working as a reporter with a news channel by the name of 'Aaj Tak'. Prior to 30.9.2007, he was working for a magazine by the name of 'Tehelka'.

276.2 The witness has deposed that while he was working with Tehelka magazine, his posting was at Mumbai. The Head Office of Tehelka magazine was at Delhi and as a part of his duties; he was required to remain in contact with them.

276.3 In May, 2007, the Editor-in-Chief of the magazine was Shri Tejpal. In the second week of May, 2007, his Officer called him on phone and instructed him that there was a painting exhibition in Arts College of Baroda University and in the said exhibition, several elements had resorted to vandalism, wherein there was an attack, etc., on students and the professors and the entire dispute was publicised in the news medium and hence, he should go to Baroda and investigate and find out as to who was responsible for the entire incident and which elements were acting and what was their intention/object.

276.4 Upon receiving such instructions, he had gone to Delhi from Mumbai via air and had obtained a spy camera from his Delhi office and, accordingly, he had come from Mumbai to Baroda.

276.5 After coming to Baroda, he had met Shri Niraj Jain, who was an advocate by profession. Shri Niraj Jain, at the relevant time, was an officer holder of the District Unit of the Bharatiya Janta Party. Upon coming to Baroda, he had contacted Shri Niraj Jain, because his name had come up in the newspapers as well as media in connection with the controversy regarding tearing of paintings in the exhibition, and hence, he had contacted him on telephone and he had introduced himself as a Research Scholar on Hindutva from Delhi University. He had called him to the BJP Office at Baroda to meet him. Shri Niraj Jain had talked with him personally for about one and a half hours.

276.6 He had talked with him about Hindutva and Muslims. He had also told him that in this regard, there is an employee (faculty member) by the name of Shri Dhimant Bhatt at Baroda University, who is more knowledgeable and that he should meet him. He had also given him the telephone number of Shri Dhimant Bhatt. He had gone to the Baroda University office and met Shri Dhimant Bhatt, who had talked about Baroda University, politics as well as the Baroda Senate. He had told him that the biggest work of Hindutva was done in the year 2002. He talked to him about the communal riots of 2002 and also told him that in the year 2002, he himself had provided weapons to people in the name of Peace Committee and that they had targeted leading Muslims at Baroda, all of which they had done with a lot of planning. He also told him that they had burnt Muslim Professor Bandukwala's house.

276.7 Shri Dhimant Bhatt had introduced him to different persons at the University. However, he does not remember their names. However, from their talk, he had learnt about the communal riots of the year 2002. Upon obtaining such information, he had made a phone call to the Editor of Tehelka at Delhi and told him that if he is given permission, he is in a position to obtain lot of information about the communal riots of 2002 and that a lot of information in this regard is available, and hence, instead of the controversy regarding burning of paintings, more interesting information on this issue can be made available.

276.8 After this representation, their Editor at Delhi gave him permission to inquire into the communal riots of 2002 and to collect information in respect thereof and gave him leave to focus on the communal riots of 2002.

276.9 Shri Dhimant Bhatt had given him several telephone numbers of Ahmedabad, wherein he was given the numbers of Shri Purshottam Rupala as well as the Private Secretary of Shri Purshottam Solanki and had informed him that upon meeting them at Ahmedabad, he would get information on the subject.

276.10 Thereafter he had come to Ahmedabad. After coming to Ahmedabad he had made a phone call to Shri Purshottam Rupala and to the Private Secretary of Shri Purshottam Solanki. One out of them told him to go and meet Shri Damleji at Hegdewar Bhavan in Ahmedabad. Shri Damleji was a senior worker of R.S.S.

276.11 He went to Hegdewar Bhavan and met Shri Damleji. During his talk with him, he was informed that he would get proper information regarding the communal riots of 2002 as well as on Hindutva from the Vishwa Hindu Parishad and gave him the telephone number of one Shri Jaydeep Patel. He had made a phone call to Shri Jaydeep Patel, who called him to the VHP office at Paldi.

276.12 When he talked with Jaydeep Patel at the VHP office, at that time, he had talked about ordinary things. When he made inquiries about the subject of communal riots of 2002 and asked him as to how the huge massacre at Naroda Gam and Naroda Patiya had taken place, he had told him that there were allegations against him also in one case, and hence, he would not talk any more on the subject. However, he had told him that their Vishwa Hindu Parishad organisation is strong in the Naroda area, which is one of the reasons why the massacre was possible.

276.13 He (Jaydeep Patel) had given several telephone numbers, out of which, one number was of Shri Arvind Pandya, who was working as a Special Public Prosecutor with the Nanavati Investigation Commission. Moreover, he had also given him the telephone number of Shri Haresh Bhatt, who was an M.L.A. from B.J.P. at Godhra. Shri Patel had also briefed him about both of them.

276.14 He had made a telephone call to Shri Haresh Bhatt. He called him to his residence at Ahmedabad where he (the witness) went to meet him. His first meeting with Shri Haresh Bhatt took place in the evening of 29th May, 2007 which he remembers.

276.15 During the course of the conversation with him, there was talk about politics and political organisations. During the course of conversation, he also informed him that he had a fire cracker factory, wherein they had made weapons and had distributed such weapons to the rioters who took part in the communal riots.

276.16 Shri Bhatt, during the course of further conversation had briefed him about different people, out of whom; one was Jayanti Patel of Himmatnagar, who was a Home Guard Commander. He had also given him introduction of Shri Babu Bajrangi at Ahmedabad. The witness has stated that, at this stage, he would like to clarify that he had got the reference of those people during the course of conversation with different people. Therefore, it also happened that more than several persons may have briefed him regarding one person by referring to such person during the course of conversation with him.

276.17 On 30.5.2007, once more, he had gone to meet Shri Haresh Bhatt at his residence. On that day, there was a lot of conversation with him. During this period, he had said many things and had mainly stated that there was a meeting at the residence of the Chief Minister. He himself was present at the meeting and in the meeting the Chief Minister had also stated that they have three days with them. Over and above, he had talked of many other things, out of which, the main thing was what he has stated above.

276.18 On 30.5.2007, he had gone to Godhra with Shri Haresh Bhatt in his car. However, he had returned from Godhra in an S.T. bus and he (Haresh Bhatt) had stayed at Godhra. On that day, he had returned to Ahmedabad and had then gone to Mumbai.

276.19 Thereafter, in the first week of June, he had come to Ahmedabad. After coming to Ahmedabad, he had met Shri Arvind Pandya. Shri Arvind Pandya had given him the contact and telephone number of many people, out of whom one was Shri Rajendra Vyas. He had told him that this Rajendra Vyas is an officer of the Vishwa Hindu Parishad and that on the date of the Godhra train incident, he was a passenger in the train, which stopped at Godhra.

276.20 Shri Pandya had also given him the telephone number of one Shri Dilipbhai Trivedi, who was the Public Prosecutor at Mehsana. He had met Shri Pandya twice, and on both these occasions, he had talked about ordinary things with him. He had not talked with him on any specific issue. He had introduced him to Shri Rajendra Vyas. Shri Rajendra Vyas had introduced him to Shri Ramesh Dave and one Shri Gilletwala.

276.21 In the meanwhile, he had also gone to Himmatnagar and met Shri Jayantibhai Patel. Shri Jayantibhai Patel had given him the number of one Shri Anilbhai Patel of Sabarkantha and he (the witness) had gone to meet him at Sabarkantha. He had met Shri Anil Patel, who introduced him to Shri Dhavalbhai Patel. During the course of conversation with him, Shri Anil Patel and Shri Dhaval Patel had narrated the roles played by them in the communal riots.

276.22 He had gone to Sabarkantha once again where had an occasion to once again meet R.S.S. workers, namely, Shri Mohan Patel and Shri Koyabhai Patel. They had also introduced to him one Public Prosecutor named Shri Bhatt. In the meanwhile, he had also gone to meet Shri Dilipbhai Trivedi at Mehsana. Thereafter, he had returned to Mumbai. Thereafter, in the second week of June, 2007, he had returned to Ahmedabad and he had met all of them in June, 2007.

276.23 After coming back to Ahmedabad, he had met Shri Babu Bajrangi on 14th June, 2007. He (Babu Bajrangi) had called him to his office on the top floor of a mall near Galaxy cinema. He had gone to meet him there. He had met him. He had introduced himself as a Research Scholar on the subject of Hindutva. After gaining his confidence, he had given him reference of all the persons whom he had met till that day. He (Babu Bajrangi) had talked with him for approximately one hour. The witness has stated that he has a transcript of all the talk that he had with him.

276.24 The witness has deposed that he had recorded all the meetings with whomever he had met from May 2007 till he met Shri Babu Bajrangi with his spy camera. He used to keep one spy camera in his shirt button and the second camera was fitted into his diary. Every time he used to meet a person, at the time when he entered the place where he had to meet them and till the time he left the place, he had carried out recording of every minute.

276.25 [The court has made a note below that, at this stage, the witness has stated that he desires to keep and refer the extracts of the transcripts which he has brought with him related to this case in his testimony and has sought permission to do so. The court has upheld the request.

276.26 The court has recorded that these transcripts of the talk with Shri Babu Bajrangi are given Serial No. 'B.B. 1 to 6'. The two transcripts of his talk with Prakash Rathod are given number 'P.R.-1 and 2' and similarly, the three transcripts of the talk with Shri Suresh Richard are given numbers 'S.R. 1 to 3'. All the transcripts are produced with the list of the witnesses and the witness was going to refer and rely upon the same in his deposition. The same are produced with the list of witnesses and copies thereof are given to the defence.]

276.27 The witness has further deposed that in the year 2007, he had prepared total transcripts for his Tehelka magazine and extracts of his transcripts of certain important talks also. The witness has stated that he has brought with him all the transcripts. Out of which, six transcripts relate to Shri Babu Bajrangi, two transcripts to Shri Prakash Rathod and three transcripts to Shri Suresh Richard. The list with which he has produced the transcripts before the court is given Exhibit-2266.

276.28 The witness has deposed that on 14.6.2007 before lunch and after lunch, in two such sessions, he had conversation with Shri Babu Bajrangi. As per his opinion, significant extracts of talk with Shri Babu Bajrangi are:

276.29 On 14.6.2007 before lunch and after lunch, in two sessions he had talked with Shri Babu Bajrangi. In his opinion the significant parts of his conversation with Shri Babu Bajrangi are as under:

- Tehelka : Your workers would not have come out had it not been for your call.
- Babu Bajrangi : They would not have come at least in Naroda. ... We had given a challenge that on the next day ... Do not write this down or you'll get me in trouble.
- Tehelka : No. No. There is no such question.
- Babu Bajrangi : We had given such a challenge. When we had gone to Godhra and had seen corpses, we had given challenge that we would drop four times the number of corpses at Patiya.
- Again Babu Bajrangi: We reached near you and told to give your revolver. ... said we will not give, we said tomorrow the first bullet will be fired at you.

- Tehelka: To whom did you say?
- Babu Bajrangi: From whom we took the revolver. ... From Hindu people. ... We roamed about at night and collected 23 revolvers. ... 23 revolvers and assume that you have said no revolver. Then I said tomorrow morning we will shoot bullets at all of you. ... In front of their children. ... said (dirty words). Do whatever you want to and if you want to go to the police station you go there. ... Tomorrow morning we will shoot you. (dirty words). ... first ... in this manner we brought 23 revolvers.

276.30 Over and above this, on the same day there was further talk between him and Shri Babu Bajrangi as follows:

- Tehelka: How many Hindus died in that?
- Babu Bajrangi: On this side four Hindus died. Two of the workers who were very close to me died.
- Tehelka: Died ...
- Babu Bajrangi: Nobody sees.
- Tehelka: What happened to their families?
- Babu Bajrangi: Sir, no one asks ... I send 2000. ...
- Tehelka: They died in police firing?
- Babu Bajrangi: I send 2000 per month ... One was my friend. ... he used to work in my team. ... Now nobody asks about him.
- Tehelka: So they died in Police firing?
- Babu Bajrangi: Miyas cut them. ... eyes ... nose...
- Tehelka: How ... ? How did you let them cut?

- Babu Bajrangi: arre..... eyes and nose were cut in a trolley and then thrown outside.
- Tehelka: Then you people did not do anything about it?
- Babu Bajrangi: Of course, then Sir, .. till there was a confrontation Sir ... stone pelting ... he went inside ... tried to get in while speaking ...
- Tehelka: Such stupidity should not have been committed?
- Babu Bajrangi: What is there about these people. ... it is like this .. slowly slowly it is that ... see it like this .. in the Patiya chapter Patiya is like this ...

276.31 At this stage he draws a map and gives him a portrayal of the area. While drawing this he said:

- Babu Bajrangi: This is the S.T. Workshop wall... this is highway etc. .. here there is Patiya Police Chowky. ... so Muslims were staying here ... these are all lanes .. it is like this and there is road here .. this is Patiya, this is a road alright... a person will go inside from here .. then what those people were doing ...when the mob went like this, then these people would go into this lane or that lane or this road and would all go and hide inside..... so what will a person do, will look in the lane .. will look in the lane.
- Tehelka: Yes, then they will not know...
- Babu Bajrangi: If he looks in the lane, then there is no one ... he will go ahead. Then they will shout loudly "catch, catch" ...then what will happen, the mob which is passing on that side ... half the mob would run back out of fear. ... someone will throw rags and someone will throw acid, then half of the mob then fifteen to twenty people alone would remain ...

- Tehelka : They alone would be saved ...
- Babu Bajrangi: They alone remained ... so from this side as well as from that side, they will come from this side to that side, from all sides. There is an attack on him ... In this whoever comes in their hands they would pull him and take him... Thereafter, they would cut him into pieces and throw him.

276.32 Furthermore, during the course of their talk the following conversation took place:

- Tehelka: So how were you arrested?
- Babu Bajrangi: Arrest. We were told. ... Narendrabhai told us now get arrested...
- Tehelka: If Narendrabhai was not there they would have killed you?
- Babu Bajrangi: They would have killed .. thereafter our case was there in High Court ... then we kept waiting that today we will get bail, today we will get bail. ... the file of Babu Bajrangi would go and the High Court Judge would throw it ... killed .. said .. yours will be rejected ... another Judge would come and again throw it, in this manner three times it was thrown. ... Then Narendrabhai did such a setting ... said pass ... for four months we were rubbing our heels.... I alone had a car which also was disposed of ... took another car and went around and kept on roaming, roaming, roaming....
- Tehelka: When are you coming to Delhi?

- Babu Bajrangi : On 21st or 22nd I will be going ...
- Tehelka: 21st and 22nd I will also be in Delhi. Shall we sit together there?
- Babu Bajrangi: There I will talk openly.
- Tehelka: Meet Anandji once. That is my request to you.

276.33 Prior to this, during the course of conversation he had also told Bajrangi that he would arrange a meeting with Shri Anandji. The witness has told him that Shri Anandji was a senior worker of the RSS. In fact, there was no person having the identity of Shri Anandji and it was imaginary character.

276.34 Thereafter, the following conversation took place:

- Babu Bajrangi : Arre Sir, that time we came in the evening and we thought that in Hindustan now there will no longer be any Mussalman, ... but Hindus are such traitors ... there are more leaders amongst them ...
- Tehelka: at the time when you returned from Godhra?
- Babu Bajrangi : What else to say, on that day Narendrabhai had given a free hand ... Ram's name is the truth ... not a single Muslim would remain in Hindustan ... If one jawar had come out, then the entire Haldi Ghati game would have occurred.
- Tehelka: But your people betrayed?
- Babu Bajrangi: Sir, there was betrayal .. in the whole of India we ... in the entire Patiya we ... the maximum murders took place in Patiya. ... in the entire Patiya and we were ruined in such a manner ... we had financial strength ... I had otherwise I would die no....

276.35 Thereafter, he had returned to Mumbai. In July 2007, he had returned to Ahmedabad. Thereafter from Ahmedabad he had also gone to Godhra.....

276.36 Thereafter, in August 2007 he had gone to Ahmedabad. At this time also he had met Shri Babu Bajrangi at his office near Galaxy Cinema. That day the date was 10.8.2007.

276.37 In this meeting he had adhered to what he has said earlier with regard to communal riots and had repeated it and also gave him additional information in the meeting.

- Babu Bajrangi: I am going to ask him – Togadia once in public .. never asked him ... I will ask him Sir, to me you have .. you are a big leader. Have you slapped any one? ... alright...
- Tehelka: Ever beaten any Mussalman?
- Babu Bajrangi: Even any Hindi, Mussalman ... have you ever slapped a Hindu? You know how to speak in good language.. ..you talk in effective language in the mike and say do this, do that, so we did it ... then you drove us away...

276.38 During the course of the entire conversation Babu Bajrangi was continuously expressing his anguish that during the course of communal riots he has done so much work for Hindutva, despite which he was out of the Vishwa Hindu

Parishad and on this issue he had a lot of anger against VHP and Shri Togadia.

276.39 Moreover, on that day there was also conversation that:

- Tehelka: Whatever you did, you certainly did not do it at the instance of Togadia.
- Babu Bajrangi: Not at the instance of Togadia, but in the name of Hindutva... When we went to Godhra, at that time itself we had given challenge ... tomorrow we will show the result of it at Naroda ... We had given challenge on the previous day itself .. at night itself we had collected 23 revolvers from people ... that brother, you have revolver, you have to give it ... if you do not .. then tomorrow (offensive language) first we will shoot you .. (offensive words) .. you are offsprings of miyas
- Tehelka: Did people give them?
- Babu Bajrangi: They were forced to give it... otherwise we would kill them.. my weight (influence) is so much and I speak openly..... these people do not have strength to (very dirty abuses) ... when I am angry I ... but I my hand never rises against a Hindu this is my weakness. ... Hindus are gods for me and as for the Muslims ... (bad words) by me.....
- Tehelka: On the day when Naroda Patiya happened, where was Togadia on that day... was he in Ahmedabad?
- Babu Bajrangi: Togadia was not there....
- Tehelka: He was at Ayodhya..... he was sitting at Ayodhya. He himself. ..

- Babu Bajrangi: Togadia was not there. Others were there. ... Jaideepbhai ... otherwise Sir, Jaideepbhai was there so...they were all outside ... there used to be conversation on the phone.... it had come in the newspaper no.... it had just come ..
- Tehelka : In some papers something had come against the commission ...
- Babu Bajrangi : Yes.....it had come ... they said Babu Bajrangi talked so many times ...
- Tehelka: So what if you talk?
- Babu Bajrangi: That is alright. I, out of all the people against me, in all 14 are Muslims and 16 are policemen.
- Tehelka: Why were policemen against you.....
- Babu Bajrangi: The policemen let you stand there, then (bad words),..... for a government job ... there was pressure .. at 2.30 at night.

276.40 The witness has further deposed that he had met him thereafter also. He had given him Prakash Rathod's telephone number of. He had sent him to Prakash Rathod's house with some relatives. In this manner he had gone to Chharanagar.

276.41 Thereafter on 16.8.2007 also he once again had met Shri Babu Bajrangi. At that time there was conversation between them, which was as follows:

- Tehelka: and Jaideep Patel was continuously talking with you on phone on that day?

- Babu Bajrangi: at that time .. Sir, how many .. so many So many... (offensive abusive language).

276.42 The witness has stated that the above words were spoken by Babu Bajrangi in Gujarati and as per his understanding had prepared a script.

- Tehelka: Meaning ...?
- Babu Bajrangi: By gesture he indicated that he had cut the people.
- Tehelka: How many did you cut?
- Babu Bajrangi: Yes.
- Tehelka: This Jaideep?
- Babu Bajrangi: Yes..... he had talked 11-12 times.... thereafter our battery had become low.

276.43 In September 2007 Babu Bajrangi came to Delhi. He had come to Delhi for his own work. Upon coming to Delhi he had phoned him and during the course of conversation he had expressed a desire to meet the imaginary character – RSS senior worker, Shri Anandji. Therefore, he had told Shri Tarun Tejpal's paternal uncle, to play Shri Anandji's character. They had placed photographs of ex-workers of RSS in Anandji's house due to which Shri Babu Bajrangi would feel that the house was of an RSS worker. He had gone to the Delhi Airport to pick up Babu Bajrangi. From the airport they had gone to Tarun's paternal uncle's house, viz., Anandji's house.

276.44 In the conversation that took place at Delhi, Shri Anandji had also participated. The conversation that took place during this time was as follows:

- Babu Bajrangi: We people ... my work was such that what we did in the Patiya chapter, we were the first and the local people and we were all together ... Patiya is located next to them as a short distance it is half a kilometre far from our house, so the first task that was done.....when the Godhra chapter occurred we had gone There it was unbearable to see on the next day we gave a reply ... thereafter ...
- (Uncle) Anandji: What was unbearable to watch there What did you not see in the Godhra incident.....
- Babu Bajrangi: At Godhra incident what was worth seeing like..... any person who sees it would feel that there and then he should kill and cut everyonethe situation was such.
- (Uncle) Anandji: Did you go?
- Babu Bajrangi: Yes. I was there together..... what had happened in the Godhra incident on that day, upon seeing it, only after coming here to Naroda, here we had retaliated. ...
- (Uncle) Anandji: How did you organize in such a short time?
- Babu Bajrangi: Short at night itself we gathered ... we had gathered a team was of 29-30 people.....they had guns, so we reached there at night; that brother give us your guns... .. he said he will not give ... tomorrow we will shoot you even if you are a Hindu ... tomorrow if it is not given ... then people said take away all the cartridges and guns ... in this manner we collected 23 revolvers and then with all these revolvers, no one died then... it so happened that threatening, scaring and frightening them, there was a very huge pit where all of them had gone and hidden and then they were surrounded from all the four sides and whatever was there was licked and finished at that time we said at 7 o'clock.

- Tehelka: At Patiya .. they called it Patiya no?
- Babu Bajrangi : Patiya, Patiya ...
- Tehelka: In Patiya, can you show what Patiya is like?
- Babu Bajrangi: Patiya one .. there is an S.T. Workshop and next to it there is a compound wall and next to it there is a wall... so that... opposite Patiya there is a masjid.....next to it there is a pit, which is very huge so in that open ground all of them were assaulted..... at 7 o'clock we made a phone call to Home Minister and told him as well Jaideepbhai as regards the number of people we had and now they should take care they did nothing and did not take care and it so happenedat 2.30 at night there was an F.I.R. in my name and after the F.I.R. was made it was said that see, he was there the Commissioner also made an order. ...
- (Uncle) Anandji: Narendraji did?
- Babu Bajrangi: Yes, the Commissioner gave it.
- (Uncle) Anandji: Did you not have influence with Narendraji.
- Tehelka: Narendrabhai....
- Babu Bajrangi: No. Narendra ... at that time he had also to control ... Narendrabhai stayed with us a lot. ... at that time Commissioner had given the order ... after he gave the order we were told that brother, leave your house ... we left our house and fled .. then Narendrabhai kept us at Mount Abu... ..there is Gujarat Bhavan at Mount Abu, where we were kept there for four and a half months. Thereafter, as told by Narendrabhai then we also got arrested after getting arrested we stayed there for six months. .. then Narendrabhai got us released and what Narendrabhai has done in Gujarat no one else can do ... if we did not have Narendrabhai's support, then we could not have been able to give a response to it ... because the police was standing in front of us watching, everything was happening, however, the police had shut their mouths and their eyes.

- (Uncle) Anandji : (inaudible)
- Babu Bajrangi: No. No. Sir ... at that time if the police wanted they would not have let us enter ... they would not have let us enter Patiya..... there was only one entrance. ... there is only one gate like a society has one entrance.... thereafter the whole Patiya starts .. Muslim people start .. if they wanted to stop them then there were 50-60 police standing there. ... they could have stopped us ...
- (Uncle) Anandji: (He is lifting his phone)
- Babu Bajrangi: If the police has desired Sir, they would not have allowed us to enter inside. ... We had a great deal of support from the police due to Narendrabhai ... and on account of this, whatever happened in the entire Gujarat was good, that there was some peace in respect of these people.... otherwise these people had become very headstrong. ... thereafter, we kept walking ahead. ...

- (Uncle) Anandji: By what account did anything good happen?
- Babu Bajrangi: It was good that Narendrabhai was there. It was good that those people were cut.
- (Uncle) Anandji: Voice is not clear.
- Babu Bajrangi: Narendrabhai was happy, the public was happy, we were happy, so thereafter we also went to jail and came back. ...after coming back I kept on doing my work ..

276.45 Moreover in this very talk the following conversation took place:

- Tehelka: At least in the Patiya ... as well as in village, at both the places.
- Babu Bajrangi: Naroda and Naroda Patiya....
- Tehelka: Naroda gam is also there.
- Babu Bajrangi: the distance between Naroda and Naroda village is half a kilometre so in both the places many many ... any number... the minimum must not have been cut at Naroda and Naroda Patiya, Sir ... thereafter, they picked up the corpses and threw them....there was a well, they threw them one by one in a well ... earlier I never used to talk to them ... for the first time I have met and talked ... there are many reporters at our place and all kinds of people used to come and ask me about the Patiya chapter... I said that I was not there in Patiya incident, I was admitted in a hospital far away....

276.46 Furthermore, in this talk the following conversation also took place:

- Tehelka: Please tell us how?
- (Uncle) Anandji: You had taken guns. ... then where from the gas cylinders?
- Babu Bajrangi: They were there with them Sir, we entered their house, then took a cylinder and hit it .. they burst... we had revolvers with us... at that time the joy was of a different kind Sir.... four of our workers died in that ... and there was no hearing in respect of them... there is no hearing for them ...
- Tehelka: I came from their house.....
- Babu Bajrangi: if Pravin Togadia stands in the name of Vishwa Hindu Parishad and does anything in the market, Sir, two hundred people will not come with him today, and I say with a challenge that if he wants to hold any programme of Vishwa Hindu Parishad here, no such programme will take place....
- Tehelka: These people ... climbed on the masjid and tied a pig.
- Babu Bajrangi: We had taken the whole tanker no ... the Naroda Patiya tanker was full it was thrust inside
- Tehelka: the tanker was a petrol tanker no?
- Babu Bajrangi: Diesel ... a tanker full of diesel was thrust inside and then set ablaze.....
- Tehelka: that means that the Patiya was set ablaze with the tanker?
- Babu Bajrangi: In the masjid.

- Tehelka: In the masjid?
- Babu Bajrangi: Besides at that time it was our leadership. .. we did whatever wanted to do..... we felt that Sir....

276.47 The witness has deposed that thereafter he has never met Shri Babu Bajrangi. This was his last meeting with Babu Bajrangi.

276.48 Shri Babu Bajrangi had sent his close associate with him who introduced him to Shri Prakash Rathod. In this manner on 11.8.2007 he had also met Prakash Rathod.

276.49 When he met Shri Prakash Rathod the following conversation took place:

- Tehelka: Now they had taken out the names of Jaideep Patel and Mayaben Kodnani from Naroda chapter.
- Prakash: Why did they take off Mayaben's name..., why did they take it off any reason... she threw a lot of money.
- Tehelka: She says that she was not there on that day. ...
- Prakash: Should I say whether Mayaben was there or not?
- Tehelka: Was she?
- Prakash: Yes.
- Tehelka: Did she come there?
- Prakash : She came later on... we were inside the riots, ... kill, we are behind you.... she was saying like this

- Tehelka: On the day when Naroda incident took place?
- Prakash: Yes.
- Tehelka: How many hours did she stay?
- Prakash: She did not roam a lot.
- Tehelka: an hour or two?
- Prakash: half an hour to a quarter to an hour.
- Tehelka: but her name was taken out.
- Prakash: the Government is in her hands.

276.50 On this day itself Prakash Rathod took him to the house of Suresh Rathod and he went to Suresh Rathod with Prakash Rathod. He met Suresh Rathod on that day together with Prakash Rathod. On that day he had also talked with Suresh Rathod.

276.51 On 11.8.2007 he met Suresh Rathod. He had the following talk with Suresh Rathod:

- Tehelka: On the day when the Naroda Patiya incident took place, on that day who helped..... did the Vishwa Hindu Parishad not give any help?
- Suresh: No. ... At that time we did not get any help ... Babubhai had helped us ... and see this is my boy, he is my nephew. ...
- Tehelka: did he not give you any swords?
- Suresh: Nothing ... what sword, he got our sticks collected..... pipes from our house ... took them away ...

and we did not even ... we had also played a role.

- Tehelka: Jee.
- Suresh: We had also acted there.... We had indulged in rioting.....we had done a lot .. if do not have any regrets see.. ...just like there is danger to Babubhai, similarly there is danger to us from the Mohammedans.
- Suresh: Listen to me ... when this incident happened...
- Sajan: If we were not there no one would have been able to enter inside.
- Suresh: Then if we people had not jumped in then the RSS people had come, V.H.P. people, Shiv Sena people ...then they would have finished them ...
- Sajan: they could not have entered ... they could not have entered...
- Suresh: they lost because the Chharas intervened.
- Sajan: If Miyas are afraid, they are afraid of only our caste.
- Suresh: One of our ladies has gone to Mohammedans.
- Tehelka: Hindu?
- Suresh: Hindu, Brother cut her chest ... and she had come totally exposed, so we threw this sack on her
- Tehelka: Sack?
- Suresh: Yes, gunny bag... then we people ... we entered ... our boys ... we could not see her ... thereafter, many Hindus got stuck inside and we helped them.....

now we are spending time in jail. ... now they say that you have spend your entire life in jail

- Sajan: Only our caste is more .. Twenty three of our people are inside for Patiya incident and there are not many others from outside.

276.52 During the course of his conversation with Suresh Richard another person was sitting with him, who was introduced as Sajan.

276.53 The witness has deposed on 11.8.2007, he had a talk with Prakash Rathod and the following conversation took place:

- Tehelka: Mayaben Kodnani is saying that she was at Gandhinagar.
- Prakash: Why, was Mayaben not giving a speech there ... ?
- Suresh: She was no....
- Tehelka: Was she there on the day of Patiya incident?
- Suresh: Yes. ... listen to me, when after the incident, our brother had come Narendra Modi also ... then he said, big brother said Jay Shri Ram Jai Shri Ram ... he himself said so and went through this road in a vehicle ...
- Tehelka: Narendrabhai ...
- Suresh: Then saw the chawls. ... He garlanded us here... said sabaash (bravo) ...he said you should be thanked ...now how could we know that these garlands would turn into handcuffs ... this Narendrabhai ... this Mayaben Kodnani was here for the whole day. ...

- Tehelka : On the day when Patiya incident took place ...
- Suresh: The entire day from morning till around eight o'clock at night.
- Prakash: She had gone away no
- Suresh: No, she had taken a car and was making rounds... ...she kept making rounds ... she would take a round and say do it properly.....took a mob from here ... this mob had come at No.1 .. No.1 amongst all
- Sajan: My paternal uncle's name is also there in Patiya ... Ganpat Chhara.
- Tehelka: And on that day the police were told not to do anything today?
- Suresh Richard: Yes.
- Sajan: All were standing ... no defence ...
- Suresh: No. ... At that time the policemen were in our favour.
- Tehelka: On the day of Patiya incident they were in your favour .. while getting it done?
- Suresh: On that day they were in our favour .. at that time seventy to eighty persons were killed by them through firing ...
- Tehelka: Yes. Policemen?
- Suresh: They killed Mohammedans ... and thereafter on the next day they joined the opposite party against us.
- Sajan : He is also an accused in the Patiya incident ...
- Suresh : That also the Patiya incident ...

276.54 At this time Sajan and Suresh, both of them were pointing a finger at a person who was coming out of the tenement of the opposite side and were giving his introduction in this manner.

- Suresh: His wife passed away ... somebody got him released ... he mortgaged his house and properties and got released ... then his son mortgaged his house and got him released.
- Tehelka: So Narendrabhai also came out on that day in his vehicle ... Narendra Modi ...
- Suresh: He had just come out ... then he went straight towards the Himmatnagar side.
- Tehelka: so he said Jai Shri Ram?
- Suresh: Jai Shri Ram ... garlanded us ... shook hands with my sister and then went away ...
- Tehelka: On the day when the incident was taking place?
- Suresh Richard: When the incident had happened ... on the same day in the evening at 5.30 he had come ... then he made a round like this ... SRP ... first he went till the petrol pump ... baithak .. returned from baithak and went in this manner till SRP Quarters ... thereafter till date he is not to be seen ... we see him on TV and in the newspaper.

276.55 On 12.5.2007, the witness had met Shri Prakash Rathod, Suresh Richard and another person together. Prakash Rathod had given introduction of such other person as Rajesh Kantilal. He first went to Prakash Rathod's house and had a conversation with Prakash Rathod and Rajesh Kantilal.

Thereafter Prakash Rathod took him to Suresh Richard's house and thereafter he (the witness), Suresh Richard and Prakash Rathod had talk together, at that time Suresh Richard's wife was also present there.

276.56. The talk between them was as follows:

- Tehelka: Jaideepbhai told you at night that you are required to make preparations for tomorrow?
- Prakash Rathod: Prakash Rathod shakes his head.
- Tehelka: He did not say so?
- Prakash Rathod: he did not say anything ... we came to know that the Godhra incident had taken place .. Mohammedan people have burnt train Wherein Ramsevaks died many Hindu people died ... we had thought since there is call for bandh, no one should open their shop.
- Tehelka : However, at night you had no idea that such riots would take place ... if they had told you at night, some people could have made their preparations ...
- Prakash Rathod: So they would be engaged in their own preparations no
- Tehelka: So your Chharas fought only with their hands, legs and sticks
- Prakash Rathod:No. Some of them had ... swords ... trishul ...
- Tehelka: You had them at that time
- Prakash Rathod:They were with these Chharas ... this Suresh Richard, whom you met, he has got all the weapons ... except revolvers.. has everything ...
- Tehelka: But was it in such a quantity as could be given to every one?

- Prakash Rathod: No. ... Some make provision for their safety on their own no..... One is Gudda, Gudda.
- Tehelka : Guddu ...
- Prakash Rathod: Presently he is inside ..
- Tehelka: In Patiya?
- Prakash Rathod: Yes, in Patiya ... he was granted bail ... then what had happened he had come on parole and had absconded ... so now he is inside because of that .. he killed a lot of people ... he was very daring ... amongst Mohammedans ... he used to reside in front ... otherwise, that boy was dreaded a lot
- Tehelka: Did you cut two or four Miyas or not?
- Prakash Rathod: our people hands and legs of many people ... we had badly beaten those who were here.
- Tehelka: So you broke hands and legs only?
- Prakash Rathod : We were not going there ...
- Tehelka: Patiya?
- Prakash Rathod: We were not going inside ... all other Chharas had gone inside.. ..we people were here ... whoever would come we would beat them and chase them away ... at night ...
- Tehelka: then where was Bipin Panchal?
- Prakash Rathod: first we were here ... were there ... such riots will not take place ... the crowd started increasing ... then Bipin Panchal came ... his people came with him ... then all his people entered inside ... said Shri Ram, Shri Ram and that brother, they have killed our people, so they have to be taught a lesson ... those people went inside, all of them .. then we again came here ... when everything started burning ... from here these people ... the miyas...

- Tehelka : the miyas ...
- Prakash Rathod: then we beat them and chased them ... we threw one or two of them inside.
- Tehelka: amongst Chharas Suresh Richard fought strongly?
- Prakash Rathod : Very strongly ...
- Tehelka: Who else fought strongly?
- Prakash Rathod : One Suresh Richard, one Guddu, one Naresh Chhara ... meaning that those people did not get tired ...
- Tehelka: You need guts for this kind of work..
- Prakash Rathod : What enmity did these people want to take out ... Miyas (dirty abuse) are traitors from the very beginning ... Miyas must also have betrayed them in the same manner ... so then they (inaudible) ... in the tussle he, Richard has kept a Mohammedan's daughter
- Tehelka: He was talking about it yesterday.
- Prakash Rathod: What exploits of Richard had taken place! ... first he fell in love with the sister of this girl .. he slept with her and ate and drank with her ... then she told him to marry her... he said yes, I will marry you tomorrow.... At night he eloped with her. ...
- Tehelka: Did the Miyas raise a hue and cry?
- Prakash Rathod: All Miyas are afraid of him.
- Tehelka: they are afraid?

- Prakash Rathod : All Miyas ... nobody can say anything ... Some of them even give two hoots about policemen (dirty words)...no one goes near him ordinarily.. .. if he was not crippled in his leg, then he alone would have got the entire chawl evicted...

276.57 Thereafter, on that day Prakash Rathod took him to Suresh Richard's house. There he had talked with both Suresh Richard as well as Prakash Rathod, but mainly he had talked with Suresh Richard which was as follows:

- Suresh Richard: We came after burning everything ... then the police called us ... then 20 – 25 boys (not understandable) who could drop two to five ... said Mohammedans are hiding in the chawls ... now when we went, the houses were burning fully and now some seven eight were hiding in the gutter ... we shut the lid. ... If we went in then there was danger to us also ... the gutters are big ones .. we put the lid on them and placed bricks on them ... very big bricks ... thereafter, eight to ten dead persons were taken out from the gutter.... they had hidden there to escape, but we closed it from the top, so would not they die because of the gas?
- Tehelka: They would die because of the gas.
- Suresh Richard: Then the corpses were taken out from the gutter.
- Tehelka: This was an incident of the evening....
- Suresh Richard: This was the incident of the evening.
- Tehelka : That means that after the disturbances throughout had come to end, after that ...

- Suresh Richard :the disturbances took place throughout the night till 8:30 ...
- Tehelka: So you people went inside for second round ...
- Suresh Richard :We were inside only ... thereafter in the evening the atmosphere calmed down ... inside how many ... a person would get tired also ... pelting stones, beating with pipes, with knives, doing all that ... but the manner in which we came out only a person with a very strong heart could come out.

276.58 Further conversation with him was as follows:

- Suresh Richard: Mayaben was roaming around the whole day in a jeep and a car.
- Tehelka: On the day of Patiya incident?
- Suresh Richard: Jai Shri Ram. Jai Shri Ram ... She had tied a saffron band .. Have some tea?
- Tehelka: I drink it slightly cold.
- Suresh Richard: She kept saying Jai Shri Ram, Jai Shri Ram.... Kept on shouting slogans.. said do do, we are sitting ... said we are sitting ... she was wearing white sari and had tied a saffron band .. we had also tied saffron ...
- Suresh Richard: Now cylinders were bursting ... they were putting these gas cylinders ... now they were bursting and nobody had courage.... there were pigs sleeping under the truck ... we killed a pig ... we put a spear in the pig which was sleeping ... then we did not even get up, we were tired and weary.... four or five other Chharas together with us... we tied the pig on the masjid and opened a saffron flag and hoisted the flag. ...

- Tehelka : On the day when Patiya incident took place ...
- Suresh Richard: During Patiya incident .. the tents which were tied on the masjid, we broke their bamboos and we broke minars and put the flag ... this was a blot on them ...
- Tehelka: To Muslims ... ?
- Suresh Richard: Yes. .. told (not comprehensible)
- Tehelka: There cannot be any bigger task of Hindutva than this.
- Suresh Richard: the pig was tied with such a bang ... go from this side and go from that side also ... both parties ... even then we eight to ten youth fought and climbed
- Prakash Rathod: We burst many cylinders, but the masjid was not shaken much.
- Tehelka : That means that construction of the masjid was so strong that even after bursting cylinders it was not ...
- Suresh Richard: What to talk about the cylinders..... entire tanker ... one brother had brought the tanker from Thakkarnagar Cross Road by killing a Mohammedan then reversed it and broke it with the tanker .. it was a kerosene petrol tanker .. the tanker broke the entire road ... take out old newspapers ...the tanker was thrust into the masjid ... like one sprays water ... the Fire Brigade people .. in the same manner petrol was sprinkled and chawls were burnt.
- Tehelka: Burnt again.....
- Suresh Richard: Chawls were burnt again ... old newspapers which you ... Jaideepbhai must be having old newspapers.

- Tehelka : No, he must not have kept them ...
- Suresh Richard: must be having.
- Prakash Rathod: Babubhai must be having with him.
- Tehelka: Babubhai must be having with him.
- Suresh Richard: All old newspapers which otherwise you can get them from the press
- Tehelka : Anyway, whatever happened ... who brought the tanker ...
- Suresh Richard: One brother had come with the tanker.... he was our brother.
- Tehelka: he was of the Vishwa Hindu Parishad?
- Suresh Richard: No.. he was a Hindu brother ... he killed four Muslims at Thakkarnagar Cross Roads and brought them ... they took the tanker, thereafter Chharas helped ... Arre we came ... thereafter it was put in reverse and the wall of the masjid was broken and thereafter like one sprinkles water, in this manner it was sprinkled ... so some who had gone inside they were also finished....

276.59 In the same manner, on that day there was further conversation as follows:

- Suresh Richard : Our brother is very big ... his designation is very big ...
- Tehelka: See, I am bringing ... I will make a phone call at this time I am bringing ... if he comes do not say anything ... you say your own thing, speak comfortably.
- Prakash Rathod: Don't want anything, neither money nor food and drinks.

- Tehelka: You know they were saying one thing to me ... said Chharas committed rape there...
- Suresh Richard: Now see, there is one thing ... Piyushbhai if the hungry enter then they will eat one fruit or the other no? Tehelka: He will eat ...
- Suresh Richard: Now thousands of hungry have entered and if some fruit is found then the poor man will eat the fruit. ...
- Tehelka: Two or four people must have done it.
- Suresh Richard :Not all of them like 2000, 3500, 1000, like the Chharas entered ... if some intoxicated person is there, if there is a hungry person, then if fruit is lying there, he will eat it ... in any case the fruit is to be trampled and thrown away ...
- Tehelka : In any case she was to die ...
- Suresh Richard: They were even otherwise burning her, killing, then someone might have eaten the fruit ... it is not as if we are lying ... Mataji is sitting in front....

276.60 At this time Suresh Richard gestured to Mataji's photographs.

- Tehelka: Two or four rapes must have taken place ...
- Suresh Richard: More may have taken place ... on the next day our brother was also there no, Hindu brother, VHP people also RSS people also.
- Tehelka: In any case, Muslim girls are very nice.
- Suresh Richard :So anybody would eat ... who will not eat the fruit ...

- Tehelka: he was roaming around with a Muslim girl earlier, but now he cannot do so.
- Suresh Richard: the number of them that you cut, is still less. ... I have lot of resentment against them.... I would not spare them....
- Tehelka: I say, if they have not been raped they should be raped.
- Suresh Richard: (?) we were saying ... my wife was sitting, in what manner we ... the fruit was lying so anyone could eat it.
- Tehelka: that fruits is very tasty no?
- Suresh Richard: above these tin sheets.. of the tin sheets.... I too did at that time... I too ate.... I ate once...
- Tehelka: You raped only once.....
- Suresh Richard :That only ... then the chance to kill would be lost no....

276.61 At this time Suresh Richard and Prakash Rathod talked of another girl who was raped and thereafter killed.

- Suresh Richard: Some scrap dealer's daughter Naseemo ... was plump and full bodied.... on her ...
- Tehelka: you climbed on her....
- Suresh Richard: yes... legally...
- Tehelka: she did not escape no....
- Suresh Richard: no thereafter made chhunda of her (crushed her..... made a chhunda pickle of her... threw her from the tin sheets above, then with the bricks of the entire wall and the gutter lids ripped and tore her and kept her in such a manner....

276.62 Further conversation was like this.

- Suresh Richard: After today brother, if you have child ... and I put it in the fire and you see it, then your soul will burn ... then those who escaped would say that this is same langda ... he put my child in the fire ... you may be hiding anywhere ... anywhere like on the tree, you may be hiding or you may have fled into a house or you had put tilak ... majority of Mohammedans escaped like that should I show (not comprehensible)
- Tehelka : To be Hindus ...
- Suresh Richard: Then you see Hindu mobs, Jai Shri Ram then we are behind you no Piyushbhai, there is an outsider, then brother is a person from there.... We have killed those people.... if there is someone from RSS or Bajrang Dal, you ask them that the Chharas were identifying each one and killing them can we put the blood which has fallen on them....

[There is no paragraph 58]

276.63 Whenever he met all these people he had a spy camera with him and he used to record the entire conversation. As narrated by him, one camera used to be in his button and the other camera was in his diary. The spy camera had an inbuilt microphone. The files which were recorded were audio video files. The microchip was kept in the spy camera at the time of recording. The microchip was of the type which could be taken out. At the time when he carried out the entire recording, the microchip was in the camera. He used to transfer the footage recorded by him into the laptop and in this manner, he used to transfer the entire footage recorded in the microchip into the laptop. Thereafter, he used to delete the recorded footage from his microchip and thereafter he used to use the microchip again on the next day for the purpose of recording.

276.64 The original recording which he used to take down from the microchip into his laptop was thereafter saved in his laptop, whereby the original footage remained in his laptop and the microchip was available for other recording. The recording which he had saved was saved by him in a hard disc and after the sting operation was over in September, the entire recording together with the spy camera, laptop, etc. was returned by him to the Tehelka office.

276.65 From the recording which he had saved in the hard disc by his laptop, as many CDs as desired can be prepared. The witness has stated that he can identify the spy camera and the laptop, which he had used for the purpose of the sting operation.

276.66 The witness has deposed that subsequently, he came to know that all the instruments deposited by him had been seized by the CBI from Tehelka. He had heard that thereafter, the same were returned to Tehelka.

276.67 Thereafter, he was required to depose in the Gulbarg case, which was registered with the Meghaninagar Police Station, for which purpose, he had obtained everything from Tehelka and had produced the same before the court during the course of the Gulbarg trial.

276.69 The witness is shown a sealed cover, which is a green coloured big size cover, which is sealed with lac and stapled, which is opened in the court and the muddamal, which is taken out is shown to the witness. The witness has identified a black coloured diary with India Today written on it which is a 2007 diary. The witness has stated that one camera was in this diary. The witness has stated that there is a hole in the middle of the pages of the diary and there is a small hole on the outer side of the diary, which is about the size of the head of a pin and on the inner side of the diary, the lens of the camera had been fitted. The witness has stated that the lens is still fitted there. The pages have been cut from the middle in such a manner that a tape recorder can be placed inside.

276.70 The plug with the camera which is with a wire, used to be inserted in the digital camera. The witness has stated that he used to keep the recorder in the diary and upon putting on the switch, the video recording would commence. During the course of the sting operation, at every stage, he used to keep the diary with himself. The number of the camera which was hidden in the diary is 050105148 and the last letter reads like – 3.

276.71 The witness is thereafter shown the spy camera button instrument, which is in a black coloured box. Upon opening the black box, a button camera is taken out, which bears the number 0701037286. The witness has deposed that at the time of the sting operation, he used to use the button camera as a button in his shirt and on the inner side of his shirt, he had kept the wire for recording and had connected it with the recorder which was kept in his pant and used to switch it on due to which the video shooting would be done from the camera.

276.72 The witness is shown a green coloured cover with a lac seal, which is opened in the court and he is shown the muddamal, which is taken out from it. The witness is shown a charger with an adopter, which he has stated is the charger of the recorder.

276.73 A black box taken out from the same carton is shown to the witness. Upon opening the box and looking, there is a 2 GB Toshiba microchip, one earphone, one battery, one recorder which is a tape recorder upon opening the part meant for placing the battery the number 0601081397 is found to be written thereon, and there is a remote of the recorder which has PB-500 written on it. After seeing all these, the witness has stated that he had used all these for the purpose of the sting operation.

276.74 The witness is thereafter shown a sealed khakhi cover and the seal is opened in the court. The witness is shown a Hitachi company hard disc drive which is taken out from the khakhi cover, which is of 40.01 GB and model No.- H.T.S. 428040 F.9-A.T.O.O. written on it. After seeing it, the witness has stated that this is the hard disc of the laptop, which he used for the sting operation.

276.75 The witness is thereafter shown a long khakhi cover, which is shaped like a book and which is sealed. After opening the seal, two DVDs are taken out and shown to him, which have Gulbarg written on them. The witness has deposed that he received this CD from Tehelka for producing it before the court.

276.76 The witness has deposed that prior to the sting operation being concluded, he had met three of the accused of the Gulbarg case and he had recorded the conversation with them. Both these DVDs relate to the Gulbarg case.

276.77 The witness has further deposed that if the three persons whose sting operation is carried out, namely, Babu Bajrangji, Suresh Richard and Prakash Rathod are present in the court he can identify them. While standing in the witness-box itself, the witness has identified Babu Bajrangji, Prakash Rathod as well as Suresh Richard.

276.78 The witness has deposed that in the context of the investigation of this case, his statement has been recorded twice on 19.1.2009 and 12.3.2009.

276.79 CROSS EXAMINATION: In the cross-examination of this witness, he has stated that Shri Tarun Tejpal was the Editor-in-Chief of Tehelka. He has admitted that he (Tarun Tejpal) was the owner of Tehelka Magazine. Kumari Harvind Baweja alias Shammi, daughter of G.S. Baweja was serving in Tehelka at that time. She was holding the post of Editor (Investigation). He has admitted that at that time, he was working under her.

276.80 Tehelka Magazine was started in the year 2004. He has stated that she (Harvind Baweja) was not giving him any other instructions regarding the work that he was required to do, however, he used to remain in touch with her in connection with his work. He has stated that he had obtained orders from Baweja Madam as well as Shri Tarun Tejpal for the purpose of carrying out the sting. He has stated that he had worked for Tehelka from 2004 June to 2005 June. He had joined Aaj Tak from 1st October, 2007. The Director of Aaj Tak News was Shri Q. W. Naqvi. He has stated that he has no personal information about the transaction between Tehelka and Aaj Tak regarding the rights in connection with the sting operation.

276.81 In his cross-examination, it has come out that the muddamal shown to him was given to him in the Tehelka office under the instructions of Shri Tarun Tejpal. He does not remember as to whether any specific person had given it to him. He has no personal information as to whether Tehelka had recorded anything about the muddamal having been given to him, but has stated that they must be keeping some record in the office. It has further come out that upon the sting operation being concluded he had handed over all the muddamal to Baweja Madam. He does not specifically remember, but says that probably when he handed the muddamal to her, he had not obtained any receipt. He has admitted that when he handed over the muddamal to Baweja Madam, he had not noted down the number written on it anywhere. He has stated that he does not know as to whether the C.B.I. people had obtained the muddamal in the context of Operation Kalank. The C.B.I. had not recorded his statement in connection with the muddamal. The witness has voluntarily stated that the C.B.I. has recorded his statement in connection with the sting operation and that they had also recorded his statement in connection with the muddamal used during the sting operation, wherein he had described the muddamal which he had used during the sting operation. He has stated that the laptop which he has used for the purpose of the sting operation is not part of the muddamal but the hard disc is.

276.82 The witness has denied that apart from the muddamal, which is shown to him, the transcript of the sting prepared by him was also given to the C.B.I. He has stated that he had sent the transcript to Baweja Madam by e-mail and the rest of the muddamal had been personally handed over to Baweja Madam. As and when the transcript was ready, he used to send it to her.

276.83 The witness is shown the muddamal diary, which he has stated that he had taken from Tehelka. He has denied that he had not obtained this diary from Tehelka. He has denied that he had obtained this diary from India Today. He has denied that the India Today diary has not been given to him from Tehelka and that he has colluded with India Today and had obtained the diary from them. The witness has stated that he wants to say that the India Today people sell such diaries every year in the open market and such diaries are available even today. He has admitted that the other muddamal was also being sold in the market; however, the same had been

276.84 He had carried out the sting operation from the second week of May, 2007 to the second week of September, 2007. He has stated that he has not calculated the number of hours he had done the sting recording, but has stated that it must be of around 35 to 50 hours and could even be more. He has stated that all the video recording had been done by him in that many hours. The witness has stated that the SIT has recorded his statement in the context of the sting operation on several occasions but in this case his statement was recorded twice. He has admitted that in these two statements he had stated all the facts that he knew.

276.85 In his cross-examination, it has come out that he has not done any reporter's course and that he has not done any course in photography. He has also not done any course in sting operations. He has admitted that when he was appointed by Tehelka, there were many rules of code of conduct which were required to be abided by. However, the main code of conduct was that every task to be performed by him should be in public interest and except that he should not have any other agenda. The entire code of conduct is there in his appointment letter. The witness has stated that he has no objection in producing the appointment letter issued by Tehelka to him before the court.

276.86 The witness has admitted that as per the code of conduct, they are required to report the truth. The witness has voluntarily stated that they are required to present only that truth which is necessary in public interest and for justice.

Moreover, it is his personal belief that as a reporter, he has his personal code of conduct whereby he should present only the truth.

276.87 The witness has stated that the fact that the entire recording has been carried is true. He has stated that he has honestly recorded what has been stated by the accused in the sting operation and that he has done it to the best of his ability. He has further stated as per his duty, he is not required to investigate as to whether what has been stated by the accused in the sting is correct, but whatever is stated by them has been recorded by him.

276.88 The witness has admitted that he has carried out the entire sting operation under the name of Piyush Agarwal and that this Piyush Agarwal is an imaginary character. He has admitted that at the relevant time, he was not a student of Delhi University. The witness has voluntarily stated that, at present, he is a student in the Law Branch of Delhi University. He has admitted that, in fact, he had not obtained any card from Delhi University at that time. He has admitted that during the sting operation he had prepared a forged card of Delhi University, however, for that purpose he had not obtained anything from the Delhi University. He has stated that he had obtained the monogram of Delhi University from the website. At present, he does not have the card. He has stated that if he finds the card he will produce it. He has admitted that through this card, he has created a false identity of Piyush Agarwal. He has denied that he had obtained the confidence of all the people while carrying out the sting operation on the basis of this card. He has stated that a majority of the people had not asked for this card and whoever had asked for it, he had shown them the card.

276.89 The witness has denied that on whomever he had carried out the sting operation, he had given a false introduction of Anandji. He has stated that only in the case of Babu Bajrangi and three accused in Gulbarg case, he was required to give such introduction of Anandji.

276.90 The witness has admitted that Shri Amrut Tejpal, who is the paternal uncle of Tarun Tejpal, had played the role of Anandji. Shri Tarun Tejpal and Shri Amrut Tejpal had decided that Shri Amrut Tejpal would play the role of Anandji and thus Amrut Tejpal had become Anandji and had come with him to Ahmedabad to meet the accused in the Gulbarg case. He has admitted that the expenses for bringing Shri Amrut Tejpal and for his stay, had been borne by Tehelka. He has stated that he has no personal information that there is actually an R.S.S. pracharak in Delhi by the name of Anandji.

276.91 He has admitted that when he went to Gujarat, he had assumed the name of Piyush Agarwal in the hotel there. The witness has voluntarily stated that at some places, he had also made the entry in the hotel register in the name of Ashish Khetan. He has admitted that when he used to come from Delhi to Gujarat, he used to use the mobile phone. He has stated that he had a sim card in his own name; however, for the purpose of sting operation, he used to use the mobile phone which was given to him by Tehelka. He has stated that this sim card was given to him by Tehelka, but does not know in whose name it was. The witness has stated that he is not aware as to whether or not the C.B.I. has made any inquiry from him in connection with such sim card.

276.92 The witness has stated that as far as he remembers, he had met Niraj Jain only once. The witness has denied the suggestion that when he went to meet Shri Niraj Jain, he had made a card of Shri Sudarshanji and that he had shown such card to Shri Niraj Jain. The witness has stated that he does not know Shri Sudarshanji. However, as a reporter he is aware that Shri Sudarshanji is a Senior Worker of R.S.S.

276.93 The witness has denied that he had shown Sudarshanji's card or recommendation letter at the time of the sting operation. He has stated that his meeting with Shri Niraj Jain had also been recorded in his spy camera and that he had carried out the recording with this very same camera, which he has shown as a muddamal article, and has voluntarily stated that this was the starting point of the sting operation.

276.94 The witness has stated that he had taken the number of Shri Dhimant Bhatt from Shri Niraj Jain. He has stated that he may have taken more than one telephone numbers from Shri Niraj Jain. He has admitted that he has stated about his talk with Shri Niraj Jain and Shri Dhimant Bhatt to the SIT.

276.95 The witness has admitted that the SIT had read over the statements recorded by them. He has stated that it is possible that the SIT may not have recorded everything stated by him. They might not have found such facts of much importance. The witness has voluntarily stated that he has observed that every Investigating Officer is anxious for information necessary for his investigation and, therefore, they may not have found some part of what he stated to be necessary. The witness has denied that he has cut or deleted that part of the sting operation which he did not find necessary. The witness is further cross-examined with regard to Shri Niraj Jain and his occupation etc.

276.96 The contents of paragraph 9 of his examination-in-chief are read over to the witness and he has stated that he does not know whether he has verbatim stated such facts before the SIT. The witness has voluntarily stated that the SIT was constituted pursuant to the orders of the Supreme Court and at that time he was called in the presence of all the members of the SIT. At that time, he had handed over all the literature which he had obtained to all the members of the SIT, wherein there was literature regarding Dhimant Bhatt and Shri Niraj Jain also, and hence, he has reason to believe that he has stated facts regarding both of them to the SIT and that the SIT is aware of such facts.

276.97 The witness has denied that before the SIT he had not stated that Shri Damleji was a Senior Worker of R.S.S. The witness has denied that he has not stated the facts stated by him in paragraph 18 of his examination-in-chief wherein he has stated that Haresh Bhatt had a fire cracker factory, wherein he had made weapons which were distributed for the purpose of communal riots to the rioters, before the SIT. The witness has voluntarily stated that in his statement he had stated that Haresh Bhatt had made bombs and distributed them which are included in the word weapon. He has stated that the SIT has also recorded his detailed statement in a case against Shri Haresh Bhatt. The witness has stated that he does not remember as to whether the facts stated by him in paragraph 20 of his examination-in-chief have been stated by him before the SIT, but has stated that he has informed the SIT about all those facts. The witness has voluntarily stated that in Zakia Jafri's case, the SIT has recorded his detailed statement in the context of the Chief Minister's meeting as well as administration of the State, wherein he has stated all those facts. The witness has stated that he does not remember whether on 31.5.2007 he has gone to Godhra with Shri Haresh Bhatt. The attention of the witness is drawn to the contents of his statement recorded by the SIT in this regard. In the opinion of this court, a statement recorded under section 161 of the Code can be used only to contradict something asserted by a witness in his primary statement, and cannot be brought on record through the process of cross-examination. Therefore, the contents of paragraph 110 of the deposition of this witness are not admissible in evidence.

276.98 The witness has denied that what is stated by him in paragraph 22 of his examination-in-chief, namely, that Shri Rajendra Vyas had told him that he was travelling in the train which had stopped at Godhra on the day of the Godhra incident, have not been stated by him in his statement recorded by the SIT. The witness has voluntarily stated that Shri Rajendra Vyas had told these facts to him and that he had informed the SIT about of all these facts. However, as stated by him, the Investigating Officer was only interested in facts necessary for his own case and was not interested in other facts. He has stated that in Zakia Jafri's case also the SIT had recorded his detailed statement regarding his talk with Shri Rajendra Vyas. Certain extracts of the statement of this witness recorded by the SIT are put to the witness, however, since the same are not used for the purpose of contradicting any part of the evidence of the witness, the same are not admissible in evidence and the trial court ought not to have permitted such statements to be brought on record.

276.99 The witness is read over the contents of paragraph 24 of his examination-in-chief, wherein there is reference to his meeting Jayantibhai Patel and his stating facts regarding the role to him. The witness has stated that he does not remember whether he has verbatim stated such facts in his statement, but has stated that SIT has recorded several statements of his and that all the facts stated by him in his examination in chief find place in different statements recorded by the SIT.

276.100 The witness has admitted that on the day when he met Shri Babu Bajrangi, he was not a research scholar on the subject of Hindutva. The witness has voluntarily stated that, however, on that day he certainly was a reporter. The witness has denied that on 14.6.2007, when he met Shri Babu Bajrangi, he had not given reference of any person to Babu Bajrangi. The witness has stated that, in fact, when he made a phone call to him for the first time, at that time, he had started a conversation with reference to all the people, due to which, he had called him to meet him at his office. The witness has stated that that the transcripts produced by him with the list Exhibit-2266 are in the same words and in the same manner and in the same format and in the same language. He has also produced such transcripts before the Tehelka. The witness has admitted that he has not prepared any transcript in Hindi language but has written down the dialogue in the transcript in the English alphabet. His conversations with all of them had been in Hindi, and though the script is in English alphabet, the text is in Hindi, namely, that the conversation is in Hindi.

276.101 The witness has admitted that the transcript produced by him in the court with the list Exhibit-2266 has been given in the same manner to Aaj Tak and Tehelka.

276.102 The attention of the witness is drawn to the facts in the nature of conversation recorded in paragraphs 30 to 58 of his examination-in-chief. He has denied that what is dictated by him as the text of his conversation with the three accused in his examination-in-chief, has not been stated by him in the statement recorded by the SIT. The witness has stated that, in fact, he has stated only the exact text of the main facts of his conversation with the three accused in his deposition before the court. He has given the CD of the entire conversation to the SIT, and over and above that, extracts of the conversation in the sting operation have been stated in his statement also. The witness has voluntarily stated that at the time of recording his second statement, they had opened this CD and seen it in his presence.

276.103 The witness has stated that the CD which he had brought, he brought from Tehelka. He has stated that he had seen the Aaj Tak video. The Tehelka CD is the one which he had given to Tehelka. He has denied that the CD and transcript given by him to Tehelka were of a programme that was anchored by Shri Dipak Chaurasiya and Shri Dipak Sharma.

The witness has voluntarily stated that the transcript of the Aaj Tak programme and CD are different from the CD which he had shot and the transcript.

276.104 The witness has denied that the Aaj Tak people had changed the transcript recorded by him. The witness has voluntarily stated that they cannot do that. However, they can take only that portion of the transcript which they choose. The witness has stated that when the programme is shown in Aaj Tak, at that time together with the transcript, extracts of the video shot by him can also be shown, due to that also they cannot make any change in the transcript.

276.105 Certain parts of his statement dated 19.1.2009 are put to the witness in paragraphs 122, 123 and 124 of his deposition, wherein he has stated facts regarding Babu Bajrangi's visit to Delhi and the preparations made by them in this regard, the manner in which he carried out the recording and his depositing the CDs and the camera etc. with Tehelka and other things stated in his statement which the witness has admitted. In this regard it may be noted that the statement of this witness recorded by the SIT is a statement under section 161 of the Code and in view of the provisions of section 162 of the Code, such statement can be used only for the purpose of contradicting a witness. However, insofar as the contents of the statement of this witness, to which his attention has been drawn in the above referred paragraphs, are concerned, they have not been put to him to contradict any part of his evidence. In these circumstances, what was stated in the statement of this witness could not have been brought on record in this manner, and hence, is not admissible in

276.106 The witness has denied that till that date, he did not have any transcript and that he actually has not produced any transcript before the SIT. The witness has voluntarily stated that he had given the entire transcript to the SIT in the form of a CD, but he has certainly given it.

276.107 Certain parts of his statement dated 12.3.2009 are put to the witness in paragraph 126 of his deposition, and he has admitted having stated so. It may be noted that the part of his statement which is put to the witness is not with a view to contradict any part of his evidence, but appears to have been put to him to bring certain facts stated by him before the SIT on record. As discussed earlier, a statement under section 161 of the Code cannot be used for any purpose other than for contradiction such witness in the manner provided under section 145 of the Evidence Act. Therefore, that part of his statement which is brought on record through the cross-examination of this witness is not admissible in evidence.

276.108 The witness has denied that he was required to make a sensational story for Tehelka. The witness has voluntarily stated that they never use the word sensational. He has admitted that certain extracts of this recording has also been printed in the Tehelka Magazine. He has admitted that he has not personally gone to all the places which are mentioned in the sting operation. The witness has voluntarily stated that he has not gone to the scene of offence and has only gone to Chharanagar. The witness has admitted that India Today and Aaj Tak are sister concerns and has stated that he is saying so on the basis of his general knowledge and that he has no personal information in this regard.

276.109 The witness is questioned as to why ordinarily there are dots in any transcript and he has stated that he does not know. He can only reply in connection with the transcript prepared by him.

276.110 The witness has admitted that in a CD of this type of recording, the opening and closing time can be seen on the screen. He has stated that he cannot say as to whether such time is adjustable in the camera because he is not a technical person and has only operated the camera and the recorder and has not adjusted any timing.

276.111 The witness has denied that if he found that some part of the recording was irrelevant, he had deleted the same. He has denied that he had found the conversation regarding the communal incidents in the entire Gujarat to be irrelevant, and hence, he had deleted the same. He has denied that if anything useless had been spoken by those persons whom he had recorded and he had found it to be useless, he used to delete it.

276.112 He has denied that a meeting was held at Tehelka and it was decided that the unnecessary part of the recording should be deleted. The witness has voluntarily stated that there is no change, amendment, addition or tampering with the recording. He has stated that even as on date, the recording of the entire meeting has been preserved in the Tehelka office.

276.113 The witness has denied that he had offered inducement to Babu Bajrangi that he would be made the President of the Vishwa Hindu Parishad, Gujarat unit, and that Shri Pravin Togadia would be removed from this post and he (Babu Bajrangi) would be made the President. He has denied that during the course of conversation with Babu Bajrangi, he had given him inducement of making a picture. The witness has voluntarily stated that whenever he met him (Babu Bajrangi), from the time he met him and from the moment he entered the place of the meeting, till the time they separated, he used to carry out the recording, and hence, the question of giving any inducement is out of place.

276.114 The witness has denied that for the purpose of giving such inducement to Shri Babu Bajrangi, he, Shri Tarun Tejpal and Shri Arun Puri of Aaj Tak had convened a meeting and after the meeting he was sent to Ahmedabad and by lying to Babu Bajrangi, he had given him an invitation to come to Delhi and had also given him a return ticket to travel by air and, therefore, he had also gone to the airport to receive Babu Bajrangi, and that he had got Babu Bajrangi to speak untruths and by lying, he had recorded the conversation. He has denied that he had carried out a false sting operation by lying to all the accused.

276.115 The witness has denied that he had gone to the house of the other accused and had also lied to them and that he had got them to speak facts which had not happened and had recorded the same. The witness has denied that he has got Babu Bajrangi to speak about what has not actually happened and recorded it. The witness has admitted that the recording of several meetings was done both by the diary camera as well as the button camera. The witness has voluntarily stated that at the time when there was difficulty in charging the battery, etc., recording was done by only one camera, namely, that in every case recording has not been done by both. He has denied that in certain cases, he had clubbed the recording from one camera with certain talks recorded in the other camera.

276.116 The witness has stated that the battery of both the cameras would run for about one hour and would thereafter be required to be charged. He has admitted that when the battery of one camera gets discharged he has to use the other camera. He has denied that in such circumstances, he is required to club the conversation in one microchip with the conversation recorded in the other microchip. The witness has voluntarily stated that whichever camera he may use, however, the meeting remains the same and hence, he does not accept that there used to be clubbing. The witness has further stated that in the transcript itself he has written as to whether the recording was from the button camera or from the diary camera. He has stated that when the battery of one camera was drained out, he would use the other camera, which is clear from his transcript which he has produced in the court.

276.117 The witness has denied that he, together with the Tehelka people and the Aaj Tak people, has, to lower the esteem of the Gujarat Government as well as the Gujarat police, made the sting operation by connecting false facts.

276.118 Certain parts of his statement dated 19.1.2009 recorded by the SIT are put to the witness regarding his having stayed at different hotels under the name of Piyush Agrawal and having stayed in one hotel under his real name Ashish Khetan, which he has admitted. Once again since this part of his statement under section 161 of the Code has not been used to contradict any part of his evidence, it could not have been brought on record and, is therefore, not admissible in evidence.

276.119 The witness has admitted that he has not produced his hotel bills before the SIT and has voluntarily stated that they have never asked for it; not only that, they had stated that it is not necessary. The witness has denied that whenever he had come, he had stayed with the opponents of the Gujarat Government. The witness has stated that he has called for the appointment letter, which he was required to produce and has produced the same. The same is exhibited as Exhibit-2273.

276.120 The witness has denied that he can close both the cameras whenever he desires and that he can start them from outside. The witness has stated that since the switch of the recorder in the case of the diary camera is also inside the diary, it is not possible. However, in the case of the button camera, he can put his hand in his pocket and can switch the recorder on and off. The witness has stated that ordinarily when he took an interview of a person, it was only after they parted that he would switch off the recorder. The witness has stated that the interview was a part of his reporting and that he had made the same in public interest.

276.121 A question is put to the witness that since the sting operation was for professional purposes, therefore, it was carried out professionally. In response thereto, he has stated that he is neither a videographer nor a recorder by profession, and that he has done this work as a reporter, that much is certain. The witness has admitted that the persons on whom he had carried out the sting operation in the year 2007 were all unknown to him and he was unknown to them. The witness has voluntarily stated that in his entire life when he came, this was only his second visit to Gujarat. He has admitted that whomever he had met for the sting operation, he had talked about Hindutva with them. The witness has voluntarily stated that he had told that he too had faith in the principles of Vishwa Hindu Parishad and that his thoughts were also the same.

276.122 The witness has admitted that he had also told them that he had faith in the thinking of RSS, which was not true. The witness has voluntarily stated that he is a reporter, and hence, he cannot be a person having a particular belief.

276.123 The witness has denied that to the persons with whom he talked during the sting operation, during the course of conversation with such persons, he had projected himself as being anti-Muslim, which he had done to gain their confidence. The witness has voluntarily stated that he has not expressed any such sentiments, however, from his conduct, he had expressed that he too had sympathy for whatever they had done during the communal riots of the year 2002.

276.124 He has further stated that whenever he has gone to talk to any person, such person was in his own atmosphere (domain) and his companions would be with him and that when he (the witness) had gone alone with risk to his life, he was under constant fear that they should not have any kind of suspicion against him and hence, his main concentration was on seeing that they do not doubt him.

276.125 The witness has admitted that to gain the confidence of the persons on whom he had conducted the sting operation, he had also stated certain incorrect facts to them, all of which he has stated in his examination-in-chief. The witness has stated that he has not conducted a sting operation of any victim of the communal riots.

276.126 The witness has admitted that he had informed that he was doing research on a thesis on Hinduism. Shri Tarun Tejpal and Baweja Madam knew that while he was carrying out the sting operation, he was presenting himself as a thesis scholar. The witness has voluntarily stated that they did not know the detailed facts about the action taken by him, namely, that they did not know whom he is meeting and on which person he is conducting the sting.

276.127 The witness has stated that at the time of the interview, he did not keep with him any written questions and has voluntarily stated that the conversation was very natural and spontaneous and the conversation was not on the basis of any specific written questions.

276.128 The witness has denied that all the speakers in the sting operation had spoken in Gujarati. The witness has voluntarily stated that every person who gave an interview was aware that he was a Hindi speaking person, and hence, they were talking with him only in Hindi. However, they might have spoken certain words in Gujarati.

276.129 The witness has denied that none of those who had given the interview, knew Hindi and that they had not spoken to him in Hindi. The witness has denied that he had given a script to all the speakers about what they are required to speak, and thereafter, he had obtained replies in terms of the script and had recorded the same.

276.130 In his cross-examination, it has further come out that he did not prepare the CDs and send them to Tehelka on a day-to-day basis, however, every few days, out of fear that there might be some technical defect in his laptop; he used to prepare a CD and send it to Tehelka by courier. He has denied that he had not sent the transcript to Tehelka from time to time by e-mail. The witness has voluntarily stated that even today, he has the e-mail with him.

276.131 PW-327 Shri V.V. Chaudhary, the Investigating Officer (SIT) has in his cross-examination admitted that he has recorded the statements of this witness on 19.1.2009 and 12.3.2009. The Investigating Officer has admitted that he has recorded whatever facts were stated by the witness before him. He has admitted that the witness had not stated before him that Niraj Jain to whom reference is made in the statement was at the relevant time an office bearer of the District Unit of the Bharatiya Janta Party. He, however, had stated before him that he had met Niraj Jain. The Investigating Officer has admitted that the witness has not stated before him that he had met Shri Niraj Jain at the BJP office at Baroda.

276.132 The contents of paragraph 9 of the examination-in-chief of the witness are read over to the Investigating Officer, who has stated that the witness had stated before him that the subject of the riots of 2002 came up and there was a conversation in that regard. The other facts have not been stated before him.

276.133 The Investigating Officer has admitted that this witness has not stated before him that Damleji was a Senior Worker of RSS. He, however, has clarified that the witness had stated before him that he had met Damleji.

276.134 The Investigating Officer has admitted that the witness has not mentioned the word "weapons" as stated in paragraph 18 of his examination-in-chief and that he had mentioned the word, "bomb". The contents of paragraphs 19 and 20 of the examination-in-chief of the witness are read over to the Investigating Officer, who has admitted that such facts have not been stated by the witness before him. He has stated that the witness has stated before him that his contact with Haresh Bhatt continued on the phone and that he too had given reference of the persons named in the statement. That the remaining facts stated in paragraph 19 are not there in his statement.

276.135 The Investigating Officer has admitted that the witness has stated the facts stated in paragraph 20 of his deposition. The Investigating Officer has further admitted that the witness in his statement dated 19.1.2009 had stated that thereafter on 31.5.2007 in the morning time, he had met Shri Haresh Bhatt and he was talking about many things and had informed him that on the next day, he was going to Godhra and that if he wants to come he can also come along. Therefore, he had given his consent for going to Godhra and as decided, on the next day he had gone to his house to go in his car to Godhra.

276.136 The contents of paragraph 22 of the examination-in-chief of the witness are read over to the Investigating Officer, who has admitted that such facts have not been stated by the witness in the statement recorded by him.

276.137 The Investigating Officer has admitted that in the statement recorded by him, the witness has stated that his contact with Haresh Bhatt continued on phone, he had given him the phone number of Anil Patel of Sabarkantha, which was 9426362256 as well as had given him the reference of Himmatnagar Home Guard Commandant Jayantibhai Patel as well as Babubhai Bajrangi of Ahmedabad and told him to meet them.

276.138 Certain extracts of paragraph 24 of the examination-in-chief of the witness are read over to the Investigating Officer, wherein the witness has stated that he had met Shri Jayantibhai Patel. This Shri Anil Patel had introduced him to Shri Dhavalbhai Patel. During the course of conversation with him, Shri Anil Patel and Shri Dhaval Patel had informed him about the role played by them during the communal riots. The Investigating Officer has denied that the witness had not stated such facts in the statement recorded by him and had stated that the witness had stated before him that he had met the above named persons and that he had a conversation with them and that he had gone to Sabarkantha. The other facts are not stated by him.

276.139 The contents of paragraph 27 of the examination-in-chief of the witness are read over to the Investigating Officer, wherein the witness has stated that after returning to Ahmedabad he had met Shri Babu Bajrangi on 14th June, 2007. He had called him to his office on the upper floor of a mall near Galaxy Cinema. He had met him there. He had introduced himself as a Research Scholar on the subject of Hindutva. To gain his confidence, he had given reference to Shri Babu Bajrangi of all the people whom he had met till that day. He had talked with him for about approximately an hour. He (the witness) had talked with him. He has a transcript of all that.

276.140 The Investigating Officer has denied that the witness has not stated the facts stated in paragraph 27 of his deposition in the statement dated 19.1.2009. The Investigating Officer has admitted that the witness had in his statement before him dated 19.1.2009 had not stated the fact regarding the transcript of his conversation with the accused being in his possession. However, he had told him that he had a talk with the Naroda Patiya incident accused Babu Bajrangi and Suresh Chhara during the course of his sting operation and that he had brought with him a detailed CD with information.

paragraphs 30 to 58 of the examination-in-chief of the witness are read over to the Investigating Officer by him. The Investigating Officer has stated that the facts stated at pages 15, 16, 25, 31, 22, 26, 27, 28, 33, 34, 31, 32 33, 37, 38, 39, 50, 40, 41, 45, 52, 53, 44, 54, 56, 57 and 61 have been stated by the witness in the statement recorded by him. The other facts have not been stated.

276.142 The Investigating Officer has stated that he had carried out the investigation regarding the conversation referred to by this witness. The Investigating Officer has stated that he cannot say as to whose statements he has recorded for verifying the veracity of the conversation. He has stated that what he wants to say is that whatever he had done during the course of investigation in some way was matching with the facts stated in the conversation. The Investigating Officer has stated that in the context of verifying the conversation, whatever statements were recorded earlier and thereafter, out of them some were included in the chargesheet.

276.143 ANALYSIS: This witness is an important witness as he has conducted sting operations on several persons who have actively participated in the commission of offences in the riots that took place in the year 2002. Insofar as the present case is concerned, the witness has recorded the statements of three of the accused, namely, Babu Bajrangi (A-18), Prakash Rathod (A-21) and Suresh Richard (A-22). All these three accused have talked about their exploits and have also referred to other accused involved in the offence. From the testimony of the witness, it is clearly brought out that the witness has met the accused and gained their confidence by stating that he is a research scholar doing a thesis on Hindutva and has created an impression that he believes in the principles of VHP and has sympathy for those involved in the riots. The witness comes across as a truthful and credible witness and despite lengthy and searching cross examination, the defence has not been able to even slightly dent his credibility.

276.144 From the deposition of this witness it emerges, that while he had gone to Vadodara to cover some other event, he came to meet certain persons who were closely associated with the accused in the present case as well as other riot case, and after taking permission of the higher ups conducted the sting operation. The witness has recorded the conversation with the accused through spy cameras and in his testimony has referred to the important extracts of what was spoken by the accused and which is relevant for this case. What is stated by the accused to this witness is in the nature of an extra judicial confession, inasmuch as the accused have talked about the background and the manner in which the offence came to be committed.

276.145 The evidence of this witness has been analysed at length at a later stage while discussing the "Sting Operation". Suffice it to state that this witness comes across as a credible and trustworthy witness and his oral testimony supports the prosecution case against the accused on whom who has conducted the sting operation.

277. PW-320 Nirmalsinh Sevasinh Raju has been examined at Exhibit-2257. The witness has deposed that, at present, he is working as DSP, CBI, Economic Offences Wing, Mumbai (EOW wing).

277.1 The witness has deposed that he can understand Gujarati but for the sake of convenience, he would depose in Hindi.

277.2 During the period 16.12.2002 to 13.2.2009, he was working as a Police Inspector at CBI, Special Crime Branch, Bombay. During that period, a preliminary inquiry bearing No.PE-1/2/2008 was registered on 1.10.2008. The preliminary inquiry had been registered pursuant to the order of the National Human Rights Commission. The preliminary inquiry was for ascertaining the veracity of the CDs and DVDs used for broadcasting the program 'Operation Kalank' by the news channel, namely, Aaj Tak on 25.10.2007.

277.3 The preliminary inquiry was entrusted to him by the then SP and the then Dy.SP. and, accordingly, he was required to carry out the investigation. P.I. Shri Ghodeshwar was his companion in the investigation.

277.4 During this investigation, he had recorded the statement of Tehelka Reporter Shri Ashish Khetan, who was with Tehelka.com and had prepared the original CDs/DVDs because Aaj Tak news channel had purchased the CDs/DVDs of operation Kalank from Tehelka and had broadcast the same on television. Moreover, he had also recorded statements of relevant witnesses who were connected with the broadcasting of the original CD/DVD as well as with the CD at Tehelka.

277.5 During the course of investigation, he had recorded the statements of Shri Dipak Sharma and Dipak Chaurasiya of Aaj Tak as well as Shri Tarun Tejpal, Kumari Harinder Baveja and Shri Ashish Khetan of Tehelka. Shri Ashish Khetan had prepared fifteen DVDs of the sting operation from which he had prepared five CDs of Operation Kalank. He had also recorded the statements of all those persons whose sting operation had been recorded in the CDs. After obtaining the CD of Operation Kalank, he too had seen it. He had obtained fifteen DVDs from Tehelka and five CDs from Aaj Tak.

277.6 He, as well as his companion Shri P. K. Ghodeshwar, at the relevant time, had come to Ahmedabad and Vadodara cities and had met the persons on whom the sting operation was carried out, namely, Babu Bajrangi (Accused No.18) and had orally examined him. He had also inquired about Suresh alias Richard Chhara and Prakash Chhara (Accused No.22 and 21 respectively), however, he could not find both of them.

277.7 They had also seized the camera used for the purpose of the sting operation, the camera recorder as well as the hard disc of Ashish Khetan's laptop from Tehelka during the course of investigation, for the purpose of obtaining scientific opinion as well as for obtaining the scientific opinion regarding the veracity of the DVDs and CDs.

277.8 The muddamal seized by them for the purpose of such scientific opinion were firstly sent to the Central Forensic Science Laboratory, Chandigarh, however, on account of previous workload they had stated that it would take them one year to carry out the necessary tests and give the opinion as asked by them, and hence, they had, after following the due procedure, obtained the muddamal and thereafter, sent the muddamal for scientific opinion to the FSL at Jaipur.

277.9 The F.S.L. at Jaipur, Rajasthan had, after carrying out scientific tests, forwarded the opinion to them. In the opinion, it was informed that at the end of scientific tests, it was found that there was no tampering with the fifteen DVDs of Tehelka and five CDs of 'Operation Kalank' and that the same are genuine, namely, that they are authentically recorded. They had further given the opinion that certain parts of the fifteen DVDs are there in the five CDs of 'Operation Kalank' and that the CDs have been prepared from the DVDs, which have been submitted and that during the course of scientific investigation, it was found that the same were genuinely recorded without any tampering.

277.10 Thereafter, he had recorded the statements of the three Scientific Officers, who had carried out the scientific tests during the course of his inquiry. They were: Dr. Shailendra Jha, Dr. Vishwas Bhardwaj and Dr. Mukesh Sharma.

277.11 All these three Officers in their statements had stated the facts in consonance with the opinion sent by them and they had stated that the recording was authentic and true. On the basis of this, they had given a written report dated 13.5.2009 to the National Human Rights Commission.

277.12 Upon receipt of the written opinion from the FSL, Jaipur on completion of the scientific tests, he had returned the camera and the recorder with the camera to Tehelka as well as the hard disc of Ashish Khetan's laptop, which he had seized during the course of inquiry and had retained the DVDs and CDs with him.

277.13 Thereafter, the SIT had called for the DVDs/CDs as well as certified copy of the FSL report, which he had, after following the due procedure, handed over personally to their representative Shri Gedam at Mumbai. The original opinion of the FSL had been sent by them to the NHRC with their report.

277.14 The witness has further deposed that he had sent a forwarding letter as well as questionnaire as well as five parcels with sample of the seal impression to the FSL Jaipur. The witness has identified his signature on the forwarding letter and the other documents as well as the contents thereof, all of which are collectively exhibited as Exhibit-2258. The witness has further deposed that when he had given the forwarding letter together with the five sealed parcels to the FSL, Jaipur, they had issued a receipt acknowledging receipt thereof.

277.15 Various documents are shown to the witness who has admitted the same and the same are given combined Exhibit No.2259.

277.16 CROSS-EXAMINATION: The witness has admitted that during the course of his investigation, he has not met the then Investigating Officer who was investigating in this offence. The witness has admitted that he has not investigated as to whether the incidents mentioned in the Operation Kalank

CD had in fact occurred, for the reason that it was not subject matter of his investigation. The witness has voluntarily stated that he was only required to investigate regarding the authenticity and genuineness of the CD and DVD, which he had investigated. The witness has admitted that he had examined the persons on whom the sting had been conducted. The witness has stated that during his investigation, the persons shown in the sting operation had informed him that they were the persons shown in the sting operation. The witness has voluntarily stated that, however, they had given different reasons in this regard. Moreover, none of the persons who are seen in the sting operation have denied that they are in the sting CD, but have accepted it. The witness has admitted that during the course of his investigation, he has also recorded the statement of Ashish Khetan. The witness has admitted that in the statement recorded by him, Shri Babu Bajrangi had stated that the voice in the sting operation is his and that the sting is conducted on him, however, he was given a script and at the time of recording, he was speaking in terms of the script. The witness has admitted that he has not seized any script from Ashish Khetan. The witness has voluntarily stated that Ashish Khetan had told him that he had conducted the sting operation.

277.17 The witness has stated that whatever he had seized from Tehelka and Aaj Tak was in terms of his office procedure under a receipt memo. The witness has admitted that he has not made any panchnama in that regard. He has denied that he has not sealed them and taken them.

277.18 The witness has stated that the CDs which were given to him were sent in the same condition to the FSL. He has not inquired as to whether the data in the DVDs was protected. The witness has stated that to the extent of the authenticity of CDs and DVDs, he had placed reliance upon the FSL report. The witness has denied that except for the FSL report, he has not placed reliance upon any other document during his investigation and has voluntarily stated that he had also placed reliance upon the statements recorded by him.

277.19 The witness has denied that since he was not getting the desired opinion from the Chandigarh FSL and a desired opinion was not likely to be obtained, thereafter he had given the exhibits to the FSL, Jaipur to get the desired opinion and that the fifteen DVDs were not originally recorded, and hence, he had not drawn a panchnama of seizure of the DVDs and in connivance with Tehelka he had given a false report of the investigation. The witness has been examined by the court wherein the witness has stated that he does not have a copy of accused No.18 Babu Bajrangi's statement at present, and that it is on the basis of his memory that he had stated that Babu Bajrangi in his statement had stated that he was given a script.

278. PW-314 Bhagirathprasad Manilal Pandya has been examined at Exhibit-2212. The witness has deposed that he has retired as a Director of Ahmedabad City Akashwani Centre on 30.9.2010. While he was on duty on 5.3.2010, he had received a letter from SIT wherein there were names of three persons and the SIT had requested him to record their voices.

278.1 The witness has deposed that the letter was signed by Shri V.V. Chaudhary and he was requested to carry out recording of samples for voice spectrography examination of Babubhai alias Babu Bajrangi, Suresh alias Richard and Prakash Sureshbhai.

278.2 The witness has deposed that after he received the letter, he had carried out the necessary procedure at his office and had written a letter to Delhi and requested for permission from the competent authority for recording the voice samples of the three accused. The witness has identified the letter Mark 1732/35, which was written through his office and bears his signature and has stated that the facts stated therein are correct. The said document is exhibited as Exhibit-2213. The witness has deposed that he has been granted permission from Delhi, as requested vide Exhibit-2213. Therefore, he had addressed a letter to the SIT regarding recording of voices of the three accused and had requested for a fixed date, time etc. The said letter has been exhibited as Exhibit-2214.

278.3 Pursuant to the said letter, the SIT people had come to personally meet him. When they came personally, at that time, the time and date for recording were fixed. 7.4.2010 was the date fixed for sample recording.

278.4 On 7.4.2010, the SIT officers brought the three accused and came to Akashwani Centre at Ahmedabad. They had recorded the voices of the three persons who had come with the SIT Officers. Out of the three persons, the driving licence of Babubhai Bajrangi and zerox copies of election identity cards of two persons Prakash and Suresh, were given to them by the SIT people, which he has kept in his record and are there in the file which he has brought from his office.

278.5 The recording of voice samples of these three persons was carried out in the presence of the SIT Officers as well as the Program Executive and Senior Engineering Assistant of their studio. A CD of the sample recording of the voices of the three was prepared.

278.6 As per the procedure of their office, a certificate to the effect that the CD of the voice recording of the three accused had been prepared, was prepared. The certificate was prepared on 7.4.2010 bearing the names of the three accused, the time limit of their sample recording, serial of their voice and other details. The witness has deposed that due to typographical error, the date written at the top of the certificate is 7th March, 2010, however, where he has signed, it is written 7.4.2010, which is the correct date. He has also signed below the certificate. In the certificate, the cover of the CD was sealed and he had kept a specimen of that seal.

278.7 Thereafter, the procedure for sealing the CD was carried out in the confidential section of his office and the original of the certificate was kept with the CD and the CD was sealed.

278.8 Thereafter, the CD was handed over the SIT officers for which they had made an endorsement on the certificate to the effect that they had received it. The SIT had received the CD by following the due procedure by drawing a panchnama in the presence of panchas.

278.9 CROSS-EXAMINATION: In the cross-examination of this witness, he has produced a letter dated 5.5.2010 whereby he had received permission from Prasar Bharti. The original letter has been given Exhibit No.2215. The witness has also produced the original letter from his file which Prasar Bharti had addressed to him which is given Exhibit No.2216. The witness has admitted that when the voices of the three accused were recorded, at that time, he personally was not present there. However, as he was the Head of the Department, the recording was carried out in their office by the Officers deputed by him in the presence of the SIT Officers was in accordance with the procedure of their office. The witness has stated that, at present, he does not remember whether the SIT Officers had sent them any script for recording of voice samples or as to whether the FSL had sent them any script. The witness has stated that upon perusal of the file he has found xerox copies of the script of the three accused. The witness has admitted that they had received the script from the SIT. The witness has stated that as far as he knows, the recording is in terms of the script. The witness has stated that after the recording, he has not compared the CD and the script. The witness has admitted that the certificate which was placed with the CD before it was sealed, was under his signature.

279. PW-323 Dr. Shailendra Ramkishore Jha has been examined at Exhibit-2274. This witness has deposed that, at present, he is working as an Assistant Director at the FSL Jaipur. Since the last 27 years he is discharging duties in the Physics Department of the FSL Jaipur and, at present, he is the Head of the Physics Department. Dr. Vishwas Bhardwaj and Dr. Mukesh Sharma are both working with him as Senior Scientific Officers.

279.1 The witness has deposed that in the year 2002, the CBI had sent a letter to him together with five exhibits which were the hard disc, two cameras, fifteen DVDs and five CDs. All these had been sent to him for investigating and giving his opinion thereon. He was required to investigate and give his opinion and the questionnaire is given vide Annexure-A to Exhibit-2258.

279.2 The witness has deposed that he had examined the exhibits sent to him. While carrying out the examination, two officers from his office Dr. Bhardwaj and Dr.Sharma were also involved.

279.3 The witness is shown the document Exhibit-2259 and he has stated that internal page 1 contains the receipt of having received the five exhibits from the CBI Mumbai, whereas internal pages No.2 and 3 which are typed on both the sides, is the opinion given by them as regards the exhibits, which bear his signature as well as the signatures of his two assistants, who had carried out the tests with him, namely, Dr. Bhardwaj and Dr.Sharma and he has identified all the signatures. The witness has deposed that the opinion was sent to CBI, Mumbai.

279.4 The witness has deposed that out of the five exhibits sent to them, packet-1 had the camera, which also had the lens. The camera was fitted into the black coloured diary, which also had a lens in it. There was also a button camera.

279.5 Packet-3 contained the recorder and a display screen which had a battery which contained the power adapter, charger, earphone etc. The packet was given as P-III/1 to 6.

279.6 Packet-4 contained the Hitachi brand hard disc drive.

279.7 In packet-5, 15 DVDs and 5 CDs were sent and the details thereof were also recorded in his opinion.

279.8 Based on the examination carried out by them, their opinion was that none of the exhibits had any adulteration, tampering or anything to suspect or to doubt the truth and in this connection, a detailed opinion was given vide pages No.2 and 3 of Exhibit-2259. Their opinion was that the DVDs and CDs which were sent to them were not tampered and did not contain any amendments or any additions or any deletions.

279.9 The witness has deposed that he had made a transcript of the five CDs of 'Operation Kalank" which were sent to him, which transcripts were also enclosed by him with his opinion. Over and above this, they had returned the exhibits to the CBI and all three Examiners had stated their educational qualifications, in short, and in Table-2 they had noted the conversation in the CDs wherever it was in the DVDs. As per their opinion, out of certain extracts of the DVDs which were sent to them, the CDs were prepared, and hence, during the course of examination, they had made such Table-2. Table-2 is at internal pages No. 7 to 15.

279.10 They had also prepared Table-1, which is at internal pages No.16 to 22 of Exhibit-2259. In this Table No.1 at internal page No.24, which as Serial No.181 till then, there is information with regard to DVD, namely, that there are parts of the details recorded in the DVD.

279.11 In internal pages No.24 to 26 from Serial No.1 to 70, there are details of the information of the footage in the CD, which relates to all five CDs and VCD. In this, wherein there is a video footage, there is reference to Video CD and where there is any voice, it is referred to as CD.

279.12 The witness has further deposed that at internal page No.27 to page No.138, they had prepared a script of the five CDs of 'Operation Kalank', which were sent to them and had kept it with their opinion. They had sent all these to the CBI and had also kept an office copy.

279.13 The witness has deposed that on every page of Exhibit-2258 and Exhibit-2259, a stamp has been put with their true copies of the documents and bears the signature of Shri Kuldeep Sharma, who is a Senior Scientific Officer at the FSL, Jaipur. The witness has identified his signature as well as the stamp of his office on both the documents and has stated that both the documents are true.

279.14 The witness has stated that he, Dr. Bhardwaj as well as Dr. Sharma have put their signatures certifying the correctness of the contents of all the pages of Exhibit-2259, and that all the facts stated therein are correct.

279.15 The witness has stated that he can identify all the exhibits sent by the CBI. The witness is shown the muddamal articles, namely, audio video recorder, its battery, microchip, Hitachi Company hard disc, spy camera button, the diary in which the camera was hidden, its charger, earphone, remote of the audio video recorder. The witness has stated that all these are the exhibits sent to them by the CBI and that there is reference to them in their opinion and that they have examined all these exhibits.

279.16 The witness has deposed that on 14.4.2010, they had received a letter from the SIT wherein they had sent specimen voice samples of the three accused together with the CD of 'Operation Kalank' and asked them to match the voices and carry out voice analysis. The witness has deposed that the letter Mark 1732/40 is the letter, which he had received from the SIT.

279.17 The witness has deposed that in acknowledgement of receipt of the articles received by them, the FSL, Jaipur had issued a receipt dated 23.4.2010, which has been exhibited at Exhibit-2275.

279.18 The witness has deposed that the SIT had sent five CDs and fifteen DVDs for the purpose of voice analysis. The persons whose voice analysis they had carried out were one Babubhai alias Babubhai Bajrangi Rajabhai Patel, and second person Prakash Sureshbhai Rathod and the third person was Suresh Langdo Kantibhai Didawala (Chhara). They had come to the conclusion that the voice samples recorded in the CDs and DVDs were one and the same. This opinion was given by him and Dr. Vishwas Bhardwaj.

279.19 The witness has deposed that the voice samples of the three accused which he had received vide Exhibit-A were sealed and returned to Shri Rajesh Sharma of SIT in the course of routine office work.

279.20 The witness has identified his signature at pages No.2 and 3 Mark-1732 and he has identified the same to be his signature and that of Dr. Bhardwaj and has admitted the contents thereof. The same is given Exhibit-2276.

279.21 (The court has made a note below that the Assistant Public Prosecutor wants to show the CDs and DVDs produced by PW-319 Pushpaben Ninama with the list Exhibit-2256. He has specifically stated that the cases which are classified as riot cases, namely, the present case, the Naroda Gam case and Gulbarg case, and in all these three cases, there are common five CDs and fifteen DVDs. In the concerned case, the SIT has sent the same to the FSL, Jaipur for analysis of the voice of the accused. In the present case, the CDs and DVDs were sent and after analysis, the FSL had returned the same and thereafter, fifteen DVDs and five CDs were sent in connection with the Naroda Gam case bearing I-C.R. No.98/02 of Naroda Police Station and that the same are required to be shown to the witness for examination.)

279.22 The witness is shown a white cloth bag, which is sealed and bears the seal of the FSL. The bag is opened and the contents thereof are taken out. He is firstly shown fifteen DVDs and after seeing the same, he has stated that the chit of the FSL had been placed on it and that they have examined all these fifteen DVDs. The witness has thereafter shown five CDs, and a slip, which is placed therein and he has deposed that these are the five CDs, which they have examined.

279.23 The witness has deposed that on the basis of the specimen voices sample received by them and the fifteen DVDs and five CDs, they had carried out the voice analysis and had given their opinion in connection with all the three accused.

279.24 The witness has deposed that in this case the SIT has recorded his statement on 22.12.2009 and he had been sent voice samples of all the three accused in this case in one CD, which he had received and after examination thereof; the same were returned to the SIT in sealed condition.

279.25 CROSS-EXAMINATION: This witness in his cross-examination has admitted that he had given a report to the CBI and a report to the SIT. The witness has stated that the annexures of the report as well as certified photostat copy of the report sent to the CBI, were given to the SIT.

279.26 The attention of the witness is drawn to pages No.2 and 3 of Exhibit-2259. Upon perusing the same, the witness has stated that he had received a microchip in this case which he has referred to as memory card in his report. The witness has stated that the microchip can be used in either of the two cameras which were sent as exhibits. The witness has denied that he has not mentioned the test which he had conducted in his report. The witness has stated that at the end of the testing, he did not find that there was any editing, alteration or tampering in these CDs and DVDs. They had given the opinion at the end of the analysis.

279.27 The witness has admitted that contextual continuity is very important. The witness has admitted that to obtain the result of contextual continuity he is required to carry out electronic editing and non linear editing tests. The witness has voluntarily stated that he had done this and summary of the total test, and as to which test had been carried out, has been clearly stated in the result of examination at internal page 3 of Exhibit-2250. The witness has denied that he has not conducted any electronic editing and non-linear editing test and that he has not used these words in his opinion. The witness has denied that the conclusion given in internal page-3 part-3 of Exhibit-2259, that the DVDs could be recorded from the exhibit camera would mean that it could be recorded by any other camera.

279.28 The attention of the witness is drawn to the fourth conclusion on the reverse side of page-3 of Exhibit-2259. The witness has stated that the conclusion drawn by him that in certain clips of the CD there was no voice which means that in the Operation Kalank CD only the picture of the speaker was there and the voices were not there. The witness has admitted that certain clips were there in both the DVDs and CDs; however, in the CDs the voice was not there which was there in the DVDs. The witness has voluntarily stated that he has clearly stated in his report that the five CDs have been made from the fifteen DVDs and that the entire recording, clips and footage of the DVDs is not there in the CDs. The witness has denied that the fact that in some of clipping in the CDs wherein the voice is not there, would be considered as tampering of such CDs. The witness has admitted that he has not examined the hard disc in parcel No.4 and has voluntarily stated that it was not part of the query given by the CBI, and hence, the question of testing it did not arise.

279.29 The witness has stated that the three voice samples received by him were digital samples. The witness has stated that another method for obtaining voice samples is by analog wherein there is a possibility of little variation, which possibility is not there at all in case of digital. The witness has admitted that he is not aware as to how the voice samples of the accused were obtained. The witness has admitted that for the purpose of voice analysis, the words which are analysed must have been spoken. The witness has denied that if more than one word is spoken together, voice analysis cannot be carried out. The witness has denied that in every case where the words which are chosen for spectrography they are always kept in short term memory. The witness has stated that for the purpose of analysis, four to five groups of words can be considered to be sufficient. The witness has denied that a minimum of twenty groups of words are necessary for comparison and has voluntarily stated that in the changed technology twenty words are not necessary now. The witness has denied that if twenty different words are not available for comparison, the opinion becomes worthless. The witness has stated that in his opinion, three to four words are sufficient. The witness has stated that during the course of the procedure of comparing he had not found dissimilarity in any word.

279.30 The witness has been re-examined wherein a sealed square cloth bag is shown to him wherein there are five lac seals. Upon seeing the seals, the witness has stated that they are the seals of his office. Upon seeing the pack, he has stated that the front side bears his signature, which he has identified.

279.31 This article has been sent from his office to the SIT. Upon opening the sealed cloth bag in the open court, a packet which is secured by cello tape is taken out on which there are signatures of Shri Chaudhary and two panchas and a slip is affixed thereon. Upon opening the packet, the CDs which have come out from it are shown to him. Upon seeing them, he has stated that the CDs bear his signature. The witness has stated that these are the CDs of the voice samples of the accused which had been obtained from the Investigating Officer and which were compared with the CD and DVD and he had given his opinion.

316.8 The witness has further deposed that during his tenure in the year 2002, one Dr. M. M. Patel was working in the Civil Hospital and he had performed Postmortems No.513, 516, 522 and 528 of 2002. The witness has deposed regarding the injuries sustained by the concerned deceased persons and has proved the postmortem notes which are exhibited as Exhibits-1961, 1962, 1963 and 1964 as well as injury certificates Exhibits-1965 and 1966.

316.9 The witness has been examined by the court, wherein he has admitted that in none of the cases, the relatives came to identify the dead body at their hospital. In many cases, he had to decide that a particular dead body should be of a particular named person based on his own assessment and thereafter, he had put endorsement on the top of the postmortem report. He did so to help the relatives of the deceased and to enable them to get the compensation as without postmortem note with identification of the dead person, the relative concerned cannot get compensation. He has further stated that they had handed over the dead body to police who have also identified the dead body through the relatives of the deceased in some cases as was reported to him. Certain dead bodies were easily identifiable on account of the description, physical disability, the instrument being used by the handicapped and in one case, since the woman was pregnant and was at the last stage of her pregnancy.

317. PW-286 Dr. Yogesh Anjanikumar Gupta has been examined at Exhibit-1974. This witness has deposed that a patient named Mustaq Razaq came to V.S. Hospital from Civil Hospital for further management for his physical ailment. He had come with a yadi of Naroda Police Station. The patient had alleged history of bullet injury and strangulation. The witness is shown Exhibit-1976 and he has stated that it is the compilation of the case papers of this patient brought from the custody of the V.S. Hospital, which he has produced on record. Since the documents were admitted by the learned advocates for all the accused, it has been exhibited as Exhibit-1976.

318. PW-287 Dr. Aman Manoharlal Gupta has been examined at Exhibit-1977. This witness has stated that a patient named Mahammad Khalid came to the V.S. Hospital when he was working there. The patient came on 1.3.2002 at 1:20 a.m. with a yadi from Naroda Police Station. The patient was treated by him and was admitted on the same day and was discharged on 25.3.2002. Hospital, a male patient named Ahmad Badshah was brought for treatment with a yadi form the Naroda Police Station. He was discharged from the hospital on 3.12.2002 as he was an indoor patient. The witness has further deposed that the patient gave history of assault by opposite party in riots on 1.3.2002 and he had history of bullet injury over left side of upper part of chest. The witness has admitted his handwriting and signature on the injury certificate Exhibit-286.

320. PW-289 Dr. Rajesh Dalpatbhai Patel and PW-290 Dr. Dinesh Savjibhai Chandana both have been examined as production witnesses at Exhibit-1985 and Exhibit-1988 respectively.

321. FINDINGS: From the testimonies of the medical witnesses, it emerges that several victims, at the first point of time had narrated history of assault and burns at 4:00 p.m., 5:00 p.m. or 6:00 p.m. on the day of the incident to the Medical Officers. In case of Yasin Usman Mansuri, the history given was that acid and kerosene was thrown on him at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. In one case, the history of the patient having caught fire while escaping from a house which was set on fire has been given. Thus, the witnesses have stated regarding kerosene and petrol being thrown on them as well as injuries being caused with sticks etc. by way of history before the Medical Officers when they were brought to the hospital.

321.1 PW-96 Dr. Jayendra Rasiklal Modi has deposed that he had carried out postmortem of the dead body of an unknown lady, aged 35 years, who had sustained eight wounds consisting of one incised wound and seven stab wounds. Thus, some of the victims have been assaulted with weapons during the course of the incidents that took place in the chawls.

321.2 From the testimony of PW-98 Dr. Anupsingh Hiraji Thakur, it emerges that some of the bodies of which he had conducted postmortem, were reduced to skeletons. The witness has opined that if highly inflammable substance is thrown over a body and it is set ablaze, it is possible for the dead body to be reduced to a skeleton. In the cross-examination of this witness, he has stated that in case of one of the victims, the burn injuries were so extensive that even if there were injuries on the private parts, it was not possible to note them. From the testimonies of the Medical Officers, it emerges that some of the victims were roasted and totally burnt, some were reduced to skeletons and in case of some of the victims, parts of the bodies were missing.

321.3 PW-129 Dr. Jayeshkumar Maganlal Joshi, who had conducted postmortem of a dead body of an unknown male child, had opined that if a live child is thrown in the burning fire and burnt, the injuries sustained by the dead body are possible.

321.4 Thus, from the evidence of the medical witnesses, it has been established that in the medical history given before the Medical Officers, it was stated that the victims had sustained injuries from 3 o'clock to 6 o'clock in the evening on the day of the incident, which supports the versions given by witnesses that incidents of violence against the human body took place in the afternoon hours also. The evidence further shows that the burn injuries have been caused by throwing petrol, kerosene or oil on the victims and setting them ablaze and in some cases such injuries are so extensive that the bodies have been reduced to skeletons. In many cases, the bodies have been roasted and totally burnt and it was not even possible to decide the gender of the deceased. In several cases, parts of the body are missing. In some cases, the victim has sustained contused lacerated wounds and incised wounds, which indicates use of sharp edged weapons. Thus, the medical evidence supports the eyewitness account given by most of the witnesses and also gives an insight to the gruesome manner in which the victims have been done to death, whereby children have been thrown in the fire, bodies of victims are completely roasted and burnt, victims have been reduced to skeletons, and in several cases, parts of the bodies are missing.

321.5 PW-285 Dr. Jayantilal Virjibhai Satapara, in his examination by the court, has stated that in many cases, he had to decide that a particular dead body should be of a particular named person based on his own assessment, and thereafter, he had put endorsement on the top of the postmortem note. He did so to help the relatives of the deceased and to enable them to get the compensation as without postmortem note with identification of the dead body, the relative concerned cannot get the compensation.

321.6 From the testimony of this witness it emerges that the dead bodies of unknown persons were not specifically identified before putting endorsement on the post mortem reports naming such dead bodies and that on the basis of his own assessment, the witness had decided that a particular dead body should be given a particular name. Such endorsements have been put for the purpose of helping the relatives of the deceased to get compensation as it was necessary to submit a postmortem note with identification. From the evidence on record there is nothing to establish that the dead body is of the person whose name had been inserted in the postmortem note by making endorsement subsequently. Therefore, except where the postmortem of identified bodies were conducted, in case of unknown bodies it cannot be said with certainty that such postmortem notes are of the person whose name is reflected thereon. The only fact that is established is that such dead bodies were recovered from the scene of incident and are dead bodies of victims of the offence in question.

321.7 From the testimony of PW-286 Dr. Yogesh Anjanikumar Gupta, it is established that Mustaq Razak had sustained a bullet injury, from the testimony of PW-287 Dr. Aman Manoharlal Gupta, it is established that Mahammad Khalid had sustained a bullet injury and from the testimony of PW-288 Dr. Pranay Nagindas Patel, it is established that Ahmad Badshah had sustained a bullet injury. Thus, these three witnesses have deposed regarding bullet injuries having been sustained by Mustaq Razak, Mahammad Khalid and Ahmad Badshah, which fortifies the testimonies of the eyewitnesses who have deposed regarding firing by the police in the morning wherein these persons had sustained bullet injuries.

321.8 From the testimonies of the medical officers, read with the injury certificates produced and proved by them, the fact regarding several eye witnesses having sustained injuries has also been proved.

XXII PREVIOUS INVESTIGATION:

322. In this case the initial investigation was conducted by the local police and subsequently, upon the Special Investigation Team being constituted in the year 2008, the investigation came to be transferred to it and further investigation came to be carried out by the SIT.

322.1 Insofar as the investigation conducted by the police is concerned, statements of injured witnesses came to be recorded soon after the incident in the first and second week of March, 2002, at the hospitals where they were admitted. Statements of other witnesses came to be recorded in the months of April, May and thereafter, at the respective relief camps where they were lodged. On a conjoint reading of the testimonies of the police officers who conducted the investigation, it is shocking to note that the police have not sought to record the statements of persons acquainted with the facts and circumstances of the case as contemplated under section 161 of the Code. Instead, the police have visited the camps and recorded statements of persons who came forward for recording their statements. It appears that the concerned Investigating Officer or his assignee officer visited the camp, where it was either announced on the mike or the people were informed that those who want their statements to be recorded should come forward to do so. The police, however, have not attempted to find out as to who are the witnesses of the incident. When an incident of the magnitude like the present one occurs, the real sufferers are likely to be muted on account of the imprint of those incidents in their mind and the trauma they have undergone. They must have been in a state of shock and many of them injured badly. Therefore, it would be too much to expect them to come forward for recording their statements when such announcements are made. It was the duty of the police to find out who the victims were and in case of injured witnesses to record their statements and in case of persons who had been killed, to find out their family members who had witnessed their killing and record their statements. However, no such exercise was conducted and it was left to the witnesses to come forward to give their statements. Thus, the provisions of section 161 of the Code have been thrown to the winds and instead of the Investigating Officer finding out the victims and witnesses and recording their statements, the onus has been placed on the witnesses to come forward and get their statements recorded. From the testimony of PW-278 Rameshkumar Bhavanishankar Joshi, an assignee officer, it emerges that he had not gone inside the camp. He has parked the vehicle outside the camp and his staff would go inside, call the concerned person and he would record the statement while sitting inside his vehicle. This is the manner in which the statements of the witnesses have been recorded which gives an indication to the kind of treatment the victims of the offence have been meted out.

322.2 Moreover, instead of conducting investigation in the right direction by recording statements of eye witnesses, it appears that the assignee officers mostly spent their time in recording statements regarding the loss and damages sustained by the victims and in drawing panchnamas of the houses of the affected persons to assess the damage caused to them, which is not even the function of the investigating agency because all claims of damage and loss are to be computed by the Collector's officer. Therefore, in effect and substance the investigating agency had taken upon itself the duties of the Collectorate and had neglected to perform its duties by not conducting proper investigation. Thus, precious time has been lost in this process. In the first place the police authorities were hard pressed for time as they were required to maintain law and order and considering the number of incidents that had taken place in the city, their hands were full. However, instead of concentrating on the investigation, time has been squandered away in drawing panchnamas which hardly have any significance insofar as the prosecution case is concerned. Thus, it appears that the police were reluctant to investigate into the offence and have deliberately wasted their time in this manner.

322.3 Apart from the fact that the statements of eyewitnesses have not been recorded promptly, even the panchnamas drawn during the course of investigation have been made perfunctorily. The main inquest panchnama Exhibit-622 refers to a place called Ramila Sales; however, there is nothing on record to indicate where this place is. Moreover, there is no proper correlation between the dead bodies referred to in the panchnama and the bodies of which postmortem has been carried out.

322.4 Insofar as the scene of offence panchnama is concerned, which though it is a detailed panchnama running into four parts, does not reflect the name of the concerned chawl and does not depict a correct picture of the scene of offence. Consequently, a subsequent panchnama came to be drawn of a limited part of the scene of offence, which to some extent describes such area properly. A video recording of the scene of offence has been carried out; however, the same has also been done in a perfunctory manner. The camera does not move smoothly to give a proper idea of the scene of offence, but jumps from one place to the other. In the video recording, one can hear voices in the background saying that it will become dark and they have yet to cover half a kilometre and someone else is heard to say that, "They are hurrying us, but actually if the videography was started at 2:00 or 3:00 p.m....." and the voice fades away. Thus, it is evident that even while the video recording was being carried out, the concerned persons were aware that it ought to have been done earlier in the day. In the opinion of the court if it was not possible to conclude the video recording on that day, nothing prevented the Investigating Officer from continuing with the recording on the next day, as had been done while drawing the scene of offence panchnama instead of hurriedly recording the scene of offence. However, the Investigating Officer being a reluctant investigator, has just investigated for namesake and has put up a show of investigation being done and video recording being carried out, while at the same time ensuring that the same is not done properly by starting it late so that in a hurry, most part of the scene of offence is not filmed and what is filmed is also done in such a perfunctory manner that it is very difficult to understand the topography of the area. Anyway, something is better than nothing, and if not much, the video recording at least gives an insight of the kind of damage that has been done by the mobs. The manner in which the houses have been damaged gives a clear indication that some extraneous inflammable material has been used to burn down the houses. In some cases, the extent to which the houses have been destroyed lends credibility to the testimonies of the witnesses that gas cylinders were used to blow up their houses.

322.5 A perusal of the testimony of PW 307 Sukhdevsinh Sardarsinh Chudasama, the Investigating Officer who carried out the previous investigation gives an idea about the slipshod manner in which the investigation was conducted by him. In his cross-examination the witness has admitted that he had not sent the cans recovered from the accused to the FSL for testing, for the reason that it is not necessary in every case to send the muddamal to the FSL. The witness has stated that he has not obtained any scientific opinion regarding the contents of the liquid in the cans and has stated that the panchas of the panchnama had been asked to smell the can and he had ascertained that the smell of kerosene was emanating, which is mentioned in the panchnama. The Investigating Officer has also denied that in every case where the muddamal is seized, it is necessary to affix the slips bearing the signatures of the panchas. He has admitted that he had not found it necessary to obtain the signatures of the panchas on the slips affixed on the swords, dharias and cans which he has seized during the course of his investigation and has denied that in every case where the muddamal is seized, it is necessary to affix the slips bearing the signatures of the panchas. Thus, the basic procedure which is required to be followed has been done away with.

322.6 In case of the incident of Hasanali, the brother of PW 135 Hussainabanu, who was burnt to death on a cot in the courtyard of Jadikhala's house, despite the fact that the case papers of the first information report registered vide Naroda Police Station I C.R. No.238/02 which had been lodged in connection with this incident, and was subsequently merged with Naroda Police Station I C.R.No.100/02, contain a newspaper clipping showing the photograph of a dead body lying on a cot in the courtyard of the house of Jadikhala, the same has not been brought on the record of this case, nor have any efforts been made to get an original copy of the photograph. Surprisingly, though coloured photographs of the burnt body lying on the cot in Jadikhala's courtyard, even with a policeman in the background, are available on the internet, it is only the investigating agencies who seem to be blissfully unaware of the same or have deliberately not brought them on record. Moreover, no proper efforts were made to establish the connection between the mobile phone recovered by Hussainabanu from the scene of offence and accused Ashok Sindhi. No proper panchnama was drawn at the time when the mobile phone was handed over to the Police Commissioner and thereafter to Shri M.K. Tandon, nor were these two police officers examined as witnesses, and thereby an important link was not established. Insofar as the mobile phone is concerned, it was handed over to the then Police Commissioner Shri P.C. Pande; however, when even he did not think it fit to seize the same in accordance with law by drawing a panchnama in that regard and thereby botched the investigation, what can one expect of the subordinate officers!

322.7 Another photograph available on the internet is of an oil tanker reversed into the Noorani Masjid, which also finds mention in the scene of offence panchnama but is not available either among the photographs on record or in the video recording of the scene of offence. Surprisingly though the police witnesses were present on the road throughout the day and there was a police point at the Noorani Masjid, none of them speak about the tanker being rammed into the Noorani

Masjid. Since it is not possible that the police witnesses could not have noticed this incident, one wonders why they have all thought it fit to maintain silence in this regard. Thus, while almost all the police witnesses present at the spot mention the TATA 407 incident where a Muslim youth drove the vehicle rashly, there is not even a whisper about a tanker being rammed into the Noorani Masjid by the Hindu mob.

XXIII INVESTIGATION BY THE SIT:

323. The Investigating Officer (SIT) has recorded statements of witnesses in blatant breach of the provisions of section 161 of the Code, inasmuch he has obtained signatures of the witnesses on such statements and more particularly on the statements of the police officers, which is clearly borne out from the testimonies of the witness and the police witnesses whose statements were recorded by him.

323.1 Section 161 of the Code provides for "Examination of witnesses by police" and inter alia lays down that any officer making an investigation under that Chapter may examine orally any person supposed to be acquainted with the facts and circumstances of the case. Section 162 of the Code, bears the heading "Statements to police not to be signed – Use of statements in evidence". Sub-section (1) thereof, inter alia, provides that no statement made by any person to a police officer in the course of an investigation under the Chapter, shall, if reduced to writing, be signed by the person making it. Thus, section 162 of the Code expressly bars a statement recorded by the police being signed by the person making it. Despite such express provision in the Code, the Investigating Officer has obtained signatures of the persons whose statements he had recorded on such statements. Even in case of high ranking police officers, such signatures have been obtained. One wonders whether the Investigating Officer (SIT) and such high ranking officers were not aware of these basic provisions of law.

323.2 Upon a query to the learned Special Public Prosecutor as to why such course of action was adopted, the response was that many allegations were being made against the Investigating Officer regarding not recording the statements correctly, thus, out of umpteen caution, their signatures were taken on their statements. In the opinion of this court, fear of such allegations being levelled, is no reason to commit breach of the specific provisions of the Code, more so, when such statements have been recorded by the Investigating Officer of the Special Investigation Team constituted under the orders of the Supreme Court for carrying out proper investigation into the offences. The police officers are expected to discharge their duties in accordance with law, and there can be no excuse from deviating therefrom, more so, when the Supreme Court had reposed faith in the SIT and entrusted the investigation of the case to it. The flagrant breach of the provisions of section 162 of the Code, therefore, cannot be countenanced.

323.3 Moreover, it is during the course of investigation by the SIT that the name of accused No.37 Mayaben Kodnani was revealed. From the evidence of the witnesses who have named Mayaben Kodnani, it emerges that many of them have referred to her having come in a white Maruti Franti car. However, no efforts have been made to ascertain as to whether the said accused owned any white Maruti car at the relevant time. No investigation has been conducted to establish whether accused No.37 Mayaben Kodnani used to travel in a white Maruti car, nor has any exercise been undertaken to establish that accused No.62 Kirpalsingh Chhabra was her P.A. There are several other shortfalls in the investigation conducted by the SIT, reference to which has been made at the particular stage in the judgment.

XXIV EVIDENTIARY VALUE OF THE PREVIOUS INVESTIGATION:

324. Since the trial court has discarded the previous investigation carried out by the local police except for what has been termed by it as ministerial work, viz. drawing of panchnamas, photographs, videography etc., it would be necessary to discuss the same before entering into any discussion on the merits of the case.

324.1 The trial court in the impugned judgment has found that the police record of the statements recorded during the previous investigation under section 161 of the Code are stated to be unreliable by the learned advocates for the respective parties and that the learned Special Public Prosecutor had also begun with the remarks that since the previous investigation was not reliable and proper, there was need to constitute the SIT. Throughout the trial, the examination-in-chief was based on the statement recorded by the SIT, if it was recorded for that witness. According to the trial court, both the sides had emphatically submitted that the entire police record of the statements is suspect and unreliable in this case. The trial court was of the opinion that considering the condition of the victims, much importance to non-mentioning of the names in the police statement prior to the SIT cannot be given. The trial court has found various defects in the investigation carried out by the first Investigating Officer Shri K.K. Mysorewala and has noted that he has not taken even elementary and routine steps and has totally avoided to do investigation altogether. The court, however, was of the opinion that in all such cases of negligence or inefficiency, one cannot be labeled to be malice (sic.) or any criminality. According to the trial court, by 1st March, 2002, most of the vital investigation should have been completed by the first Investigating Officer, but if the record is seen, the entire investigation was conducted in a sluggish manner by Shri K.K. Mysorewala. The trial court has observed that the first investigating agency wasted a lot of time right from 28.2.2002 to 8.3.2002 and even wasted available resources by not securing scientific evidence and carrying on investigation only for the purpose of doing so. The court has further recorded that Shri Mysorewala was never involved in the investigation. The trial court has noted that no evidence has been produced to show the genuineness of the firing claimed to have been done on the day of the incident and has further recorded that Shri Mysorewala during the questions put by the court, had simply shrugged his shoulders and had blamed the insufficiency of manpower. The trial court has noted that Shri Mysorewala was aware that bigwigs were present in the mob, but has not paid any heed to this fact while investigating the crime. The trial court has found that the Jawannagar wall was demolished by the mob on that day due to lapses on the part of Shri K.K. Mysorewala who had not deployed any force to prevent any untoward incident at that entry point for the Muslim area. The trial court has found that it is an admitted position that no one was arrested from the site and was of the opinion that even if a single policeman had been alert and active, he could have at least arrested one person from the mob and if all those who were on bandobust would have at least arrested one rioter, then also, many miscreants from the violent mob could have been arrested from the site itself. The trial court has further found that the police had not resisted, opposed or hindered the violent mobs and had indirectly facilitated the people in the mob, inasmuch as the entry point of Muslim chawls near the gate of S.T. Workshop is such where if the police would have made a chain, then the mob could not have entered inside. The trial court has recorded the inept and inefficient handling by the first Investigating Officer resulted into total lawlessness prevailing on that day, which resulted into mass murders which has which has brought shame upon the entire nation and the secular feature of the Constitution of India. The trial court was of the view that at the initial stage of investigation, the opinion of the FSL should have been obtained regarding the probability of such occurrences below the water tank at the "U" shaped corner between Gopinath and Gangotri. The trial court has recorded several lacuna in the investigation and has further noted that if the accused had been arrested at the site, they could have been arrested with the weapons or the kerosene tins in their hands, and had the police been active and sincere on the day at the site of the offence, then the occurrences might not have taken place. The trial court has noted that the panchnama of the scene of offence has been drawn after many hours and this delay destroys a lot of evidence. Though according to the police, patrolling duty was assigned, during the course of patrolling, no one had been arrested which clearly shows that the surveillance and vigilance of the police was extremely poor. The trial court has recorded that no attempt was made to arrange for a test identification parade; no attempt was made to call the fire brigade when there was so much fire all around and no attempt was made to arrest the accused whose names have been mentioned in the first information report; if all these faults, carelessness, inefficiency, ineptness is collectively seen, then, the record of this first Investigating Officer is not found dependable, fair and absolutely reliable. The trial court has found that the first investigation was full of lapses, lacking quickness, but it was not to prejudice of the accused, and hence, the accused cannot claim any benefit from it. The trial court has recorded that Shri K.K. Mysorewala had done his duty properly only after many Muslims were found dead at the water tank when he noticed that several Muslims were burnt alive at the site and took them for treatment at the Civil Hospital. The trial court has recorded that had he not taken timely action, the death toll of Muslims could have been higher. According to the trial court, the investigation carried out by Shri K.K. Mysorewala is mockery of the word 'investigation', but taking a balanced view, though prayed for by the victims, he should not be impleaded as accused in the case.

324.2 Considering the findings recorded by the trial court, it appears that the same are self-contradictory. The trial court has also mixed up the inaction on the part of the concerned police officer in preventing the offence from being committed with the investigation subsequently carried out by Shri K.K. Mysorewala. Insofar as not taking proper steps for preventing the offence from being committed is concerned, the same is a different aspect and the investigation carried out subsequently is a different aspect and ought not to have been mixed up together.

324.3 From the evidence which has come on record, it is found that out of the witnesses who have implicated A-37 Mayaben Kodnani, PW 104 Mohammadsalim Mohammadhussain Shaikh has deposed that a police jeep came, which halted near the S.T. Workshop. Behind this jeep, Kishan Korani, Manoj Videowala and Murli Sindhi came. After a little while, a white Maruti Franti car came there. He saw Mayaben Kodnani in the car. She spoke to the above three accused and the police in an aggressive tone. Mayaben, the above three accused and the police gestured to the mob and called it back. Mayaben discussed something with the mob in an aggressive tone and left. PW 136 Bashirkhan Nanhekhan Pathan speaks about Mayaben coming in white car near a police vehicle which was parked near the S.T. Workshop and talked to the police, after which the police fired at the Muslims. PW 149 Faridabibi Abdulkadar Khalifa has deposed that K.K. Mysorewala was present at the S.T. Workshop with a Government Jeep, when Mayaben Kodnani came out of the mob and spoke to him. After talking with Mysorewala, Mayaben left, whereafter, the police and private firing commenced. Thus, the witnesses have stated regarding the presence of either K.K. Mysorewala or the police near the S.T. Workshop and Mayaben Kodnani, either alighting from a car, or coming out of the mob, and talking to the police. The trial court, while believing the witnesses to be credible and reliable, has failed to consider that these very witnesses have also implicated the police. Nonetheless, the trial court has given a clean chit to the police and has observed that Shri K.K. Mysorewala should not be impleaded as an accused by taking a balanced view in the matter, overlooking the fact that taking the victims to the hospital after the riots had come to an end was only in the nature of a face saving exercise carried out by Shri Mysorewala and not a laudable act on his part. The fact that the victims were taken to the hospital, would not absolve Shri K.K. Mysorewala from his liability of not having taken proper steps for protecting the residents of the chawls from the mobs who had gathered on the road. The evidence on record clearly indicates that the police on the one hand did not permit the Muslims from the chawls to come out on the highway, but on the other hand facilitated the people in the mob in entering into the chawls and thereafter, turned a blind eye to the happenings in the chawls.

324.4 Insofar as the investigation carried out by Shri P.N. Barot, the second Investigating Officer who was in-charge from 8.3.2002 to 30.4.2002 is concerned, the trial court has found that he has recorded more statements of Hindus than Muslims; he has not carried out any proper investigation to ascertain what kind of inflammable substances had been thrown. Though all the complaints which were tagged along with I-C.R. No.100/2002 were lodged by Muslims, the statements of many Hindus had been recorded and the Investigating Officer had not shown any anxiety to record the statements of the Muslims at the earliest and wasted precious time in recording the statements of Hindus. The trial court has recorded that the Investigating Officer had hardly done any active and result oriented investigation and has not taken any proper steps to collect the evidence of the occurrence.

324.5 As regards the third investigating agency, viz., Shri S.S. Chudasama and the other Investigating Officers who were in-charge of the investigation from time to time, the trial court has noted that Shri Chudasama was required to complete the investigation within a period of thirty four days and he prepared a large team of SIT Officers, including the Police Inspectors and Police Sub Inspectors. All these assignee officers went to the camps and without carrying out any investigation of the crime, simply made announcement and recorded statements of such persons who came in response to the said announcement. Hence, the entire investigation by the Crime Branch was more or less slipshod. The trial court has further noticed that some statements had been recorded in the presence of police officials whose signatures could not be identified by anyone. At times, even the constables had made the endorsements "before me", and hence, such statements appear to have been recorded by the constables, though on paper the investigation was assigned to Assistant Police Commissioner, considering the gravity of the offence. The trial court has found that the entire investigation was carried out mechanically and was of the view that absence of malice or mala fides against the victims is not the only criteria, but the investigation should have been fair, unbiased, sensitive, with all seriousness, quick, effective and able to logically connect the accused with the crime. Most of these qualities were sadly lacking in all the three Investigating Officers.

324.6 The trial court has noted that the investigation done before the SIT was constituted does not inspire confidence of the court as far as the fairness, faithfulness of the record etc. is concerned which could be in an anxiety to see to it that certain bigwigs should not be involved in the crime. The trial court has thereafter referred to the testimony of PW-236 who had stated that the police had refused to record the name of Mayaben as an accused. The trial court has referred to various police statements and certain discrepancies in such statements in recording the name and age etc. of the witness. After referring to various instances wherein such discrepancies have been found, the trial court has recorded thus:

“(e-16) How it can be believed that in all other cases also the statements reflect only genuine account of what the witnesses spoke, as even many of the PWs have disowned much part of their so called statement hence, the only just and proper remedy to the situation is to hold the record of the statements of the previous investigation even of Investigating Officer No.II to be not reliable.

(e-17) In some of the statements, it seems that the description given by the PW was heard hurriedly and halfheartedly and reduced into writing at leisure by the police. It can safely be inferred that the police might not have even invested time and waited for the PW to narrate his entire tale. Therefore, the say of some of the PWs that they have shown and stated on involvement of many accused but police has written names of some of them, is absolutely probable and credible.”

324.7 After opining as above, the trial court has, thereafter, recorded that it cannot forget to mention the situation prevalent then when a number of cases of serious offences were registered on the books and serious incidents were happening every minute, serious law and order threat was faced by the police. It was practically impossible for police to elicit all detailed information from the victims at that time. It is obvious that in such a situation whatever the strength of police force is there, it is found less looking to the workload. Hence, it is improper and unjust to impute any malice or mala fide to police or any bias for Muslims.

324.8 These findings of the trial court are self-contradictory, inasmuch as on one hand, the trial court finds that the concerned Investigating Officers have not paid proper attention to the investigation and most of the statements have been recorded through the assignee officers. That attempts have been made to create a bulk of the record rather than to properly investigate the case. The trial court has also found that had the police thought it fit, they could have arrested people at the site and could have prevented the riots from having escalated to this extent; and that no proper steps were taken to ensure that the investigation is carried out properly, despite which, the trial court finds that it is improper and unjust to impute any malice or mala fides to the police or any bias against the Muslims.

324.9 The evidence on record clearly indicates that till the mobs of Hindus were resorting to vandalism and arson on the national highway, the police, except for attempting to disperse them, made no serious efforts to see that the crowds are actually dispersed. It was only when the mobs attempted to enter inside the chawls and the Muslim residents of the chawls, came out at the corner of the S.T. Workshop and resisted the mob, that the police firing was ordered and though the aggressors were the Hindus, it was the Muslims who were the victims of the police firing. One Hindu and one Muslim died in the police firing and several Muslims were injured. Though several persons were injured in the police firing, no attempts were made by the police to take them to the hospital, despite a specific request having been made on behalf of the Muslims to take the victims to the hospital. As against this, though it was the Hindu mob which was the aggressor, when the Hindus came forward to complain that two Hindus had been dragged inside the chawls, Shri K.K. Mysorewala made it a point to comb the chawls together with his staff to ascertain this fact, however, no steps whatsoever were taken by the police officers and the police personnel posted there to come to the rescue of the Muslim residents when they were attacked by the mobs. Though not a single person was arrested on the road despite curfew having been clamped, Shri K.K. Mysorewala immediately followed the Tata 407 vehicle which was driven by a Muslim youth and he immediately seized the vehicle and brought the driver to the police station. Thus, while all action has been taken against the Muslims, there was no will to take any action against Hindus, who, in fact, were the aggressors at the site. Despite such conduct on the part of the police, it is difficult to fathom as to how the trial court has formed the opinion that no malice or mala fides can be attributed to the police.

324.10 The trial court, after recording the shortcomings in the previous investigation, has come to the conclusion that the contradictions in the statements of the concerned eyewitnesses recorded by the previous investigating agency, as compared with the statements recorded by the SIT, should not be allowed to affect the credibility of those witnesses because it is clear that all previous Investigating Officers did not faithfully record the statements of those witnesses. Such finding of the trial court is very vague, without considering the actual statement of each witness as recorded by different Investigating Officers and assignee officers. When every individual statement is considered, one finds that certain statements have been recorded mechanically as per the whims of the concerned Investigating Officer/assignee officer which deserve to be discarded and ignored; however, not all statements have been recorded in this manner and many statements are true to the record and give a proper version of what the witness has stated, including the names of the accused. While the trial court has stated that the police may have attempted to prevent the names of certain bigwigs from coming on the record, the trial court has not mentioned as to actually who these bigwigs are and the reason for it coming to this conclusion. From the record of the case, the only bigwig amongst the accused is Mayaben Kodnani (A-37), who was an M.L.A. at the time when the incident took place and a Minister when she came to be arraigned as an accused after the SIT came into the picture. Insofar as the remaining accused are concerned, it is not clear as to whom the trial court has referred to as being a bigwig, inasmuch as the names of most of the accused have been recorded by the police in the statements of the witnesses.

324.11 Besides, the findings with regard to the kind of investigation carried out have been recorded prior to the appreciation of the evidence of the individual witnesses, therefore, the trial court could not have blindly relied upon the statement of PW-236 who had stated that though he had given the name of Mayaben before the Naroda Police Station, they had not recorded the same without first discussing regarding the credibility of the concerned witness as to whether he comes across as a credible and reliable witness.

324.12 The trial court, while coming to the conclusion that the previous statements have to be ignored and it is only the statements recorded by the SIT that should be taken into consideration, has not given any legal basis for such conclusion. It is settled legal position that it is the first version which comes on record which is most significant. Therefore, for the purpose of discarding the statements recorded by the police, a specific finding is required to be given qua the individual statement recorded by the concerned Investigating Officer/assignee officer. No general finding could have been given that all statements recorded by the Investigating Officers/assignee officer have not been properly recorded. It is only those statements which are found to have been not properly recorded which could have been discarded or accepted to the extent the same have been recorded correctly. However, all the statements recorded under section 161 of the Code by the previous investigating agencies could not have been discarded and ignored, as has been done by the trial court.

324.13 Besides, one cannot lose sight of the fact that the SIT came into picture in the year 2008, after a period of more than six years. In the intervening period, various agencies came into the picture, like Non-Government Organizations and other organizations which had helped the witnesses. Many of the witnesses who have come forth before the SIT have not sustained any injuries or suffered any loss of life. Therefore, merely because the witnesses come forth and say that their statements were not recorded correctly, is no reason to discard the earlier statements, more so, when majority of the witnesses have stated that they were not aware of the contents of the statements recorded by the police. If the witnesses were not aware of the contents of the statements recorded by the police, there was no question of them being dissatisfied about the investigation as they would have no means of knowing that the names of the accused given by them were not recorded by the police. Therefore, when several agencies have come into play after the previous investigation was carried out, it would be very hazardous to rely upon the statements of the witnesses recorded after six and a half years by the SIT and discarding the previous statements recorded by the police.

324.14 While it may be true that the previous investigation may be defective or that the statements may not have been correctly recorded, however, the damage done is such which cannot be undone merely by recording the statements at a subsequent stage, which are different from the statements recorded previously, without any further investigation to corroborate the version of the witnesses.

324.15 From the evidence of the witnesses even in terms of the statements recorded by the SIT, all that most of them say is that they had seen a particular accused in the mob without attributing any overt act to them. Considering the overall evidence which has come on record as well as the investigation carried out by the SIT, which too, does not inspire much confidence for the reasons that shall be recorded hereafter, the court is of the view that the prior investigation carried out by the police and the statements recorded by them cannot be discarded and ignored while considering the credibility of a witness. It would depend upon the manner in which such statement was recorded as to whether or not the same should be considered for the purpose of bringing out the omissions and contradictions in the testimony of the witness. This court, therefore, is not in agreement with the view taken by the trial court that all the statements of witnesses recorded under section 161 of the Code by the investigating agencies prior to the SIT should not be taken into consideration for the purpose of bringing out the omissions and contradictions in the testimony of the concerned witness. Each statement recorded by the investigating agency has to be considered on its own merits and all the statements recorded by the previous investigating agency cannot be discarded and ignored in this manner. The court has, therefore, appreciated the evidence of the witnesses in the light of the manner in which the individual statement of the witness was recorded. Where the court has found that the statement was not recorded truthfully, the same has been ignored. But in every case, the statements recorded by the previous investigating agency have not been discarded and ignored.

XXV RECORDING OF EVIDENCE BY THE TRIAL COURT AND THE QUALITY OF PROSECUTION BEFORE THE TRIAL COURT:

325. Since both these issues are closely intertwined, it is deemed fit to deal with them together.

325.1 In this case, the testimonies of the witnesses at times run into more than a hundred pages. On a close reading of the depositions it has been found that a considerable portion of the evidence so recorded, is inadmissible in evidence. It appears that during the course of recording of the evidence, the trial court has permitted the learned counsel for the defence to put almost any question to the accused, whether or not it was permissible in law.

325.2 At this stage it may be apposite to refer to certain decisions rendered in the context of the provisions of section 162 of the Code.

325.3 In Raghunath Krishna Mujumale and others v. the State of Maharashtra, 1987 (2) CRIMES 454, a Division Bench of the Bombay High Court held thus:

"17. According to Shri More, the complainant has not referred to this particular aspect even in her statement recorded by the police later on. Similar omission is attributed to Laxmibai also in her police statement. We do not agree with Shri More, or the Sessions Judge that these omissions actually exist in the aforesaid statements of the two witnesses. In her Police Statement complainant Indubai specifically states, 'Baban, Raghunath and Leelabai (appellants Nos. 3, 1 and 4) and so Popat (appellant No. 2) came running towards the well with sticks and iron bars.' So also after naming all the four appellants, Laxmibai has stated in her police statement that appellant No. 1 had a stick in his hands and the others had iron bars with them. Had the learned Judge taken due care, he would have seen that these so-called omissions did not amount to contradictions as contemplated by the Explanation to section 162 Cr.P.C. As our experience goes, quite a few Magistrates and even Sessions Judges are not fully alive to the implications of this provision and admit a number of omissions which do not amount to contradictions. We would discuss the correct legal position in this regard at some length.

18. The Explanation to section 162 Cr.P.C. runs: 'An omission to state a fact or circumstance in the statement referred to in sub-section (1) may amount to a contradiction, if the same appears to be significant and otherwise relevant, having regard to the context in which such omission occurs and whether any omission amounts to a contradiction in the particular context shall be a question of fact.'

In order attract this provision, an omission must in the first place appear to be 'significant'. Then it must be otherwise relevant, having regard to the context in which it occurs. Lastly any question whether an omission amounts contradiction in the particular context has to be decided by the trial Judge as a question of fact on a plain reading of the Explanation. It is evident that it is only when all these requirements are fulfilled, that the omission can be treated as a contradiction and allowed to be proved.

19. To appreciate why this Explanation was incorporated in the Criminal Procedure Code of 1973 we have to go to Tahsildar Singh's case, AIR 1959 SC 1012. Before this decision, there was a difference of opinion amongst the High Courts in the country, whether an omission amounts to a contradiction, merely because it is a material one. Some High Courts took the view that if the omission was material, it amounted to a contradiction and could be brought on the record as a contradiction. Other High Courts took a strict view that an omission, howsoever material, could never amount to a contradiction. In Tahsildar Singh, the Supreme Court by a majority of 4 to 1 endorsed the latter view and held that an omission, unless by necessary implication can be deemed to be part of an express statement, cannot be treated as a contradiction. The Supreme Court pointed out three possible situations in which an omission could by fiction amount to a contradiction. These situations are listed below with illustrations:

“(i) when a recital is necessarily implied from the recital or recitals found in the statement: illustration: in the recorded statement before the police the witness states that he saw. A stabbing B at a particular point of time, but in the witness-box he says that he saw A and C stabbing B at the same point of time; in the statement before the police the word ' only can be implied i.e. the witness saw A only stabbing B;

(ii) a negative aspect of a positive recital in a statement: illustration in the recorded statement before the police the witness says that a dark man stabbed B, but in the witness-box he says that a fair man stabbed B; the earlier statement must be deemed to contain the recital not only that the culprit was a dark complexion man but also that he was not of fair complexion; and

(iii) when the statement before the police and that before the Court cannot stand together: illustration : the witness says in the recorded statement before the police that A after stabbing B ran away by a northern lane, but in the Court he says that immediately after stabbing he ran away towards the southern lane; as he could not have run away immediately after the stabbing i.e., at the same point of time, towards the northern lane, as well as towards the southern lane, if one statement is true, the other must necessarily be false.”

20. The consequence of this decision was that unless an omission fell under one or other of these three descriptions, it could not be brought, on record, although it was material in itself. To mollify the rigour of this interpretation and put the law on an even keel, the Explanation was added to section 162. Now the materiality of an omission decides whether it amounts or does not amount to a contradiction. All the same, in order to decide the materiality, even now the Court has to be satisfied that the omission is significant, and that it is otherwise relevant having regard to the context in which it occurs. In other words, if an omission is insignificant it simply does not amount to a contradiction and should just not be allowed to be brought on record. If and only if a particular omission appears to the trial Judge to be 'significant' and otherwise relevant in the context in which it appears, should he allow it to be proved. Only thereafter the question will arise at the final stage of the appreciation of the evidence, as to what extent, such significant omission casts doubt on the credibility of the witness. This then would be the approach while dealing with omission in police statements."

325.4 In Heramba Lal Ghosh v. Emperor, [1945] Indian Law Reports 326, a Division Bench of the Calcutta High Court observed thus:

"The selection of the parts of the recorded statement, which require to be put to the investigating officer while he is in the witness-box, is a matter which necessitates care on the part of the defence lawyer and vigilance on the part of the Judge. To put too little might be unfair to the witness and to put too much might prejudice the accused. Of course, in practice the selection must be done when the witness is under cross-examination. Later, when the investigating officer is in the witness-box, and is being cross-examined by the defence lawyer, he should be allowed to give evidence with regard to those portions of the recorded statements to which the attention of the witness has been called."

325.5 The trial court while considering the question of "Number of omissions and contradictions" has recorded that in temptation to create more numbers of omissions, the defence kept on adding what in law can never be termed to be omission. In the opinion of this court, if the trial court was itself of the opinion that something which was put to the witness was not an omission or a material contradiction, it was at that stage itself that it ought to have disallowed such questions or suggestions from being put to the witness. Section 162 of the Code is clear and ambiguous; no part of the statement recorded under section 161 of the Code can be used for any purpose. The only exception is that it can be used for contradicting a witness in the manner provided under section 145 of the Evidence Act. Therefore, parts of the statements recorded under section 161 of the Code, which are not referred to for the purpose of contradicting a witness ought not to have been brought on record by the trial court. It has been noticed that during the course of cross-examination, various extracts of the statements under section 161 of the Code were put to the witnesses without suggesting any contradictions and the omissions and contradictions are put to the witness at a much later stage. Moreover, the defence has been permitted to contradict the witness as to all the facts stated in the examination-in-chief, even without any material contradiction being brought out. Had the trial court ensured that the evidence is recorded strictly in compliance with the provisions of section 162 of the Code read with section 145 of the Evidence Act, the evidence would not have been so lengthy. The record of the case has been unnecessarily burdened with a considerable portion of the evidence of many witnesses being inadmissible in evidence. It has been noticed that at the initial stage an objection was raised by the learned Special Public Prosecutor against permitting certain omissions to be put to the witness, which was turned down by the trial court on the ground that it is a matter of appreciation of the evidence. Unfortunately, the matter rested at that and the learned Special Public Prosecutor gave in and subsequently permitted such inadmissible evidence to come on record without raising any objection. Not only that, the learned Assistant Special Public Prosecutors had actively participated in bringing such inadmissible evidence on record. It was shocking to note that when the learned counsel for the defence was putting omissions to a witness and had not referred to a particular paragraph of the examination-in-chief of the witness as an omission, it was the learned Assistant Special Public Prosecutor who pointed out that there was an omission even qua that paragraph. In such a situation, the court wondered whether there was any prosecution at all.

325.6 It may be noted that during the course of the cross-examination of several witnesses, his/her previous statement came to be shown to such witness and the contents thereof were brought on record, without seeking to contradict the witness qua any part of his/her primary statement. First, a question was put to the witness, and thereafter, he/she was sought to be contradicted by the statement recorded by the investigating agency qua what was elicited in the cross-examination. It appears that during the course of recording the testimonies of the witnesses, both the bar and the bench have adopted the path of least confrontation: the trial court, to avoid confrontation with the advocates, and the advocates, to avoid confrontation with the court. This escapist mentality on the part of both, to avoid trouble, rather than strictly follow the path of law, has resulted in delaying the matter and volumes of unnecessary and inadmissible evidence coming on record. This pernicious practice, which has been seen mainly in cases which are under the scrutiny of the media, needs to be

325.7 It has also been found that in case of some witnesses, though they have admitted the omissions as to their previous statements, the concerned assignee officer/Investigating Officer has still been examined to prove such omissions. It is only when a witness denies any omission or contradiction as to his previous statement that such omission or contradiction is required to be proved through the testimony of the Investigating Officer, but when the witness has already admitted the omissions, there was no question of proving such omissions through the testimony of the Investigating Officer. It, however, appears that all these aspects have been thrown to the winds and the testimonies of the witnesses are recorded perfunctorily without adherence to legal principles as well as to facts. It appears that the testimonies of the witnesses have been recorded at leisure as the prosecution did not object to such unnecessary cross-examination.

325.8 Another aspect of the matter is that when several statements of a witness are recorded, the subsequent statements are further statements wherein the witness would normally state what he or she wants to say in addition to what has already been stated by him or her in the previous statement. Therefore, non-mentioning what has already been stated in a previous statement cannot be said to be an omission or contradiction qua the subsequent statement. Despite this clear legal position, during the course of the cross-examination of the witnesses, the learned counsel for the defence have sought to bring out omissions and contradictions qua subsequent statements, even though there is no such omission or contradiction in the previous statement, thereby creating a lot of confusion and unnecessarily increasing the volume of the evidence. At this stage it was the duty of the prosecution to object to such questions being asked, however, (for reasons not far to seek, presumably because the remuneration of the prosecutors is fixed on a per day basis), it appears that the learned Special Public Prosecutor and the Assistant Special Public Prosecutors have not thought it fit to curtail the cross-examination to only that part which is admissible in evidence.

325.9 Similarly in paragraph 11(5) of the judgement the trial court has referred to the working method for the trial of giving complete liberty to the defence..... In the opinion of this court, whether the trial is of a sensitive riot case or an ordinary case, the recording of evidence has to be in accordance with law, and it is only those questions which are permissible in law that can be allowed to be put to the witness. The defence cannot be given complete liberty to bring on record inadmissible evidence as has been done in the present case.

325.10 Though the order passed by the trial court on the application made by the applicant under section 311 of the Code is not subject matter of challenge before this court, a copy thereof is produced along with the application made by accused No.37 under section 391 of the Code. A disturbing aspect which emerges on a reading of the said order is that the court in paragraph (4) (i) of the order has observed thus: “It needs a special note that the defence was permitted to cross-examine the witnesses even from the statement of the witnesses of the I.O. who have not been examined by the prosecution and that the defence was given a free-hand to use any material produced by the prosecution whether the prosecution then after relies on it or not.” A perusal of the testimony of Shri V.V. Chaudhary shows that despite the fact that he had not recorded the statements of the above persons, extracts of their statements recorded under section 161 of the Code have been brought on record, in complete violation of the provisions of section 162 of the Code which completely bar the use of any statement recorded under section 161 of the Code except to the extent provided there under, viz. to contradict a witness in the manner provided under section 145 of the Evidence Act. Accordingly, the Investigating Officer can only prove that part of the statement by which the witness is contradicted. It goes without saying, therefore, that if a witness has not been examined by the prosecution, the question of the Investigating Officer proving the statement of such witness would not arise. The course permitted to be adopted by the trial court therefore is not legally permissible. The learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon that part of the evidence of the said Investigating Officer, whereby he has admitted the statements recorded under section 161 of the Code by another Investigating Officer in another case, of persons who are not examined as witnesses in the present case.

325.11 At this juncture it may be germane to refer to the following extract from the decision of the Bombay High Court in Raghnath Krishna Mujumale and others v. the State of Maharashtra, (supra) which aptly describes the situation in the present case:

“21. We would like to stress that Public Prosecutors also owe a duty to trial courts in this regard, to raise legitimate objection to the admission of insignificant or otherwise irrelevant omissions. Most often than not, the job is left exclusively to the trial Judge who may also-consciously or unconsciously be tempted to choose the path of least resistance by admitting all sorts of omissions on record. Needless to point out, such expedients often cause miscarriage of justice, apart from being against the provisions of law. We would also like to advert to the last part of the proviso to section 162(1) Cr.P.C. which empowers a Prosecutor to use any part of the police statement in the re-examination of a witness, for the purpose of explaining any matter brought forth by the defence in cross-examination by providing a contradiction. It is worthwhile to reproduce the proviso in full, with emphasis on the concluding portion.

“Provided that when any witness called for the prosecution in such inquiry or trial whose statement has been reduced into writing as aforesaid, any part of his statement, if duly proved, may be used by the accused, and with the permission of the Court, by the prosecution, to contradict such witness in the manner provided by section 145 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872; and when any part of such statement is so used any part thereof may also be used in the re-examination of such witness, but for the purpose only of explaining any matter referred to in his cross-examination.”

22. We have seldom come across any case in which this salutary provision has been availed of by a Prosecutor, in order to restore the right perspective to a contradiction brought forth in the cross-examination of a prosecution witness. Obviously the sense in which the Court reads the testimony of such a witness, often gets distorted. At times, this may jeopardise the course of justice-particularly, where the contradiction is in the form of an omission. Such occasions might be rare. But then this palliative would not justify rendering the wholesome provision a dead letter. We hope the Prosecutors in trial Courts shall practise more alertness while dealing with omission and contribute their due share in sound dispensation of justice."

325.12 Another aspect of the matter is that the trial court while recording the evidence of cross-examination of the witnesses in respect of their previous statements, has made elaborate notes below recording whether or not the witness had in fact stated such fact in the previous statement, without waiting for the contradiction to be proved through the testimony of the concerned police officer who recorded such statement. At times, when the note brings out the correct nature of the contradiction, the same is justified. Otherwise it was not permissible for the trial court to take into consideration the previous statement without the concerned Investigating Officer having proved the contradictions. The trial court has commented that it has adopted this course of action considering the nature of the case. In the opinion of this court, the principles of the Evidence Act apply equally to small and big cases and ordinary and sensitive cases and should be strictly adhered to.

325.13 Another notable aspect of the matter, which strictly speaking does not relate to the recording of evidence, but still needs to be mentioned, is that the trial court while considering the complicity of the accused has taken into consideration inadmissible evidence like complaint applications forming part of the C-Summaries filed by the investigating agency, despite observing that these complaints were neither investigated nor tried before the court and hence the defence had not got any opportunity to cross-examine those complainants. The trial court has recorded that it is only after marshalling all the available evidences on record against the accused, when the conscience of the court was satisfied that the guilt of the accused stands proved beyond all reasonable doubts, this circumstance of mention of the name of the accused in the complaints, lying in the record of 'C-Summary', has been called into aid. In the opinion of this court, when the record of the 'C-Summaries' had not been proved in accordance with law, and it was not even brought on record as to who had recorded the complaints which formed part of the C-Summaries, the trial court was not justified in relying upon such inadmissible evidence considering the mention of a name as a circumstance. For consideration of any evidence, whether weak or strong, while determining the complicity of an accused, such evidence has to be admissible in nature. The trial court was, therefore, not justified in taking into consideration inadmissible evidence.

325.14 Insofar as the nature of prosecution is concerned, as noticed earlier, there are various lacunae in the manner in which the matter has been prosecuted before the trial court. Apart from the fact that the learned Special Public Prosecutor has not objected to inadmissible questions being put to the witnesses, important eye-witnesses who had named the accused in their previous statements recorded by the police have been dropped and a large number of witnesses who had not named any accused have been examined.

325.15 The most important witnesses who have not been examined by the prosecution before the trial court are Tarun Tejpal and or Harvinder Baveja from Tehelka to prove that the CDs and DVDs seized by the CBI, in which the sting operation was copied, had been copied from the laptop submitted by PW 322 Ashish Khetan. In view of this important link not being established, the connection between the CDs/DVDs and the recording done by Ashish Khetan could not be established. To make matters worse, even the CDs and DVDs, which contained important electronic documentary evidence insofar as the prosecution is concerned, were not proved in accordance with the provisions of the Evidence Act, and no steps were taken by the prosecution to bring them on record. Had it not been for the trial court passing an order to produce the CDs/DVDs through a production witness, the same would not have been found on the record of the case even in the form of muddamal. Of course the bringing of such CDs/DVDs on record in this manner is of no avail to the prosecution, inasmuch as, unless the contents of the electronic record are proved, the CDs/DVDs are not admissible in evidence and cannot be looked into. Thus, a large part of the evidence of the sting operation has been rendered useless as it was not proved in accordance with law.

325.16 In the incident relating to the death of Hasanali, his sister PW 135 Hussainabanu had recovered a mobile phone of an accused from the scene of offence which came to be handed over to the Police Commissioner Mr. P. C. Pande, who in turn had handed it over to Mr. M. K. Tandon. However, neither of the police officers has been examined as witnesses. While Mr. P.C. Pande has not even been cited as a witness and

Mr. M.K. Tandon, though cited as a witness, has been dropped to avoid repetition of evidence. From the evidence of the witnesses, it is manifest that many witnesses who are not witnesses to any of the incidents have been examined, however, unfortunately an important witness like Shri Tandon, whom it was absolutely necessary to examine to prove the chain of events has been dropped by the prosecution. To make matters worse, no inquest panchnama of the dead body of Hasan Ali has been pointed out to the trial court during the course of trial to show that the dead body of Hasan Ali was recovered from an upside down cot. It may be noted that an inquest panchnama Exhibit 402 is found in the case papers, which has been brought on record at the instance of the defence. The panchnama has been drawn on 2.3.2002 at 16:00 hours. The said panchnama is of the corpse of a male person lying in the compound of the last house in lane No.4 of Hussainnagar. As per the panchnama, a dead body is lying in the open compound of a house and the description of the dead body is given. This panchnama clearly is the inquest panchnama of deceased Hasan Ali; however, this fact has not been brought to the notice of the trial court. Before this court also, the learned counsel for the appellants had asserted that no dead body has been recovered from Jadi Khala's house, which has been tied to an upside down cot. Even at that time, the learned Special Public Prosecutor assisted by the learned Assistant Special Public Prosecutor who had conducted the case before the trial court, was not in a position to point out to the court that in fact an inquest panchnama had been drawn, despite the fact that such a panchnama in fact existed on the record. It is only when the court, on a perusal of the case papers, and the inquest panchnamas, noticed that there was an inquest panchnama which matched with the description with Hasan Ali's incident, and the same was pointed out to the learned counsel for the respective parties, that the learned counsel became aware of the existence of such a panchnama. This reflects the sorry state of affairs as regards the manner in which the entire case was prosecuted before the trial court and also reflects upon the perfunctory manner in which the SIT has prosecuted the case.

325.17 At this juncture reference may be made to the decision of the Supreme Court in NHRC v. State of Gujarat, (2009) 6 SCC 767, wherein the court had issued various directions in connection with the investigation and conduct of trial in cases relating to riots that took place in the aftermath of the Godhra incident. Insofar as appointment of Public Prosecutors is concerned, the Supreme Court directed thus:

“(v) Experienced lawyers familiar with the conduct of criminal trials are to be appointed as Public Prosecutors. In the facts and circumstances of the present case, such Public Prosecutors shall be appointed in consultation with the Chairman of SIT. The suggestions of the State Government indicate acceptance of this proposal. It shall be open to the Chairman of SIT to seek change of any Public Prosecutor so appointed if any deficiency in performance is noticed. If it appears that a trial is not proceeding as it should, and the Chairman of SIT is satisfied that the situation calls for a change of the Public Prosecutor or the appointment of an Additional Public Prosecutor, to either assist or lead the existing Public Prosecutor, he may make a request to this effect to the Advocate General of the State, who shall take appropriate action in light of the recommendation by SIT.”

325.18 Since the appointments of the learned Special Public Prosecutor as well as the learned Assistant Special Public Prosecutors have been made pursuant to the above directions of the Supreme Court in consultation with the Chairman of the SIT, it can be safely presumed that they are all experienced lawyers familiar with the conduct of criminal trials. Therefore, it is difficult to believe that they would not be aware of the provisions of section 65B of Evidence Act regarding admissibility of electronic records. Consequently, it is unfathomable as to why no efforts were made to prove the information contained in the CDs and DVDs of the sting operation as envisaged in section 65B of the Act. If the learned Special Public Prosecutor and his Assistant Special Public Prosecutors were not aware of these basic provisions of law, the Chairman of the SIT has not taken care to ensure that the directions of the Supreme Court in connection with the appointment of Public Prosecutors are complied with in letter and spirit. If the learned Special Public Prosecutor was aware of the provisions of law, but still did not take any steps to ensure that the electronic record is proved in accordance with law, it would give rise to a belief that either for reasons best known to the learned Special Public Prosecutor, such evidence has deliberately not been proved or that the learned Special Public Prosecutor and Assistant Special Public Prosecutors have been grossly negligent in the discharge of their duties. As one stage the court was contemplating sending the matter for retrial, however, considering the volume of the case as well as the fact that delay in the trial has already adversely affected the prosecution case, it was thought fit in the interest of justice to decide the case on the basis of the available evidence.

XXVI SPECIFIC INCIDENTS REFERRED TO BY SEVERAL WITNESSES:INCIDENT PERTAINING TO THE DEATH OF AYUB:

326. Mr. Y. S. Lakhani, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the incident pertaining to the death of Ayub is stated by multiple prosecution witnesses, namely, No.140, 143, 149, 156, 213, 224, 226 and 231. It was submitted that on a conjoint reading of the evidence given by the said witnesses pertaining to the said incident, there are multiple discrepancies and contradictions which cast a serious doubt over such witnesses being actual eyewitnesses to the incident.

326.1 Reference was made to the relevant parts of the testimonies of the above witnesses to submit that from the statements made by the witnesses in their depositions, it transpires that there is no consistency pertaining to the evidence on record about the said incident, more particularly, about the involvement of the accused, place of incident, manner of incident, etc. amongst the so-called eyewitnesses nor is the same supported by other evidence on record being the postmortem report of Ayub Exhibit-624 produced on record by medical witness PW-100, inquest report below Exhibit-622 as well as the panchnama of rickshaw below Exhibits 950 and 952.

326.2 Mr. B. B. Naik, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that so far as the incident of Ayub is concerned, six prosecution witnesses have deposed in this regard before the court. There is great variance between the testimonies of these witnesses about the time of incident, place of incident and the accused involved in the incident.

326.3 As pointed out by the learned counsel for the appellants, in all, eight witnesses have referred to the incident relating to the death of Ayub.

(i) PW-140 Shakurbhai Tajubhai Shaikh has stated that at around 5 o'clock in the evening he had seen Ayub jump from the terrace and upon his jumping, Guddu Chhara had struck him with a dharia (scythe) and other persons had also hit Ayub with rods, and kerosene and petrol were sprinkled on him. Ayub was then put in a rickshaw belonging to the witness, which was lying near the S.R.P. Quarters and set ablaze.

In his cross-examination, a contradiction has been brought out which has been proved through the testimony of PW-278 Shri R. B. Joshi, the assignee officer, to the effect that this witness had stated that Ayub, son of Allabax who was residing in their chawl was burnt in a rickshaw and that since it was evening time, he could not see anybody's face.

Thus, this witness has been consistent insofar as the occurrence of the incident is concerned, he, however, has improved upon the original version and implicated Guddu in the incident.

(ii) PW-143 Dildar Umrao Saiyed had stated that after 5:30 to 6:00 while trying to flee, somebody struck him on his right leg with a sword due to which, his leg was bruised. At that time, he went and sat on a nearby staircase. In this incident, out of fear, Ayub jumped from the terrace and both his legs were fractured. Dataniya, Bipin, Murli and Guddu lifted Ayub and put him in a rickshaw lying there and from a kerosene can brought by Tiniyo, they poured kerosene on the rickshaw and set it ablaze with Ayub. The witness has stated that this incident had taken place at around 6:15 to 6:30.

While appreciating the evidence of this witness, the court has taken note of the fact this version did not form part of this earlier statement and has come up for the first time before the SIT and therefore, it is doubtful whether the witness has seen the incident of Ayub.

(iii) PW-149 Faridabanu Abdulkadar Khalifa has deposed that after the breaking of the Jawannagar wall, a boy named Ayub upon seeing the mob near his house at Jawannagar, out of fear, jumped from the terrace and sustained injuries on both his legs. Ayub could not stand due to his injuries and the people in the mob lifted him and put him in a rickshaw and set it on fire. She had seen them burning Ayub alive with her own eyes.

From the cross-examination of this witness an omission has been brought out that in her statement dated 12.5.2002, she had not referred to this incident. Under the circumstances, reference to this incident at a subsequent stage is in the nature of improvement and cannot be relied upon.

(iv) PW-156 Abdulmajid Mahammadusman Shaikh has stated that he does not remember the exact time; however, they had gone to a terrace of Gangotri Society in the afternoon. From the terrace of Gangotri Society he saw Guddu Chhara, Guddu Chhara's two brothers Tiniyo and others all of whom had swords, sticks and kerosene cans in their hands. They had attacked Ayub, Allabax's son. They put him in a rickshaw near the compound wall of the S.R.P. Quarters and near Abeda's house in the last lane of Jawannagar and had burnt him.

Insofar the statement dated 15.4.2002 of this witness is concerned, the omission is regarding not having stated about the spot where Ayub was set ablaze as well as the fact regarding Ayub being put in a rickshaw and burnt. However, there is no omission regarding the witness having stated that from the terrace of Gangotri Society he had seen Guddu Chhara and his two brothers, Tiniyo and others and all of them had swords, sticks, kerosene cans etc. in their hands and they had attacked Allabax's son Ayub. Therefore, this witness has in fact referred to the incident of Ayub having taken place after 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The witness has identified Guddu's brother accused No.10 in the court whereas accused No.1 Naresh had filed an exemption application and is deemed to have been identified. Therefore, through the testimony of this witness, the involvement of these two accused in the incident of killing Ayub is established.

(v) PW-213 Hasibkhan Achchankhan Pathan has deposed that at around 4:00 to 5:00 in the afternoon he ran and climbed a staircase and hid on the terrace. At this time, in the pushing and pulling that was going on on the terrace, a boy of their locality named Ayub fell down and injured his legs and he could not walk. Upon his falling down somebody had made him sit in a rickshaw. Bipin Panchal, Guddu and Bhavanisingh came near his rickshaw where Ayub was sitting in the rickshaw and set the rickshaw on fire. He could see all this from the terrace where he was and he had witnessed all this with his own eyes.

While bringing on record the omissions and contradictions as to the statement dated 17.7.2002 of this witness, his attention has not been drawn to specific parts of his examination-in-chief, but a general suggestion has been made that none of the facts stated by him in his examination-in-chief had been stated in his statement dated 17.7.2002. Thus, the provisions of section 145 of the Evidence Act have not been strictly complied with. Subsequently, a specific omission in connection with this incident is sought to be proved through the testimony of the concerned assignee officer. Thus, the omission cannot be said to have been proved in accordance with law.

(vi) PW-224 Chandbhai Abdulrasid Shaikh has deposed that they were standing near the S.R.P. Quarters. The mob came to their chawls and started assaulting, hacking and burning. The mob burnt a boy named Ayub near the S.R.P. compound wall.

On behalf of the appellants it was submitted that the witness has stated that the mob had set Ayub on fire. It was submitted that if he had seen the incident, he would have stated two facts. Firstly, regarding Ayub jumping from the terrace and receiving injury and secondly, Ayub being set on fire in a rickshaw. It was submitted that these facts are prominently missing and, therefore, even if the witness says so, for the first time before the court, he is not to be believed.

This court after considering the testimony of this witness has found that insofar as reference to the incident of a boy named Ayub being set ablaze near the S.R.P. compound wall is concerned, such fact was not mentioned by the witness in his previous statement, and hence, is a subsequent improvement.

(vii) PW-226 Salim Allabax Shaikh is the brother of deceased Ayub. He has stated that before his brother was set on fire, two to three persons had brought him and made him sit near a lane and he had come to know that his brother had sustained a fracture and upon coming to know where he was sitting, he took his younger brother and went and saw his elder brother Ayub and came to know that his legs had been fractured. He and his younger brother lifted his elder brother Ayub and seated him in a house where other people were also sitting. After they had seated his brother and mother at that place, Guddu had seen them and gone away. Thereafter, he took his younger brother and went to inquire about his family members who were sitting in Gangotri Society. When he went to Gangotri Society, he learnt that his elder brother had been burnt to death.

This court after appreciating the evidence of this witness, has found that the testimony of this witness with regard to the incident of Ayub does not inspire confidence inasmuch as majority of the witnesses have stated that after Ayub jumped/fell from the terrace, some of the accused had assaulted him, put him in a rickshaw and set him ablaze, whereas as per the version given by this witness, Ayub had fractured his leg, thereafter he and his brother lifted him and took him to a house and subsequently the accused had burnt him. Even otherwise, this version given by this witness has come for the first time in his statement recorded by the SIT.

(viii) PW-231 Zulekhabibi Mohmmad Ayub Shaikh is the wife of deceased Ayub. She has deposed that when the mob entered her house and placed a gas cylinder and set it on fire, her husband was at home. At this time, her husband who was on the terrace of his house fell down from the terrace and fractured both his legs. Thereafter, in the evening she saw from the terrace that Guddu Chhara had pulled her husband and taken him to the last lane of Jawannagar where Bhavani was present. Guddu, Suresh and Bhavani hacked her husband and put him in a rickshaw and poured inflammable substance and set him ablaze.

To prove the omissions as to her previous statement recorded by the police, the defence has cross-examined the concerned assignee officer, who has admitted that the witness had stated the facts regarding her husband being burnt, but had not stated as to who had set him ablaze and had also not stated the names of the accused before him.

Insofar as this witness is concerned, the version given by this witness is contrary to the version given by the other witnesses, who have stated that the incident of Ayub falling down from the terrace and being assaulted and put in a rickshaw and burnt, took place sequentially at a time, whereas this witness has referred to her husband falling and after a considerable time thereafter, the above three persons having brought him there and put him in a rickshaw and set him ablaze. The witness has admitted that in her police statement, she had stated that she does not know the persons who have killed her husband and cannot recognise them even if they are shown to her.

Nonetheless, on an overall appreciation of the evidence of this witness, it is found that she is consistent insofar as her husband being burnt to death near the S.R.P. Quarters compound wall is concerned.

326.4 FINDINGS: Thus, in respect of the manner in which Ayub died many versions have come forth in the testimonies of different witnesses. However, there is a common thread in the testimonies of majority of the witnesses, viz., that upon seeing the mob, out of fear, Ayub jumped from the terrace and fractured his legs and some people from the mob had assaulted him and put him in a rickshaw and poured inflammable substance on him and set him ablaze.

326.5 On behalf of the appellants it has been submitted that the witnesses have referred to a rickshaw in which the incident of Ayub is stated to have taken place; however, no such remnants of a human body are found in any rickshaw near the S.R.P. Quarters compound wall, nor is there any scientific investigation made by the prosecution to prove this fact beyond reasonable doubt.

326.6 At this juncture reference may be made to the Inquest Panchnama Exhibit 1333 (Volume 97) drawn at 11:30 on 1.3.2002. The said panchnama refers to an auto rickshaw

No.G.J.-7.V-9913 lying in front of bungalow No.32 of Gangotri Society. On the backseat of the auto rickshaw the dead body of a small male child aged about 10 years is lying. The dead body is lying upside down. On the body there is a soiled white bush shirt and blue shorts. Upon turning the dead body and examining it, it is badly burnt and the skin has peeled. Eyes are closed and saliva is coming out of his mouth, which is the dead body of an unknown child.

326.7 Thus, while there is no evidence on record to show that there was a dead body seen in a rickshaw near the S.R.P. compound wall, one dead body in a rickshaw has been found in front of a bungalow in Gangotri Society. Since during the course of investigation, it has not been established as to whether this rickshaw was standing anywhere near the S.R.P. Quarters compound wall and no correlation has been established between the body found from the rickshaw and the post mortem report, it is not possible to establish the connection with the dead body in the rickshaw with the incident of Ayub. Nonetheless, from the testimonies of the witnesses as discussed above, to the extent found credible, insofar as the occurrence of the incident is concerned, the same cannot be doubted inasmuch as majority of the witnesses are consistent in their version about Ayub having jumped from the terrace and injured his legs and having been put by the mob in a rickshaw and set ablaze. The fact that the investigating agencies have not collected evidence to corroborate such version cannot be given undue importance considering the perfunctory manner in which the investigation has been conducted in the face of the ocular evidence that has come on record. While the involvement of the accused named by some of the witnesses in this incident may not be believed in view of the discrepancies in the testimonies of such witnesses, insofar as PW 156 Abdulmajid Mahammadusman Shaikh is concerned, he has been consistent in his previous statement as well as in his testimony before the court regarding the involvement of Guddu Chhara's two brothers, viz. accused No.1 Naresh Chhara and accused No.10 Haresh Chhara.

RANJIT INCIDENT

327. From the testimonies of the police witnesses, it emerges that a representation came to be made by the Hindus that a Hindu youth was dragged into the chawls and had been done to death. A badly mutilated body of a Hindu boy was found from the Jawannagar pit and an ambulance was called and the dead body was sent to the hospital. The name of the youth is stated to be Ranjit.

327.1 It is the consistent case of the police witnesses that one of the reasons for the mob becoming aggressive was the finding of this mutilated body of a Hindu youth. In this regard, it may be noted that a first information report came to be lodged in connection with the death of Ranjit. Subsequent thereto, a charge-sheet came to be filed and trial came to be conducted. The trial court, by judgment and order dated 31.8.2004 passed in Sessions Case No.241 and 242 of 2003, wherein one Ismail Chhotubhai Kacharia and Hasibkhan alias Asif Raju Achankhan Pathan were arraigned as accused in connection with the death of Ranjitsingh Nathusingh, acquitted both the accused. The judgment has been produced on record as Exhibit-1532. A perusal of the said judgment reveals that the trial court has found that the body was not identified to be that of Ranjitsingh; the first information report was lodged belatedly on 10.3.2002, though the first informant, namely, the brother of Ranjit had visited the hospital on the same day; there was no evidence to show that Ranjit was killed by a Muslim; the sole eyewitness had stated that he had named the accused at the instance of the police; as per the eyewitnesses, there was no violence between the mobs in the khada at 12:00 in the afternoon. A perusal of the judgment reveals that there is no reference therein as to how the body was taken to the Civil Hospital and who took it.

327.2 Thus, the version given by the witnesses on the record to a youth named Ranjit being killed by Muslims does not find support in the judgment passed by the trial court.

INCIDENT PERTAINING TO THE DEATH OF KAUSARBANU:

328. Another incident which has been referred to by several witnesses is the incident relating to the death of a pregnant lady named Kausarbanu.

328.1 Mr. Y.S. Lakhani, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the incident pertaining to the death of Kausarbanu has been stated by multiple witnesses, viz., PW-142 Zannatbibi Kallubhai Shaikh, PW-147 Reshmabanu Nadeembhai Saiyed, PW-158 Naeemuddin Ibrahim Shaikh, PW-225 Firoz alias Babakhwaja Moyuddin Shaikh and PW-228 Javed Ismail Shaikh. It was submitted that on a conjoint perusal of the evidence adduced by the said witnesses and more particularly, the incrimination of the accused post the telecast of the sting operation, casts a serious doubt about the evidence pertaining to the said incident and involvement of the accused persons.

328.2 It was pointed out that PW-142 Zannatbibi Kallubhai Shaikh states that between 16:00 to 16:30 hours, in the by-lanes between Gopinath and Gangotri Society, accused No.18 had given a sword blow and had removed the foetus from the womb of Kausarbanu and thereafter, both of them were burnt after kerosene was poured over her by Bhavani and his daughter. PW-147 Reshmabanu Nadeembhai Saiyed states that sometime between 17:00 to 17:30 hours, near the S.R.P. Quarters, Kausarbanu was killed with a sword and was thereafter burnt by Guddu, Bhavani and Suresh (A-22). PW-158 Naeemuddin Ibrahim Shaikh states that the incident of killing Kausarbanu had taken place near the water tank at around 19:00 hours, however, this witness does not implicate any accused person in any manner whatsoever. PW-225 Firoz alias Babakhwaja Moyuddin Shaikh, who is the husband of Kausarbanu, has deposed that at around 16:00 hours, certain persons who had covered their faces with cloths, had killed Kausarbanu with sword at Jawannagar khada and PW-228 Javed Ismail Shaikh states that sometime between 18:30 to 19:00 hours, accused No.18 had killed Kausarbanu with a sword near the water tank and thereafter, had removed the foetus from the womb with a sword.

328.3 It was pointed out that there is a post-mortem report (Exhibit-657) of a pregnant lady on the record of the case which was prepared by PW-103 Dr. Jayant Somabhai Kanoria. It was submitted that a perusal of the post-mortem report shows that the foetus is intact. Therefore, from a perusal of the medical evidence on record it is evident that the ocular evidence is not in consonance therewith and therefore, the entire version of a sword blow having been inflicted on Kausarbanu's stomach and the foetus having been taken out on its tip appears to be incorrect and the result of tutoring. It was submitted that there are material discrepancies pertaining to the involvement of accused No.18 in the alleged offence and pertinently, this accused is sought to be involved only in the year 2008 after the sting operation came to be conducted and "Operation Kalank" came to be telecast.

328.4 As regards the accused alleged to be involved in the incident, it was submitted that Reshmabanu Nadeembhai Saiyed (PW-147), who has stated that she had seen the incident, has implicated only Guddu Suresh and Bhavani and she does not implicate Babu Bajrangi. Zannatbibhi Kallubhai Shaikh (PW-142) in all her statements does not name Babu Bajrangi and she has made allegations against Guddu, Bhavani, Suresh and Manu and for the first time in the court, the name of A-18 Babu Bajrangi is brought in, which clearly indicates that A-18 is specifically targeted for his apparent false implication and the witnesses were so tutored to name him and identify. It was, accordingly, urged that it is absolutely not believable that any such incident has taken place at the hands of A-18 Babu Bajrangi. It was submitted that if the mob had killed Kausarbanu on the side of Gopinath, it is highly improbable that PW-228 Javed Ismail Shaikh could have seen the incident from where he was hiding. It was submitted that if he was hiding, he could not have seen the incident even if it took place on the road outside the passage as there were many people in the passage.

328.5 In the backdrop of the above contentions, reference may be made to the relevant part of the testimonies of the witnesses who have referred to this incident.

(i) PW-142 Zannatbibi Kallubhai Shaikh has deposed that a little while after 4:30 in the evening Bhavanisingh caught and brought Kausarbanu in a passage between the Gopinathnagar and Gangotri Society. She was shouting "I am in the last stage of my pregnancy, for the sake of Allah, please spare me." However, they did not spare her and at that time, Babu Bajrangi came and struck her with a sword on her stomach and took out her foetus and thrust the sword into it and lifted it and told her "Look, before it could come into the world, your child has been killed." Thereafter, Bhavanisingh's daughter brought some kerosene for him and Kausarbanu and her child were burnt on the spot.

In her cross-examination she has stated that the sword blow inflicted on Kausarbanu was on her stomach. She has denied that when Kausarbanu fell the foetus fell out of her womb. She has stated that the foetus was taken out on a sword. She has admitted that after taking out the foetus on the sword, it was lifted up and twirled. She has stated that the foetus was then burnt with its mother. She has admitted that both Kausarbanu and the foetus were fully burnt in the incident on the spot.

This witness has not given the name of Kausarbanu in her police statement. In the opinion of this court, insofar as non-reference to the name of Kausarbanu in her police statement is concerned, it may be that the witness may not be aware of her name at that time but may have subsequently heard that the pregnant woman who was killed at the passage of the water tank was Kausarbanu. However, not naming Kausarbanu would not detract from the fact that the witness, at the first point of time, has referred to a pregnant woman whose womb was slit with a sword and the foetus was taken out on the tip of the sword and swirled around. There is a discrepancy in naming the accused person to whom this role is attributed. Before the police she had named Guddu, before the SIT she had named Jai Bhavani and before the court she had named Babu Bajrangi. Thus, while there is no discrepancy in narrating the incident, there is a discrepancy in naming the accused. Therefore, to the extent the witness has improved upon her original statement recorded by the police and named other accused persons, the evidence of the witness cannot be said to be consistent, so as to rely upon the same to incriminate those accused.

(ii) PW-147 Reshmabanu Nadeembhai Saiyed: This witness has deposed that at around 5:00 to 5:30 in the evening Guddu Chhara, Bhavanisingh and Suresh Langdo and their friends brought her friend Kausarbanu by pulling her. She was screaming "let me go, let me go". At this time, Kausarbanu was struck with a sword on her stomach and the foetus was taken out of her womb. Kausarbanu fell down there, whereafter, the foetus was thrown on her and they were set ablaze there, and were burnt.

From the testimony of this witness, it emerges that before the police while she had narrated the incident of a pregnant woman's stomach being slit with a sword and the foetus being taken out and the woman being thrown in the fire, she had not named the woman or the perpetrators of the offence and had merely referred to them as belonging to the Sindhi and Chhara communities. However, in her affidavit dated 17th November, 2003, the witness has stated that the woman's name was Kausarbanu and has also named all the three persons named by her in her examination-in-chief. She has stated therein that Bhavani Singh killed her by prodding the sword in her stomach and taking out her foetus. In her examination-in-chief the witness has not named the person who had inflicted the sword blow, but in her cross-examination it has been brought out that in her affidavit while such role is attributed to Bhavani Singh, in fact, it was Guddu Chhara whom she had named. Since the name of Guddu Chhara has been elicited in her cross-examination, it cannot be said that the witness has improved her version, though there is a material omission insofar as naming the victim is concerned. It may be noted that though the name of the victim is not mentioned in the police statement, the witness has named her soon thereafter, in her affidavit dated 17th November, 2003. In any case, to the extent the witness has stated that a pregnant woman's stomach was slit and the foetus was taken out, she is consistent throughout.

(ii) PW-158 Naemuddin Ibrahim Shaikh: This witness has deposed that Kausarbanu's mother and her maternal aunt died at the water tank spot. Kausarbanu was pregnant; she also died on the spot. This witness does not refer to the manner in which Kausarbanu was killed but does say that she died at the spot near the water tank.

(iii) PW-225 Firoz alias Baba Khwajamoyuddin Shaikh: This witness is the husband of deceased Kausarbanu. He has deposed that at around 4 o'clock in the afternoon he saw his mother-in-law and his wife in the Jawannagar Khada (pit). His wife was pregnant and the time for her delivery was very near. He saw that the people in the mob had surrounded his mother-in-law and his wife and a person with a cloth tied over his face inflicted a blow with a sword on his wife.

While appreciating the evidence of this witness, this court has found him to be a chance witness, who appeared to be at the spot by chance. It was further noticed that the statement of this witness was not recorded at the relevant time when the incident took place and the belated version of the incident as given by this witness, is contrary to the version given by other witnesses. From the evidence on record it emerges that Kausarbanu, the wife of this witness, was killed near the passage of the water tank and not a single other witness has narrated any such incident having taken place Jawannagar Khada. This witness has not been found to be a credible or trustworthy witness.

(v) PW-228 Javed Ismail Shaikh: This witness has deposed that the incident took place at around 6:30 to 7:00 in the evening. He saw that his maternal aunt's daughter Kausarbanu, wife of Khalid Noormahammad Shaikh was also there at the time of the incident. She was trying to save herself from the mob. At that time, four people had caught hold of her. He saw Babu Bajrangi striking a blow with a sword on her stomach and cutting it open. Babu Bajrangi took out her foetus on the tip of the sword and swirled the foetus and threw it into the fire. Like other people were thrown into the fire, these people also threw Kausarbanu in the fire.

This witness is a cousin of Kausarbanu. Upon appreciation of the evidence of this witness, this court has found that while the narration of the incident of Kausarbanu by this witness appears to be truthful and credible, the naming of the accused at a belated stage cannot be accepted.

Inquest Panchnama and Postmortem Report: In the inquest panchnama Exhibit 662, which is a common panchnama of the fifty eight persons who died in the passage of the water tank, at item No.7, there is reference to the dead body of a woman aged about 40 years in a naked condition whose hands and legs are in a foetal position and burnt. The skin of her body is turned black as the entire body has been burnt. She appears to be a pregnant. The nails of her left leg are burnt and the mass of muscle has come out. The post-mortem report No.575, which is alleged to be of the deceased, is exhibited as Exhibit 657. It may be noted that at the relevant time when the autopsy was conducted the identity of the deceased was not revealed. Subsequently, by virtue of a communication of the Assistant Police Commissioner Crime, Ahmedabad dated 13.8.04; the name of Kausarbanu came to be inserted in the post-mortem report. Dr. J.S. Kanoria, the medical officer who conducted the post mortem, has admitted the contents of the report except for the endorsement at the top whereby the name of Kausarbanu has been written on the basis of the above referred communication. The P.M. Report has been exhibited as Exhibit 657 except for the endorsement on top. Therefore, the said post mortem report cannot be read into evidence as the post mortem report of Kausarbanu. The Medical Officer, however, has deposed that while performing the postmortem of the dead body (Exhibit-657), he had removed the developed foetus from the uterus of the dead body, and then measured the same. Then he had concluded it to be of 2500 grams and had also measured the length of the foetus which as noticed was 45 cms. The witness has admitted that until he removed the foetus from the uterus of the dead body, he did not find any external injuries on the foetus. The witness has admitted that in his opinion, the death of this dead body was only due to burn injuries sustained by the deceased and for no other cause. The witness has admitted that none of the injuries as per his observations noted against column 21 is of penetrated or of incised wound. Based on the testimony of the Medical Officer, the learned counsel for the appellants has contended that the medical evidence falsifies the ocular evidence and that no such incident has taken place.

328.6 FINDINGS: From the evidence of the witnesses as referred to hereinabove, while the involvement of any accused in the incident has not been established, the prosecution has proved beyond doubt the place and manner in which Kausarbanu was killed, viz. the incident took place near the passage of water tank and a sword was struck on her stomach, the foetus was taken out on the tip of the sword and swirled around and thrown and both Kausarbanu and the foetus were set ablaze. Insofar as the medical evidence is concerned, it may be germane to refer to the decision of the Supreme Court in State of U.P. v. Krishna Gopal, (1988) 4 SCC 302, wherein it has been held thus:

“24. It is trite that where the eyewitnesses’ account is found credible and trustworthy, medical opinion pointing to alternative possibilities is not accepted as conclusive. Witnesses, as Bantham said, are the eyes and ears of justice. Hence the importance and primacy of the orality of the trial process. Eyewitnesses’ account would require a careful independent assessment and evaluation for their credibility which should not be adversely prejudged making any other evidence, including medical evidence, as the sole touchstone for the test of such credibility. The evidence must be tested for its inherent consistency and the inherent probability of the story; consistency with the account of other witnesses held to be creditworthy; consistency with the undisputed facts; the ‘credit’ of the witnesses; their performance in the witness box; their power of observation etc. Then the probative value of such evidence becomes eligible to be put into the scales for a cumulative evaluation.

328.7 This decision was subsequently followed by the Supreme Court in Gangadhar Behera v. State of Orissa, (2002) 8 SCC 381. On a cumulative evaluation of the evidence of the witnesses this court is of the view that in the face of the reliable ocular evidence, the medical evidence which is contrary thereto, and more so, when it is not established that the post-mortem report is of deceased Kausarbanu, cannot be given primacy.

INCIDENT PERTAINING TO THE DEATH OF JADIKHALA:

329. Mr. Y.S. Lakhani, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that four witnesses have referred to the incident of the killing of Jadikhala, viz., PW-72 Shakinabanu Firozahmad Ansari, PW-158 Naeemuddin Ibrahim Shaikh, PW-198 Harun Mahammadbhai Shaikh and PW-219 Noorbanu Zakirhussain Saiyed. It was submitted that however, there are material discrepancies in relation to the said incident as deposed by the above witnesses. It was contended that it is trite rule of law that if an alleged incident is witnessed by multiple witnesses, it ought to have a similar role being attributed to the accused involved in the alleged incident as well as the manner, time and place pertaining to the said incident. However, in the present case, the implication of the accused as well as the manner, time and place varies from witness to witness, which casts a serious doubt about the trustworthiness of the witnesses as well as the involvement of the accused in the alleged incident. It was pointed out that PW-72 Shakinabanu Firozahmad Ansari has referred to the incident pertaining to Jadikhala; she, however, is not an eyewitness, but is merely a hearsay witness. She has categorically stated that she had heard people talking that Jadikhala had been burnt. It was submitted that PW-158 Naeemuddin Ibrahim Shaikh also stated that the incident of Jadikhala had occurred near the water tank at around 17:00 hours, but the witness has not involved any particular accused in the commission of the incident. It was pointed out that PW-198 Harun Mahammadbhai Shaikh has stated that the incident of Jadikhala had taken place on the ground near Teesra Kuva at around 16:30 hours. According to the said witness, the body of Jadikhala was thereafter thrown in the well; however, upon examination of the well by witnesses like PW-284, PW-307 and PW-269, the assertion of PW-198 is falsified. Therefore, the fact regarding him being a witness to the incident of Jadikhala is not proved and rather casts a serious doubt about the authenticity of the evidence given by the said witness. It was pointed out that PW-219 Noorbanu Zakirhussain Saiyed has also stated about the incident of Jadikhala. However, again the narration as given by the said witness varies in material parts from the narration given by the other witnesses who claim to have witnessed the said incident. It was pointed out that this witness has stated that the incident had taken place near the house of Jaybhavani wherein Jaybhavani and his daughter had given kerosene soaked mattresses and Guddu had burnt the same, however, the said version is contrary to the other evidence on record.

329.1 It was submitted that there is variation in the evidence of each witness insofar as time, place, manner and involvement of each accused person is concerned. In fact, the case put forth by the prosecution is to the effect that Jadikhala was killed at the passage of the water tank, whereas the body of Jadikhala was found four days after the incident from a closed house in Jawannagar and no explanation pertaining to the same has been put forth by the prosecution. It was urged that the prosecution case is not in consonance with the other material on record as the incident of Jadikhala has not been proved beyond reasonable doubt, much less the involvement of the accused persons in the commission of the said incident.

329.2 One of the victims stated to have been killed in the incident that took place near the passage of the water tank is Hajrabibi, who was also known as Jadikhala. In all four witnesses have deposed about the incident in which Jadikhala died.

(i) PW-72 Shakilabanu Firozahmad Ansari has deposed that she was hiding on a terrace where there were other Muslim persons also and they were talking and saying that Jadikhala and Hasanbhai Golawala of their mohalla had also been burnt alive. Thus, this witness has no personal knowledge about the incident and her evidence is based on hearsay.

(ii) PW-158 Naemuddin Ibrahim Shaikh has deposed that a mob comprised of the people of Gangotri and Gopinath Society and others, including four women, poured kerosene over his entire family, namely, his mother Abedabibi, his sister Saidabanu, Saidabanu's daughter Gulnazbanu, Jadikhala and Kudratbibi's family and set them ablaze. His sister Saidabanu was severely burnt. Jadikhala and her two grandsons also died in the incident. Thus, this witness talks about Jadikhala having been killed in the incident near the passage of the water tank.

After appreciation of the evidence of this witness, the court has found that this witness is an injured eyewitness and to the extent he has deposed about all the persons referred to hereinabove being with him and being killed or injured in the incident that took place at the passage of the water tank, he is consistent right from the beginning, and therefore, through the testimony of this witness it is established that the main massacre took place at the passage of the water tank and the persons named by him either died or were injured in the incident that took place there.

(iii) PW-198 Harun Mahammadbhai Shaikh: This witness has not referred to the incident of Jadikhala in his examination-in-chief. However, in his cross-examination it has been elicited that he knows Jadikhala and that he had not seen the Jadikhala incident at 4:30 in the evening near the water tank. He has stated that he has seen Jadikhala's incident near the open ground, near Teesra Kuva and has denied that the Jadikhala incident took place at Jawannagar. He has admitted that Jadikhala was assaulted near Teesra Kuva. He has denied that she was set ablaze and has clarified that she was killed and hacked on the open ground and set ablaze and thereafter she was thrown in the well. He has admitted that he has seen this incident himself. The witness has asserted that he has seen Jadikhala being killed and hacked as well as burnt and he had seen her being thrown in the well in a burning condition. After appreciating the evidence of this witness the court has found that he does not come across as a credible and truthful witness.

(iv) PW-219 Noorbanu Zakirhussain Saiyed this witness has deposed that she was hiding under a paan-cabin and saw a mob outside Jaybhavani's house. Guddu and other people were there in the mob. They used quilts on which kerosene had been sprinkled and set Jadikhala, Noori and Jadikhala's grandson on fire. In the act of burning them in this manner, Jaybhavani and his younger daughter had also participated.

The witness has stated that in the mob which was burning her maternal aunt Jadikhala, her grandson and Noori, a boy named Suresh was also present. In her cross-examination an omission amounting to a contradiction has been brought on record that in her statement dated 17.5.2002, she has not stated any fact regarding her having seen the incident of Jadikhala, Noori and Jadikhala's grandson or named the accused or the role played by them. The omission has been proved through the cross-examination of the concerned assignee officer who had recorded her statement. Thus, this version has come on record for the first time before the SIT. This court after appreciating the evidence of this witness has found that she could not have seen the incident from under the paan cabin as claimed by her. Considering the overall testimony of this witness, this court has found that she does not come across as a truthful witness and her testimony is full of improvements, exaggerations and embellishments.

329.3 FINDINGS: From the testimonies of the four witnesses referred to hereinabove, PW 72 has referred to the incident on the basis of hearsay. PW 198 who says that the incident took place in the Jawannagar Khada and 219 who has stated that the incident took place at a spot near Jaybhavani's house have not been found to be credible and trustworthy witnesses. The court has found the version given by PW 158 regarding the incident having taken place near the passage of the water tank to be consistent and reliable. Therefore, through the testimony of this witness, the prosecution has established that Jadikhala was burnt in the passage of the water tank, though the identity of the culprits has not been established.

INCIDENT PERTAINING TO THE DEATH OF MAIYUDDIN:

330. Several witnesses in their testimonies have referred to the death of a handicapped boy named Maiyuddin.

330.1 Mr. Y.S. Lakhani, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the incident pertaining to the death of Maiyuddin is stated by multiple witnesses being PWs 72, 149, 167, 177, 181, 234 and 261. From the conjunctive perusal of the evidence given by the said witnesses pertaining to the said incident there are inter se contradictions between these witnesses, and, therefore, the prosecution has not been able to prove such incident as well as the involvement of the accused persons in the said incident beyond reasonable doubt.

330.2 Adverting to the testimonies of the individual witnesses, it was submitted that, PW 72 Shakinabanu Firozahemad Ansari is a hearsay witness who has categorically stated in her deposition that she had heard about the incident of Maiyuddin while she was on the terrace. This witness has no knowledge pertaining to the time and place of incident as well as involvement of accused persons. PW167 Mohammad Hussain Kaiyumbhai Shaikh has stated that Maiyuddin was killed somewhere between 13:00 to 13:30 hours outside the second lane of Hussainnagar in a paan shop. This witness had seen the burnt body of Maiyuddin at around 13:30 hours on 28.2.2002 near a paan shop. This witness does not involve any accused person in the said incident. PW 177 Ishratjahan Parvezhussain Saiyed has stated that she had seen the burnt body of Maiyuddin in the night hours on the road while she was going towards the police vehicle. She, however, does not appear to be an eye-witness to the said incident and does not involve any accused person in the said incident. PW 181 Apsarabegum Kabirali Shaikh has stated that she had seen the body of Maiyuddin at around 16:00 hours; however, no other assertion pertaining to the said incident has been made by the witness. PW 229 Sairabanu Khwajahussain Shaikh has stated that the incident of Maiyuddin had taken place at Lane No. 1 of Hussainnagar and she had seen his dead body lying near Lane No. 1 of Hussainnagar with his tricycle lying on his side sometime between 17:00 to 17:30. It was submitted that pertinently even this witness does not involve any accused person. PW 234 Mohammad Shaikh Yunus Basir Ahemad has stated that when he was being taken to the relief camp by the police, at that point of time he had seen the burnt body of Maiyuddin. This witness is not an eyewitness of the alleged incident nor does he involve any accused person. PW 261 Mariyambibi Hasanbhai Saiyed has stated that her son Maiyuddin was dragged out by the mob from their own house and was forced to recite Hindu slogans; however when he refused to do so, he was attacked with weapons and burnt alive. This witness has implicated Murli (A-2), Suresh (A-22), Sahejad (A-26) and Guddu in the said incident; however, these accused have not been involved by other witnesses.

330.3 It was submitted that as per the case of prosecution the post mortem report of Maiyuddin is below Exhibit 1952; however, the age of the deceased as stated in said PM Report is 32 years whereas Maiyuddin is stated to be 18 years. Therefore, there are material inconsistencies pertaining to medical evidence as regards the death of

330.4 Since several witnesses have referred to Maiyuddin in their testimonies, reference may be made to the relevant part of their testimonies in this regard.

(i) PW-72 Shakilabanu Firozahmad Ansari has stated that after the mob had killed her family members, she had taken shelter on a terrace, where she came to know from other persons that a handicapped boy from their mohalla was told by the mob that if he says Ram, they would spare him, when the handicapped boy stated that even if he dies, he would not say Ram, they poured kerosene over him and burnt him alive.

(ii) PW 149 Faridabanu Abdulkadar Khalifa has stated that at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, while she was going to have a look at her house, she saw Mullaji's handicapped son, burning near his house. In her cross-examination, it has been elicited that the incident of Mullaji's crippled son had taken place at Hussainnagar at around 2:00 in the afternoon. She does not remember exactly in which lane of Hussainnagar the incident had taken place, but the boy was lying on the road side. She has admitted that at that time she had not seen any person there. She has voluntarily stated that she has seen that a boy was lying there and was burning and his tricycle for the handicapped was lying beside him. In her cross-examination as well as through the testimony of the assignee officer who recorded her statement dated 12.5.2002, an omission has been proved that this witness has not stated about the incident of Mullaji's handicapped son before him.

(iii) PW 167 Mohammad Hussain Kaiyumbhai Shaikh has deposed that there is a paan cabin outside the second lane of Hussainnagar, which was run by a boy called Modin, whose leg was affected by polio. This boy was put in his paan cabin and set ablaze by the mob. He could hear his screams for help from the terrace. It must have been around 1:00 to 1:30 in the afternoon. He has further stated that they were on the terrace till 1:30 at night, thereafter a police vehicle came. When they got down from the terrace, Modin's dead body was lying near the paan cabin and the paan cabin was completely burnt. The dead body was charred. When the police took them to the road for boarding the bus, he had seen the charred dead body. In the cross-examination of this witness an omission has been brought out that in his statement dated 12.5.2002, he had not stated any fact regarding the incident of Modin.

(iv) PW 177 Ishratjahan Parvezhussain Saiyed has stated that at night, a police vehicle came, in which they were taken to the Shah Alam camp. On the road, she had seen two dead bodies which were lying in a burnt condition. Out of the two, one dead body was of a handicapped boy. This witness, therefore merely refers to having seen the dead body of a handicapped boy.

(v) PW 181 Apsarabegum Kabirali Shaikh has deposed that at 4 o'clock in the evening, her employer took her and Kalubhai Shaikh, who was working with her, on his scooter and dropped them near the S.T. Workshop. When they got down on the road, there were police vehicles. Both she and Kalubhai were going towards their lane. At that time, she saw two dead bodies lying there. Out of the two dead bodies which were burning, she could see the face of one of them, which was of Mullaji's son who used to live next door. This boy was handicapped. She had seen the dead body of the handicapped boy burning and at that time, she was with Kalubhai.

(vi) PW-229 Sairabanu Khwajahussain Shaikh has deposed that she had seen a dead body was burning in Lane No.1 of Hussainnagar. It was Maiyuddin's dead body. The witness has stated that she is saying that the dead body was of Maiyuddin because he was handicapped and a vehicle for handicapped persons was lying next to this dead body. Upon seeing his dead body, they were frightened and hence, they returned to the Pinjara's house and hid there again.

(vii) PW-234 Mahammadyunus Basirahemad Shaikh, this witness has deposed that he had gone with other people on the terrace of a house in Kumbhaji-ni-Chali and hidden there. From the terrace he saw the people in the mob had pulled out a boy named Moin who was residing opposite the Fair Price Shop in Hussainnagar from his house. This boy was handicapped. The mob stuffed a cloth in his mouth and tied his hands and legs, poured kerosene on him and set him on fire. He has further deposed that at night they came out of the house and went near the S.T. Workshop. At this time, he saw on the road that the dead body of the person named Moin who was burnt alive, was lying in the middle of the road. The statement of this witness has been recorded after a considerable delay of more than six years and no plausible reason has been advanced as to why his statement was not recorded at the relevant time. This court after considering the evidence of this witness, has found that he is not a credible and truthful witness.

(viii) PW-261 Mariyambibi Hasanbhai Saiyed, who is the mother of deceased Maiyuddin, has deposed that at the time of the incident she used to reside in Lane No.2, Hussainnagar. Due to the disturbances she has taken all her children and gone to Abdulbhai Ghadiyali's house; however, her handicapped son Maiyuddin who was on the terrace of madressa refused to come and was watching the incidents taking place during the riots. By the time she left her family members there and returned to the madressa to fetch Maiyuddin, the Hindu mob came, whereupon Maiyuddin told her to hide in the madressa as the mob of Hindus had come. After saying this to her, Maiyuddin went inside her house. Thereafter, she sat on the staircase of the madressa. Two to three other boys were also there. At this time, the Hindu mob started wrecking and plundering their houses. This mob of Hindus broke the door of her house and brought her son outside. The persons, who broke the door of her house and took her son Maiyuddin out of the house, were Murli Sindhi (A-2), Suresh Langda (A-22), Suresh Mama (A-26) and Guddu Chhara (deceased), whom she had seen. They told her son to say "Shri Ram" and when her son Maiyuddin said that he would not say "Shri Ram", they assaulted him with swords, sticks, pipes, etc. and poured kerosene or petrol over him and burnt him alive, which she had seen. She had seen all this from the window of the madressa.

Certain omissions as to her previous statement dated 12.5.2002, have been brought out in the cross-examination of the witness and proved through the testimony of the assignee officer, who has admitted that the witness had not stated before him that she was in the madressa and that she had seen the incident of her son Maiyuddin from the window of the madressa; and that this witness has not stated before him that the mob of Hindus had broken the door of her house and had taken her son out; and that she had not stated regarding her son Maiyuddin refusing to say "Shri Ram". However, no omission has been proved as regards the core of her testimony regarding the involvement of the accused in assaulting her son with swords, sticks, pipes, etc. and pouring kerosene or petrol over him and burning him alive.

In her cross-examination the witness has stated that Maiyuddin's incident took place in the evening at around 5:30 to 6:00. In the opinion of this court, much stress cannot be laid on the time stated by the witness in her cross-examination, inasmuch as, it is bound to be based upon approximation. Since the residents of the chawls were running from one place to another throughout the day to save their own lives, the witnesses cannot be expected to state the time of a particular incident with exactitude. The witness is also bound to be confused about the sequence of events; therefore, much significance cannot be attached to the same. Since this witness had taken shelter in the godown at Gangotri Society after the incident, it is probable that this incident took place around 4:00 p.m. in the afternoon.

After appreciating the evidence of this witness, this court has recorded that insofar as the submissions regarding the exact location from where the witness saw the incident not having been proved is concerned, at the cost of reiteration it may be stated that in this case, neither of the investigating agencies seem to be really interested in bringing the culprits to book. Consequently, either the statements of the witnesses have not been recorded properly or no efforts have been made to bring on record evidence to corroborate what the witness has stated. If the evidence of the witnesses were to be discarded on this ground alone, it would amount to playing into the hands of the investigating agencies. In the case of this witness, at the first opportunity she has named the above four accused. The statement recorded by the assignee officer is not very coherent, but it is clear that the witness has implicated the four accused in the murder of her son. Thus, insofar as the accused and their involvement in the killing of her son are concerned, the witness is consistent right from the beginning. Therefore, the witness is consistent insofar as the core of her testimony is concerned and there is no reason to disbelieve her claim of having seen the incident in question and the named accused.

330.5 A post-mortem report Exhibit 1952 of an unknown male refers to callipers joined on the right leg. This part which refers to the callipers is in Gujarati, whereas the entire post mortem note is in English, which gives reason to believe that the insertion has been made subsequently. An endorsement has been made on the report on the basis of the letter dated 14.9.2002 of the Assistant Commissioner Crime Branch whereby the name of Maiyuddin son of Hasanbhai Abdul Saiyed, age 18 years has been inserted. A panchnama Exhibit 1303 is on record wherein one Razakbhai Usmanbhai has identified a dead body where the right leg was joined with a steel strip to be that of Moinkhan whose father's name he does not know. The person who identified the dead body has not been examined as a witness. Thus the panchnama is not proved.

330.6 FINDINGS: Considering the testimonies of the witnesses referred to hereinabove, insofar as PW 234 is concerned, he is not found to be a credible and truthful witness. Insofar as PW 149 and 167 are concerned, in their cross-examinations omissions have been brought on record that they had not mentioned the fact regarding Maiyuddin in their statements recorded by the police. The testimony of PW 261 who is the mother of the deceased has been believed as discussed hereinabove. Insofar as the other witnesses are concerned, their testimonies in no manner contradict the testimony of PW 261. Thus, the prosecution has proved that Maiyuddin, the handicapped son of PW 261, was done to death in the afternoon on the day of the incident and the involvement of the accused named by PW 261 in the incident is also established.

XXVII POLICE FIRING/PRIVATE FIRING:

331. In this case, between 10:00 to 12:00 in the morning hours, the police had resorted to firing to disperse the violent mobs that had gathered on the highway opposite the Noorani Masjid and the S.T. Workshop. Some witnesses have also deposed regarding firing by private individuals. In the firing on the road, two persons have died and six persons sustained bullet injuries. The point to be decided is whether the deaths and injuries were caused during the course of firing by the police or by private individuals.

331.1 Mr. Y.S. Lakhani, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that in this case the accused persons are neither charged under the provisions of Arms Act nor convicted under any provision of the Arms Act. There is no recovery or discovery of firearms from any of the accused persons. As regards the victims who suffered bullet injuries, majority of the witnesses have stated that such injuries were sustained due to police firing while a few witnesses state that they were due to private firing. It was submitted that no bullet marks or empty cartridges were found from the scene of offence. The police have categorically denied to there being any private firing. It was urged that the allegation of firing by persons other than the police has surfaced for the first time in the year 2008. It was urged that the overall evidence on record clearly establishes that it was on account of firing by the police that two persons died and six persons were injured in the firing that took place on the road in the morning.

331.2 Mr. B.B. Naik, learned counsel for the appellants drew the attention of the court to paragraph (2) of Part B, which starts at page 1767 and ends at 1771 of the impugned judgment, wherein the trial court has recorded a finding that there was private firing on the day of the incident. It was submitted that such finding of private firing has been recorded without there being any scientific evidence on the record of the case. It was submitted that pertinently, out of 121 witnesses of the morning incident, only 15 witnesses have stated about private firing in their evidence before the court, but most witnesses have not stated a word about private firing in their police statement. In such circumstances, to record a finding without there being cogent evidence is not legal, just

331.3 Before adverting to the merits of this point, reference may be made to the findings recorded by the trial court in this regard.

331.4 The trial court in the impugned judgment has observed that PW-165 Pirmohammad Allabax Shaikh has given a history in the hospital that the bullet injuries sustained by him were on account of attack by the opposite party which also supports the case of private firing. In this regard, it may be noted that the witness in his testimony before the court has stated that when he came to the road near the water tap to search for his daughter, a bullet came from somewhere and struck him on his right leg and he fell down on the spot. The time must have been about quarter to ten. Thus, the witness has not stated anything regarding his being injured in private firing. It cannot be gainsaid that the substantive evidence is what is deposed by a witness before the court and what is recorded in the medical history, unless proved by the witness, is not admissible in evidence as the version of the witness.

331.5 The trial court has also observed that the testimony of PW-105 Hussainbhai Valibhai Kaladiya also probabalises private firing. If one peruses the testimony of PW-105 what has been stated by him is that there was stone pelting at the corner; at this time a second mob came from the direction of Krushnanagar; his nephew Mustaqali was also on the road; when his nephew went on the road, teargas shells were released from the opposite side and in a little while there was firing; a bullet injured his nephew Mustaqali Razakali and at that time, another boy named Abid was also injured by a bullet on the road. From the testimony of this witness, there is nothing which would lead to an inference that both those persons were injured in private firing.

331.6 PW-255 Mahammadkhalid Saiyadali Saiyed has been injured in the firing. This witness has deposed that when he went and stood near the S.T. Workshop, immediately thereafter, he was injured by a bullet in the firing. The bullet hit him on the vertebrae of his waist. In his cross-examination, he has stated that since there was police firing, he had felt that he might have been injured by a police bullet; therefore, he must have stated so. The witness has admitted that in his statement recorded by the SIT, he has stated that he was injured in the police firing in the incident that took place on 28.2.2002 and he had also availed of treatment. PW 294 Shri Gondia has deposed that during the course of police firing which had to be carried out during the entire day at Naroda Patiya, two persons had died and five persons were injured. Thus, from the testimonies of the injured witnesses, it emerges that they have stated that they were injured by bullets in firing without specifying whether it was police firing or private firing. Since both, PW 165 and PW 255 were caught unawares and were suddenly struck by bullets; it is quite probable that they may not have been aware as to who fired such bullets. However, PW 294 is a high ranking police officer who was present at the scene of offence when the police had resorted to firing and he has stated that two persons had died and five persons were injured in police firing. Therefore, the evidence on record leans towards the theory that it was due to police firing that two persons died and other persons who were injured by bullets.

331.7 The evidence on record shows that at the time when the charge-sheet came to be filed in the year 2002, there was no material on record to show that there was any private firing. All the statements recorded by the police at the relevant time refer to firing by the police.

331.8 In the sting operation accused No.18 Babu Bajrangi is heard saying that they had collected 23 revolvers on the previous night. It appears that to establish use of said revolvers, the subsequent statements which are recorded by the SIT indicate firing by private persons, namely, some of the accused. This serves two purposes; (i) it furthers the prosecution case against Babu Bajrangi and implicates certain accused persons in the firing, and (ii) it absolves the police of their liability of having killed and injured the Muslims on the morning of the day of the incident. Thus, subsequent to the sting operation, the witnesses may have been tutored to refer to firing at the instance of certain accused to fortify what was stated by the accused in the sting operation or it could be that the officers of the SIT, have done their best to ensure that their counterparts in the police department are not harmed in any manner, which is fortified by further circumstances which shall be recorded at a later stage.

331.9 PW-230 Mohammadrafiq Abdulkarim Shaikh has alleged that Manoj Videowala (A-41) was present in the mob and had fired with a revolver wherein Mohammad Abid was injured in the waist and Pirubhai was injured on his right leg. From the overall evidence which has come on record, the police had resorted to firing in the morning, wherein Mohammad Abid, Pirubhai and several others were injured. This witness in his original statement has not referred to any firing by Manoj nor has he named him in such statement. Subsequently, at a belated stage, when his statement came to be recorded by the SIT on 18.6.2008, he has implicated Manoj and stated that Manoj had snatched a revolver from the police and fired towards where they were standing. Thus, for the first time in his statement before the SIT, the witness has named Manoj and has alleged that he had fired from a revolver. The evidence of this witness is, therefore, contrary to the evidence of the other witnesses who had come out on the road in the morning. Moreover, as noticed earlier, it appears that after the SIT came into the picture, a version is sought to be put forth whereby certain accused are roped in and are alleged to have fired at the Muslims, wherein certain Muslims were injured.

331.10 PW 52 Aminaben Abbasbhai Belim has deposed that she had seen that Mayaben had something like a pistol in her hand and she also was firing. After firing, Mayaben told the mob that they should continue and thereafter, she returned in the same car in which she had come. The witness has further stated that she had gone to Masjid-ni-Chali, which is situated behind the masjid, on the Dhanurdhari Mata Road and was standing on that road when she saw Bipinbhai shooting. Bipinbhai's garage is situated on the Bombay National Highway, at Dhanurdhari Mata Na Road on the front side. This Bipinbhai was shooting from the top of his garage and he was on the terrace. Insofar as the version given by this witness is concerned, the trial court has not believed the witness insofar as the allegation regarding Mayaben having resorted to firing is concerned. This witness has stated these facts at a highly belated stage after a period of more than six years when her statement came to be recorded by the SIT. This court after appreciating the evidence of this witness has not believed the version regarding Bipinbhai shooting from the top of his garage and has further found that this witness is not a credible and truthful witness.

331.11 PW 104: Mohammadsalim Mohammadhussain Shaikh has deposed that while he was going in his rickshaw on the highway, he saw that the mob was armed with weapons wherein Kishan Korani had a sword, Murli Sindhi and Manoj Videowala had revolvers. At around 9:30 to 10:00, he had seen that Manoj Videowala had resorted to private firing due to which, a rickshaw driver named Abid was hurt by a bullet on his private parts. At this time, he had seen Murli Sindhi also resorting to private firing due to which, Mustaq Razakbhai Kaladiya had sustained a bullet injury on his shoulder. At that time, other persons were also injured. This witness has implicated Kishan Korani and Manoj Videowala and Murli Sindhi at a highly belated stage after a period of more than six years before the SIT.

331.12 At this juncture, reference may be made to the sanction order made under section 196 of the Code (Exhibit-212) which refers to the death of eighty three Muslims and says, “with a view to dispersing the violent mob and bringing the situation under control, the police lobbed 171 T.G. shells and fired 91 rounds wherein two persons were killed and six were injured. Eight policemen sustained injuries due to stoning. Police party rescued five hundred to six hundred Muslims and shifted them to the safe places/relief camps”.

331.13 Exhibit 1583: vardhi given by Dr. D.C. Jagani CMO Civil Hospital that a person by the name of Gulabbhai Kalubhai Vanzara age 18 years resident of Bhagirath Bungalow Krushnanagar, Naroda was injured in the firing at Naroda Patiya on 28.2.02 and is brought for treatment to Civil Hospital at 14:00 hours and upon examination by the CMO on duty, he is declared to be dead.

331.14 Thus, at the relevant time, even as per the investigating agency, two persons were killed and six persons were injured in police firing.

331.15 The record of the case shows that a large number of witnesses, whose statements were recorded at the relevant time in the year 2002, have stated that the police had resorted to firing on the highway in front of the Noorani Masjid and the S.T. Workshop, in the morning on the day of the incident. Several witnesses have alleged that the police had fired at the Muslims and had facilitated the entry of the mob inside the chawls. Thus, there are two versions that have come on record. The original version is firing by the police wherein one Abid and a Hindu died and six others viz. Mohammadkhalid, Mahammadhussain, Pirmohammad, Mustaqmahammad, etc. were injured. Those injured witnesses who have been examined by the prosecution, have not implicated any accused in the firing and have merely stated that they were struck by bullets. The other version has come on record in the statements of witnesses recorded by the SIT in the year 2008. This court while considering the testimonies of the witnesses has not found any of the witness who had deposed anything regarding firing on the highway by private persons to be cogent and credible. Moreover, considering the manner in which the deaths and injuries in the firing that took place on the road are sought to be attributed to private parties at the stage of recording of statements by the SIT, there appears to be a concerted effort to attribute the deaths and injuries to private parties to exonerate the police. The finding recorded by the trial court that the casualties were on account of private firing is, therefore, not borne out from the record of the case. The record of the case establishes beyond any doubt that two persons were killed and six persons were injured in the police firing in the morning on the day of the incident.

XXVIII THE STING OPERATION:

332. All the accused have been charged with and the convicted accused have been convicted of the offence of criminal conspiracy punishable under section 120B of the Indian Penal Code. To prove the charge of criminal conspiracy, the prosecution have also relied upon the sting operation conducted by one Ashish Khetan and the extra judicial confessions made during the course of such sting operation. Therefore, before examining the charge of criminal conspiracy, it would be necessary to evaluate the evidentiary value of the sting operation and the extra judicial confessions made during the course of such operation.

332.1 One Ashish Khetan of Tehelka Magazine conducted a sting operation on several accused of different riot cases that took place in Gujarat in the year 2002. To prove the veracity thereof, the prosecution has examined several witnesses. PW 322 Ashish Khetan has, through his testimony proved that he had in fact conducted the sting operation on three of the accused viz. accused No.18, 21 and 22 and had recorded the sting by using two cameras: (i) a button camera and (ii) a camera fitted into his diary. The witness has deposed that from the microchip of the camera he had copied the sting on his laptop and had deleted the sting from the microchip. He had further made copies of the sting from his laptop and sent them to Tehelka from time to time and upon conclusion of the sting, he had handed over all the equipment including the laptop to Tehelka. The prosecution has also examined one Nirmalsinh Sevasinh Raju PW 320 who is a CBI Officer who was directed by the National Human Rights Commission to carry out an inquiry into the veracity of the sting operation. This officer had recovered the DVDs and CDs of the sting from Tehelka and Aaj Tak and sent them to the FSL Jaipur for analysis. PW 323 Dr. Shailendra Ramkishore Jha, Assistant Director, FSL Jaipur who had examined the DVDs, CDs and the equipment forwarded to the said laboratory by the CBI, has also been examined by the prosecution. Subsequently, the Investigating Officer (SIT) obtained samples of the voices of the accused for the purpose of ascertaining as to whether the voices in the sting operation were in fact their voices. The recording for voice spectrography analysis was done by PW 314 Bhagirathprasad Manilal Pandya, Director of the Akashwani Centre at Ahmedabad, who has also been examined by the prosecution. PW 323 Dr. Shailendra Ramkishore Jha has also carried out testing of the voice specimen together with the fifteen DVDs and five CDs. It may be noted that the DVDs and CDs have been brought on record through a production witness PW 319 Pushpaben Jivabhai Ninama, who has not been examined as a witness but has merely produced the DVDs and CDs on record pursuant to an order passed by the trial court below Exhibit-2250. The DVDs and the CDs have not been exhibited and form part of the record as muddamal.

In the above background, reference may be made to the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the respective parties.

332.2 SUBMISSIONS: Mr. N.D. Nanavaty, learned counsel for accused No.37 Mayaben Kodnani, submitted that the sting operation was conducted sometime in May 2007 to September, 2007. It was submitted that if the transcript of the sting operation is seen, it will rule out the possibility of any conspiracy having been hatched. It was emphatically argued that in this case, the main instrument on which the sting was recorded was not retained and was not produced before the court as evidence. The camera had a micro chip which was used for recording the sting, after which, according to PW 322 Ashish Khetan, he had copied it on his laptop. It was submitted that the DVDs in question, therefore, are in the nature of secondary evidence as the main instrument where the sting was recorded does not form part of the record.

332.3 Reference was made to the testimony of PW 320 Nirmalsinh Sevasinh Raju, a CBI Officer, to point out that pursuant to an order passed by the NHRC he had made an inquiry and collected fifteen DVDs and five CDs from Aaj Tak, which were initially sent to Chandigarh for testing and thereafter to the FSL Jaipur. It was submitted that the DVDs and CDs being in the nature of secondary evidence require strict compliance with the provisions of section 65B of the Evidence Act and it is only after compliance of these provisions, that the genuineness of the secondary evidence can be considered and appreciated. It was pointed out the DVDs had been seized from Tehelka by the CBI, but there is no certificate under section 65B (4) of the Evidence Act on the record. According to the learned counsel, in the absence of compliance of the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 65B of the Evidence Act, the entire sting would fail. Reliance was placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Anvar P.V. v. P.K. Basheer, (2014) 10 SCC 473, for the proposition that any documentary evidence by way of an electronic record under the Evidence Act, in view of sections 59 and 65-A, can be proved only in accordance with the procedure prescribed under section 65-B. The very admissibility of such a document, that is, electronic record which is called as computer output, depends on the satisfaction of the four conditions under section 65-B(2) of the Evidence Act. It was pointed out that in view of the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 65-B of the Evidence Act, there must be a certificate which identifies the electronic record containing the statement; such certificate must describe the manner in which the electronic record was produced; such certificate must furnish the particulars of the device involved in the production of that record; the certificate must be signed by a person occupying a responsible official position in relation to the operation of the relevant device; etc. It was submitted that in the facts of the present case no certificate has been produced in terms of section 65B(4) of the Evidence Act, and hence, the entire sting operation loses its efficacy as the same has not been proved in accordance with law. It was contended that therefore, no part of the evidence of the sting operation can be used in the trial.

332.4 Mr. Y.S. Lakhani and Mr. B.B. Naik, learned counsel for the remaining accused (except accused No.62), submitted that the sting operation carried out by PW 322 cannot be termed as a confession, much less, an extra-judicial confession for the reason that the six ingredients for relying upon an extra-judicial confession as laid down by the Supreme Court in the case of Sahadevan v. State of Tamil Nadu, (2012) 6 SCC 403, are not satisfied in the present case. Moreover, the sting operation is based on deception. It was submitted that in the above decision the Supreme Court has stated principles which would make extra-judicial confession an admissible piece of evidence capable of forming the basis of conviction of an accused and has held that the following precepts would guide the judicial mind while dealing with the veracity of cases where the prosecution heavily relies upon an extra-judicial confession alleged to have been made by the accused:

(i) The extra-judicial confession is a weak evidence by itself. It has to be examined by the court with greater care and caution.

(ii) It should be made voluntarily and should be truthful.

(iii) It should inspire confidence.

(iv) An extra-judicial confession attains greater credibility and evidentiary value if it is supported by a chain of cogent circumstances and is further corroborated by other prosecution evidence.

(v) For an extra-judicial confession to be the basis of conviction, it should not suffer from any material discrepancies and inherent improbabilities.

(vi) Such statement essentially has to be proved like any other fact and in accordance with law.

332.5 It was submitted that the Supreme Court has time and again held that extra-judicial confession by itself is a weak piece of evidence, and in the facts of the present case, the prosecution has failed to prove the chain of events surrounding the same beyond reasonable doubt.

332.6 Next, it was submitted that the original microchip of the two cameras on which the alleged sting came to be recorded (i) fitted in a diary, and (ii) used as a button camera, does not contain any data, that is to say, electronic record as the recording was deleted from the microchip as admitted by PW 322. In any case, there is no examination of this microchip by the FSL nor is there any report sought from or given by the FSL. It was submitted that the electronic data which was transferred from the original microchip to the hard-Chaudhary drive of the laptop from which the copies were made is also not examined by the FSL nor is any data recovered from it nor is any opinion sought from or given by the FSL. The DVD's and the CDs made from the DVDs cannot be said to be primary evidence as admittedly they are copies, and, therefore, in the absence of a certificate as required under section 65B (4) of the Evidence Act, the same cannot be proved as secondary evidence and is inadmissible in evidence.

332.7 It was submitted that PW 322 himself, before recording the sting has impersonified himself, admitted that he had forged documents, admitted that by giving false information he wanted to win the confidence of the accused on whom he made the sting, admitted that he had created a false character at Delhi and also a fake atmosphere to win their confidence, and, therefore, the entire sting operation cannot be said to be voluntary and inspiring the confidence of the court.

332.8 It was submitted that the sort of questions and the sort of conversation as projected in the script fully or partly, clearly indicates that intentional questions were put in a way that the person answering is enticed and instigated to give answers which may not be true. The so called facts which are said to have been elicited during the course of such sting conversation indicate that they are facts on which there is absolutely no evidence as admitted by the Investigating Officer PW 327 or that they are facts which have either not taken place or the witnesses have not deposed to. For example, getting twenty three revolvers; staying at Mount Abu for four months; dead bodies being thrown in the well; diesel tanker having been pushed inside the masjid and by sprinkling kerosene therefrom; setting the masjid on fire, tying a pig on the Masjid; waving a saffron flag; the Chief Minister coming there as garlanding some Hindus; shaking hands with the sister of the accused and moving forward to Himmatnagar; Mayaben the MLA moving around in a jeep for the whole day till late in the evening; eight to ten persons having hidden in a gutter and the accused having put a man-hole cover on the gutter and such people having suffocated and died and their dead bodies being taken out of the gutter; etc., police having killed seventy people in police firing; are facts which have no support from any corner including the investigation.

332.9 It was urged that in view of the fact that the original electronic record being primary evidence has not come on record, oral evidence to support the contents thereof being purely in the nature of secondary evidence is not permissible under the Evidence Act. It was further submitted that PW 322 has deposed only the selected part and that too in a broken form of the sting operation. In his statement before the SIT most of such facts contained between paragraphs 30 to 58 of his deposition are not stated by him as proved by the Investigating Officer PW 327. It was contended that even if it is supposedly taken to be an extrajudicial confession of the accused, it in no way satisfies any of the basic ingredients of extrajudicial confession as propounded by various decisions of the Supreme Court. The attention of the court was drawn to the fact that the DVDs and CDs pertaining to this case are not shown to PW 322 and nothing is connected with the record. The CBI Officer, Nirmalsinh Raju PW 314 has not made any panchnama while recovering the DVDs and CDs from Tehelka, then while sending them to Chandigarh for testing and then to Jaipur. No panchnama was drawn when it was handed over to the SIT. It was submitted that reference to Mayaben, Guddu and Bipin Panchal in the sting operation cannot be used against the said co-accused. These CDs or DVDs, even if they are copies, before they were sent to the FSL, they changed hands and there is nothing to show that they were in a protected condition. It was pointed out that insofar as accused No.21 Prakash Rathod is concerned, there is no other evidence against him, except the sting. It was submitted that none of the DVDs or CDs are exhibited in this case. Therefore, apart from the admissibility of the electronic record under the Evidence Act, even such electronic record in a copied form has also not been exhibited in the present case. It was pointed out that through PW 319 Pushpaben Jivabhai Ninama, the CDs/DVDs from FSL Jaipur in a sealed condition have been taken on record. It was pointed out that this witness is not even examined, but it has been recorded that she has produced these DVDs and CDs. The attention of the court was drawn to the suo motu order dated 25.1.2012 passed by the trial court at Exhibit 2555, wherein the trial court has recorded that the prosecution has put forth its case of Sting Operation having been done on all the three accused by PW 322, Mr. Ashish Khetan. The prosecution has also put forth its case through PW 323, the Scientist of FSL to the effect that recording of the entire Sting Operation and the C.D. named as "Operation Kalank" which is part of the Sting Operation were genuine and were without any kind of tampering. The court has further recorded that the fifteen DVDs which contain the entire sting operation have been in fact brought from the muddamal record of the Gulbarg Case; it needs to be returned to the court where the trial of Gulbarg Case is going on. The court has expressed the opinion that these fifteen DVDs should be kept in the record of the court as the DVDs may be required to be viewed to arrive at a just decision, the same being the source of "Operation Kalank" relied upon by the prosecution. The court, accordingly, thought it fit to appoint Court Commissioners to copy the fifteen DVDs as well as the five CDs of Operation Kalank for the record of the court which if needed could be seen and appreciated, and issued directions accordingly. The learned counsel for the appellants submitted that there is no report of the FSL Gandhinagar as to what they did pursuant to the directions issued by the court and that the FSL Gandhinagar officer has not been examined. It was submitted that even after making such copies, these DVDs and CDs are not exhibited in this case nor are the contents proved in accordance with law. It was submitted that the DVDs which were shown to Mr. Khetan were relating to the Gulbarg case and the DVDs and CDs forming part of the record of this case have not been proved by any witness, and, therefore, are not admissible in evidence.

332.10 It was submitted that the trial court has not taken into consideration the provisions of section 65B of the Evidence Act while determining the admissibility of evidence of sting operation. Reference was made to the provisions of section 65B of the Evidence Act to submit that under that section, a certificate to be signed by a person occupying a responsible official position in relation to the operation of the relevant device or the management of relevant activities, whichever is appropriate, shall be evidence of any matter stated in the certificate and for the purposes of the sub-section it shall be sufficient for a matter to be stated to the best of the knowledge and belief of the person stating it. It was submitted that, in the present case, the sting operation was carried out and audio and video of sting operation was recorded in a microchip from where it was transferred to a laptop of PW 322 Ashish Khetan. Thereafter, the hard disc of the said laptop was utilized for preparing the DVDs of the said sting operation which were seized by the CBI without preparing any panchnama and all the materials including camera, recorder, microchip, hard Chaudhary, laptop and DVDs were sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory, Jaipur, for testing. From the above-referred facts, which are stated by witnesses, it becomes amply clear that the DVDs were prepared in the computer of the office of Tehelka Magazine at Delhi and, therefore, a certificate, as required under sub-section (4) of Section 65B of the Evidence Act, is necessary to be signed by a person occupying a responsible official position in relation to the operation of the relevant device or the management of the relevant activities. It was submitted that a three-Judge Bench of the Supreme Court in the case of Anvar P.V. v. P.K. Basheer, (2014) 10 SCC 473, has clearly laid down that the provisions of section 65B more particularly sub-section (4) are mandatory and non-compliance of sub-section (4) of Section 65B of the Evidence Act will render the said secondary evidence inadmissible in evidence and cannot be relied upon for any purpose.

332.11 Next it was submitted that, as per the provisions of the Evidence Act, the evidence of electronic record in the form of CD, DVD, etc. is documentary evidence and, as per section 59 of the Evidence Act, contents of documents or electronic records cannot be proved by oral evidence. It is, therefore, submitted that, once there is an electronic record containing facts, which cannot be proved by oral evidence, the contents of sting operation stated by P.W. 322 in his oral evidence are not admissible in evidence.

332.12 On behalf of the prosecution, Mr. Prashant Desai, learned Special Public Prosecutor submitted that there was a TV news item in Aaj Tak named as "Operation Kalank" about the incident that happened in Gujarat after the Godhra train carnage. When this fact came to the notice of NHRC, it made an inquiry and it was found that this operation Kalank was the result of a sting operation carried out by Tehelka, more particularly, one Ashish Khetan. The NHRC called for all the DVDs and CDs from Tehelka and Aaj Tak channel and sent them to Mumbai CBI for carrying out inquiry as regards the truthfulness of those DVDs and CDs. The CBI, Mumbai collected the material like camera, chips, hard Chaudhary, etc. and sent all the material to the Forensic Science Laboratory, Jaipur for verifying about its truthfulness and whether there was any tampering in the CDs or not.

332.13 It was submitted that the fifteen DVDs out of which the five CDs were prepared and the evidence in that regard was also produced of Mr. Khetan (PW 322) who recorded the original, that was examined by the FSL and found to not have been tampered with and even voice test was done in accordance with law and the same was found to be the voice of accused No.18, 21 and 22 and that evidence is also produced before the court. It was submitted that even in his cross-examination no question or suggestion has been put to PW 322 that he has not met these three accused or that he has not recorded the sting operation. It was submitted that even in the cross-examination, the suggestion was that he had given the script and accordingly, they had been prompted by him. This suggestion is first in the form of an admission that there was a recording, but only that it was prompted by PW 322.

Even in the section 313 statement, except that this has been done to produce false evidence against them, it is not the say of the three accused that they have not given any interview. It was urged that the evidence of PW 322 read with other evidence should be believed and the contents of the DVDs and CDs are required to be believed in toto. It was submitted that the argument that the CDs and DVDs were not brought on record in accordance with law and cannot be believed, will not hold good since there was an order passed by the trial court which has not been challenged at any stage. Referring to Exhibit 2245, it was submitted that the defence has put an endorsement of having received a copy, but no objection has been raised. It was submitted that there is no submission by the defence on the application Exhibit 2245 and no objection was raised to such application nor was the order made therein challenged by the defence. Therefore, the evidence should be taken into consideration.

332.14 It was submitted that insofar as Naroda Patiya is concerned, there are three accused namely accused No. 18, 21 and 22 who had conversations with Ashish Khetan. Their voice samples were also recorded by the All India Radio and were compared with the original DVDs. The FSL, Jaipur gave a report that there is no tampering, the voices are the same and about its truthfulness the prosecution has examined PW 322 Ashish Khetan, the signatory of the report from FSL, Jaipur, and also the persons who had recorded the voice samples at the All India Radio and all these witnesses have been cross examined by the defence. It was submitted that all these facts are on record, and therefore, the evidence regarding DVDs and CDs should be believed and accepted in toto.

332.15 Insofar as non-compliance of the provisions of sub-section (4)(a) of section 65B of the Evidence Act is concerned, it was submitted that the FSL Jaipur report identifies the electronic record and certifies that the same is not tampered with. It was submitted that on a reading of sub-section (4) of section 65B of the Evidence Act, firstly, if there is a dispute about recording of such statements by the accused or the defence, then in that case only section 65B would be attracted; secondly, in this case, the person who recorded the statement has been examined it is not as if only is the computer device has been produced before the court without examining any witness; and thirdly, these equipments were scientifically checked and not found tampered with has been stated so in the certificate and hence, the contents of the CDs and DVDs are required to be looked into.

STAND OF THE ACCUSED IN THEIR STATEMENTS UNDER SECTION 313 OF THE CODE:

333. At this juncture, reference may be made to the stand of the concerned accused in relation to the sting operation in their statements recorded under section 313 of the Code.

333.1 BABU BAJRANGI: Accused No.18 Babu Bajrangi has submitted written submissions together with his further statement, wherein he has stated that in this case, the evidence of Ashish Khetan who has conducted the sting operation has been recorded before the court. The evidence of the FSL officers as well as the Investigating Officers has also been recorded. Out of the evidence of all these three witnesses, the prosecution does not get support to prove the Exhibit-65 charge against him beyond reasonable doubt from the evidence of any of those witnesses. Moreover, Ashish Khetan, the person who carried out sting operation has, during the course of his entire testimony, stated that whatever he had done was wrongly got up and that he had stated incorrect facts and conducted the sting operation; in these circumstances, he does not have any evidence that the other person has not stated incorrect facts. The so-called recording done by this witness, is in fact against the legal rules and by making additions and omissions, he has kept the facts as per his desire which has been clearly proved. In these circumstances, the evidence of this witness is not believable. Moreover, in this case, as per the FSL officer, a group of words should be recorded in the voice spectrograph, whereas in the present case, only words have been taken. In these circumstances as well as keeping in view the facts of the cross-examination, their evidence does not in any manner support the case of the prosecution to prove the Charge, Exhibit-65 against him. Moreover, the leaders and politicians of the complainant side, have colluded with Ashish Khetan and hatched a conspiracy and have made false representations to him and created a false sting operation.

333.2 In his further statement under section 313 of the Code, Babu Bajrangi in response to the evidence of Ashish Khetan, wherein the text of his conversation with the accused has been stated by him, has stated that he does not know anything about the incident stated in the text and has not taken part in the riots and does not know as to who has played which role. A conspiracy has been hatched against him and through deceit, he has been wrongly involved and false evidence has been created.

333.3 PRAKASH RATHOD: Accused No.21 Prakash Rathod has given an identically worded response in his statement under section 313 of the Code. Accused No.21 Prakash Rathod in his written arguments, has stated that in this case, the leaders and politicians of the complainant side have colluded with witness Khetan and hatched a conspiracy and making false representations to him, have got up a false sting operation.

333.4 SURESH RICHARD: Accused No.22 Suresh Richard has in response to the above facts, stated that it is not true and that in a wrong manner, a conspiracy has been hatched against him to implicate/trap him. Accused No.22 Suresh Richard in his written response, has not at all referred to the evidence of PW-322 Shri Ashish Khetan. He has referred to the evidence of several witnesses and has stated that except for the above witnesses, no other witnesses have deposed against him. He, therefore, has not dealt with the testimony of PW-322 Ashish Khetan and the sting operation conducted against him.

333.5 FINDINGS: In the aforesaid backdrop the evidentiary value of the sting operation is required to be evaluated. At the outset it would be necessary to set out the relevant extract of the contents of the sting operation as contained in the deposition of PW 322 Shri Ashish Khetan.

333.6 Ashish Khetan, in his testimony, has deposed that during the course of the sting operation Babu Bajrangi has said that he had gone to Godhra on the previous day and had seen the corpses, they had given a challenge on that day itself that they would fell four times as many corpses at Patiya. He has further said that they had forcibly collected twenty three revolvers from Hindus on the previous night by threatening to shoot them in front of their children. He has further talked about four Hindus out of whom two were his close associates, having died at Patiya and that he used to send Rs.2000/- to their families every month. He has further talked about maximum number of murders having taken place at Patiya. Ashish Khetan has also deposed regarding Babu Bajrangi having come to Delhi and met one Anandji (an imaginary RSS character created by them, which role was played by Tarun Tejpal's paternal uncle). At Delhi, Babu Bajrangi, during the course of conversation with them, said that when the Godhra incident took place, he had gone there and could not bear to see it and on the next day they had given their response. Upon seeing what had happened at Godhra, they had retaliated at Naroda. Upon a query as to how they had organised things within such a short time, he had stated that they had gathered a team of twenty nine to thirty persons and had forcibly collected 23 revolvers from the residents of that area.

333.7 He has further said that at that time if the police so desired they would not have let them enter inside Patiya. There was only one entrance, there was only one gate, like there is only one entrance to a society, and then the whole

Patiya starts. Muslim people start. If they wanted to stop them, then there were fifty to sixty police standing there, they could have stopped them. If the police so desired, they would not have let them enter. The police had supported them a lot, on account of Narendrabhai, and that because of this, whatever happened in Gujarat was good as there was some respite from these people. Otherwise they had become very head strong. Thereafter they kept advancing forward. He has further stated that they had thrust a whole diesel tanker from Naroda Patiya into the masjid and then set it ablaze.

333.8 Ashish Khetan has also deposed regarding his conversation with accused No.21 Prakash Rathod during the course of the sting operation. Prakash Rathod that told him that Mayaben's name was removed from the Naroda incident, because she threw a lot of money. Upon Tehelka saying that she was saying that she was not there on that day, Prakash has said that she was there. He has stated she came later on. They were inside in the riots and she used to say "kill! We are behind you". He has stated that she did not roam around much, but must have come for half an hour to three quarters of an hour. As to why her name was removed, he says the Government is in her hands. Prakash Rathod took him to Suresh Richards's house and he also talked to him.

333.9 Suresh Richard has said that at the time of the Naroda incident they did not get any help from VHP but Babubhai had helped. He talks about Narendra Modi coming, seeing and praising them and going away. He has stated that Mayaben was there from the morning till 8:00 in the night. One Sajan who is also present there has stated that his paternal uncle Ganpat Chhara's name is also there in the Patiya incident. Suresh has stated that at that time the police were in their favour and that on that day the police fired at the Muslims and that on the next day they changed sides and joined the opposite party. He also stated that Narendra Modi went from that side in a vehicle and went straight to Himmatnagar. He took a round and then went away and thereafter is not seen till date. They see him on the TV and in the newspaper.

333.10 Prakash Rathod has said that on that day some of the Chharas had swords and trishuls. He has also said that Suresh Richard has all kinds of weapons except revolver. He also refers to Guddu as being at the Patiya. He has said that they did not go inside and that all the other Chharas were inside and they had stayed there and they used to beat whoever came there and chase them away.

333.11 Prakash also refers to Bipin Panchal having come, bringing people along with him. They all went inside. He says that some of the Chharas strongly fought they were Suresh Richard, Guddu, Naresh, they did not tire.

333.12 Suresh has said that they were inside and in the evening the situation calmed down. He says Mayaben was roaming around the whole day in a jeep. He talks about destroying the masjid and tying a dead pig on the top and also hoisting a saffron flag on it, which is a blot on the Muslims. Suresh Richard talks about a whole tanker being brought and breaking the masjid by putting the tanker in reverse. It was a petrol tanker.

333.13 Suresh has stated that if hungry people get inside and find some fruit, they are going to eat it no? When thousands of hungry people have entered and a fruit is found the poor guy is going to eat it. He says that even otherwise they were killing them and burning them, then, if such fruit is lying there he will eat it. In any case the fruit would be crushed/trampled upon and thrown. In any case they were burning them and killing them, then, someone may have eaten a fruit. He talks of having raped one Naseemo, the daughter of the scrap dealer and making chhundo (pickle made of grated mangoes) of her. He also says that if it is your child and he throws it in the fire, upon seeing it your soul will burn .. so when they escape they will say that it is the very langda.... He threw my child in the fire.

333.14 This part of the sting has been deposed by the witness in his examination-in-chief. Thus, all these statements made by the accused have been proved by him through his testimony. Additionally, he has also recorded these conversations and the extracts which form part of what was telecast in Operation Kalank and as well as the full DVDs of the recording have been produced on the record. Pursuant to directions issued by the Human Rights Commission, the CBI has investigated into the veracity of the contents of the DVDs and the CDs and the Forensic Science Laboratory, Jaipur has certified that it is possible to record the sting operation by means of the cameras used by this witness.

333.15 From the cross-examination of PW 322 Ashish Khetan it emerges that he had recorded the sting operation in the microchip fitted in the cameras, thereafter he has copied the same in the hard Chaudhary of his laptop and prepared CDs from the same. Also after some recording, he used to make CDs and send them to Tehelka to protect against the risk of the data getting destroyed. The attention of the witness is drawn to the facts in the nature of conversation recorded in paragraph 30 to 58 of his examination-in-chief. He has denied that what is dictated by him as the text of his conversation with the three accused in his examination-in-chief, has not been stated by him in the statement recorded by the SIT. The witness has stated that, in fact, he has stated only the exact text of the main facts of his conversation with the three accused in his deposition before the court. He has given the CD of the entire conversation to the SIT, and over and above that, extracts of the conversation in the sting operation have been stated in his statement also. The witness has voluntarily stated that at the time of recording his second statement, they had opened this CD and seen it in his presence.

333.16 The witness has stated that the CD which he had brought, he brought from Tehelka. He has stated that he had seen the Aaj Tak video. The Tehelka CD is the one which he had given to Tehelka. He has denied that the CD and transcript given by him to Tehelka were of a programme that was anchored by Shri Dipak Chaurasiya and Shri Dipak Sharma. The witness has voluntarily stated that the transcript of the Aaj Tak programme and CD are different from the CD which he had shot and the transcript.

333.17 The witness has denied that if he found that some part of the recording was irrelevant, he had deleted the same. He has denied that he had found the conversation regarding the communal incidents in the entire Gujarat to be irrelevant, and hence, he had deleted the same. He has denied that if anything useless has been spoken by those persons whom he has recorded and he has found it to be useless, he used to delete it.

333.18 In his cross-examination, it has further come out that he did not prepare the CDs and send them to Tehelka on a day-to-day basis, however, every few days, out of fear that there might be some technical defect in his laptop; he used to prepare a CD and send it to Tehelka by courier. He has denied that he had not sent the transcript to Tehelka from time to time by e-mail. The witness has voluntarily stated that even today, he has the e-mail with him.

333.19 He has denied that a meeting was held at Tehelka and it was decided that the unnecessary part of the recording should be deleted. The witness has voluntarily stated that there is no change, amendment, addition or tampering with the recording. He has stated that even as on date, the recording of the entire meeting has been preserved in the Tehelka office. The testimony of this witness regarding the confession made before him is coherent and has not been in the slightest degree shaken in the cross-examination.

ADMISSIBILITY OF EVIDENCE OF STING OPERATION:

334. In the aforesaid backdrop, the first question that arises for consideration is as regards the admissibility or otherwise of the evidence of the sting operation conducted by PW 322 Mr. Ashish Khetan. It has been emphatically argued on behalf of the appellants that the electronic evidence in this case has not been proved as laid down in section 65B of the Evidence Act and, is, therefore, inadmissible in evidence. Reference may, therefore, be made to the provisions of section 65B of the Evidence Act, which read thus:

“65-B. Admissibility of electronic records.—(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, any information contained in an electronic record which is printed on a paper, stored, recorded or copied in optical or magnetic media produced by a computer (hereinafter referred to as the computer output) shall be deemed to be also a document, if the conditions mentioned in this section are satisfied in relation to the information and computer in question and shall be admissible in any proceedings, without further proof or production of the original, as evidence of any contents of the original or of any fact stated therein of which direct evidence would be admissible.

(2) The conditions referred to in sub-section (1) in respect of a computer output shall be the following, namely

(a) the computer output containing the information was produced by the computer during the period over which the computer was used regularly to store or process information for the purposes of any activities regularly carried on over that period by the person having lawful control over the use of the computer;

(b) during the said period, information of the kind contained in the electronic record or of the kind from which the information so contained is derived was regularly fed into the computer in the ordinary course of the said activities;

(c) throughout the material part of the said period, the computer was operating properly or, if not, then in respect of any period in which it was not operating properly or was out of operation during that part of the period, was not such as to affect the electronic record or the accuracy of its contents; and

(d) the information contained in the electronic record reproduces or is derived from such information fed into the computer in the ordinary course of the said activities.

(3) Where over any period, the function of storing or processing information for the purposes of any activities regularly carried on over that period as mentioned in clause (a) of sub-section (2) was regularly performed by computers, whether—

(a) by a combination of computers operating over that period; or

(b) by different computers operating in succession over that period; or

(c) by different combinations of computers operating in succession over that period; or

(d) in any other manner involving the successive operation over that period, in whatever order, of one or more computers and one or more combinations of computers, all the computers used for that purpose during that period shall be treated for the purposes of this section as constituting a single computer; and references in this section to a computer shall be construed accordingly.

(4) In any proceedings where it is desired to give a statement in evidence by virtue of this section, a certificate doing any of the following things, that is to say,—

(a) identifying the electronic record containing the statement and describing the manner in which it was produced;

(b) giving such particulars of any device involved in the production of that electronic record as may be appropriate for the purpose of showing that the electronic record was produced by a computer;

(c) dealing with any of the matters to which the conditions mentioned in sub-section (2) relate, and purporting to be signed by a person occupying a responsible official position in relation to the operation of the relevant device or the management of the relevant activities (whichever is appropriate) shall be evidence of any matter stated in the certificate; and for the purposes of this sub-section it shall be sufficient for a matter to be stated to the best of the knowledge and belief of the person stating it.

(5) For the purposes of this section,—

(a) information shall be taken to be supplied to a computer if it is supplied thereto in any appropriate form and whether it is so supplied directly or (with or without human intervention) by means of any appropriate equipment;

(b) whether in the course of activities carried on by any official, information is supplied with a view to its being stored or processed for the purposes of those activities by a computer operated otherwise than in the course of those activities, that information, if duly supplied to that computer, shall be taken to be supplied to it in the course of those activities;

(c) a computer output shall be taken to have been produced by a computer whether it was produced by it directly or (with or without human intervention) by means of any appropriate equipment.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section any reference to information being derived from other information shall be a reference to its being derived therefrom by calculation, comparison or any other process.]”

334.1 Thus, under section 65B of the Evidence Act, information contained in an electronic record, which is printed on a paper, stored, recorded or copied in optical or magnetic media produced by a computer (hereinafter referred to as the computer output) shall be deemed to be also a document, if the conditions mentioned in this section are satisfied in relation to the information and computer in question and shall be admissible in any proceedings, without further proof or production of the original, as evidence of any contents of the original or of any fact stated therein of which direct evidence would be admissible. The Supreme Court in Anvar P.V. v. P.K. Basheer (supra) has held thus:

“14. Any documentary evidence by way of an electronic record under the Evidence Act, in view of Sections 59 and 65-A, can be proved only in accordance with the procedure prescribed under Section 65-B. Section 65-B deals with the admissibility of the electronic record. The purpose of these provisions is to sanctify secondary evidence in electronic form, generated by a computer. It may be noted that the section starts with a non obstante clause. Thus, notwithstanding anything contained in the Evidence Act, any information contained in an electronic record which is printed on a paper, stored, recorded or copied in optical or magnetic media produced by a computer shall be deemed to be a document only if the conditions mentioned under sub-section (2) are satisfied, without further proof or production of the original. The very admissibility of such a document i.e. electronic record which is called as computer output, depends on the satisfaction of the four conditions under Section 65-B (2). Following are the specified conditions under Section 65-B (2) of the Evidence Act:

(i) The electronic record containing the information should have been produced by the computer during the period over which the same was regularly used to store or process information for the purpose of any activity regularly carried on over that period by the person having lawful control over the use of that computer;

(ii) The information of the kind contained in electronic record or of the kind from which the information is derived was regularly fed into the computer in the ordinary course of the said activity;

(iii) During the material part of the said period, the computer was operating properly and that even if it was not operating properly for some time, the break or breaks had not affected either the record or the accuracy of its contents; and

(iv) The information contained in the record should be a reproduction or derivation from the information fed into the computer in the ordinary course of the said activity.

15. Under Section 65-B(4) of the Evidence Act, if it is desired to give a statement in any proceedings pertaining to an electronic record, it is permissible provided the following conditions are satisfied:

(a) There must be a certificate which identifies the electronic record containing the statement;

(b) The certificate must describe the manner in which the electronic record was produced;

(c) The certificate must furnish the particulars of the device involved in the production of that record;

(d) The certificate must deal with the applicable conditions mentioned under Section 65-B(2) of the Evidence Act; and

(e) The certificate must be signed by a person occupying a responsible official position in relation to the operation of the relevant device.

16. It is further clarified that the person need only to state in the certificate that the same is to the best of his knowledge and belief. Most importantly, such a certificate must accompany the electronic record like computer printout, compact disc (CD), video compact disc (VCD), pen drive, etc., pertaining to which a statement is sought to be given in evidence, when the same is produced in evidence. All these safeguards are taken to ensure the source and authenticity, which are the two hallmarks pertaining to electronic record sought to be used as evidence. Electronic records being more susceptible to tampering, alteration, transposition, excision, etc. without such safeguards, the whole trial based on proof of electronic records can lead to travesty of justice.

17. Only if the electronic record is duly produced in terms of Section 65-B of the Evidence Act, would the question arise as to the genuineness thereof and in that situation, resort can be made to Section 45-A—opinion of Examiner of Electronic Evidence.

18. The Evidence Act does not contemplate or permit the proof of an electronic record by oral evidence if requirements under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act are not complied with, as the law now stands in India.”

334.2 In J. Yashoda v. K. Shobha Rani, (2007) 5 SCC 730, the Supreme Court held thus:

“6. In order to consider rival submissions it is necessary to take note of Sections 63 and 65(a). Sections 63 and 65(a) read as follows:

“63. Secondary evidence.—Secondary evidence means and includes—

(1) certified copies given under the provisions hereinafter contained;

(2) copies made from the original by mechanical processes which in themselves ensure the accuracy of the copy, and copies compared with such copies;

(3) copies made from or compared with the original;

(4) counterparts of documents as against the parties who did not execute them;

(5) oral accounts of the contents of a document given by some person who has himself seen it.

65. Cases in which secondary evidence relating to documents may be given.—Secondary evidence may be given of the existence, condition or contents of a document in the following cases—

(a) when the original is shown or appears to be in the possession or power—of the person against whom the document is sought to be proved, or of any person out of reach of, or not subject to, the process of the court, or of any person legally bound to produce it, and when, after the notice mentioned in Section 66, such person does not produce it;”

7. Secondary evidence, as a general rule is admissible only in the absence of primary evidence. If the original itself is found to be inadmissible through failure of the party, who files it to prove it to be valid, the same party is not entitled to introduce secondary evidence of its contents.

8. Essentially, secondary evidence is an evidence which may be given in the absence of that better evidence which law requires to be given first, when a proper explanation of its absence is given. The definition in Section 63 is exhaustive as the section declares that secondary evidence “means and includes” and then follow the five kinds of secondary evidence.

9. The rule which is the most universal, namely, that the best evidence the nature of the case will admit shall be produced, decides this objection. That rule only means that, so long as the higher or superior evidence is within your possession or may be reached by you, you shall give no inferior proof in relation to it. Section 65 deals with the proof of the contents of the documents tendered in evidence. In order to enable a party to produce secondary evidence it is necessary for the party to prove existence and execution of the original document. Under Section 64, documents are to be provided (sic proved) by primary evidence. Section 65, however permits secondary evidence to be given of the existence, condition or contents of documents under the circumstances mentioned. The conditions laid down in the said section must be fulfilled before secondary evidence can be admitted. Secondary evidence of the contents of a document cannot be admitted without non-production of the original being first accounted for in such a manner as to bring it within one or other of the cases provided for in the section."

334.3 Thus, in view of the principles propounded in the above decisions, it is mandatory that the requirements of section 65-B of the Evidence Act be complied with for electronic evidence to be admissible in evidence. The question that therefore, arises for consideration in the present case, is whether the requirements of section 65-B of the Evidence Act have been complied with. The evidence adduced by the prosecution to prove the contents of the DVDs and CDs is through the testimonies of PW 322 Mr. Ashish Khetan, PW 323 Dr. Shailendra Ramkishore Jha, the FSL Officer who analysed the DVDs and CDs to examine as to whether they were tampered and also conducted the voice spectrography of the three accused to ascertain whether the voices in the DVDs and CDs were theirs. The prosecution has also examined PW 320 Nirmalsinh Sevasinh Raju, CBI, Mumbai, who had collected the DVDs and CDs from Tehelka and sent them to the FSL, Jaipur for analysis. The prosecution has also examined PW 314 Mr. Bhagirathprasad Manilal Pandya, the then Director of Akashwani Centre, Ahmedabad City, who recorded the voice samples of the three accused.

334.4 PW 322 Ashish Khetan has in his testimony has deposed regarding the sting operation conducted by him. During the course of his testimony the DVDs forming part of the record of the Gulbarg Case were shown to him and he has stated that when his testimony was recorded in the Gulbarg Case he had obtained them from Tehelka and produced them before the court. It may be noted that the equipment used by this witness for the purpose of recording the Sting Operation was shown to him and he has duly identified the same. However, insofar as the DVDs and CDs are concerned, he has stated that he had obtained the same from Tehelka and produced them before the court. From the testimony of this witness, there is nothing to establish that the DVDs and CDs produced before the court had been prepared by him. Moreover, the DVDs and CDs produced before the court were from the Gulbarg Case and were returned to that court and copies of such DVDs and CDs came to be prepared and produced on record as muddamal pursuant to the order passed by the trial court at Exhibit 2555. These DVDs and CDs have merely been kept as muddamal, and no efforts have been made to prove the contents thereof and get the same exhibited. PW 322 has deposed regarding the sting operation conducted by him and produced on record transcripts of the sting carried out by him together with a list Exhibit 2266. However, the transcripts produced on record do not appear to have been admitted in evidence and exhibited, which clearly reflects on the lack of ability or gross negligence on the part of the learned Special Public Prosecutor appearing on behalf of the prosecution before the trial court.

334.5 PW 323 Dr. Shailendra Ramkishore Jha, Scientific Officer of FSL, Jaipur has deposed that the extracts of the sting as shown in Operation Kalank are untampered and are extracts from the DVDs. In the examination-in-chief of this witness, the DVDs and CDs as well as voice samples of the three accused are proved to be the same as given to the FSL Jaipur by the CBI. This witness had also made a transcript of the five CDs of Operation Kalank and had forwarded them with his report. All the three examiners had marked that portion which is found in the CDs in the DVD. He has deposed regarding having compared the voices in the voice sample and in the CDs and DVDs, he had found them to be the same. He is shown the muddamal DVDs and CDs and has stated that these are the same DVDs and CDs which were sent to them for testing. In the cross-examination of the witness, it has come out that they had not carried out any testing of the hard Chaudhary, as it was not part of the query of the CBI. Thus, while this witness has testified regarding the voices in the sting operation being that of the accused and has also testified regarding the DVDs and CDs being un-tampered, there is nothing on record to establish as to who prepared the DVDs and CDs and that the same were copied from the laptop used by Ashish Khetan wherein he had transferred the data from the microchip. While the hard Chaudhary of the lap top did form part of the equipment forwarded to the FSL Jaipur for testing, since the CBI Officer had not requested the FSL to analyse the contents of the hard Chaudhary, no such analysis was carried out.

334.6 PW 320 Nirmalsinh Sevasinh Raju, CBI, Mumbai, has deposed that a preliminary inquiry came to be entrusted to the CBI by the NHRC for verifying the truthfulness of the CDs and DVDs used in the programme Operation Kalank which was broadcast on Aaj Tak new channel on 25.10.2007. The witness has deposed that Ashish Khetan had made fifteen DVDs of the sting operation, from which the five CDs of Operation Kalank had been made. He had obtained fifteen DVDs from Tehelka and five CDs from Aaj Tak. He has also seized the equipment used for recording the Sting Operation and had sent the same to the FSL Jaipur for analysis. He had also recorded statements of those persons on whom the sting had been conducted. He had met Babu Bajrangi at Ahmedabad but Suresh Richard and Prakash Rathod were not found. The report received by him from the FSL, Jaipur was sent to the NHRC on 13.5.2009. The sealed cloth bag containing the DVDs and CDs produced by PW 319 are shown to the witness who has stated that it is not the sealed packet that he had obtained and hence he cannot identify the sealed packet. [The trial court has made a note that the learned Assistant Special Public Prosecutor has informed the court that the fifteen DVDs and five CDs had been sent to the FSL Jaipur together with voice samples of the accused to match the voices in the context of Meghaninagar Police Station I CR No.67/02 and a report in this regard had been obtained. Thereafter, the DVDs and CDs were returned to the SIT and in the case of Naroda Police Station I C.R. No.98/02 also, the DVDs and CDs were sent to Jaipur FSL and after receipt of the DVDs and CDs, I C.R. No.98/02 it is written by hand on the cloth bag. It has been further pointed out that these DVDs and CDs are common in all the three cases.]

334.7 In his cross-examination, the witness has admitted that Babu Bajrangi in the statement recorded by him had admitted that the voice in the sting was his and that the sting was conducted on him, but had stated that he was given a written script and that at the time of the recording he has spoken as per the script. PW 320 has also admitted that he has not seized any script from Ashish Khetan and has voluntarily stated that Ashish Khetan had told him that he had conducted the sting operation. He has further stated that whatever was seized from Tehelka and Aaj Tak was under a receipt memo as per their office procedure. In his cross-examination, it has further come out that he had seized the fifteen DVDs from Tehelka and had sent them to FSL Jaipur. He has further stated that the DVDs which had been given to him had been sent by him in the same condition to the FSL Jaipur. In the cross-examination of this witness, it has come out that during the course of his investigation, he had orally examined the persons on whom the sting was carried out. At this time the persons shown in the sting operation had informed him that they were the persons shown in the sting. The witness has voluntarily stated that they had given different reasons in this regard. Moreover, none of the persons seen in the sting operation had denied that they were in the sting C.D. but had admitted it. The witness has further admitted that Babu Bajrangi had in the statement recorded by him, stated that the voice in the sting operation was his and that the sting was on him but he was given a script and at the time of recording he had spoken as per the script. The witness has admitted that he has not recovered any script form Ashish Ketan and has voluntarily stated that Ashish Khetan had told him that he had carried out

334.8 PW 323 Dr. Shailendra Ramkishore Jha has stated that the lac seal on the white coloured bag is a seal of the FSL. Upon opening the sealed bag, a paper bag secured with cello tape with a seal is shown to him and he has stated that the cello tape has been applied at their office. The fifteen DVDs and CDs are taken out of their respective cloth covers and shown to the witness who has stated that there are FSL chits placed inside all the DVDs and CDs, and that they had tested these very fifteen DVDs and five CDs.

334.9 Thus, while the FSL Officer has identified the DVDs and CDs to be the very DVDs and CDs that came to be tested by him, and the equipment used for the purpose of the sting operation has been identified by PW 322 before the court, the origin of the DVDs and CDs has not been brought on record, as to who prepared the DVDs and CDs and as to whether these DVDs and CDs had been copied from the laptop used by Ashish Khetan for copying the Sting Operation from the microchips of the cameras used by him. Moreover, the contents of the DVDs and Cds, which are in the nature of electronic documentary evidence, have not been proved in the manner provided under section 65B of the Evidence Act. What is a matter of concern is that the contents of the DVDs and CDs have not been sought to be proved before the trial court and the same merely form part of the muddamal of the case. It is difficult to believe that the learned Special Public Prosecutor who conducted the case did not possess the elementary knowledge about how documentary electronic evidence is required to be proved.

Thus, while there is important evidence in the nature of the Sting Operation on record, the same is not admissible in evidence as it has not been proved in accordance with law. Sub-section (4) of section 65-B of the Evidence Act mandates that if it is desired to give a statement in any proceedings pertaining to an electronic record, it is permissible provided the following conditions are satisfied:

- (a) There must be a certificate which identifies the electronic record containing the statement;
- (b) The certificate must describe the manner in which the electronic record was produced;
- (c) The certificate must furnish the particulars of the device involved in the production of that record;
- (d) The certificate must deal with the applicable conditions mentioned under Section 65-B(2) of the Evidence Act; and
- (e) The certificate must be signed by a person occupying a responsible official position in relation to the operation of the relevant device.

334.10 In the present case there is a total non-compliance of the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 65-B of the Evidence Act and no certificate as contemplated therein has been produced on record. The learned Special Public Prosecutor has made a faint attempt to show that there is compliance with the provisions of section 65-B(4) of the Evidence Act by submitting that the FSL Jaipur report has identified the electronic record and certified that the same is not tampered with. According to the learned counsel, on a reading of sub-section (4) of section 65B of the Evidence Act, firstly, if there is a dispute about recording of such statements by the accused or the defence, then in that case only section 65B would be attracted; secondly, in this case, the person who recorded the statement has been examined it is not as if only is the computer device has been produced before the court without examining any witness; and thirdly, it has been stated in the certificate that these equipments were scientifically checked and not found tampered with and, hence, the contents of the CDs and DVDs are required to be looked into. From the evidence as emerging from the record, while the contents of the Sting Operation had been copied by PW 322 from the microchip to his laptop, there is no evidence whatsoever to establish as to who made the DVDs and CDs and as to whether the DVDs were prepared by copying the contents of the laptop used by PW 322. While PW 322 has deposed that he had handed over all the equipment along with the laptop to Tehelka, though two officers from Tehelka viz. Tarun Tejpal and Harinder Baveja have been cited as witnesses in the charge-sheet, they have been dropped from the list of witnesses on the ground of reiteration of evidence. It appears that had these two witnesses been examined by the prosecution, they might have been in a position to explain as to how the DVDs and CDs came to be prepared and could have provided the important missing link in the evidence to connect the DVDs and CDs with the Sting Operation conducted by PW 322. A perusal of the recording contained in the DVD reveals that right from the time the person who is recording the sting enters, till he leaves the place the recording is continuous. The conversation is so natural that it leaves no scope for any doubt as regards its authenticity. However, in view of the non-compliance with the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 65-

B of the Evidence Act, the electronic documentary evidence contained in the DVDs and CDs is not admissible in evidence and cannot be looked into. Consequently, the contents of the DVDs and CDs wherein the Sting Operation has been recorded cannot be relied upon for the purpose of proving the charge against the accused.

334.11 If the contents of the DVDs and CDs cannot be looked into, is the entire evidence of the sting operation inadmissible in evidence? In the opinion of this court the answer is in the negative. While it is true that the DVDs and CDs have not been proved in accordance with law and the contents thereof are not admissible in evidence, in the present case, the extra judicial confession of the accused is not sought to be proved only through the electronic record, but a significant part of what has been spoken by the accused before the witness has also been deposed by the witness in his testimony. The accused have made extra judicial confession before PW 322 Ashish Khetan, who has clearly deposed regarding the same, including facts stated by the accused to him. Since, everything has been recorded by the witness, he has prepared transcripts based on such recording and has deposed on the basis of such transcripts. The entire transcripts prepared by the witness have been produced on record vide list Exhibit 2266. It is not the case of the accused, that there is anything in their statements/recording which is favourable to them and that such part has not been deposed to by the witness. This witness is not inimical to the accused. He had gone to Vadodara to cover some other incident and upon meeting the concerned persons, got a link about the riots related to the Godhra incident and found that it was worth uncovering, accordingly, with the permission of the higher ups, he went ahead with the sting operation, covering those persons whose names were disclosed during the operation. The witness, in his deposition, comes across as a truthful witness. He had no specific agenda when he embarked upon the sting operation, except to unearth the truth. Having regard to the details provided by the witness with accompanying clarity, he comes across as a truthful witness.

334.12 It may be pertinent to note that this is not a case where electronic record is simpliciter being read into evidence as a document. In this case, this witness before whom the accused had made statements amounting to extra judicial confessions has been examined, and he, in his oral evidence, has extracted parts of what was stated by the accused before him. In the cross-examination of the witness, this part of his testimony has not been challenged. The entire cross examination is more on the aspect of inducement, and the fact that the witness had carried out the sting under an assumed identity by using a fabricated identity card. Therefore, through the evidence of this witness itself the extra judicial confession to the extent stated in the examination-in-chief stands proved. The documentary evidence which is in the nature of electronic recording would therefore be in the nature of corroborative evidence to support the testimony of the witness. Therefore, even if the documentary evidence is not accepted in view of non-compliance of the provisions of section 65B of the Evidence Act, the evidence adduced by the witness before whom the confessional statement was made, and whose testimony has not been dislodged by the defence despite lengthy cross-examination, can certainly be taken into consideration while considering the complicity of the accused in the offence in question. In this regard it may be apposite to refer to the decision of the Supreme Court in State of Punjab v. Gurdeep Singh, (1999) 7 SCC 714, wherein the court has held thus:

“3. Confession in common acceptation means and implies acknowledgment of guilt — its evidentiary value and its acceptability however shall have to be assessed by the court having due regard to the credibility of the witnesses. In the event however, the court is otherwise in a position having due regard to the attending circumstances to believe the witness before whom the confession is made and is otherwise satisfied that the confession is in fact voluntary and without there being any doubt in regard thereto, an order of conviction can be founded on such evidence.

4. The observations of this Court in the case of State of U.P. v. M.K. Anthony, (1985) 1 SCC 565, seem to be rather apposite in this context.

5. In para 15 of the Report, this Court observed as below:

“15. There is neither any rule of law nor of prudence that evidence furnished by extra-judicial confession cannot be relied upon unless corroborated by some other credible evidence. The courts have considered the evidence of extra-judicial confession a weak piece of evidence. ... If the evidence about extra-judicial confession comes from the mouth of witness/witnesses who appear to be unbiased, not even remotely inimical to the accused, and in respect of whom nothing is brought out which may tend to indicate that he may have a motive for attributing an untruthful statement to the accused, the words spoken to by the witness are clear, unambiguous and unmistakably convey that the accused is the perpetrator of the crime and nothing is omitted by the witness which may militate against it, then after subjecting the evidence of the witness to a rigorous test on the touchstone of credibility, if it passes the test, the extra-judicial confession can be accepted and can be the basis of a conviction. In such a situation to go in search of corroboration itself tends to cast a shadow of doubt over the evidence. If the evidence of extra-judicial confession is reliable, trustworthy and beyond reproach the same can be relied upon and a conviction can be founded thereon.

6. Incidentally, this Court in the case of Narayan Singh v. State of M.P., (1985) 4 SCC 26, expressly observed that it is not open to any court to start with a presumption that an extra-judicial confession is a weak type of evidence. In para 7 of the Report this Court observed:

“7. Apart from this there is the evidence of PWs 5 and 9 who state on oath that one of the accused admitted before them that he had murdered the deceased. The learned Sessions Judge has brushed aside their evidence by presuming that their statements constituting an extra-judicial confession is a very weak type of evidence. This is a wrong view of the law. It is not open to any court to start with a presumption that extra-judicial confession is a weak type of evidence. It would depend on the nature of the circumstances, the time when the confession was made and the credibility of the witnesses who speak of such a confession. In the instant case, after perusing the evidence of PWs 5 and 9 we are unable to find anything which could lead to the conclusion that these independent witnesses were not telling the truth. The evidence of these two witnesses (PWs 5 and 9) which lends support to the evidence of PW 11 was sufficient to warrant the conviction of the accused. The Sessions Judge has committed a grave error of law in analysing and appreciating the evidence of PWs 5 and 9 and brushing them aside on untenable grounds.”

7. In Baldev Raj v. State of Haryana, 1991 Supp (1) SCC 14, this Court further stated the law as below:

“9. An extra-judicial confession, if voluntary, can be relied upon by the court along with other evidence in convicting the accused. The value of the evidence as to the confession depends upon the veracity of the witnesses to whom it is made. It is true that the court requires the witness to give the actual words used by the accused as nearly as possible but it is not an invariable rule that the court should not accept the evidence, if not the actual words but the substance were given. It is for the court having regard to the credibility of the witness to accept the evidence or not. When the court believes the witness before whom the confession is made and it is satisfied that the confession was voluntary, conviction can be founded on such evidence. Keeping these principles in mind, we find that the confession has been properly accepted and acted upon by the courts below and there is no scope for any doubt regarding the complicity of the appellant in the crime. The confession of the appellant was voluntary. The testimony of PW 4 and PW 5 being responsible persons could not be doubted in the absence of any material to show that they had been motivated to falsely implicate the appellant. The very presence of the appellant and his father with the party of Ishar Dass throughout the operation up to lodging of complaint at the police station dispel any suspicion against the prosecution case and clearly point to the truthfulness of the same. We are, therefore, unable to find any infirmity in the confession which has been accepted and relied upon by the courts below."

8. While it is true that in Narayan Singh case (supra) this Court expressly observed that it is not open to any court to start with a presumption that an extra-judicial confession is a weak type of evidence, a later decision of this Court in Kavita v. State of T.N., (1998) 6 SCC 108, stated that in the very nature of things it is a weak piece of evidence. In para 4 of the Report this Court in Kavita case (supra) observed:

"4. There is no doubt that convictions can be based on extra-judicial confession but it is well settled that in the very nature of things, it is a weak piece of evidence. It is to be proved just like any other fact and the value thereof depends upon the veracity of the witness to whom it is made. It may not be necessary that the actual words used by the accused must be given by the witness but it is for the court to decide on the acceptability of the evidence having regard to the credibility of the witnesses."

9. Apparently there may seem to be some expression of divergence but on the totality of the situation, the question of there being any difference of expression of opinion does not arise, since Kavita case (supra) in no uncertain terms laid down that the evidentiary value of the extra-judicial confession depends upon the veracity of the witnesses to whom it is made and it is for the court to decide on the acceptability of the evidence having regard to the credibility of the witnesses." [Emphasis supplied]

334.13 In the facts of the present case, the witness before whom the extra-judicial confession has been made is a trustworthy and credible witness and, therefore, the extra judicial confession to the extent deposed before the court, deserves to be accepted.

334.14 However, the inept manner in which the investigation has been carried out both by the police as well as the SIT and the equally inept manner in which the prosecution has been conducted, speaks volumes about the intentions of all concerned, in diligently prosecuting the case. It is a matter of great regret and concern that the prosecution though represented by a Special Public Prosecutor and two Assistant Special Public Prosecutors who according to the order passed by the Supreme Court were required to be experienced lawyers familiar with the conduct of criminal trials, have failed to understand the basic proposition of law that the information/sting in the DVDs and CDs is in the nature of documentary evidence and has to be proved in accordance with section 65B of the Evidence Act. It is quite surprising that despite the fact that in his cross-examination PW – Rahul Nanheshwar Sharma, has clearly stated that he had not made any panchnama of the CDs of the mobile companies, for the reason that the same are in the nature of documentary evidence and not muddamal, the learned Special Public Prosecutor still did not understand this clear position of law. As noted earlier, in this case the DVDs and CDs form part of the muddamal and have not been proved through the evidence of any witnesses. Though there is ample supporting evidence on record, the primary task of proving the documentary evidence has not been undertaken, and the CDS and DVDs remain merely muddamal, and, therefore, cannot be looked into as evidence. It is learnt that the learned Special Public Prosecutors are paid very handsomely on a day to day basis, despite which this is the manner in which the matter has been prosecuted before the trial court. It's about time the Government rethinks whether it should be squandering away public money in this manner for this level of prosecution. It appears that the Public Prosecutors were either incompetent or deliberately did not prosecute the matter diligently. The Supreme Court in the very same order has also observed that it would be open for the Chairman of SIT to seek change of any Public Prosecutor so appointed if any deficiency in performance is noticed. However, it appears that even the SIT has not noticed any deficiency in the performance of the learned Special Public Prosecutors despite there being noticeable deficiency in their performances. Even before this court, considering the nature of the assistance rendered to it in this appeal, one wonders why the SIT needed to engage a team of five lawyers headed by a senior advocate. Though the learned counsel was assisted by the learned Assistant Special Public Prosecutor who appeared in his case before the trial court, in respect of any query on facts, it took days for the prosecution to reply to the court and in some cases, no reply was forthcoming.

335. Another argument advanced on behalf of the appellants is that the accused were wrongly induced by Ashish Khetan to make the statements/confessions recorded by him and therefore, such confessions are hit by section 24 of the Evidence Act, and are not admissible in evidence. Under section 24 of the Evidence Act, a confession made by an accused is irrelevant in a criminal proceeding if the making of it appears to the court to have been caused by any inducement, threat, etc. As to what is the nature of the inducement referred to in section 24, the Supreme Court in State of Rajasthan v. Raja Ram, (2003) 8 SCC 180, has held thus:

“18. Confessions may be divided into two classes i.e. judicial and extra-judicial. Judicial confessions are those which are made before a Magistrate or a court in the course of judicial proceedings. Extra-judicial confessions are those which are made by the party elsewhere than before a Magistrate or court. Extra-judicial confessions are generally those that are made by a party to or before a private individual which includes even a judicial officer in his private capacity. It also includes a Magistrate who is not especially empowered to record confessions under Section 164 of the Code or a Magistrate so empowered but receiving the confession at a stage when Section 164 does not apply. As to extra-judicial confessions, two questions arise: (i) were they made voluntarily? and (ii) are they true? As the section enacts, a confession made by an accused person is irrelevant in criminal proceedings, if the making of the confession appears to the court to have been caused by any inducement, threat or promise, (1) having reference to the charge against the accused person, (2) proceeding from a person in authority, and (3) sufficient, in the opinion of the court to give the accused person grounds which would appear to him reasonable for supposing that by making it he would gain any advantage or avoid any evil of a temporal nature in reference to the proceedings against him. It follows that a confession would be voluntary if it is made by the accused in a fit state of mind, and if it is not caused by any inducement, threat or promise which has reference to the charge against him, proceeding from a person in authority. It would not be involuntary, if the inducement, (a) does not have reference to the charge against the accused person; or (b) it does not proceed from a person in authority; or (c) it is not sufficient, in the opinion of the court to give the accused person grounds which would appear to him reasonable for supposing that, by making it, he would gain any advantage or avoid any evil of a temporal nature in reference to the proceedings against him. Whether or not the confession was voluntary would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case, judged in the light of Section 24. The law is clear that a confession cannot be used against an accused person unless the court is satisfied that it was voluntary and at that stage the question whether it is true or false does not arise. If the facts and circumstances surrounding the making of a confession appear to cast a doubt on the veracity or voluntariness of the confession, the court may refuse to act upon the confession, even if it is admissible in evidence. One important question, in regard to which the court has to be satisfied with is, whether when the accused made the confession, he was a free man or his movements were controlled by the police either by themselves or through some other agency employed by them for the purpose of securing such a confession. The question whether a confession is voluntary or not is always a question of fact. All the factors and all the circumstances of the case, including the important factors of the time given for reflection, scope of the accused getting a feeling of threat, inducement or promise, must be considered before deciding whether the court is satisfied that in its opinion the impression caused by the inducement, threat or promise, if any, has been fully removed. A free and voluntary confession is deserving of the highest credit, because it is presumed to flow from the highest sense of guilt. (See R. v. Warickshall, 168 ER 234.) It is not to be conceived that a man would be induced to make a free and voluntary confession of guilt, so contrary to the feelings and principles of human nature, if the facts confessed were not true. Deliberate and voluntary confessions of guilt, if clearly proved, are among the most effectual proofs in law. An involuntary confession is one which is not the result of the free will of the maker of it. So where the statement is made as a result of harassment and continuous interrogation for several hours after the person is treated as an offender and accused, such statement must be regarded as involuntary. The inducement may take the form of a promise or of a threat, and often the inducement involves both promise and threat, a promise of forgiveness if disclosure is made and threat of prosecution if it is not. (See Woodroffe's Evidence, 9th Edn., p. 284.) A promise is always attached to the confession alternative while a threat is always attached to the silence alternative; thus, in one case the prisoner is measuring the net advantage of the promise, minus the general undesirability of a false confession, as against the present unsatisfactory situation; while in the other case he is measuring the net advantages of the present satisfactory situation, minus the general undesirability of the confession against the threatened harm. It must be borne in mind that every inducement, threat or promise does not vitiate a confession. Since the object of the rule is to exclude only those confessions which are testimonially untrustworthy, the inducement, threat or promise must be such as is calculated to lead to an untrue confession. On the aforesaid analysis the court is to determine the absence or presence of an inducement, promise etc. or its sufficiency and how or in what measure it worked on the mind of the accused. If the inducement, promise or threat is sufficient in the opinion of the court, to give the accused person grounds which would appear to him reasonable for supposing that by making it he would gain any advantage or avoid any evil, it is enough to exclude the confession. The words "appear to him" in the last part of the section refer to the mentality of the accused.

19. An extra-judicial confession, if voluntary and true and made in a fit state of mind, can be relied upon by the court. The confession will have to be proved like any other fact. The value of the evidence as to confession, like any other evidence, depends upon the veracity of the witness to whom it has been made. The value of the evidence as to the confession depends on the reliability of the witness who gives the evidence. It is not open to any court to start with a presumption that extra-judicial confession is a weak type of evidence. It would depend on the nature of the circumstances, the time when the confession was made and the credibility of the witnesses who speak to such a confession. Such a confession can be relied upon and conviction can be founded thereon if the evidence about the confession comes from the mouth of witnesses who appear to be unbiased, not even remotely inimical to the accused, and in respect of whom nothing is brought out which may tend to indicate that he may have a motive of attributing an untruthful statement to the accused, the words spoken to by the witness are clear, unambiguous and unmistakably convey that the accused is the perpetrator of the crime and nothing is omitted by the witness which may militate against it. After subjecting the evidence of the witness to a rigorous test on the touchstone of credibility, the extra-judicial confession can be accepted and can be the basis of a conviction if it passes the test of credibility.

20. If the evidence relating to extra-judicial confession is found credible after being tested on the touchstone of credibility and acceptability, it can solely form the basis of conviction. The requirement of corroboration as rightly submitted by the learned counsel for the respondent-accused, is a matter of prudence and not an invariable rule of law."

335.1 Thus, in terms of section 24 of the Evidence Act, a confession made by an accused person is irrelevant in criminal proceedings, if the making of the confession appears to the court to have been caused by any inducement, threat or promise, (1) having reference to the charge against the accused person, (2) proceeding from a person in authority, and (3) sufficient, in the opinion of the court to give the accused person grounds which would appear to him reasonable for supposing that by making it he would gain any advantage or avoid any evil of a temporal nature in reference to the proceedings against him. Thus, a confession would be voluntary if it is made by the accused in a fit state of mind, and if it is not caused by any inducement, threat or promise which has reference to the charge against him, proceeding from a person in authority. It would not be involuntary, if the inducement, (a) does not have reference to the charge against the accused person; or (b) it does not proceed from a person in authority; or (c) it is not sufficient, in the opinion of the court to give the accused person grounds which would appear to him reasonable for supposing that, by making it, he would gain any advantage or avoid any evil of a temporal nature in reference to the proceedings against him. Therefore, the inducement held out to the accused must relate to the offence itself and it is not any kind of inducement that would render the confession involuntary. Reverting to the facts of the present case, even if the defence of accused No.18 were to be accepted that the witness had offered inducement to him by saying that he would be made the President of the VHP, such inducement (a) does not have reference to the charge against the accused; (b) does not proceed from a person in authority; and (c) it is not sufficient to give the accused person grounds which would appear to him reasonable for supposing that, by making it, he would gain any advantage or avoid any evil of a temporal nature in reference of the proceedings against him. Under the circumstances, the so-called inducement offered to the accused No.18 Babubhai Bajrangi, clearly would not fall within the ambit of such expression as contemplated in section 24 of the Evidence Act. It may be that the confession may have been extracted through trickery, but that by itself would not diminish the efficacy of such evidence.

335.2 FURTHER FINDINGS: It may be apposite to note that the accused, except for a denial simpliciter, have not strongly denied the sting operation. However, in the cross-examination of PW 322 Ashish Khetan, it is sought to be suggested that they were reading from the readymade script, which is the defence put forth by them. In the entire cross examination it is not even suggested to the witness that the transcript prepared by him was not a true transcript of what was recorded by him.

335.3 Reference may be made at this juncture to the following observations made by the Supreme Court in R.K. Anand v. Delhi High Court, (2009) 8 SCC 106: (2010) 2 SCC (Cri) 563:

“138. Mr Ahmed further submitted that the audio and the video recording on the basis of which the NDTV telecast was based and that was produced before the High Court was done by Kulkarni and it was he who was the maker of those materials. The Court never got Kulkarni brought before it either for the formal proof of the electronic materials or for cross-examination by the contemnors. The finding of the High Court was thus based on materials of which neither the authenticity was proved nor the veracity of which was tested by cross-examination.”

“142. Keeping this in mind when we turn to the facts of this case we find that the correctness of the sting recordings was never in doubt or dispute. R.K. Anand never said that on the given dates and time he never met Kulkarni at the airport lounge or in the car and what was shown in the sting recordings was fabricated and false. He did not say that though he met Kulkarni on the two occasions, they were talking about the weather or the stock market or the latest film hits and the utterances put in their mouth were fabricated and doctored. Where then is the question of proof of authenticity and integrity of the recordings?"

"155. R.K. Anand thus accepts the entire recordings in both the stings. For, it is absurd even to suggest that the sting recordings are true and correct if those are seen as supporting his explanations (which, in any event, are quite unstatable!) but are otherwise false and fabricated.

156. In a rearguard action Mr Altaf Ahmed took us one by one through all the paragraphs in different affidavits filed by R.K. Anand in which the sting recordings were described as false, fabricated, doctored, morphed and manipulated. But those allegations are simply not compatible with the other statements in his affidavits as noted above and his responses in regard to the sting operations at different times. The denials in the affidavits are nothing more than ornamental pleas."

"160. On a careful consideration of the materials on record we do not have the slightest doubt that the authenticity and integrity of the sting recordings was never disputed or doubted by R.K. Anand. As noted above he kept on changing his stand in regard to the sting recordings. In the facts and circumstances of the case, therefore, there was no requirement of any formal proof of the sting recordings." (Emphasis supplied)

335.4 The upshot of the above discussion is that while the "Sting Operation" as recorded in the DVDs and the CDs produced on record by way of muddamal is not admissible in evidence, the oral evidence adduced by PW 322 Mr. Ashish Khetan regarding the extra-judicial confession made before him is admissible in evidence.

EXTRA JUDICIAL CONFESSION:

336. The next question that therefore arises for consideration is the evidentiary value of such extra-judicial confession.

336.1 SUBMISSIONS: On behalf of the appellants it has been submitted that the sting operation cannot be termed as a confession, much less, an extra-judicial confession, for the reason that the six ingredients for relying upon an extra judicial confession as laid down by the Supreme Court in Sahadevan v. State of T.N., (2012) 6 SCC 403, are not satisfied and the same is based on deception. The court in the above case held thus:

“15. Now, we may examine some judgments of this Court dealing with this aspect.

15.1. In Balwinder Singh v. State of Punjab, 1995 Supp (4) SCC 259, this Court stated the principle that:

“10. An extra-judicial confession by its very nature is rather a weak type of evidence and requires appreciation with a great deal of care and caution. Where an extra-judicial confession is surrounded by suspicious circumstances, its credibility becomes doubtful and it loses its importance.”

15.2. In Pakkirisamy v. State of T.N., (1997) 8 SCC 158, the Court held that:

“8. ... It is well settled that it is a rule of caution where the court would generally look for an independent reliable corroboration before placing any reliance upon such extra-judicial confession.”

15.3. Again in Kavita v. State of T.N., (1998) 6 SCC 108, the Court stated the dictum that:

“4. There is no doubt that convictions can be based on extra-judicial confession but it is well settled that in the very nature of things, it is a weak piece of evidence. It is to be proved just like any other fact and the value thereof depends upon the veracity of the [witnesses] to whom it is made.”

15.4. While explaining the dimensions of the principles governing the admissibility and evidentiary value of an extra-judicial confession, this Court in State of Rajasthan v. Raja Ram, (2003) 8 SCC 180, stated the principle that:

“19. An extra-judicial confession, if voluntary and true and made in a fit state of mind, can be relied upon by the court. The confession will have to be proved like any other fact. The value of the evidence as to confession, like any other evidence, depends upon the veracity of the witness to whom it has been made.”

The Court further expressed the view that: “19. ... Such a confession can be relied upon and conviction can be founded thereon if the evidence about the confession comes from the mouth of witnesses who appear to be unbiased, not even remotely inimical to the accused, and in respect of whom nothing is brought out which may tend to indicate that he may have a motive of attributing an untruthful statement to the accused....”

15.5. In Alope Nath Dutta v. State of W.B., (2007) 12 SCC 230, the Court, while holding the placing of reliance on extra-judicial confession by the lower courts in absence of other corroborating material as unjustified, observed:

“87. Confession ordinarily is admissible in evidence. It is a relevant fact. It can be acted upon. Confession may under certain circumstances and subject to law laid down by the superior judiciary from time to time form the basis for conviction. It is, however, trite that for the said purpose the court has to satisfy itself in regard to: (i) voluntariness of the confession; (ii) truthfulness of the confession; and (iii) corroboration.

89. A detailed confession which would otherwise be within the special knowledge of the accused may itself be not sufficient to raise a presumption that confession is a truthful one. Main features of a confession are required to be verified. If it is not done, no conviction can be based only on the sole basis thereof.”

15.6. Accepting the admissibility of the extra-judicial confession, the Court in Sansar Chand v. State of Rajasthan, (2010) 10 SCC 604, held that:

“29. There is no absolute rule that an extra-judicial confession can never be the basis of a conviction, although ordinarily an extra-judicial confession should be corroborated by some other material. [Vide Thimma and Thimma Raju v. State of Mysore, (1970) 2 SCC 105, Mulk Raj v. State of U.P., AIR 1959 SC 902, Sivakumar v. State, (2006) 1 SCC 714, Shiva Karam Payaswami Tewari v. State of Maharashtra, (2009) 11 SCC 262 and Mohd. Azad v. State of W.B., (2008) 15

30. In the present case, the extra-judicial confession by Balwan has been referred to in the judgments of the learned Magistrate and the Special Judge, and it has been corroborated by the other material on record. We are satisfied that the confession was voluntary and was not the result of inducement, threat or promise as contemplated by Section 24 of the Evidence Act, 1872.”

15.7. Dealing with the situation of retraction from the extra-judicial confession made by an accused, the Court in Rameshbhai Chandubhai Rathod v. State of Gujarat, (2009) 5 SCC 740, held as under:

“53. It appears therefore, that the appellant has retracted his confession. When an extra-judicial confession is retracted by an accused, there is no inflexible rule that the court must invariably accept the retraction. But at the same time it is unsafe for the court to rely on the retracted confession, unless the court on a consideration of the entire evidence comes to a definite conclusion that the retracted confession is true.”

15.8. Extra-judicial confession must be established to be true and made voluntarily and in a fit state of mind. The words of the witnesses must be clear, unambiguous and should clearly convey that the accused is the perpetrator of the crime. The extra-judicial confession can be accepted and can be the basis of conviction, if it passes the test of credibility. The extra-judicial confession should inspire confidence and the court should find out whether there are other cogent circumstances on record to support it. (Ref. Sk. Yusuf v. State of W.B., (2011) 11 SCC 754 and Pancho v. State of Haryana, (2011) 10 SCC 165.)

The principles

16. Upon a proper analysis of the above referred judgments of this Court, it will be appropriate to state the principles which would make an extra-judicial confession an admissible piece of evidence capable of forming the basis of conviction of an accused. These precepts would guide the judicial mind while dealing with the veracity of cases where the prosecution heavily relies upon an extra-judicial confession alleged to have been made by the accused:

(i) The extra-judicial confession is a weak evidence by itself. It has to be examined by the court with greater care and caution.

(ii) It should be made voluntarily and should be truthful.

(iii) It should inspire confidence.

(iv) An extra-judicial confession attains greater credibility and evidentiary value if it is supported by a chain of cogent circumstances and is further corroborated by other prosecution evidence.

(v) For an extra-judicial confession to be the basis of conviction, it should not suffer from any material discrepancies and inherent improbabilities.

336.2 Reliance was also placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Pancho v. State of Haryana, (2011) 10 SCC 165, wherein it was held thus:

18. Besides, in his evidence PW 4 Nathi Singh has stated that his village is about 35 km to 40 km from the village of A-1, Pratham and none of his relatives stay in that village. He has stated that he knew A-1, Pratham; that he had come to his village at about 7.30 to 8.00 a.m. and stayed with him for 2.00 to 2.30 hours. It does not stand to reason that A-1, Pratham would go voluntarily to PW 4 Nathi Singh, who stayed in another village which is about 35 km to 40 km away from his village and make a confessional statement to him. The prosecution evidence does not indicate that A-1, Pratham and PW 4 Nathi Singh knew each other intimately. It is, therefore, difficult to accept the prosecution case that A-1, Pratham made any extra-judicial confession to PW 4 Nathi Singh. It may be stated here that in his statement recorded under Section 313 of the Code, A-1, Pratham has denied that he made any such statement. This retraction further makes a dent in the alleged extra-judicial confession.

23. As against A-2, Pancho, the prosecution is relying mainly on the extra-judicial confessional statement of A-1, Pratham. The question which needs to be considered is what is the evidentiary value of a retracted confession of a co-accused?

24. The law on this point is well settled by a catena of judgments of this Court. We may, however, refer to only two judgments to which our attention is drawn by Mr Lalit, learned Senior Counsel. In Kashmira Singh v. State of M.P., AIR 1952 SC 159, referring to the judgment of the Privy Council in Bhuboni Sahu v. R., (1949) 50 Cri L.J. 872 and observations of Sir Lawrence Jenkins in Emperor v. Lalit Mohan Chuckerbutty, ILR (1911) 38 Cal 559, this Court observed that the proper way to approach a case involving confession of a co-accused is, first, to marshal the evidence against the accused excluding the confession altogether from consideration and see whether, if it is believed, a conviction could safely be based on it. If it is capable of belief independently of the confession, then it is not necessary to call the confession in aid.

25. This Court further noted that:

“10. ... cases may arise where the Judge is not prepared to act on the other evidence as it stands even though, if believed, it would be sufficient to sustain a conviction. In such an event, the Judge may call in aid the confession and use it to lend assurance to the other evidence and thus fortify himself in believing what without the aid of the confession, he would not be prepared to accept.”

(emphasis in original)

26. In Haricharan Kurmi v. State of Bihar, AIR 1964 SC 1184, the Constitution Bench of this Court was again considering the same question. The Constitution Bench referred to Section 3 of the Evidence Act, 1872 and observed that confession of a co-accused is not evidence within the meaning of Section 3 of the Evidence Act. It is neither oral statement which the court permits or requires to be made before it as per Section 3(1) of the Evidence Act nor does it fall in the category of evidence referred to in Section 3(2) of the Evidence Act which covers all documents produced for the inspection of the court. This Court observed that even then Section 30 provides that a confession may be taken into consideration not only against its maker, but also against a co-accused. Thus, though such a confession may not be evidence as strictly defined by Section 3 of the Evidence Act, "it is an element which may be taken into consideration by the criminal court and in that sense, it may be described as evidence in a non-technical way".

27. This Court in Haricharan case (supra) further observed that Section 30 merely enables the court to take the confession into account. It is not obligatory on the court to take the confession into account. This Court reiterated that a confession cannot be treated as substantive evidence against a co-accused. Where the prosecution relies upon the confession of one accused against another, the proper approach is to consider the other evidence against such an accused and if the said evidence appears to be satisfactory and the court is inclined to hold that the said evidence may sustain the charge framed against the said accused, the court turns to the confession with a view to assuring itself that the conclusion which it is inclined to draw from the other evidence is right.

28. This Court in Haricharan case (supra) clarified that though confession may be regarded as evidence in generic sense because of the provisions of Section 30 of the Evidence Act, the fact remains that it is not evidence as defined in Section 3 of the Evidence Act. Therefore, in dealing with a case against an accused, the court cannot start with the confession of a co-accused; it must begin with other evidence adduced by the prosecution and after it has formed its opinion with regard to the quality and effect of the said evidence, then it is permissible to turn to the confession in order to receive assurance to the conclusion of guilt which the judicial mind is about to reach on the said other evidence.

336.3 Reference was made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Sarwan Singh Rattan Singh v. State of Punjab, 1957 SCR 953: AIR 1957 SC 637: 1957 Cri LJ 1014, wherein it has been held thus:

"10. That takes us to the case of Accused 3 Sarwan Singh. We have already pointed out that the order of conviction passed against Sarwan Singh is in the words of the judgment of the High Court based on the fact that "there is the evidence of the approver and it is corroborated in every particular by his own confessional statement". Besides, there is other circumstantial evidence to which reference has already been made in narrating the prosecution story at the beginning of this judgment. It would at once be noticed that, if we come to the conclusion that the approver is an unreliable witness, the basis of the evidence of the approver on which the learned Judges of the High Court proceeded even while dealing with the case against Sarwan Singh has been shaken. If, in our opinion, the approver is unworthy of credit, then it would not be possible to consider the question of the corroboration that his evidence receives from the confessional statement made by Sarwan Singh himself. It is, however, true that Sarwan Singh has made a confession and in law it would be open to the court to convict him on this confession itself though he has retracted his confession at a later stage. Nevertheless usually courts require some corroboration to the confessional statement before convicting an accused person on such a statement. What amount of corroboration would be necessary in such a case would always be a question of fact to be determined in the light of the circumstances of each case. In the present case, the learned Sessions Judge has considered the question about the voluntary character of the confession made by Sarwan Singh and has found in favour of the prosecution. The judgment of the High Court shows that the learned Judges agreed with the view of the learned trial Judge mainly because the evidence of the Magistrate who recorded the confession appeared to the learned Judges to show that the confession was voluntary. It is this view which is seriously challenged before us by Mr Mathur on behalf of Sarwan Singh. Prima facie whether or not the confession is voluntary would be a question of fact and we would be reluctant to interfere with a finding on such a question of fact unless we are satisfied that the impugned finding has been reached without applying the true and relevant legal tests in the matter. As in the case of the evidence given by the approver, so too unfortunately in the case of the confession of Sarwan Singh the attention of the learned Judges below does not appear to have been drawn to some salient and grave features which have a material bearing on the question about the voluntary character of the confession. Sarwan Singh was arrested on November 25. His clothes were found bloodstained and he is alleged to have been inclined to help the prosecution by making the statement which led to the discovery of incriminating articles. All this happened on the 25th itself and yet, without any ostensible explanation or justification, Sarwan Singh was kept in police custody until November 30. That is one fact which is to be borne in mind in dealing with the voluntary character of his confession. What happened on November 30 is still more significant. On this day he was sent to the Magistrate to record his confessional statement. The evidence of the Magistrate Mr Grover shows that the accused was produced before him at about 2.30 p.m. He was given about half-an-hour to think about the statement which he was going to make and soon thereafter the confessional statement was recorded. It is true that the Magistrate did put to the accused the questions prescribed by the circulars issued by the High Court of Punjab. Even so, when the learned Magistrate was asked why he did not give more time to the accused before his confessional statement was recorded, his reply was frank and honest. He said that the accused seemed to insist upon making a statement straightaway.

The Police Sub-Inspector who had taken the accused to the Magistrate was apparently standing in the verandah outside in the Magistrate's office. The doors of the office were closed but the fact still remains that the Sub-Inspector was standing outside. The evidence of the Magistrate also shows that, soon after the statement was finished, the Sub-Inspector went to the Magistrate's room again. The person of the accused showed some injuries and yet the learned Magistrate did not enquire how the accused came to be injured. It is in the light of these circumstances that the question falls to be considered whether the confession made by the accused can be regarded as voluntary. It is hardly necessary to emphasize that the act of recording confessions under Section 164 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is a very solemn act and, in discharging his duties under the said section, the Magistrate must take care to see that the requirements of sub-section (3) of Section 164 are fully satisfied. It would of course be necessary in every case to put the questions prescribed by the High Court circulars but the questions intended to be put under sub-section (3) of Section 164 should not be allowed to become a matter of a mere mechanical enquiry. No element of casualness should be allowed to creep in and the Magistrate should be fully satisfied that the confessional statement which the accused wants to make is in fact and in substance voluntary. Incidentally, we may invite the attention of the High Court of Punjab to the fact that the circulars issued by the High Court of Punjab in the matter of the procedure to be followed, and questions to be put to the accused, by Magistrates recording confessions under Section 164 may be revised and suitable amendments and additions made in the said circulars in the light of similar circulars issued by the High Courts of Uttar Pradesh, Bombay and Madras. The whole object of putting questions to an accused person who offers to confess is to obtain an assurance of the fact that the confession is not caused by any inducement, threat or promise having reference to the charge against the accused person as mentioned in Section 24 of the Indian Evidence Act. There can be no doubt that, when an accused person is produced before the Magistrate by the investigating officer, it is of utmost importance that the mind of the accused person should be completely freed from any possible influence of the police and the effective way of securing such freedom from fear to the accused person is to send him to jail custody and give him adequate time to consider whether he should make a confession at all. It would naturally be difficult to lay down any hard and fast rule as to the time which should be allowed to an accused person in any given case. However, speaking generally, it would, we think, be reasonable to insist upon giving an accused person at least 24 hours to decide whether or not he should make a confession. Where there may be reason to suspect that the accused has been persuaded or coerced to make a confession, even longer period may have to be given to him before his statement is recorded. In our opinion, in the circumstances of this case it is impossible to accept the view that enough time was given to the accused to think over the matter. Indeed, any Magistrate with enough criminal experience would have immediately decided to give longer time to Sarwan Singh in the present case for the obvious reason that Sarwan Singh appeared to the learned Magistrate to be keen on making a confession straightaway. The learned Magistrate himself has fairly stated that he would have given him longer time but for his insistence to make a confession without delay. This insistence on the part of Sarwan

Singh to make a confession immediately should have put the learned Magistrate on his guard because it obviously bore traces of police pressure or inducement. Unfortunately, the effect of the failure of the learned Magistrate to grant enough time to the accused to consider the matter has not been considered by the learned Sessions Judge and has been wholly ignored by the learned Judges of the High Court. Besides, in neither court below has any attention been paid to the fact that Sarwan Singh appeared to have been kept in police custody without any justification between November 26 and November 30. We have carefully considered all the relevant facts bearing on this question and we see no escape from the conclusion that the failure of the learned Judges of the High Court to take into account these material facts has introduced a serious legal infirmity in their conclusion that the confession made by Sarwan Singh is voluntary. That is why we think we must reverse this conclusion.

11. There is, besides, another fact which is equally fatal to the prosecution case. Even if the confession is held to be voluntary, it must also be established that the confession is true and for the purpose of dealing with this question it would be necessary to examine the confession and compare it with the rest of the prosecution evidence and the probabilities in the case. In our opinion, some material points mentioned in the confessional statement are not shown to be true. Sarwan Singh says that when Gurdev Singh was assaulted he and his brother Harbans Singh were walking together. On the other hand the prosecution story is that Harbans Singh had first contacted his accomplices and had told them that he would send Gurdev Singh towards the spot where the accomplices would lie in wait for him. The story further is that when Gurdev Singh suspected that there were some people near about he shouted to Harbans Singh and before Harbans Singh came on the spot assault had begun. This part of the prosecution story as deposed to by the approver is inconsistent with the material statement in the confession. According to the confession, Dial Singh gave a Dang blow to Gurdev Singh on the head from the front. This statement is not borne out by medical evidence. There does not appear to be a corresponding injury on the head of the victim. Sarwan

Singh says that he took the kirpan which was first used by Harbans Singh and gave two blows to Gurdev Singh on his thigh. This statement again is not borne out by the medical evidence about the injuries on the body of the victim. Similarly, the statement of Sarwan Singh that the handle of the kirpan was broken and he got his finger injured with it is not easily reconcilable with the medical evidence about the injury itself. Unfortunately these discrepancies between the confessional statement and the main prosecution evidence given by the approver have not been noticed by the learned Judges of the High Court. Indeed, after having found that the confession was voluntary it appears to have been assumed by the learned Judges that the confession was true and that, in our opinion, is another infirmity in the conclusion reached by the High Court”

336.4 Strong reliance was placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Haricharan Kurmi v. State of Bihar, AIR 1964 SC 1184 :(1964) 2 Cri LJ 344, wherein it was held thus:

“11. The question about the part which a confession made by a co-accused person can play in a criminal trial, has to be determined in the light of the provisions of Section 30 of the Act. Section 30 provides that when more persons than one are being tried jointly for the same offence, and a confession made by one of such persons affecting himself and some other of such persons is proved, the Court may take into consideration such confession as against such other person as well as against the person who makes such confession. The basis on which this provision is found is that if a person makes a confession implicating himself, that may suggest that the maker of the confession is speaking the truth. Normally, if a statement made by an accused person is found to be voluntary and it amounts a confession in the sense that it implicates the maker, it is not likely that the maker would implicate himself untruly, and so Section 30 provides that such a confession may be taken into consideration even against a co-accused who is being tried along with the maker of the confession. There is no doubt that a confession made voluntarily by an accused person can be used against the maker of the confession, though as a matter of prudence criminal courts generally require some corroboration to the said confession particularly if it has been retracted. With that aspect of the problem, however, we are not concerned in the present appeals. When Section 30 provides that the confession of a co-accused may be taken into consideration, what exactly is the scope and effect of such taking into consideration, is precisely the problem which has been raised in the present appeals. It is clear that the confession mentioned in Section 30 is not evidence under Section 3 of the Act. Section 3 defines "evidence" as meaning and including—

"(1) all statements which the court permits or requires to be made before it by witnesses, in relation to matters of fact under inquiry; such statements are called oral evidence;

(2) all documents produced for the inspection of the court; such documents are called documents are called documentary evidence."

12. Technically construed, this definition will not apply to a confession. Part (1) of the definition refers to oral statements which the court permits or requires to be made before it; and clearly, a confession made by an accused person is not such a statement; it is not made or permitted to be made before the court that tries the criminal case. Part (2) of the definition refers to documents produced for the inspection of the court; and a confession cannot be said to fall even under this part. Even so, Section 30 provides that a confession may not be evidence as strictly defined by Section 3 of the Act, it is an element which may be taken into consideration by the criminal court and in that sense, it may be described as evidence in a non-technical way. But it is significant that like other evidence which is produced before the court, it is not obligatory on the court to take the confession into account. When evidence as defined by the Act is produced before the court, it is the duty of the court to consider that evidence. What weight should be attached to such evidence, is a matter in the discretion of the court. But a court cannot say in respect of such evidence that it will just not take that evidence into account. Such an approach can, however, be adopted by the court in dealing with a confession, because Section 30 merely enables the court to take the confession into account.

13. As we have already indicated, this question has been considered on several occasions by judicial decisions and it has been consistently held that a confession cannot be treated as evidence which is substantive evidence against a co-accused person. In dealing with a criminal case where the prosecution relies upon the confession of one accused person against another accused person, the proper approach to adopt is to consider the other evidence against such an accused person, and if the said evidence appears to be satisfactory and the court is inclined to hold that the said evidence may sustain the charge framed against the said accused person, the court turns to the confession with a view to assure itself that the conclusion which it is inclined to draw from the other evidence is right. As was observed by Sir Lawrence Jenkins in Emperor v. Lalit Mohan Chuckerburty, ILR (1911) 38 Cal 559 a confession can only be used to "lend assurance to other evidence against a co-accused". In Periyaswami Moopan Reilly. J., observed that the provision of Section 30 goes not further than this: "where there is evidence against the co-accused sufficient, if believed, to support his conviction, then the kind of confession described in Section 30 may be thrown into the scale as an additional reason for believing that evidence". In Bhuboni Sahu v. King, (1949) 50 Cri L.J. 872, the Privy Council has expressed the same view. Sir John Beaumont who spoke for the Board, observed that "a confession of a co-accused is obviously evidence of a very weak type. It does not indeed come within the definition of "evidence" contained in Section 3 of the Evidence Act. It is not required to be given on oath, nor in the presence of the accused, and it cannot be tested by cross-examination. It is a much weaker type of evidence than the evidence of an approver, which is not subject to any of those infirmities. Section 30, however, provides that the court may take the confession into consideration and thereby, no doubt, makes it evidence on which the court may act; but the section does not say that the confession is to amount to proof. Clearly there must be other evidence. The confession is only one element in the consideration of all the facts proved the case; it can be put into the scale and weighed with the other evidence".

*It would be noticed that as a result of the provisions contained in Section 30, the confession has no doubt to be regarded as amounting to evidence in a general way, because whatever is considered by the court is evidence; circumstances which are considered by the court as well as probabilities do amount to evidence in that generic sense. Thus, though confession may be regarded as evidence in that generic sense because of the provisions of Section 30, the fact remains that it is not evidence as defined by Section 3 of the Act. The result, therefore, is that in dealing with a case against an accused person, the court cannot start with the confession of a co-accused person; it must begin with other evidence adduced by the prosecution and after it has formed its opinion with regard to the quality and effect of the said evidence, then it is permissible to turn to the confession in order to receive assurance to the conclusion of guilt which the judicial mind is about to reach on the said other evidence. That, briefly stated, is the effect of the provisions contained in Section 30. The same view has been expressed by this Court in Kashmira Singh v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1952 SC 159 where the decision of the Privy Council in Bhuboni Sahu case, (1949) 50 Cri L.J. 872 has been cited with approval.*

14. In appreciating the full effect of the provisions contained in Section 30, it may be useful to refer to the position of the evidence given by an accomplice under Section 133 of the Act. Section 133 provides that an accomplice shall be a competent witness against an accused person; and that a conviction is not illegal merely because it proceeds upon the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice. Illustration (b) to Section 114 of the Act brings out the legal position that an accomplice is unworthy of credit, unless he is corroborated in material particulars. Reading these two provisions together, it follows that though an accomplice is a competent witness, prudence requires that his evidence should not be acted upon unless it is materially corroborated; and that is the effect of judicial decisions dealing with this point. The point of significance is that when the court deals with the evidence by an accomplice, the court may treat the said evidence as substantive evidence and enquire whether it is materially corroborated or not. The testimony of the accomplice is evidence under Section 3 of the Act and has to be dealt with as such. It is no doubt evidence of a tainted character and as such, is very weak; but, nevertheless, it is evidence and may be acted upon, subject to the requirement which has now become virtually a part of the law that it is corroborated in material particulars.

15. The statements contained in the confessions of the co-accused persons stand on a different footing. In cases where such confessions are relied upon by the prosecution against and accused person, the court cannot begin with the examination of the said statements. The stage to consider the said confessional statements arrives only after the other evidence is considered and found to be satisfactory. The difference in the approach which the court has to adopt in dealing with these two types of evidence is thus clear, well understood and well-established. It, however, appears that in Ram Prakash case, 1959 SCR 1219, some observations have been made which do not seem to recognise the distinction between the evidence of an accomplice and the statements contained in the confession made by an accused person. "An examination of the reported decisions of the various High Courts in India," said Imam, J., who spoke for the Court in that case, "indicates that the preponderance of opinion is in favour of the view that the retracted confession of an accused person may be taken into consideration against a co-accused by virtue of the provisions of Section 30 of the Act, its value was extremely weak and there could be no conviction without the fullest and strongest corroboration on material particulars". The last portion of this observation has been interpreted by the High Court in the present case as supporting the view that like the evidence of an accomplice, a confessional statement of a co-accused person can be acted upon if it is corroborated in material particulars. In our opinion, the context in which the said observation was made by this Court shows that this Court did not intend to lay down any such proposition. In fact, the other evidence against the appellant Ram Prakash was of such a strong character that this Court agreed with the conclusion of the High Court and held that the said evidence was satisfactory and in that connection, the confessional statement of the co-accused person was considered. We are, therefore, satisfied that the High Court was in error in this case in taking the view that the decision in Ram Prakash (supra) was intended to strike a discordant note from the well-established principles in regard to the admissibility and the effect of confessional statements made by co-accused persons.

16. Considering the evidence from this point of view, we must first decide whether the evidence other than the confessional statements of the co-accused persons, particularly Ram Surat, on whose confession the High Court has substantially relied, is satisfactory and tends to prove the prosecution case. It is only if the said evidence is satisfactory and is treated as sufficient by us to hold the charge proved against the two appellants, that an occasion may arise to seek for an assurance for our conclusion from the said confession. Thus, considered, there can be no doubt that the evidence about the discovery of bloodstains on which the prosecution relies is entirely insufficient to justify the prosecution charge against both the appellants. In our opinion, it is impossible to accede to the argument urged before us by Mr Singh that the said evidence can be said to prove the prosecution case. In fact, the judgment of High Court shows that it made a finding against the appellants substantially because it thought that the confession of the co-accused persons could be first considered and the rest of the evidence could be treated as corroborating the said confessions. We are, therefore, satisfied that the High Court was not right in confirming the conviction of the two appellants under Section 396 of the Indian Penal Code.

17. It is true that the confession made by Ram Surat is a detailed statement and it attributes to the two appellants a major part in the commission of the offence. It is also true that the said confession has been found to be voluntary, and true so far as the part played by Ram Surat himself is concerned, and so, it is not unlikely that the confessional statement in regard to the part played by the two appellants may also be true; and in that sense, the reading of the said confession may raise a serious suspicion against the accused. But it is precisely in such cases that the true legal approach must be adopted and suspicion, however grave, must not be allowed to take the place of proof. As we have already indicated, it has been a recognised principle of the administration of criminal law in this country for over half a century that the confession of a co-accused person cannot be treated as substantive evidence and can be pressed into service only when the court is inclined to accept other evidence and feels the necessity of seeking for an assurance in support of its conclusion deducible from the said evidence. In criminal trials, there is no scope for applying the principle of moral conviction or grave suspicion. In criminal cases where the other evidence adduced against an accused person is wholly unsatisfactory and the prosecution seeks to rely on the confession of a co-accused person, the presumption of innocence which is the basis of criminal jurisprudence assists the accused person and compels the court to render the verdict that the charge is not proved against him, and so, he is entitled to the benefit of doubt. That is precisely what has happened in these appeals."

336.5 The learned counsel for the appellants further placed reliance upon the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of State of Punjab v. Gurdeep Singh (supra), wherein the court held that an extra-judicial confession is admissible in evidence and the court in appropriate cases can rely thereon to the extent of even basing conviction of the accused. The settled position of the present day is that the extra-judicial confession by itself, if otherwise in conformity with the law, can be treated as substantive evidence, and in appropriate cases it can be used to punish an offender. The court however hastened to add that this statement of law stands qualified to the extent that the court should insist on some assuring material or circumstance to treat the same as a piece of substantive evidence. In the facts of the said case the court further expressed the opinion that the delay in recording an extra-judicial confession before a person wholly unconnected with the police is always a matter of great suspect and held that the High Court was right in rejecting the confessional statement. The learned counsel for the appellants submitted that in the present case the so-called confession has been made several years after the incident and therefore, such a delayed confession cannot be taken into consideration. It was argued that in this case, so many factors in the confession are not corroborated by any evidence. It was pointed out that while the accused No.18 is stated to have said that they had collected petrol from the petrol pump, no investigation has been made from any petrol pump regarding the purchase or procurement of such petrol. It was submitted that as per the so called extra judicial confession of the accused, they had collected 23 fire arms on the previous night; however, no evidence has been collected as to from whom such fire arms were collected and to what use they were put. It was submitted that in the police statement of the witness, there is no reference to any private firing, nor is there any scientific evidence to prove private firing and last but not the least, there is no charge of any offence under the Arms Act. It was submitted that it has time and again been held by the Supreme Court that extra-judicial confession by itself is a weak piece of evidence and in the facts of the present case the prosecution has failed to prove the chain of events surrounding the same beyond reasonable doubt.

336.6 Apart from the above decisions cited by the learned counsel for the appellants, reference may also be made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Sahoo v. State of U.P., AIR 1966 SC 40, wherein it has been held thus:

“5. Before we consider whether the circumstances narrated above would stand the said rigorous test, we *will at the outset deal with the contention that the soliloquy of the accused admitting his guilt was not an extra-judicial confession as the courts below held it to be. If it was an extra-judicial confession, it would really partake the character of direct evidence rather than that of circumstantial evidence. It is argued that it is implicit in the concept of confession, whether it is extra-judicial or judicial, that it shall be communicated to another. It is said that one cannot confess to himself: he can only confess to another. This raises an interesting point, which fails to be decided on a consideration of the relevant provisions of the Evidence Act. Sections 24 to 30 of the Evidence Act deal with the admissibility of confessions by accused persons in criminal cases. But the expression "confession" is not defined. The Judicial Committee in Pakala Narayana v. R., LR 66 IA 66, has defined the said expression thus:*

"A confession is a statement made by an accused which must either admit in terms the offence or at any rate substantially all the facts which constitute the offence."

A scrutiny of the provisions of Sections 17 to 30 of the Evidence Act discloses, as one learned author puts it, that statement is a genus admission is the species and confession is the sub-species. Shortly stated, a confession is a statement made by an accused admitting his guilt. What does the expression "statement" mean? The dictionary meaning of the word "statement" is "the act of stating, reciting or presenting verbally or on paper." The term "statement" therefore, includes both oral and written statements. Is it also a necessary ingredient of the term that it shall be communicated to another? The dictionary meaning of the term does not warrant any such extension; nor the reason of the rule underlying the doctrine of admission or confession demands it. Admissions and confessions are exceptions to the hearsay rule. The Evidence Act places them in the category of relevant evidence, presumably on the ground that, as they are declarations against the interest of the person making them, they are probably true. The probative value of an admission or a confession does not depend upon its communication to another, though, just like any other piece of evidence, it can be admitted in evidence only on proof. This proof in the case of oral admission or confession can be offered only by witnesses who heard the admission or confession, as the case may be. The following illustration pertaining to a written confession brings out the said idea: A kills B; enters in his diary that he had killed him, puts it in his drawer and absconds. When he places his act on record, he does not communicate to another; indeed, he does not have any intention of communicating it to a third party. Even so, at the trial the said statement of the accused can certainly be proved as a confession made by him. If that be so in the case of a statement in writing, there cannot be any difference in principle in the case of an oral statement. Both must stand on the same footing. This aspect of the doctrine of confession received some treatment from wellknown authors on evidence, like Taylor, Best and Phipson. In A Treatise on the Law of Evidence by Taylor, 11th Edn., Vol. I, the following statement appears at p. 596:

“What the accused has been overheard muttering to himself, or saying to his wife or to any other person in confidence, will be receivable in evidence.”

In The Principles of the Law of Evidence by W.M. Best, 12th Edn., at p. 454, it is stated much to the same effect thus:

“Words addressed to others, and writing, are no doubt the most usual forms; but words uttered in soliloquy seem equally receivable.”

We also find the following passage in ‘Phipson on Evidence’, 7th Edn., at p. 262:

“A statement which the prisoner had been overheard muttering to himself if otherwise than in his sleep, is admissible against him, if independently proved.”

These passages establish that communication to another is not a necessary ingredient of the concept of “confession”. In this context a decision of this Court in Bhogilal Chunilal Pandya v. State of Bombay, (1959) Supp 1 SCR 310 may usefully be referred to. There the question was whether a former statement made by a witness within the meaning of Section 157 of the Evidence Act should have been communicated to another before it could be used to corroborate the testimony of another witness. This Court, after considering the relevant provisions of the Evidence Act and the case-law on the subject came to the conclusion that the word "statement" used in Section 157 meant only "something that is stated" and the element of communication was not necessary before "something that is stated" became a statement under that section. If, as we have said, statement is the genus and confession is only a sub-species of that genus, we do not see any reason why the statement implied in the confession should be given a different meaning. We, therefore, hold that a statement, whether communicated or not, admitting guilt is a confession of guilt.

6. But, there is a clear distinction between the admissibility of an evidence and the weight to be attached to it. A confessional soliloquy is a direct piece of evidence. It may be an expression of conflict of emotion; a conscious effort to stifle the pricked conscience; an argument to find excuse or justification for his act; or a penitent or remorseful act of exaggeration of his part in the crime. The tone may be soft and low; the words may be confused; they may be capable of conflicting interpretations depending on witnesses, whether they are biased or honest, intelligent or ignorant, imaginative or prosaic, as the case may be. Generally they are mutterings of a confused mind. Before such evidence can be accepted, it must be established by cogent evidence what were the exact words used by the accused. Even if so much was established, prudence and justice demand that such evidence cannot be made the sole ground of conviction. It may be used only as a corroborative piece of evidence.

336.7 In Shiva Karam Payaswami Tewari v. State of Maharashtra, (2009) 11 SCC 262 as well as in Ajay Singh v. State of Maharashtra, (2007) 12 SCC 341, the Supreme Court held thus:

“8. We shall first deal with the question regarding claim of extra-judicial confession. Though it is not necessary that the witness should speak the exact words but there cannot be vital and material difference. While dealing with a stand of extra-judicial confession, court has to satisfy [itself] that the same was voluntary and without any coercion and undue influence. Extra-judicial confession can form the basis of conviction if persons before whom it is stated to be made appear to be unbiased and not even remotely inimical to the accused. Where there is material to show animosity, court has to proceed cautiously and find out whether confession just like any other evidence depends on veracity of witness to whom it is made. It is not invariable that the court should not accept such evidence if actual words as claimed to have been spoken are not reproduced and the substance is given. It will depend on circumstance of the case. If substance itself is sufficient to prove culpability and there is no ambiguity about import of the statement made by the accused, evidence can be acted upon even though substance and not actual words have been stated. Human mind is not a tape recorder which records what has been spoken word by word. The witness should be able to say as nearly as possible actual words spoken by the accused. That would rule out possibility of erroneous interpretation of any ambiguous statement. If word by word repetition of statement of the case is insisted upon, more often than not evidentiary value of extra-judicial confession has to be thrown out as unreliable and not useful. That cannot be a requirement in law. There can be some persons who have a good memory and may be able to repost exact words and there may be many who are possessed of normal memory and do so. It is for the court to judge credibility of the witness’ capacity and thereafter to decide whether his or her evidence has to be accepted or not. If court believes witnesses before whom confession is made and is satisfied that confession was voluntary basing on such evidence, conviction can be founded. Such confession should be clear, specific and unambiguous.

10. The expression ‘confession’ is not defined in the Evidence Act. ‘Confession’ is a statement made by an accused which must either admit in terms the offence, or at any rate substantially all the facts which constitute the offence. The dictionary meaning of the word 'statement' is 'act of stating; that which is stated; a formal account, declaration of facts, etc.' The word 'statement' includes both oral and written statement. Communication to another is not however an essential component to constitute a 'statement'. An accused might have been overheard uttering to himself or saying to his wife or any other person in confidence. He might have also uttered something in soliloquy. He might also keep a note in writing. All the aforesaid nevertheless constitute a statement. If such statement is an admission of guilt, it would amount to a confession whether it is communicated to another or not. This very question came up for consideration before this Court in Sahoo v. State of U.P., AIR 1966 SC 40. After referring to some passages written by well-known authors on the 'Law of Evidence' Subba Rao, J. (as he then was) held that 'communication is not a necessary ingredient to constitute confession'. In para 5 of the judgment, this Court held as follows:

5. ... Admissions and confessions are exceptions to the hearsay rule. The Evidence Act places them in the category of relevant evidence presumably on the ground that, as they are declarations against the interest of the person making them, they are probably true. The probative value of an admission or a confession does not depend upon its communication to another, though, just like any other piece of evidence, it can be admitted in evidence only on proof. This proof in the case of oral admission or confession can be offered only by witnesses who heard the admission or confession, as the case may be. ... If, as we have said, statement is the genus and confession is only a sub-species of that genus, we do not see any reason why the statement implied in the confession should be given a different meaning. We, therefore, hold that a statement, whether communicated or not, admitting guilt is a confession of guilt.' "

336.8 PRINCIPLES: On a conspectus of the above decisions, the following principles emerge:

(i) A confession can be relied upon and conviction can be founded thereon if the evidence about the confession comes from the mouth of witnesses who appear to be unbiased, not even remotely inimical to the accused, and in respect of whom nothing is brought out which may tend to indicate that he may have a motive of attributing an untruthful statement to the accused.

(ii) Extra-judicial confession must be established to be true and made voluntarily and in a fit state of mind. The words of the witnesses must be clear, unambiguous and should clearly convey that the accused is the perpetrator of the crime. The extra-judicial confession can be accepted and can be the basis of conviction, if it passes the test of credibility.

(iii) Cases may arise where the Judge is not prepared to act on the other evidence as it stands even though, if believed, it would be sufficient to sustain a conviction. In such an event, the Judge may call in aid the confession and use it to lend assurance to the other evidence and thus fortify himself in believing what without the aid of the confession, he would not be prepared to accept.

(iv) Where the prosecution relies upon the confession of one accused against another, the proper approach is to consider the other evidence against such an accused and if the said evidence appears to be satisfactory and the court is inclined to hold that the said evidence may sustain the charge framed against the said accused, the court turns to the confession with a view to assuring itself that the conclusion which it is inclined to draw from the other evidence is right.

(v) In dealing with a case against an accused, the court cannot start with the confession of a co-accused; it must begin with other evidence adduced by the prosecution and after it has formed its opinion with regard to the quality and effect of the said evidence, then it is permissible to turn to the confession in order to receive assurance to the conclusion of guilt which the judicial mind is about to reach on the said other evidence.

(vi) Usually courts require some corroboration to the confessional statement before convicting an accused person on such a statement. What amount of corroboration would be necessary in such a case would always be a question of fact to be determined in the light of the circumstances of each case.

(vii) Even if the confession is held to be voluntary, it must also be established that the confession is true and for the purpose of dealing with this question it would be necessary to examine the confession and compare it with the rest of the prosecution evidence and the probabilities in the case.

(viii) There is no doubt that a confession made voluntarily by an accused person can be used against the maker of the confession, though as a matter of prudence criminal courts generally require some corroboration to the said confession particularly if it has been retracted.

(ix) When evidence as defined by the Act is produced before the court, it is the duty of the court to consider that evidence. What weight should be attached to such evidence, is a matter in the discretion of the court. But a court cannot say in respect of such evidence that it will just not take that evidence into account. Such an approach can, however, be adopted by the court in dealing with a confession, because section 30 merely enables the court to take the confession into account.

(x) A confession cannot be treated as evidence which is substantive evidence against a co-accused person.

(xi) Though confession may be regarded as evidence in that generic sense because of the provisions of section 30, the fact remains that it is not evidence as defined by section 3 of the Act. The result, therefore, is that in dealing with a case against an accused person, the court cannot start with the confession of a co-accused person; it must begin with other evidence adduced by the prosecution and after it has formed its opinion with regard to the quality and effect of the said evidence, then it is permissible to turn to the confession in order to receive assurance to the conclusion of guilt which the judicial mind is about to reach on the said other evidence.

(xii) The statements contained in the confessions of the co-accused persons stand on a different footing. In cases where such confessions are relied upon by the prosecution against an accused person, the court cannot begin with the examination of the said statements. The stage to consider the said confessional statements arrives only after the other evidence is considered and found to be satisfactory.

(xiii) It has been a recognised principle of the administration of criminal law in this country for over half a century that the confession of a co-accused person cannot be treated as substantive evidence and can be pressed into service only when the court is inclined to accept other evidence and feels the necessity of seeking for an assurance in support of its conclusion deducible from the said evidence. In criminal trials, there is no scope for applying the principle of moral conviction or grave suspicion. In criminal cases where the other evidence adduced against an accused person is wholly unsatisfactory and the prosecution seeks to rely on the confession of a co-accused person, the presumption of innocence which is the basis of criminal jurisprudence assists the accused person and compels the court to render the verdict that the charge is not proved against him, and so, he is entitled to the benefit of doubt.

(xiv) The probative value of an admission or a confession does not depend upon its communication to another, though, just like any other piece of evidence, it can be admitted in evidence only on proof. This proof in the case of oral admission or confession can be offered only by witnesses who heard the admission or confession, as the case may be.

(xv) Where there is material to show animosity, court has to proceed cautiously and find out whether confession just like any other evidence depends on veracity of witness to whom it is made. It is not invariable that the court should not accept such evidence if actual words as claimed to have been spoken are not reproduced and the substance is given. It will depend on circumstance of the case. If substance itself is sufficient to prove culpability and there is no ambiguity about import of the statement made by the accused, evidence can be acted upon even though substance and not actual words have been stated. Human mind is not a tape recorder which records what has been spoken word by word. The witness should be able to say as nearly as possible actual words spoken by the accused. That would rule out possibility of erroneous interpretation of any ambiguous statement. If word by word repetition of statement of the case is insisted upon, more often than not evidentiary value of extra-judicial confession has to be thrown out as unreliable and not useful. That cannot be a requirement in law. There can be some persons who have a good memory and may be able to repeat exact words and there may be many who are possessed of normal memory and do so. It is for the court to judge credibility of the witness' capacity and thereafter to decide whether his or her evidence has to be accepted or not. If court believes witnesses before whom confession is made and is satisfied confession was voluntary basing on such evidence, conviction can be founded. Such confession should be clear, specific and unambiguous.

336.10 FINDINGS: Reverting to the facts of this case, PW 322 Ashish Khetan has deposed regarding his meetings with Babu Bajrangi and has further stated that he had recorded the conversation between them by using spy cameras. The witness has prepared a transcript which he had brought along with him and had sought the permission of the court to refer to the same. He has produced six transcripts of his talk with Babu Bajrangi (A-18), two with Prakash Rathod (A-21) and three with Suresh Richard (A-22) together with a list which is exhibited at Exhibit 2266. The witness has deposed that he had prepared a complete transcript of certain part of the conversation and transcripts of extracts of significant part of some of the conversation for Tehelka. The witness had deposed regarding the date and the place where such conversation took place and has referred to the significant part of the conversation in his examination-in-chief. From the extracts of the conversation with Babu Bajrangi as deposed before the court, it emerges that the said accused had gone to Godhra on the previous day, that is, on 27th February, 2002 and on seeing the corpses had decided to give a fitting reply at Naroda Patiya on the next day to drop four times the number of dead bodies at Naroda Patiya. For this purpose, on the night of 27th they had forcibly collected twenty-three revolvers from Hindus, threatening to shoot them first in the morning if they did not hand over the revolvers. He has stated that in response to the incident that took place at Godhra they had retaliated at Naroda. It further comes out that he had said that to organise everything, he had a team of twenty-nine to thirty persons, who had gone to collect the revolvers; however, there is nothing in this conversation to indicate as to who those persons are. This accused talks mostly about Jaydeep Patel and also talks about getting support from Narendrabhai saying that he had got arrangements made for them in Gujarat Bhavan at Mount Abu. He also speaks about the complicity of the police and how the police could easily have prevented them if they so desired. He talks of several people being cut and thrown into the well as well as of a tanker being thrust into the masjid.

336.11 Prakash Rathod talks about Jaydeep Patel and Mayaben's names being removed from the Naroda incident. He talks about Mayaben having thrown a lot of money for this purpose. He talks about her presence at Patiya and says that when she came, they were inside in the riots she used to say "kill, we are with you". She did not roam about a lot, must be for half an hour to a quarter of an hour. Prakash Rathod has talked about Suresh Richard having all kinds of weapons with him except revolvers. He has also mentioned Guddu's presence. He also refers to Bipin Panchal with his men having come there. He refers to Suresh, Guddu and Naresh having fought strongly.

336.12 Suresh Richard says that at that time they did not get help from anyone, they got help from Babubhai. He says that Mayaben was there on the day of the incident. He also talks about Narendra Modi having come there after the incident and having garlanded them and thanked them. He says that Mayaben was there right from the morning till 8:00 in the night. She used to roam about in her car. He talks about the police being in their favour at that time. Suresh talks of having tied a pig on the minar of the masjid. He also talks about the manner in which the masjid was set on fire. He speaks about a tanker being brought and reversed into the masjid to break its wall. [It may be noted that while none of the witnesses speak about it, the photographs of the scene of offence show a tanker reversed into the masjid]. He also talks about raping a girl called Naseemo who was a scrap dealer's daughter.

336.13 In his cross-examination, PW 322 Ashish Khetan has stated that it is true that he had done all the recording and that he had honestly/faithfully recorded what was spoken by the accused during the sting operation to the best of his ability. Suggestions are put to him that he had given a false identification of Anandji to all those on whom he had conducted the sting. He has denied that he has deleted the part of the sting that he found was unnecessary. The witness is sought to be contradicted as to his statements recorded by the SIT, but no material contradiction has been brought on record and the witness has been in a position to explain any contradiction put to him. From the suggestions put to the witness, the defence does not appear to have disputed the fact that the witness had met the accused. In paragraph 117 of his evidence, reference is made to the transcript prepared by him. The witness is cross-examined as regards his having offered inducement to Babu Bajrangi. It has been suggested to the witness that he had gone to the homes of the other accused and had lied to them and got them to speak facts that had not happened and recorded the same. A suggestion is put to the witness that all those on whom the sting was conducted had spoken in Gujarati. Thus in the entire cross-examination, it has not even been sought to be suggested that the witness had not conducted the sting on the accused or that the recording is not genuine. All that is suggested is that whatever part the witness thought was irrelevant has been deleted. Thus, the veracity of the sting is not in dispute at all.

336.14 Examining the facts of the present case, in the light of the principles laid down by the Supreme Court as referred to hereinabove, PW 322 Ashish Khetan comes across as a witness who is unbiased and is not even remotely inimical to the accused. From the entire cross-examination of the witness, there is nothing to indicate that he may have a motive of attributing an untruthful statement to the accused. The extra-judicial confession appears to be voluntary and have been made by the accused in a fit state of mind. However, the confession must also be established to be true having regard to the rest of the prosecution evidence, which shall be discussed hereinafter. The proof in the case of oral admission or confession can be offered only by witnesses who heard the admission or confession, as the case may be. In the present case, while the sting operation as recorded in the DVDs and CDs has not been proved in accordance with law, nonetheless, the witness before whom the extra-judicial confession has been made has himself deposed such facts before the court. Therefore, the inadmissibility of the electronic documentary evidence would not diminish the veracity of the extra-judicial confession, when the person before whom it was made has himself deposed regarding such facts.

336.15 On behalf of the appellants it has been contended that as per the provisions of the Evidence Act, the evidence of electronic record in the form of CD, DVD, etc. is documentary evidence and, as per section 59 of the Evidence Act, contents of documents or electronic records cannot be proved by oral evidence. It was submitted that, once there is an electronic record containing facts, which cannot be proved by oral evidence, the contents of the sting operation stated by PW 322 in his oral evidence are not admissible in evidence. In the opinion of this court, this contention needs to be stated to be rejected inasmuch as in the facts of the present case, apart from there being electronic record in the form of DVDs and CDs, there is also first hand evidence of PW 322 Ashish Khetan who conducted the sting operation, who has deposed regarding what was stated by the accused before him. Therefore, this is not a case where a witness is proving the contents of the electronic record by way of oral evidence. Here the witness is proving an extra judicial confession made before him by adducing oral evidence. Therefore, merely because the electronic evidence has not been proved in accordance with law, there is no reason to discard the oral testimony of the witness. More so, as it would amount to playing into the hands of a dishonest prosecution, which has not taken care to see that such important evidence is proved in accordance with law. However, the downside of the matter is that only that part of the sting operation to the extent deposed before the court can be taken into consideration and not all the contents thereof, which would exclude a considerable portion of the sting, including portions relied upon by the trial court for basing a conviction.

XXIX CRIMINAL CONSPIRACY:

337. In the above background, the charge of criminal conspiracy under section 120B of the Indian Penal Code may be examined.

338. SUBMISSIONS: Mr. Y.S. Lakhani, learned counsel for the appellants, submitted that to prove the charge under section 120B of the Indian Penal Code, it is incumbent upon the prosecution to prove meeting of minds amongst the conspirators. It was submitted that PW 104, 176, 149, 192, 198, 236, 156, 227, 52 and 143 have all deposed against accused No.37 Mayaben. It was submitted that PW 227 and 236 have seen Mayaben at the Natraj Hotel. PW-52 has seen Mayaben at the Noorani Masjid. PW-143 has seen Mayaben at Jawannagar Khada. Most of the witnesses have seen Mayaben at the S.T. Workshop gate. Thus, different witnesses have seen Mayaben at different places at more or less the same time. Reference was made to the findings recorded by the trial court to submit that there is no evidence on record from where even an inference can be drawn that two or more accused met prior to the incident and hatched a conspiracy. The evidence on record shows that the different accused were in different mobs, there is no evidence to show that these accused who are convicted as conspirators, met at the same place at the same time.

338.1 It was further submitted that the evidence of call records also does not indicate that any conversation took place between any two accused prior to the incident. Therefore, there is no meeting of minds and there is no pre-concert, and, therefore, even on the basis of circumstances, the conclusion that there was a conspiracy cannot be arrived at. It was submitted that merely because accused No.37 came there in the morning and some of the accused were seen with her cannot be said to be indicative of hatching of a conspiracy. It was submitted that there is no evidence worth the name from where an inference of conspiracy can be drawn. It was submitted that there is evidence on record of the witnesses that people continued to come and join the mob and there is no cogent and unimpeachable evidence to prove as to which accused came at what time and at which place. It was submitted that gathering of people may not be a consequence of a conspiracy already hatched. According to the learned counsel, when the incident is a spontaneous reaction to Godhra incident, particularly when the incident of the very nature of pelting stones, damaging properties, burning properties, injuring the people of the Muslim community, and ultimately causing them injuries, either by burning them or by killing them, have taken place in various cities of Gujarat and such broad identical set of facts in different cities, small towns or even remote villages are not alleged to be and they cannot be a part of any conspiracy. That means even as per the evidence on the record of this case, thousands of people from the near vicinity had gathered at the religious place of Muslims, viz., the Noorani Masjid as a very natural and obvious reaction of the people at large in the context of a major communal incident which has taken at Godhra on the previous day, which was also associated with the arrival of kar sevaks who were returning from Ayodhya, and thus, the gathering of the people was not a result of conspiracy nor has it been proved even by cogent and reliable evidence by the prosecution in this case.

338.2 It was submitted that even hatching of a conspiracy on the spot, is also not coming out from the evidence on record and the evidence as regards the identified persons on the road in the morning hours from Krushnanagar to the Noorani Masjid as well as at the Natraj Hotel and the S.T. Workshop are found to be inconsistent and contradictory with reference to the time and place. It was urged that in such a situation, it is not possible to even infer any such conspiracy, particularly when, the time gap between the presence of the accused in the morning incident and the incident of late evening, when the mass killing had taken place was a considerable one. Reference was made to the decision of the Supreme Court in State (NCT of Delhi) v. Navjot Sandhu, 2005(11) SCC 600, to was submit that there is no direct evidence for drawing an inference and that there has to be a chain of circumstances which can lead to infer that there is a conspiracy. Reference was made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Lennart Schussler v. Director of Enforcement, AIR 1970 SC 549 for the following proposition of law:

“The first of the offence defined in Section 120-A of the Penal Code which is itself punishable as a substantive offence is the very agreement between two or more persons to do or cause to be done an illegal act or a legal act by illegal means subject however to the proviso that where the agreement is not an agreement to commit an offence the agreement does not amount to a conspiracy unless it is followed up by an overt act done by one or more persons in pursuance of such an agreement. There must be a meeting of minds in the doing of the illegal act or the doing of a legal act by illegal means. If in the furtherance of the conspiracy certain persons are induced to do an unlawful act without the knowledge of the conspiracy or the plot they cannot be held to be conspirators, though they may be guilty of an offence pertaining to the specific unlawful act.”

338.3 The decision of the Supreme Court in Baldev Singh v. State of Punjab, 2009 (6) SCC 564, was cited for the proposition that it is well settled that a conspiracy is hatched in secrecy. The court for the purpose of arriving at a finding as to whether the said offence has been committed or not may take into consideration circumstantial evidence. However, while doing so, it must be borne in mind that meeting of the mind is essential; mere knowledge or discussion would not be sufficient. Reference was made to the decision of the Supreme Court in P.K. Narayanan v. State of Kerala, 1995 (1) SCC 142, wherein it was held thus:

“The ingredients of this offence are that there should be an agreement between the persons who are alleged to conspire and the said agreement should be for doing of an illegal act or for doing by illegal means an act which by itself may not be illegal. Therefore the essence of criminal conspiracy is an agreement to do an illegal act and such an agreement can be proved either by direct evidence or by circumstantial evidence or by both and it is a matter of common experience that direct evidence to prove conspiracy is rarely available. Therefore the circumstances proved before, during and after the occurrence have to be considered to decide about the complicity of the accused. But if those circumstances are compatible also with the innocence of the accused persons then it cannot be held that the prosecution has successfully established its case. Even if some acts are proved to have been committed it must be clear that they were so committed in pursuance of an agreement made between the accused who were parties to the alleged conspiracy. Inferences from such proved circumstances regarding the guilt may be drawn only when such circumstances are incapable of any other reasonable explanation."

338.4 It was submitted that from the evidence adduced by the prosecution, it is amply clear that none of the circumstances relied upon by the prosecution have been established by cogent and reliable evidence. Even otherwise it cannot be said that those circumstances are incapable of any other reasonable interpretation.

338.5 The decision of the Supreme Court in Param Hans Yadav v. State of Bihar, AIR 1987 SC 955, was cited for the proposition that it is difficult to support the charge of conspiracy with direct evidence in every case but if the prosecution relies upon circumstantial evidence, a clear link has to be established and the chain has to be completed, otherwise it would be indeed hazardous to accept a part of the link as a complete one and on the basis of such incomplete evidence, the allegation of conspiracy cannot be accepted. It was submitted that the prosecution has failed to establish by circumstantial evidence the complicity of any accused in hatching a conspiracy to kill the Muslims and destroy their properties. In these circumstances, the conviction of the accused for the charge of criminal conspiracy is not sustainable.

339. Mr. B. B. Naik, learned counsel for the appellants, submitted that there is no evidence or investigation by any agency to bring on record from the officers of these organizations, viz. VHP, Bajrang Dal, etc., to show which accused is a member of which organization. No investigating agency has done any investigation in this direction. It was submitted that all the organizations to which the accused are alleged to belong, are registered. The investigating agency could have collected the evidence and that merely on the basis of bare words of the police and other occurrence witnesses, a conclusion cannot be arrived at that the accused were members of different organizations when there is a possibility to bring in the evidence in the form of documents from the offices of these organizations.

339.1 It was submitted that there are more than sixty witnesses out of one hundred and twenty witnesses of the morning incident who have not stated about any accused having wielded any weapon. It is on record that the mobs came from three sides and different accused were in different mobs, so to say that the accused gathered at one place is also not correct. It was submitted that the mobs were increasing by the passage of time and there is no evidence to show as to at what time which accused joined the mob. It was submitted that when the mobs have gathered, the people have come on their own and there is no definite evidence as to which accused came from which side. It was submitted that on account of the incident that took place at Godhra on the previous day, sentiments were running high; fuel was poured in the fire by some politicians and what was done at Godhra was by the Muslims was broadcast on television as well as reported in the newspapers on 27.2.2002, which instigated the people at large to come out on the road, and more particularly to the Noorani Masjid, which is a religious place of the Muslims.

339.2 Next it was submitted that no reliance can be placed on the evidence of the sting operation for the purpose of establishing the conspiracy. It was submitted that in view of the provisions of section 10 of the Evidence Act, the sting operation which has been carried out several years after the conspiracy, cannot be relied upon as evidence against any of the co-accused. In support of such submission, reliance was placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of State (NCT of Delhi) v. Navjot Sandhu alias Afzal Guru, (2005) 11 SCC 600. It was submitted that Supreme Court in the case of Mukesh and another v. State (NCT of Delhi), (supra) would not be applicable to the facts of the present case. It was submitted that it was in the facts of the said case and considering the manner in which the offence was committed, that the Supreme Court had held that conspiracy could be hatched even on the spur of the moment. It was submitted that even in the said decision, it has been held that in a criminal conspiracy, meeting of minds of two or more persons for doing an illegal act is a sine qua non and that to convict a person of conspiracy, the prosecution must show that he agreed with others that they would together accomplish the unlawful object of the conspiracy. However, in the present case, the prosecution has miserably failed to establish that there was any meeting of minds amongst any of the accused. Reference was made to the evidence of PW-104 Mohammadsalim Mohammadhussain Shaikh to submit that this witness has stated that Mayaben was speaking in an aggressive tone and the others were hearing. It was submitted that the mobs had gathered and had started rioting before she had arrived. Therefore, this theory of on the spot conspiracy is not tenable as nothing is coming out of this that they have agreed to do something. It was submitted that considering the contradictions in the testimony of the witness who implicates Mayaben Kodnani, the version given by this witness becomes highly doubtful. It was submitted that other witnesses who claim to have seen Mayaben have stated differently.

339.3 It was urged that the basic elements of a conspiracy are that there should be an agreement between two or more persons to commit unlawfully any act or a legal act by illegal means. It was submitted that meeting of minds has to be proved, in the absence of which, there cannot be conspiracy. Reliance was placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Kehar Singh v. State (Delhi Admn.), (1988) 3 SCC 609, for the proposition that generally, a conspiracy is hatched in secrecy and it may be difficult to adduce direct evidence of the same. The prosecution will often rely on the evidence of acts of various parties to infer that they were done in reference to their common intention. The prosecution will also more often rely upon circumstantial evidence. The conspiracy can be undoubtedly proved by such evidence, direct or circumstantial. But the court must enquire whether the two persons are independently pursuing the same end or they have come together in the pursuit of the unlawful object. The former, does not render them conspirators, but the latter does. It is, however, essential that the offence of conspiracy requires some kind of physical manifestation of agreement. The express agreement, however, need not be proved. Nor actual meeting of two persons is necessary. Nor is it necessary to prove the actual words of communication. The evidence as to transmission of thoughts sharing the unlawful design may be sufficient.

339.4 It was submitted that there is nothing to suggest a larger conspiracy and large scale planning and that particular persons were behind them. It was submitted that none of the people from the mob which had come from Teesra Kuva have been identified by anyone, which clearly indicates that there was no planning by the accused who were prosecuted. It was submitted that the evidence of burning people in the lane of the water tank is there in the statements of the witnesses; however, no evidence has been collected by the investigating agency to establish the exact spot where such incident has taken place. It was submitted that the SIT was constituted to investigate the suspects which the police has not investigated, and this was a relevant aspect which should have been investigated, but has not been done. It was submitted that there is no evidence to complete the chain and the basic requirement for the offence of conspiracy, namely, meeting of minds is totally absent in this case.

339.5 The learned counsel for the appellants invited the attention of the court to paragraphs (h) and (i) at page 1582 of the impugned judgment and order to submit that the trial court has recorded a finding that putting all the above and what has been discussed in the previous parts of the judgment together then, it is proved beyond all reasonable doubt that, the accused who were identified by different victim witnesses had assembled near the Noorani Masjid and near the Muslim Chawls, they were possessing deadly weapons, shouting provoking and exciting slogans, etc. at about 9.00 a.m. to 9.30 or 10.00 a.m. of 28.2.2002, which all continued for the whole day. The common time at which all the accused had assembled is proving an agreement to have already been arrived at among the accused before meeting there, which circumstances strongly suggest existence of conspiracy among the accused – agreement to do illegal acts. It was submitted that there is no evidence to show that all the accused have gathered at the Noorani Masjid at the same time. On the contrary, the evidence shows that the mob gathered at Krushnanagar and Natraj Hotel and then proceeded to the Noorani Masjid. It was further submitted that it is also pertinent to note that, in all, 121 witnesses have given evidence about the morning incident, out of whom, there are around 60 witnesses who have not referred to any weapons in the hands of the named accused. It was further submitted that there is also no evidence that all the accused had gathered either at Krushnanagar or the Noorani Masjid at the same time. Therefore, the conclusion drawn by the trial court that all the accused gathered at a fixed time at the Noorani Masjid is contrary to the record and the inference drawn by the court about hatching of conspiracy amongst them is also without any basis.

339.6 Referring to the findings recorded by the trial court in paragraphs (j) and (k) (page 1582 to 1583), it was submitted that such findings are contrary to the settled principles for recording a finding by drawing inference from the circumstances about conspiracy. It was submitted that mere presence of the accused with weapon in the mob cannot prove premeditation or pre-concert or meeting of minds, which are the basic ingredients of conspiracy. This fact also does not prove the common object or common intention and oneness and/or commonness, which are basic ingredients of conspiracy.

It was submitted that an individual might have the same intention and pursuing the same intention in a different manner can never become a conspiracy unless there is evidence to show that there was a meeting of minds to arrive at an agreement to commit an illegal act or legal act by illegal means.

339.7 It was pointed out that in paragraph (q) (page 1589), the trial court has recorded that it is an admitted position that the accused were workers of B.J.P., V.H.P., R.S.S., etc., and their affiliation, intimacy and relationship with one another is inferred as their organizational belonging is common. It was submitted that it is the mere say of the witnesses that the accused persons were belonging to B.J.P., V.H.P., R.S.S., Bajrang Dal, etc., but there is no any evidence on record to prove this fact, except the oral assertion of the witnesses. It was submitted that the list of members of each organization is available in the office of the said organization, but the investigating authority has never taken any trouble to find out the same as they might have had an apprehension that accused might not be members of those organizations and the case of the prosecution might become weak on this aspect, and, therefore, they have not included this aspect and they have not brought on record concrete evidence to prove that the accused were workers of the above-stated organizations. It was further submitted that, on the contrary, there were mobs on that day consisting of more than ten thousand people and it is hardly possible that there may be any conspiracy amongst those more than ten thousand people constituting the mob.

impugned judgment, it was pointed out that the trial court has recorded a finding that, except accused No.37, all the remaining conspirators have joined in the unlawful assembly for executing the conspiracy in the morning itself, and thus, they all are punishable for the offences committed as members of unlawful assembly also. It was submitted that there is no evidence to show that accused No.34, accused No.39 and accused No.47 are seen by any witnesses after the morning incident, that is, in the incident which has taken place in the chawls in the afternoon and in the incident in the lane of the water tank in the evening. Thus, it becomes very clear that the findings recorded by the trial court are not based on relevant evidence. Not only that, but, the findings are contrary to the evidence on the record of the case.

339.9 The attention of the court was drawn to paragraph [A-3], (page 1857) of the impugned judgment and order, to point out that the trial court has recorded that the numbered accused (27) shall be punished for the offences committed read with section 120B of the Indian Penal Code for their acting in pursuance to the conspiracy hatched for their instigation to one another to the other accused and for their abetment and as emerges on record that role of accused No.18 is the highest, accused No.37 is the second highest as, being not member of the assembly accused No.37 deserves some consideration being a woman. The role of accused No.1, accused No.2, accused No.10, accused No.22, accused No.25, accused No.26, accused No.41, and accused No.44 is different as leading persons and the role of the twenty two remaining accused was merely as followers of principal conspirators and leaders, hence, the all deserve different treatment in imposing punishment. The learned counsel submitted that followers of principal conspirators can never be held to be conspirators as per the law laid down by the Supreme Court of India. It was submitted that if one person is in command and others are obeying his commands, then, the persons who are obeying the command of that one person, can never be treated as conspirators with the person who was giving the command. It was submitted that it is essential for a conspiracy that there should be agreement between two or more persons for doing an illegal act. Unless that is proved, any person cannot be held guilty of charge of conspiracy. In case of one person giving commands, there is no meeting of minds. Obedience by others to the command of one person does not amount to meeting of minds and agreement between the person giving the command and the persons who are obeying it.

340. Mr. N.D. Nanavaty, learned counsel for accused No.37 Dr. Mayaben Kodnani, submitted that insofar as accused No.37 is concerned, she has been convicted for the offence under section 120B, IPC, but has been acquitted for the offence under section 149, IPC and there is no appeal against her acquittal. It was submitted that eleven prosecution witnesses have deposed against her. It was submitted that it may be that the narration of the incident by one witness may differ from the narration given by another witness; however, the location itself would not differ. It was submitted that the evidence on record is self-contradictory evidence and nullifies the prosecution case against her. It was submitted that those who have come forward have given their statements belatedly and such witness are self-styled witnesses and in fact, they are not witnesses. It was submitted that having regard to the nature of the evidence which has come on record, assuming that an element of suspicion remains, the accused is entitled at least to the benefit of doubt, though this is a case of acquittal clean and clear. It was submitted that the evidence which has come on record is not credible and convincing so as to convict the accused. It was submitted that the call details of the accused indicate her absence from the scene of offence. Moreover, it has been established that the accused was at Gandhinagar in the morning and it was not humanly possible for her to reach the scene of incident at the time indicated by the witnesses. It was submitted that the prosecution has not discharged the burden of proving the presence of this accused. According to the learned counsel, if there is self-contradictory evidence, the entire evidence has to be discarded as the contradictions nullify each other. It was submitted that while the court has to sift the wheat from the chaff, in this case, there is no wheat and only chaff and it is difficult to find even the grains of truth. It was argued that almost all the witnesses are merely chance witnesses, and, therefore, a close scrutiny of their evidence is required.

340.1 It was submitted that the evidence collected by way of sting operation is not saved by the provisions of section 10 of the Evidence Act as the sting operation has been conducted after the offence. It was submitted that therefore, it can be styled as an extra-judicial confession of such accused, which cannot be used against the other co-accused. It was submitted that in the facts of the present case, the provisions of section 65B of the Evidence Act have not been complied with and therefore, the sting operation is not admissible in evidence.

340.2 It was submitted that the prosecution has not dealt with the contentions raised on behalf of the accused and that there are important aspects on facts on which there is no reply forthcoming. It was submitted that subject to judicial scrutiny by the appellate court, the contentions advanced on behalf of the appellants should be considered as well taken. It was submitted that there are eleven prosecution witnesses involving this accused, at the same time, twenty-one prosecution witnesses who have seen the mob at same time are not involving her. This is another aspect on the touchstone of which the evidence of those eleven prosecution witnesses is required to be appreciated. It was submitted that this assumes significance while appreciating the evidence of the eleven witnesses who are coming forward after six years as self-styled witnesses.

340.3 It was submitted that two police witnesses, namely, Mr. K. K. Mysorewala and Mr. K. P. Makwana have specifically denied the presence of accused No.37 at the scene of offence and neither of the witnesses have been declared hostile to the prosecution case. Therefore, one set of eleven witnesses refers to her presence, whereas the other set of witnesses does not refer to them, though equally present and the third set of witnesses says that she was not there. This is contradictory evidence. Therefore, it would be very hazardous to rely on one version and discard another, to attach credibility to one set of statements and to discard another. It was further submitted that none of the witnesses has stated that Babu Bajrangi and Mayaben Kodnani were present together at the time of the incident. There is no evidence to establish conspiracy. It was submitted that on the facts and the evidence on record, the appellant is entitled to a clean acquittal or at least benefit of doubt.

340.4 While summing up, the learned counsel submitted that some witnesses who belatedly got their statements recorded by the investigating agency or their statements were recorded by the investigating agency and after a lapse of about six years or more, state for the first time, that accused No.37 came at around 9:00 to 9:30 in the morning; some witnesses say near the Noorani Masjid; some witnesses say near the S.T. Workshop gate; some say near Natraj Hotel; one of the witnesses has said near the Panchvati area; some witnesses said that she came in Maruti car, dressed in white saree and thereafter interacted with some police personnel including one Mr. Mysorewala and then she left; some have exaggerated the version and said that in a small Maruti car some five to six persons came and lethal weapons were distributed in the presence of accused No.37; one witness has gone to say that she fired shots from a pistol like weapon; some witnesses out of the eleven, have stated that she was a part of the mob near the S.T. workshop; while one of the witnesses has seen her at 11 o'clock.

340.5 It was submitted that these witnesses are interested witnesses; they were aided and assisted by political opponents of the accused No.37. It was submitted that their versions have come on record at belated stage, and it is only after the investigation was transferred to the SIT by the Supreme Court, that they, for the first time, have made themselves available to the investigating agency. It was emphatically argued that during the course of investigation by the SIT, a converse fact had emerged that accused No.37 was not present and that she was at some other place, quite a distance away from the scene of occurrence. It was argued that though such evidence was collected and available, it was withheld by the prosecution and not brought on record. Therefore, a fair trial has not been conducted against the accused.

340.6 Referring to the call details produced on record, it was submitted that the mobile phone of the accused No.37 was on all throughout, however an effort has been made to show that for about couple of hours, it was switched off. But in fact, the call details produced by the prosecuting agency indicates that it was working, there were calls which were received on the mobile phone and she had also used by mobile phone to call some parties. It was submitted that the important factor in the call details is the location of the accused, which is quite far away from the scene of occurrence.

340.7 The second limb of argument was that this accused has been convicted of the offence of criminal conspiracy under section 120B of the Indian Penal Code, but there is no evidence worth the name as to why, when and with whom she has conspired. There is not even an iota of evidence on the conspiracy part. It was submitted that none of the eleven witnesses whose evidence is recorded and relied upon to establish the charge of conspiracy against the accused have been declared hostile, whereas all police officers like Mysorewala and two others have categorically stated in their cross-examination that they have not seen the accused at the scene of occurrence in the morning or late in the evening nor any has anyone had any conversation with her on the fateful day. It was, therefore, urged that examining from any angle, the conviction of the appellant recorded by the trial court is not sustainable and deserves to be quashed and set aside and this appellant is entitled to acquittal with or without benefit of doubt.

341. Mr. Prashant Desai, learned Special Public Prosecutor submitted that accused No.37 and other accused were charged for the offence of criminal conspiracy under section 120-B of the Penal Code. Unlike other evidence, a criminal conspiracy, in most of the cases, has to be proved only on the basis of circumstantial evidence. The attention of the court was invited to the provisions of section 120A of the Penal Code, which define criminal conspiracy as well as to the provisions of section 120B thereof, which provides for the punishment for criminal conspiracy.

341.1 It was submitted that the underlying purpose for the insertion of sections 120A and 120B of the Penal Code was to make a mere agreement to do an illegal act or an act which is not illegal by illegal means, punishable under law. The criminal thoughts in the mind when take concrete shape of an agreement to do or cause to be done an illegal act or an act which is not illegal by illegal means than even if nothing further is done an agreement is designated as a criminal conspiracy.

341.2 Reference was made to the law relating to conspiracy in England and put forth in Halsbury's Laws of England, 5th Edition, Vol.25, Page 73, which reads as under:

“73. Matters common to all conspiracies. There are statutory common law offences of conspiracy. The essence of the offences of both statutory and common law conspiracy is the fact of combination by agreement. The agreement may be expressed or implied, or in part express and in part implied. The conspiracy arises and the offence is committed as soon as the agreement is made; and the offence continues to be committed so long as the combination persists, that is until the conspiratorial agreement is terminated by completion of its performance or by abandonment or frustration or however it may be. The actus reus in a conspiracy is therefore the agreement for the execution of the unlawful conduct, not the execution of it. It is not enough that two or more persons pursued the same unlawful object at the same time or in the same place; it is necessary to show a meeting of minds, a consensus to effect an unlawful purpose. It is not, however, necessary that each conspirator should have been in communication with every other.” (emphasis supplied)

341.3 Reference was also made to the English Law on ‘conspiracy’ as explained in Russell on Crimes (12th Ed. Vol.1 Page-202), which reads thus:

“The gist of the offence of conspiracy then lies, not in doing the act, or effecting the purpose for which the conspiracy is formed, nor in attempting to do them, nor in inciting others to do them, but in the forming of the scheme or agreement between the parties. Agreement is essential. Mere knowledge, or even discussion, of the plan is not, per se enough.

In the case of R.V. Murphy, (1837) 173 ER 508 explained ‘conspiracy’ in the following words:

“.....I am bound to tell you, that although the common design is the root of the charge, it is not necessary to prove that these two parties came together and actually agreed in terms to have this common design, and to pursue it by common means, and so to carry it into execution. This is not necessary, because in any cases of the most clearly established conspiracies there are no means of proving any such thing and neither law nor common sense requires that it should be proved. If you find that these two persons pursued by their acts the same object, often by the same means, one performing one part of an act, and the other another part of the same act, so as to complete it, with a view to the attainment of the object which they were pursuing, you will be at liberty to draw the conclusion that they have been engaged in a conspiracy to effect that object. The question you have to ask yourselves is, 'had they this common design, and did they pursue it by these common means the design being unlawful?'".

341.4 It was submitted that it is required to be noted that criminal conspiracy is required to be proved by way of circumstantial evidence. The Supreme Court has in the case of State (NCT of Delhi) v. Navjot Sandhu, (2005) 11 SCC 600, observed that ".....The gist of the offence is an agreement to break the law. The parties to such an agreement will be guilty of criminal conspiracy, though the illegal act agreed to be done has not been done. So too, it is not an ingredient of the offence that all the parties should agree to do a single illegal act. It may comprise the commission of a number of acts. Under Section 43 of the Indian Penal Code, an act would be illegal if it is an offence or if it is prohibited by law. Under the first charge the accused are charged with having conspired to do three categories of illegal acts, and the mere fact that all of them could not be convicted separately in respect of each of the offences has no relevancy in considering the question whether the offence of conspiracy has been committed. They are all guilty of the offence of conspiracy to do illegal acts, though for individual offences all of them may not be liable."

341.5 Reference was made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Yash Pal Mittal v. State of Punjab, (1977) 4 SCC 540, wherein the court has laid down the object of criminal conspiracy, as under:

“10. The main object of the criminal conspiracy in the first charge is undoubtedly cheating by personation. The other means adopted, inter-alia, are preparation of causing to be prepared spurious passports; forging or causing to be forged entries and endorsements in that connection; and use of or causing to be used forged passports as genuine in order to facilitate travel to persons abroad. The final object of the conspiracy in the first charge being the offence of cheating by personation, as we find, the other offences described therein are steps, albeit, offences themselves, in aid of the ultimate crime. The charge does not connote plurality of objects of the conspiracy. That the appellant himself is not charged with the ultimate offence, which is the object of the criminal conspiracy, is beside the point in a charge under Section 120-B IPC as long as he is a party to the conspiracy with the end in view. Whether the charges will be ultimately established against the accused is a completely different matter within the domain of the trial Court.

11. The principal object of the criminal conspiracy in the first charge is thus “cheating by personation”, and without achieving that goal other acts would be of no material use in which any person could be necessarily interested.....”

341.6 Reliance was placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Kehar Singh v. State (Delhi Administration), (1988) 3 SCC 609, wherein the court stressed upon the relevancy of circumstantial evidence. The court observed thus:

“....Generally, a conspiracy is hatched in secrecy and it may be difficult to adduce direct evidence of the same. The prosecution will often rely on evidence of acts of various parties to infer that they were done in reference to their common intention. The prosecution will also more often rely upon circumstantial evidence. The conspiracy can be undoubtedly proved by such evidence direct or circumstantial. But the court must enquire whether the two persons are independently pursuing the same end or they have come together in the pursuit of the unlawful object. The former does not render them conspirators, but the latter does. It is however, essential that the offence of conspiracy requires some kind of physical manifestation of agreement. The express agreement, however, need not be proved. Not actual meeting of two persons is necessary. Nor it is necessary to prove the actual words of communication. The evidence as to transmission of thoughts sharing the unlawful design may be sufficient."

341.7 It was submitted that the ingredients of the offence of criminal conspiracy are:

- an agreement must relate to doing or causing to be done either (a) an illegal act; (b) an act which is not legal in itself but is done by illegal means.

Condition precedent for holding the accused persons to be guilty of a charge of criminal conspiracy must, therefore, be considered on the anvil of the fact which must be established by the prosecution viz. meeting of minds of two or more persons for doing or causing to be done an illegal act or an act by illegal means. It was submitted that the courts, however, while drawing an inference from the materials brought on record to arrive at a finding as to whether the charges of the criminal conspiracy have been proved or not, must always bear in mind that a conspiracy is hatched in secrecy and it is difficult, if not impossible, to obtain direct evidence to establish the same. The manner and circumstances in which the offences have been committed and the accused persons took part are relevant. For the said purpose, it is necessary to prove that the propounders had expressly agreed to it or caused it to be done, and it may also be proved by adduction of circumstantial evidence and/or by necessary implication.

341.8 Reference was made to the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Ram Narayan Popli v. Central Bureau of Investigation, (2003) 3 SCC 641, wherein it has been observed thus:

“The elements of a criminal conspiracy have been stated to be: (a) an object to be accomplished, (b) a plan or scheme embodying means to accomplish that object, (c) an agreement or understanding between two or more of the accused persons whereby, they become definitely committed to cooperate for the accomplishment of the object by the means embodied in the agreement, or by any effectual means, and (d) in the jurisdiction where the statute required an overt act. The essence of a criminal conspiracy is the unlawful combination and ordinarily the offence is complete when the combination is framed. From this, it necessarily follows that unless the statute so requires, no overt act need be done in furtherance of the conspiracy, and that the object of the combination need not be accomplished, in order to constitute an indictable offence. Law making conspiracy a crime is designed to curb immoderate power to do mischief which is gained by a combination of the means. The encouragement and support which co-conspirators give to one another rendering enterprises possible which, if left to individual effort, would have been impossible, furnish the ground for visiting conspirators and abettors with condign punishment. The conspiracy is held to be continued and renewed as to all its members wherever and whenever any member of the conspiracy acts in furtherance of the common design. (See: American Jurisprudence, Vol. II, Sec. 23, p. 559.) For an offence punishable under Section 120-B, the prosecution need not necessarily prove that the perpetrators expressly agree to do or cause to be done illegal act; the agreement may be proved by necessary implication. Offence of criminal conspiracy has its foundation in an agreement to commit an offence. A conspiracy consists not merely in the intention of two or more, but in the agreement of two or more to do an unlawful act by unlawful means. So long as such a design rests in intention only, it is not indictable. When two agree to carry it into effect, the very plot is an act in itself, and an act of each of the parties, promise against promise, actus contra actum, capable of being enforced, if lawful, punishable if for a criminal object or for use of criminal means."

".....For an offence punishable under Section 120-B, the prosecution need not necessarily prove that the perpetrators expressly agree to do or cause to be done illegal act; the agreement may be proved by necessary implication. Offence of criminal conspiracy has its foundation in an agreement to commit an offence. A conspiracy consists not merely in the intention of two or more, but in the agreement of two or more to do an unlawful act by unlawful means."

".....In the case of conspiracy there cannot be any direct evidence. The ingredients of offence are that there should be an agreement between persons who are alleged to conspire and the said agreement should be for doing an illegal act or for doing by illegal means an act which itself may not be illegal. Therefore, the essence of criminal conspiracy is an agreement to do an illegal act and such an agreement can be proved either by direct evidence or by circumstantial evidence or by both, and it is a matter of common experience that direct evidence to prove conspiracy is rarely available. Therefore, the circumstances proved before, during and after the occurrence have to be considered to decide about the complicity of the accused."

341.9 Reliance was placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in State v. Nalini, (1999) 5 SCC 253, wherein the court summarised certain broad principles. The court held thus:

"583. Some of the broad principles governing the law of conspiracy may be summarized though, as the name implies, a summary cannot be exhaustive of the principles.

1. Under Section 120-A IPC offence of criminal conspiracy is committed when two or more persons agree to do or cause to be done an illegal act or legal act by illegal means. When it is a legal act by illegal means overt act is necessary. Offence of criminal conspiracy is an exception to the general law where intent alone does not constitute crime. It is intention to commit crime and joining hands with persons having the same intention. Not only the intention but there has to be agreement to carry out the object of the intention, which is an offence. The question for consideration in a case is did all the accused have the intention and did they agree that the crime be committed. It would not be enough for the offence of conspiracy when some of the accused merely entertained a wish, howsoever horrendous it may be, that offence be committed.

2. Acts subsequent to the achieving of the object of conspiracy may tend to prove that a particular accused was party to the conspiracy. Once the object of conspiracy has been achieved, any subsequent act, which may be unlawful, would not make the accused a part of the conspiracy like giving shelter to an absconder.

3. Conspiracy is hatched in private or in secrecy. It is rarely possible to establish a conspiracy by direct evidence. Usually, both the existence of the conspiracy and its objects have to be inferred from the circumstances and the conduct of the accused.

4. Conspirators may for example, be enrolled in a chain – A enrolling B, B enrolling C, and so on; and all will be members of a single conspiracy if they so intend and agree, even though each member knows only the person who enrolled him and the person whom he enrolls. There may be a kind of umbrella-spoke enrolment, where a single person at the centre does the enrolling and all the other members are unknown to each other, though they know that there are to be other members. These are theories and in practice it may be difficult to tell which conspiracy in a particular case falls into which category.

It may however, even overlap. But then there has to be present mutual interest. Persons may be members of single conspiracy even though each is ignorant of the identity of many others who may have diverse roles to play. It is not a part of the crime of conspiracy that all the conspirators need to agree to play the same or an active role.

5. When two or more persons agree to commit a crime of conspiracy, then regardless of making or considering any plans for its commission, and despite the fact that no step is taken by any such person to carry out their common purpose, a crime is committed by each and every one who joins in the agreement. There has thus to be two conspirators and there may be more than that. To prove the charge of conspiracy it is not necessary that intended crime was committed or not. If committed it may further help prosecution to prove the charge of conspiracy.

6. It is not necessary that all conspirators should agree to the common purpose at the same time. They may join with other conspirators at any time before the consummation of the intended objective, and all are equally responsible. What part each conspirator is to play may not be known to everyone or the fact as to when a conspirator joined the conspiracy and when he left.

7. A charge of conspiracy may prejudice the accused because it forces them into a joint trial and the court may consider the entire mass of evidence against every accused. Prosecution has to produce evidence not only to show that each of the accused has knowledge of the object of conspiracy but also of the agreement. In the charge of conspiracy the court has to guard itself against the danger of unfairness to the accused. Introduction of evidence against some may result in the conviction of all, which is to be avoided. By means of evidence in conspiracy, which is otherwise inadmissible in the trial of any other substantive offence prosecution tries to implicate the accused not only in the conspiracy itself but also in the substantive crime of the alleged conspirators. There is always difficulty in tracing the precise contribution of each member of the conspiracy but then there has to be cogent and convincing evidence against each one of the accused charged with the offence of conspiracy. As observed by Judge Learned Hand "this distinction is important today when many prosecutors seek to sweep within the dragnet of conspiracy all those who have been associated in any degree whatever with the main offenders".

8. As stated above it is the unlawful agreement and not its accomplishment, which is the gist or essence of the crime of conspiracy. Offence of criminal conspiracy is complete even though there is no agreement as to the means by which the purpose is to be accomplished. It is the unlawful agreement which is the gravamen of the crime of conspiracy. The unlawful agreement which amounts to a conspiracy need not be formal or express, but may be inherent in and inferred from the circumstances, especially declarations, acts and conduct of the conspirators. The agreement need not be entered into by all the parties to it at the same time, but may be reached by successive actions evidencing their joining of the conspiracy.

9. It has been said that a criminal conspiracy is a partnership in crime, and that there is in each conspiracy a joint or mutual agency for the prosecution of a common plan. Thus, if two or more persons enter into a conspiracy, any act done by any of them pursuant to the agreement is, in contemplation of law, the act of each of them and they are jointly responsible therefor. This means that everything said, written or done by any of the conspirators in execution or furtherance of the common purpose is deemed to have been said, done or written by each of them. And this joint responsibility extends not only to what is done by any of the conspirators pursuant to the original agreement but also to collateral acts incidental to and growing out of the original purpose. A conspirator is not responsible, however, for acts done by a co-conspirator after termination of the conspiracy. The joinder of a conspiracy by a new member does not create a new conspiracy nor does it change the status of the other conspirators, and the mere fact that conspirators individually or in groups perform different tasks to a common end does not split up a conspiracy into several different conspiracies.

10. A man may join a conspiracy by word or by deed. However, criminal responsibility for a conspiracy requires more than a merely passive attitude towards an existing conspiracy. One who commits an overt act with knowledge of the conspiracy is guilty. And one who tacitly consents to the object of a conspiracy and goes along with other conspirators, actually standing by while the others put the conspiracy into effect, is guilty though he intends to take no active part in the crime."

341.10 The learned Special Public Prosecutor submitted that from the above principles, it emerges that in the present case there was a criminal conspiracy between accused No. 37, 18, 20, 21, 22, 24, 19 and 62 to take revenge of the Godhra train carnage and to teach a lesson to the Muslims. It was submitted that there was a call for bandh given by the Vishwa Hindu Parishad. The bandh call was given in the context of the Godhra incident. In the Godhra incident, some Hindus were killed. Pursuant to the bandh call, large mobs gathered and came to the Noorani Masjid from the Krushnanagar side and the Naroda side. Accused No.37 Mayaben Kodnani was an M.L.A. of that area. During a bandh call, the only purpose of the bandh is to close down the shops and admittedly, there were no shops near the Noorani Masjid. When the mobs came out, they came out in defiance of the order under the Bombay Police Act and they also took the law in their hands by pelting stones. It was submitted that so far as a conspiracy is concerned, from the following circumstances, viz., fifty eight persons were killed in the Godhra carnage on 27th February in a coach of the Sabarmati Express. The Vishwa Hindu Parishad and the Bajrang Dal had given a bandh call on 28th February in view of the Godhra incident. Some of the accused were either members of the Vishwa Hindu Parishad or the Bajrang Dal and some were members of the Peace Committee. On the day of Gujarat bandh, large mobs came out from Krushnanagar side and Naroda side and gathered at the Noorani Masjid. The said gathering was not for the purpose of implementing the bandh, which is evident from the fact that there is no market place near the Noorani Masjid. The evidence shows that some of the members of the mob had weapons in their hands. The evidence also shows that there was an attack on the Noorani Masjid which is a religious place of the Muslims, by the people in the mob, who, as narrated by the witnesses, were chanting slogans. Therefore, the purpose of the said gathering was evident, viz., to attack the masjid as well as the residential premises of the Muslims in different chawls. Significantly, from a particular place, namely, the "khaccha" [passage of the water tank], fifty eight dead bodies were recovered, which is synonymous with the fifty eight deaths that occurred in the Godhra train carnage.

341.11 It was submitted that it is the case of the prosecution that some of the accused, who were leading members of that locality, came out at that place with the purpose of giving inspiration to the members of the mob to fulfill the object of various attacks. It is the case of the prosecution that accused No.37 came to the place and supported the action of the mob by gestures or by words. The said incident is also supported by the statement made by accused No.21 and 22 in the sting operation as they are also co-conspirators. So far as the other accused are concerned viz., accused No.18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 24 and 62, some of them are the members of the Peace Committee formed by the Naroda Police Station and when they visited the spot, they did not take any steps to calm down the situation and on the contrary, they supported the mob.

341.12 So far as the other accused are concerned, they are co-conspirators who may have joined late, viz., accused No.1, 2, 10, 25, 26, 27, 30, 33, 38, 39, 40, 41, 44, 56, 58 and 61. It was submitted that they also joined in the conspiracy and they were part of the overt act committed by those accused and other accused. It was submitted that in the Godhra incident, fifty eight persons were burnt alive and from the passage of the water tank, fifty eight dead bodies were recovered. The choice of place was not such that nobody could come out from those chawls, nor was there any other way to escape from that place. The incidents took place from the morning to the evening. In the evening, as is revealed from the evidence, a mob came from the Teesra Kuva side and was responsible for killing the people, which is also part of the conspiracy, where the conspirators saw to it that the mob should come from the other side. There is no evidence on record to show that when these incidents were going on, the first named accused took any steps to stop such massacre. Moreover, if they were not party to it, they also did not have any communication with the police about curbing such massacre. It was submitted that there is no evidence on record to show that any message was sent by the so called members of the Peace Committee and accused No.37 and they were silently watching the entire incident. It was submitted that even as per the Supreme Court decision, even if a person silently supports the conspirator and does not commit any unlawful act himself, he is guilty of conspiracy. Therefore, accused No.37 and the other named accused are guilty of conspiracy even after the incident was over. It was argued that no attempt was made to show that any steps were taken by the accused to alleviate the agony of the victims. It was contended that assuming that the evidence does not support their presence, even then it is not necessary so far as the charge of conspiracy is concerned, that they should be present at that time. The only thing that is material is the meeting of minds, which can be proved by circumstantial evidence. Therefore, as far as the first named accused are concerned, they are conspirators and all the others present at the first stage or who joined them later on are liable for the offence punishable under section 120B of the Penal Code.

341.13 It was submitted that even if there is no overt act attributed to some of the accused, even then, standing by and supporting the other persons in committing the crime would also make them equally liable for that offence, as section 120B of the Penal Code is an independent offence. Therefore, those accused whose names have appeared either for having committed any overt act or their presence is established in evidence, are also liable to be punished under section 120B of the Penal Code. It was submitted that the fact regarding meeting of minds to kill the Muslims and avenge the Godhra massacre, is to be inferred from the incident itself. Besides, there were ninety four dead bodies and three persons were missing, therefore, in all ninety seven people had died in the incident. It was further submitted that as regards the accused No.22, 21 and 18, from the sting operation, the fact regarding they having hatched a conspiracy being members of the conspiracy, stands established, as is borne out from the record, which is also binding on the co-conspirators.

341.14 Insofar as the applicability of the provisions of section 10 of the Evidence Act is concerned, reference was made to paragraph 39 of the deposition of PW-322 Ashish Khetan to submit that this witness is also relevant for the purpose of proving the existence of conspiracy and also to show that these accused were party to it.

341.15 Reference was made to the provisions of section 30 of the Evidence Act to submit that if either accused No.21 or accused No. 22 says anything, it will be binding on accused No.37 also. Reference was made to paragraphs 97 to 100 of the Nirabhaya case's decision, to submit that once the electronic evidence is certified, there is no reason to doubt it. Reference was made to the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of R. K. Anand v. Registrar, Delhi High Court, (2009) 8 SCC 106 (paragraphs 134, 304 and 328) to submit that here, the court has accepted the evidence of sting operation as true and correct mainly on the ground that at no point of time, Mr. Anand challenged the meetings with Kulkarni or challenged the contents of conversation. Similarly, there is no challenge to the meeting being held and there is no challenge that the conversation took place, in that view of the matter, the evidence of PW-322 should be accepted. It was pointed out that the only defence taken in the section 313 statement is that to falsely implicate them, this witness has been created and that except for this, there was no other evidence. It was submitted that the another defence suggested in the cross-examination is that they have given a false promise to accused No.18 and thereby, recorded all these conversations by misrepresenting or by fraud. Another suggestion in the cross-examination is that he had given a written script and according to the written script, the answers were given and therefore, it is not admissible in evidence. Reliance was placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Vikram Singh alias Vicky Walia and another v. State of Punjab and another, AIR 2017 SC 3227, and more particularly paragraphs 23 and 24 thereof. It was submitted that from the conversation between Mr. Ashish Khetan and accused No.18, two things are clear, (1) the intention or motive, and (2) the planning in the entire episode starting from the evening of 27th February. It was submitted that in the conversation with accused No.21 and 22, the actual implementation and presence of accused No.37 is stated. It was submitted that if the totality of the conversation is taken into consideration, then in that case, the conspiracy is established and the involvement of at least four persons in the hatching of the conspiracy is established beyond reasonable doubt. As regards the question as to whether there was any meeting of minds, it was submitted that the fact that the accused had remained present and did not ask the mob to stop the activities, but encouraged their illegal activities is sufficient to prove the meeting of minds.

341.16 As regards the complicity of the individual accused, the learned Special Public Prosecutor submitted that as far as accused No.37 is concerned, at least ten witnesses have given evidence regarding her presence and so far as the co-accused are concerned, two of them have stated about her presence at the site in the sting operation. So far as the other five accused persons who are named in the FIR are concerned, they being members of Vishwa Hindu Parishad and Bajrang Dal which had given a bandh call, is not seriously disputed. It was submitted that insofar as accused No.18 is concerned, five other witnesses have deposed having seen the accused. Not only that, from the testimony of PW-322, it is apparent that he has admitted the participation in the whole incident and there is no other evidence produced by A-18 in his defence. According to the learned Special Public Prosecutor, so far as accused No.18 is concerned, the prosecution has proved beyond reasonable doubt his participation and presence at the place of incident.

341.17 As regards accused No.19, it was submitted that only police witnesses have named him, but there is no reason to disbelieve them as regards the presence of the said accused, since he was also a member of VHP which had given a bandh call. It was submitted that the prosecution has proved beyond reasonable doubt about his presence and participation.

341.18 Insofar as accused No.20 is concerned, it was submitted that, apart from the police witnesses, eight other witnesses have named him as being present in the mob and participating, instigating the mob and one witness (PW-104) has seen him talking to accused No.18, accused No.37 and other persons and also the police witnesses, four in number, who have also identified his presence apart from the other witnesses. Therefore, the prosecution has proved beyond reasonable doubt about the presence and participation of accused No.20 in the whole incident. It was submitted that it is also proved that accused No.20 was an active member of the VHP and the ruling party and was also a member of the Peace Committee and they were, therefore, leading public figures in the Naroda Police Station area. It was submitted that there is nothing on record to show that they had taken any steps to stop the untoward incidents on 28.2.2002 and on the contrary, the evidence on record shows that he had instigated the mob to attack the Muslims. Therefore, the prosecution has proved beyond reasonable doubt the involvement and participation of accused No.20.

341.19 As regards the complicity of accused No.24, it was submitted that apart from the police witnesses, PW-236 has named him as present in the mob and participating in the commission of the offence. Therefore, his presence cannot be doubted at the place of incident and the prosecution has proved beyond reasonable doubt his presence in the mob and participation.

341.20 Insofar as accused No.43 is concerned, it was submitted that PW-262 Mr. Delvadiya alone has named him.

341.21 It was submitted that insofar as these five accused are concerned, their presence and participation is proved beyond reasonable doubt. The fact regarding the said accused being leading public figures in the area and some of them being members of the Peace Committee stands established, inasmuch as, they themselves say so in their statement under section 313 of the Code. It was submitted that accused No.37 in her statement under section 313 and further statement has stated that she was not present at the scene of offence and that she was present elsewhere. It was submitted that the prosecution has proved beyond doubt by leading evidence of as many as ten witnesses and statements of co-accused about her presence. It was submitted that if the accused is taking a defence that she was not present and that she was present elsewhere, it is for her to bring evidence as this is a plea of alibi. In support of such submission, the learned counsel place reliance upon the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Vijay Pal v. State, AIR 2015 SC 1495, (paragraph 23) and Darshan Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 2016 SC 253 (paragraph 17). It was submitted that insofar as accused No.18, 21 and 22 are concerned, assuming without admitting that their statements qua the other accused are not during the period of conspiracy, in that case also that will be binding to the concerned accused treating it to be a confession under section 30 of the Evidence Act. In support thereof, the learned counsel placed reliance upon the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Siddharth v. State of Bihar, AIR 2005 SC 4352 and Sucha Singh v. State of Haryana, 2013 (14) SCC 552.

341.22 Next, it was submitted that the motive can be decided from the extra-judicial confession itself. It was submitted that if the evidence of PW 322 Shri Ashish Khetan, before whom, all the three accused made extra-judicial confession is analysed, the motive is clearly established by the statement made by accused No.18 about taking revenge for the Godhra incident. It was submitted that preparations were made by the said accused for the day of the incident; the said accused were in contact with the higher ups in the Vishwa Hindu Parishad and Bajrang Dal, which proves a part of conspiracy. Reference was made to the sting operation to point out that accused No.21 has stated that he was supported by Babubhai (A-18) and about his acquaintance with Babubhai. It was submitted that conspiracy can be inferred from the statements made in the evidence of accused No.18, accused No. 21 and accused No.22, that they are known to each other.

It was submitted that collecting of the weapons on the previous day was not only by accused No.18 but also by accused No.22. It was submitted that both, accused No.18 and 22 had weapons, which is a circumstance showing meeting of minds and the preparation made before the incident took place. Referring to the evidence of PW-322, it was pointed out that from his evidence, it emerges that there was a meeting of minds before the actual incident took place and there was preparation in furtherance of this conspiracy and ultimately action was taken, which is duly proved by the prosecution.

341.23 It was argued that insofar as the present case is concerned, to take the revenge for the Godhra Train Carnage incident, the accused conspired to ransack the properties of the Muslim community and also damage the religious place of Muslims, and accordingly, came at a particular place in an unlawful assembly and continued to be members of unlawful assembly with the purpose of sub-serving the object as mentioned hereinabove.

341.24 It was further submitted that it is not unknown that a conspiracy can be hatched on the spur of the moment if there is meeting of minds before the action is taken. Similarly, the accused and other persons came in an unlawful assembly and started damaging the properties of Muslims to take avenge the Godhra incident and attacked the area of Naroda Patiya where the Muslims were residing and had their religious place and shops. After damaging the properties, they looted the houses and took away the belongings of the Muslim community, killed many persons, which is narrated in the charge, and also committed rape on Muslim girls, and thereby committed the offences as described in the charge. To fortify such submission, the learned Special Public Prosecutor placed reliance upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Mukesh v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2017) 6 SCC 1, for the proposition that meeting of minds for committing an illegal act is sine qua non of the offence of conspiracy. Meeting of minds, thereby resulting in formation of a consensus between the parties, can be a sudden act, spanning in a fraction of a minute. It is neither necessary that each of the conspirators take active part in the commission of each and every conspiratorial act, nor is it necessary that all the conspirators must know each and every detail of the conspiracy. Essence of the offence of conspiracy is in agreement to break the law.

341.25 It was submitted that accused No. 18, 19, 20, 21, 24 and 37 have denied that they were members of an unlawful assembly and that they have committed acts which amount to a criminal offence. It was submitted that all above accused were leading personalities of the area in question. Accused No.37, being the MLA of that area and the other accused being members of the Peace Committee and leading members of the society in that particular area, did not take steps to calm down the situation. Not only that, the accused No. 18, 20, 21, 22, 41 and 40 are persons who were connected with the Vishwa Hindu Parishad or Bajrang Dal, who gave the bandh call and, therefore, it is to be inferred that all these persons hatched the conspiracy to bring the mob at a particular place during the bandh call and attack the Muslims and loot the properties of Muslims and after the initial conspiracy, other accused also joined the conspiracy, and attacked the properties of the Muslims, killed the Muslims and committed criminal acts as narrated in the charge and thereby all accused are the part of the conspiracy having the same set of mind to take revenge of the Godhra Train carnage by killing Muslims.

341.26 It was further submitted that there is ample evidence on record which shows that while attacking, the members of the mob including the accused, were chanting slogans, from which it is very clear that there was a conspiracy to kill the Muslims to take revenge of Godhra incident.

342. FINDINGS: In the backdrop of the above facts and contentions, the existence or otherwise of a criminal conspiracy is required to be examined. In the light of the decisions of the Supreme Court in this regard, the basic ingredients of a criminal conspiracy which the prosecution is required to prove by adducing evidence are: (i) the accused agreed to do or caused to be done an act; (ii) such act was illegal and was done by illegal means within the meaning of the Penal Code; (iii) irrespective of whether some overt act was done by one of the accused in pursuance of the agreement. While normally there would not be any direct evidence of a conspiracy being hatched, the circumstantial evidence should be cogent and credible and the chain of circumstances should be completed.

342.1 The trial court in the impugned judgment and order has discussed the credibility of certain witnesses who were examined by the prosecution to prove the existence of a conspiracy. Notably, in all, eleven such witnesses are witnesses who have named accused No.37 Mayaben Kodnani as an accused. Insofar as the other witnesses referred to by the trial court viz. PW 112 Fatimabibi Mohammadyusuf Shaikh, PW 219 Noorbanu Zakirhussain Saiyed are concerned, the trial court has merely placed reliance upon the evidence of such witnesses wherein they have stated regarding people having assembled in that area and the presence and participation of the accused with deadly weapons on that day and burning of houses etc. for coming to the conclusion that this was possible only if there was meeting of mind, agreement, pre-meditation, pre-concert and preparation among the accused.

343. The first such witness is PW 104 Mohammadsalim Mohammadhussain Shaikh. The trial court has found that this witness has proved the presence and participation of accused No.2, accused No.20, accused No.37 and accused No.41 beyond all reasonable doubt in the morning occurrence. Accused No.58 though not named, has been identified as a person in the mob, which is a strong circumstance against him. A conspiracy was hatched among the accused to do away with Muslims, to destroy and damage properties of Muslims. Accused No.2 has a hotel near Natraj. Accused No.41 does business in this area. Accused No.2, accused No.20 and accused No.41 are canvassers of accused No.37 and workers of BJP. The homicidal deaths of Mohammad Shafiq Adam Shaikh and Abid in the morning occurrence, bullet injury to Mustaq Kaladia in the morning occurrence stands proved.

344. The reason for arriving at the conclusion that a criminal conspiracy was hatched is that the accused had preplanned and there was preconcert as the members of the mob and accused No.37 had talked. Accused No.37 conveyed fiery communication after which the mob executed objects and intentions (sic.) to damage and destroy property of the Muslims and to do away with Muslims. According to the trial court, this conduct strengthens the lawful inference of having hatched conspiracy.

345. As already discussed while considering the credibility of this witness, his statement has been recorded only in the year 2008 after the SIT came to be constituted. Therefore, it would be very hazardous to rely upon the version given by such witness which has come at a highly belated stage. However, even if the testimony of the witness is taken at face value and accepted to be true, a perusal of the examination-in-chief of the witness reveals that the witness had deposed that at about 9:00 to 9:30 in the morning, an empty army truck passed from the road and the people in the mob who were engaged in pelting stones and setting the houses and lari gallas near the masjid on fire, ran towards Natraj Hotel. Thereafter, a police jeep came, which halted at the S.T. Workshop gate. Behind this jeep, Kishan Korani, Manoj Videowala and Murli Sindhi came. After a little while, a white Maruti Franti car came there. He saw that MLA Mayaben Kodnani was there in the car, whereafter she spoke to Kishan, Murli, Manoj and the police. While talking, Mayaben's voice was aggressive. She was gesturing towards their area and was saying something. All these people, that is, Mayaben, Kishan, Murli, Manoj and policemen gestured their hands to the mob which had run away towards Natraj Hotel and called it back.

Mayaben discussed something with the mob in an aggressive tone. Thereafter, she sat in the very car in which she had come, and left.

346. Now if one reads the evidence of this witness closely, what clearly emerges is that apart from the people in the mob, Mayaben had also talked with the police and apart from Mayaben and the three named accused, the police had also gestured to the mob and called it back. From the testimony of this witness, it is evident that the police were also a party to whatever Mayaben said. However, insofar as the involvement of the police is concerned, the trial court is totally silent. The testimony of the witness has to be read as a whole and part of it cannot be accepted and the remaining part discarded, more so, when insofar as the involvement of the police as per the version given by this witness is not severable from that of the accused. When any part of the evidence is not severable from each other, either the entire part has to be accepted or discarded. Besides, one fails to understand how merely talking to the crowd or even instigating it, without anything more, would lead to the conclusion that there was pre-planning and preconcert amongst the accused.

347. Insofar as the homicidal death of Mohammad Shafiq Adam Shaikh is concerned, this witness has not mentioned having seen him being injured in the firing. Merely because in the inquest panchnama Exhibit 2021, it has been recorded that in the riots that erupted on 28.2.2002 at 11:30 on the Naroda Patiya road a person by the name of Mahammad Sharif Adam Shaikh aged 18 was wounded in firing on his left thigh and his brother Maheboob Adam Shaikh resident of Naroda Patiya next to the Noorani Masjid has brought him to the hospital in a dead condition on 1.3.2002 at 5:00 a.m. in the morning, and the postmortem report Exhibit 2020, states that the cause of death is due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of bullet injury, the trial court, without any other evidence on record to show that Mahammad Sharif Adam Shaikh had actually died in the firing on the road, has held that through the testimony of this witness, the homicidal death of Mahammad Sharif Adam Shaikh had been proved. It may be noted that as per the inquest panchnama, the brother of the deceased had brought him to the police station and had identified the dead body. However, the brother has not been examined to prove the manner in which the deceased had sustained the bullet injury. In the opinion of this court, the inquest panchnama cannot be read into evidence in this manner, without the facts mentioned therein being proved by the person who has so stated. The trial court was therefore, not justified in holding that the homicidal death of Mohammad Shafiq Adam Shaikh in the morning occurrence stands proved.

348. The next witness is PW 136 Bashirkhan Nanhekhan Pathan. This witness also speaks about Mayaben (A-37) coming in a white car near a police vehicle which was parked near the S.T. Workshop gate and talked to the police after which the police fired at the Muslims. The witness further claims to have seen accused No.26, accused No.44 and Guddu in the mob near the S.T. Workshop. The trial court has recorded that in his cross-examination the witness has stated that he does not know exactly what time he saw accused No.37's white car, but he saw it before the disturbances started and he has reconfirmed that he saw Mayaben getting out of the car. On the basis of this evidence, the trial court has formed the opinion that the disturbances started after the arrival of accused No.37 and that it is clear that she is the kingpin of the riots and that conspiracy was hatched. The trial court has accordingly recorded findings to the effect that this witness has established the presence and participation of accused No.37 as kingpin of the riot along with accused No.26, accused No.44 and deceased Guddu in the morning incident on that day beyond reasonable doubt; the witness himself was injured in the firing on that day at 10:00 a.m; the criminal conspiracy is proved to have been hatched among the accused; the disturbances at the site started after the arrival of accused No.37; and Mustaq died in the firing in the morning incident.

349. From the evidence that has come on record, insofar as the witness claims to have seen Mayaben near the S.T. Workshop in the morning is concerned, in all his prior statements recorded by the police, the witness has not named this accused. For the first time, the name of Mayaben has cropped up in the statement dated 27.5.2008 recorded by the SIT. Before the SIT as well as before the court, all that the witness has stated is that Mayaben alighted from a car and talked with some police officers standing near the corner of the S.T. Workshop, whereafter the police started firing indiscriminately at the mob. The witness does not refer to Mayaben having spoken to the mob or having instigated them. The witness does not refer to any interaction between Mayaben and accused No.26, 44 and Guddu (deceased). Thus, all that emerges from the testimony of this witness insofar as Mayaben (A-37) is concerned, is that she came to the corner of the S.T. Workshop in the morning and talked to some police officers standing there. No criminal act has been attributed to her. On the basis of such slender evidence, which too, has come on record after a period of more than six years of the incident, one fails to understand as to how the trial court has come to the conclusion that Mayaben is the kingpin and that the disturbances started after she arrived. Significantly, what is attributed to Mayaben is that she talked to the police and thereafter the police started firing indiscriminately, however, none of the police are arraigned as accused and on the contrary the trial court has given a clean chit to the police and has held that there was no mala fide or malice on the part of the police. The trial court, unfortunately, has not discussed as to how and why when a local MLA comes and talks to the police, the act amounts to a criminal act. Therefore, even if the evidence of the witness is taken at face value and accepted to be true, the same would not justify the findings arrived at by the trial court.

350. Section 120-A of the Penal Code defines “criminal conspiracy”. In terms of this section, the offence of criminal conspiracy which is itself punishable as a substantive offence is the very agreement between two or more persons to do or cause to be done an illegal act or a legal act by illegal means subject however to the proviso that where the agreement is not an agreement to commit an offence, the agreement does not amount to a conspiracy unless it is followed up by an overt act done by one or more persons in pursuance of such an agreement. There must be a meeting of minds in the doing of the illegal act or the doing of a legal act by illegal means. If in the furtherance of the conspiracy certain persons are induced to do an unlawful act without the knowledge of the conspiracy or the plot, they cannot be held to be conspirators, though they may be guilty of an offence pertaining to the specific unlawful act. The offence of conspiracy is complete when two or more conspirators have agreed to do or cause to be done an act which is itself an offence, in which case no overt act need be established. It is also clear that an agreement to do an illegal act which amounts to a conspiracy will continue as long as the members of the conspiracy remain in agreement and as long as they are acting in accord with and in furtherance of the object for which they entered into the agreement.

351. Therefore, before coming to the conclusion that a criminal conspiracy has been hatched by the accused, the court is required to arrive at a finding that there is a meeting of minds in doing the illegal act. For the offence of conspiracy to be complete, it has to be established that two or more conspirators have agreed to do or cause to be done an act which is itself an offence. From the findings recorded by the trial court, there is nothing to indicate that the trial court has applied its mind to the above parameters. The trial court appears to have presumed the guilt of accused No.37 and that she is the kingpin and that a conspiracy has been hatched and has thereafter has tried to find out one or the other reason to justify such a conclusion without an objective, independent and impartial analysis or assessment of the materials, before recording a finding on the guilt of the accused.

352. Before jumping to the conclusion that accused

No.37 is the kingpin and that a conspiracy has been hatched, the trial court ought to have first discussed the evidence of each witness who has deposed against her and thereafter on a overall appreciation of the evidence of the witnesses given its findings on the complicity or otherwise of the said accused. Unfortunately, without even discussing any meeting or minds or common object of the accused, without arriving at any finding to indicate any connection of accused No.37 with the other accused, the trial court on the basis of the evidence of each individual witness has recorded a finding that accused No.37 is the kingpin and that a conspiracy has been hatched.

353. The next witness is PW 176 Zulekhabanu Sardarahemad Sarmuddin Chaudhary. It may be noted that this witness in her previous statement recorded by the police at the relevant time when the incident took place, has not named any accused, and has named the accused for the first time in her statement recorded by the SIT. Apart from the fact that the accused have been named at a highly belated stage, insofar as this witness is concerned, at the end of her examination-in-chief she has stated that in the mob which she saw between 9:00 to 9:45 in the morning on the road, she had seen Mayaben Kodnani also and she had recognized her. Thus, except for a passing reference at the end of her examination-in-chief, wherein she has stated that she had also seen Mayaben in the mob in the morning, nothing has been stated as regards the place and time when she had seen her, and no role has been attributed to her.

354. However, on the basis of the above evidence, the trial court has recorded that the presence and participation of accused No.37 stands proved in the morning occurrence beyond reasonable doubt and that from the facts and circumstances, the probability of the accused having hatched a conspiracy to commit the crime stands proved.

355. Considering the fact that in the examination-in-chief of the witness, except for a passing reference at the end that she had seen Mayaben in the mob in the morning, one wonders as to how the mere presence of the accused in the mob without anything more, would prove the probability of the accused having hatched a conspiracy to commit the crime.

356. The next witness examined by the prosecution to prove the charge of conspiracy is PW 149 Faridabibi Abdulkadar Khalifa. This witness in her examination-in-chief has deposed that she and her children were having breakfast in the morning, when at around 9:00 to 9:30, there was commotion outside. Hearing the sounds, she came outside and saw that a mob was coming from Krushnanagar and Natraj Hotel towards the Noorani Masjid. At that time, she was standing next to the S.T. Workshop compound wall near the Noorani Masjid. The people in the mob were breaking the handcarts, stalls and rickshaws nearby. Some of the persons in the mob were wearing saffron bands on their foreheads. At that time, the policemen and S.R.P. personnel were present near the Noorani Masjid and Shri. K. K. Mysorewala was also present at the S.T. Workshop with a Government jeep. At this time, Mayaben Kodnani came out the mob and went near K. K. Mysorewala and spoke to him.

357. In the mob in which Mayaben was, certain other persons were also present, namely, Kishan Korani (A-20), Babu Bajrangi (A-18), Murli (A-2), Manoj Videowala (A-41), Ashok Paan Gallawala, Bipin Panchal (A-44), Jaybhavani (deceased), Dalpat Chhara (deceased), Dalpat Chhara's son-in-law Tiniyo Chhara, Sahejad Chhara (A-26), Sahejad Chhara's son-in-law Vijay Chhara, Suresh Langdo (A-22), Guddu (deceased), Hariyo (A-10), Nariyo (A-1), Tiniyo Marathi, Subhash Ramesh.

358. After talking with Mysorewala, Mayaben left, whereafter the police firing and private firing as well as arson near the Noorani Masjid also commenced. In this firing, Abid and Hasan Kureshi were injured by bullets and both of them died in the incident, whereas Mahammad, Piru, Khalid and Majid had sustained bullet injuries.

359. Thus, according to this witness, Mayaben was in the mob with the other accused named by her in her examination-in-chief. The witness says that Mayaben came out of the mob and went near K.K. Mysorewala and spoke to him. The witness further says that after talking to Mysorewala, Mayaben left, whereafter the police firing and private firing as well as the incidents of arson commenced near the Noorani Masjid.

360. On the basis of this evidence, the trial court has recorded that the presence and participation of accused No.1, 2, 5, 18, 20, 22, 26, 37, 41, 44, 45, 46 and deceased accused Guddu, Bhavani, Dalpat and Ramesh stands proved beyond reasonable doubt in the morning incident. The trial court has further held that the conspiracy seems to have been hatched amongst the accused. For the purpose of arriving at this conclusion, the trial court has also recorded that this witness has seriously complained about the conduct of the police stating that the police remained with the Hindus, were protecting the Hindus and when she went to Shri Mysorewala after firing took place, she was given baton blows. According to the trial court, the witness seems to be very much annoyed with the police according to whom, the private firing took place even in the presence of police; she has grievance against Shri Mysorewala who said that he has orders to beat (or may be kill) the Muslims and not to save them, she confronted Shri Mysorewala as he was supporting the Hindus and not stopping the Hindus, at this time being angry, Shri Mysorewala gave three to four baton blows to the witness; according to this witness, Shri Mysorewala was involved in the crime as the police and private firing started after talk with Mysorewala and after accused No.37 left, Shri Mysorewala spoke "Are you going or shall I shoot?". The trial court was of the opinion that even if the occurrence of Mr. K.K. Mysorewala is believed as stated, then also, at the most what Mr. Mysorewala did is absolutely improper and uncultured way to deal with any woman and that his attitude was not befitting a Senior P.I. of the area, but merely from the said conduct and attitude, it cannot be concluded that he has any bias or he has aided the crimes, that he allowed the miscreants to commit the offences. The trial court has further recorded that what clearly emerges on record is the situation that was totally beyond his control. It is true that he ought to have taken stern actions right from 27th February, 2002, his management on 28.2.2002 is not appreciable, but all these points go to suggest that he has not acted efficiently and as per the expectation, but there is nothing to join him with the offences. The trial court was of the opinion that there is nothing to believe that he has caused hurt to this witness and that it seems that on account of uncontrollable disturbances, tense situation and pressure from different authorities and then pressure from the witness and the other two women to arrange for ambulance, etc., he might not have behaved courteously, but then since it cannot be called voluntary and after all his duty is to maintain law and order, his action gets benefit of doubt as it could be bona fide action and not bias against the witness.

361. The trial court has further observed that as revealed from the testimony of the witness, Mysorewala played a leading role in taking the injured to the Civil Hospital who were below the water tank or were victims of the khancha incident near Gangotri and Gopinath; this act of Mr. K.K. Mysorewala is a reason not to believe that he was party to the conspiracy and his lethargy and inefficiency was his connivance with the other conspirators. The trial court observed that it is unfortunate that he was not sensitive enough to properly respond to the calamities being faced by Muslims on that day and has, accordingly, recorded that it believes that it is not proper to hold that Shri Mysorewala was a party to any conspiracy and his act and omission is a proof to the said conspiracy.

362. With due respect to the trial court, this court is not able to bring itself to agree with the findings recorded by the trial court. From the consistent testimony of this witness, it emerges that when the Muslims were injured in the police firing, she had approached the police for assistance, but was given blows with a baton and driven away. Insofar as implication of Mayaben (A-37) in the offence in question is concerned, the same has come at a belated stage at the time when the statement of the witness came to be recorded by the SIT.

363. Even if the evidence of the witness is taken at face value and accepted as true, then also, all that the witness has stated is that at around 9:00 to 9:30, there was commotion on the road and when she came out, she saw mobs on the road. The policemen and the S.R.P. personnel were present near the Noorani Masjid and Shri K.K. Mysorewala was present at the S.T. Workshop with a government jeep. At that time, Mayaben Kodnani came out of the car and went near K.K. Mysorewala and spoke to him. After talking with Shri Mysorewala, Mayaben left, whereafter police firing and private firing as well as incidents of arson commenced near the Noorani Masjid. Therefore, what comes out from the testimony of this witness is that Mayaben came out of the car, talked with Mysorewala and left and thereafter, there was police firing and private firing. In the testimony of this witness, the role attributed to Mayaben is intertwined with the role attributed to Mysorewala and the same are not severable. It may be noted that in her statement before the police, the witness had neither named Mysorewala as the police officer who had given her baton blows, nor has she named accused No.37 Mayaben as being in the mob. The names of Mysorewala and Mayaben have cropped up only in the statement recorded by the SIT. If the statement of the witness is read as a whole, the complicity of Mysorewala in the incident is writ large and cannot be ignored while considering the complicity of Mayaben. The only overt act attributed to Mayaben is that she came out of the car, talked to Mysorewala and left, whereafter there was police firing.

364. In these circumstances, the clean chit given by the trial court to Shri Mysorewala is not warranted. It may be noted that Shri Mysorewala in his testimony, does not refer to the presence of Mayaben at the scene of incident. The trial court has brushed aside such omission on the ground that the police may not name an influential person. In the opinion of this court, the police are bound to discharge their duties in accordance with law, whether the person is a common person or an influential person. There can be no excuse for a policeman not to implicate an influential person if such person is present. Therefore, the reasoning given by the trial court that though Mayaben may have been present, the police may not have named her does not merit acceptance. Besides, the reasoning given by the trial court that Mysorewala had taken the injured to the Civil Hospital which gives reason to believe that he was not a party to the conspiracy, also does not merit acceptance for the reason that the incidents that took place throughout the day on the road as well as in the chawls, took place in the presence of Shri K.K. Mysorewala. Shri K.K. Mysorewala has throughout the day not taken any steps against any of the miscreants. However, when the Hindus who were the aggressors made a representation to him that two Hindus had been dragged by the Muslims into the chawls, he made it a point to go through the lanes of the chawls on foot to ascertain such fact. However, the same Shri Mysorewala did not deem it fit to give any protection to the Muslims or to call an ambulance to take the injured to the hospital. If the situation was as tense as discussed by the trial court that Shri Mysorewala may have got agitated upon a request being made to call an ambulance, one fails to understand the readiness of Shri Mysorewala to go into the lanes of the chawls to find out whether two Hindus had been dragged inside by the Muslims. While trying to protect the Hindus, Shri Mysorewala has not shown any willingness to extend the same benefit to the Muslims who were the victims in the incident. Insofar as taking the injured to the hospital is concerned, Shri Mysorewala came to the scene of offence only after the offence had been committed and taking the injured to the hospital was merely a face saving exercise. From the evidence that comes on record, the police played an active role in aiding and facilitating the Hindu mobs in attacking the Muslims in the chawls. All the police personnel who were deputed at various points on the highway and in whose jurisdiction the chawls wherein the incident took place also fell, have turned a totally blind eye to the happenings in the chawls. Not only that, in the presence of the police, the properties of the Muslims were burnt and even the Noorani Masjid, their religious place was ransacked and set ablaze, while the police stood there as a mute spectators.

365. In the incident where a Muslim youth drove a Tata 407 vehicle through the mob, the very same Shri K.K. Mysorewala thought it fit to follow the vehicle and apprehend the driver and bring him to the police station, but did not think it fit to apprehend a single Hindu who was indulging in violence and arson in the incidents throughout the day. This clearly shows the complicity of the police in the offence in question and their unwillingness to protect the Muslims. Therefore, the clean chit given by the trial court to the police, in the opinion of this court, is contrary to the record of the case. The trial court has observed that it is the duty of Shri Mysorewala to maintain law and order and his actions get benefit of doubt as it could be bona fide action and not bias against the witness. However, from the conduct of the police, it is evident that they have totally failed in their duty to maintain law and order and there is no question of their action getting the benefit of doubt, inasmuch as the actions of the police officers in siding with the Hindus against the Muslims cannot in any manner be said to be bona fide and are clearly vitiated by bias against the Muslims. In the opinion of this court, if the trial court thought it fit to believe the testimony of the witnesses qua Mayaben (A-37), it could not have ignored the testimony of the very same witnesses implicating Shri K.K. Mysorewala also.

366. Besides as noted hereinabove, all that the witness has stated is that Mayaben Kodnani came out of the car and went near K.K. Mysorewala and spoke to him. After talking with Shri Mysorewala, Mayaben left, whereafter police and private firing commenced. In the opinion of this court, even if the testimony of the witness is accepted at face value, talking with Mysorewala and leaving the place can hardly be said to be a criminal act, more so, indicate hatching of a criminal conspiracy.

367. The next witness examined by the prosecution for the purpose of proving the charge of conspiracy under section 120B of the Penal Code is PW 192 Rasidabanu Imtiazhussain Momin. This witness has deposed that the people in the mob, which had come from the direction of Krushnanagar, were pelting stones at the masjid as well as at them and were also throwing bottles. The mob which had come from the direction of Natraj was also pelting stones and bottles at them. Mayaben Kodnani was in this mob. Manoj was also in this mob. As per her knowledge, his name is Manoj Videowala. In the mob which came from the direction of Natraj, Bipin Autowala was also there. Moreover, Santosh Dudhwala was also there. Santosh Dudhwala has a shop next to Kamla Welding on the way to Kubernagar. In the mob from the direction of Natraj, she has also seen Guddu Chhara, Naresh Chhara, Suresh Langdo and Suresh Langda's younger brother. Mayaben was in this mob and was instigating the public by saying "come forward" and "kill". At this time, the police had also come there. The police had resorted to firing and lobbed tear gas shells at the Muslims standing at their corner due to which, four or five Muslim youths were injured by bullets.

368. In her cross-examination, the witness has stated that she does not know that Mayaben is a doctor and as to whether her hospital is situated at Saijpur Bogha road. In her cross-examination, it has come out that when for the first time on the day of the incident she saw Mayaben, she was standing in front of her, but diagonally. She has admitted that she was standing in the line of the Noorani Masjid. She has admitted that all the accused whom she has identified before the court were in the Hindu mob on the side of the Noorani Masjid.

369. Thus, according to this witness, Mayaben came in the mob that came from the direction of Natraj. The time when she saw the accused was from 9:00 to 9:30.

370. On the basis of the above evidence the trial court has inter alia recorded the following findings:

“[a] The PW involves A-37, A-58, A-22, Guddu, A-41, A-1 and A-44 in the morning incident as leaders for charged offences beyond reasonable doubt with the fact that they were in the mob throwing stones, glass bottles, etc. (not for A-37).

[c] A-37 was provoking, instigating and leading the mob.

[d] Conspiracy seems to have been hatched among the accused.”

371. It may be noted that this witness has named Mayaben only in her statement recorded by the SIT after a period of more than six years. It may further be noted that the trial court while appreciating the evidence of the witnesses has totally ignored the delay on the part of the witnesses in naming Mayaben (A-37) and has merely shrugged aside the contention that there was a delay in naming the accused on the ground that she being an influential person, it is natural that the police would be reluctant to arraign her as an accused. Even if the testimony of the witness is taken at face value and accepted as true, what the witness has stated is that Mayaben was in the mob and was instigating the public by saying, come forward and kill. On the basis of this evidence, one fails to see as to how the trial court could have arrived at the conclusion that a conspiracy had been hatched amongst the accused.

372. The next witness examined by the prosecution for the purpose of proving the charge of conspiracy under section 120B of the Penal Code is PW 198 Haroon Mahammadbhai Shaikh. As per the testimony of this witness, after he woke up in the morning at around 8:00 to 8:30, he heard sounds coming from chawl saying, "mobs have come, mobs have come", whereupon he came out on the road at the corner of the S.T. Workshop. At that time, the police had come in a jeep and were getting the stalls and cabins shut down. Subsequently, the mobs gathered near the S.T. Workshop as well as the S.R.P. Quarters gate. The witness says that in the mob, he saw Mayaben, Babu Bajrangi, Sachin Modi, Ashok Pangallawala, Manoj Videowala, Suresh Langdo, Haresh, Guddu and Bipin Autowala in the morning at around 9:30 on the day of the incident. According to the witness, they were leading the mob.

373. On the basis of the testimony of this witness, the trial court has come to the conclusion that the presence and participation of accused No.18, 22, 37, 41, 44, 45 and 52 as well as deceased Guddu in the morning occurrence stands proved and that from the facts and circumstances, probability of the accused to have hatched the conspiracy (sic.). Apart from the fact that this witness has named accused No.37 after a period of more than six years; at the time when his statement came to be recorded by the SIT, all that the witness has stated is that he saw Mayaben in the mob along with other accused and that they were leading the mob. On the basis of the evidence of this witness, it is difficult to believe as to how the trial court has come to the conclusion that there is a probability of the accused having hatched a conspiracy.

374. The next witness examined by the prosecution to prove the charge of criminal conspiracy under section 120B of the Penal Code is PW-236 Siddiquebhai Allabax Mansuri. This witness has deposed that at around 8:30 to 9:00 in the morning, he came out of his house and went near Natraj Hotel, where there was a mob of around five to ten thousand people. While he was present there, Mayaben came in a Maruti Franti car together with her P.A./Assistant. Both of them alighted from the car at the spot where he was standing. Upon seeing them, the people standing there in the mob started chanting, "Jay Shri Ram". Mayaben gave a provocative speech to the people there and told them that she had gone to Godhra and had seen the dead bodies of the kar sevaks and that they, Rambhaktas should kill and hack dow the miyas. Just like the Babri Masjid had been demolished, they should also demolish the masjid here. She also said that she and Narendra Modi were with them and they would not have to face any problems. After saying this, she went away.

375. According to this witness, after Mayaben went, the public was aroused and they advanced towards the Muslim area as well as towards the Noorani Masjid. The police were with the mob. The witness has further stated that at around 11 o'clock, Mayaben came in a white coloured Maruti Franti car near the S.T. Workshop gate, which was followed by a TRAX jeep. Both the vehicles came from the direction of Krushnanagar and halted near the S.T. Workshop and were parked facing the S.T. Workshop gate. Mayaben alighted from the Maruti car. After getting down, she gestured towards the mob standing near Natraj. She gestured to the mob and called them to the S.T. Workshop gate. At this time, around one hundred leaders including Mayaben's P.A., came there. Mayaben talked with those people and discussed something. Thereafter, she gestured to her P.A. and gave him instructions. Whereupon, Mayaben's P.A. took out weapons from the TRAX jeep, which were comprised of swords, spears, tridents and something which looked like a revolver from far. Under Mayaben's instructions, her P.A. gave all these weapons to the leaders of the mob. Thereafter, Mayaben's vehicle and the jeep started going towards Krushnanagar and while going, the vehicles turned in the lane of Uday Gas Agency. After Mayaben went away, the people in the mob in which her P.A. was also there, attacked the Noorani Masjid.

376. The trial court from the evidence of this witness, recorded findings to the effect that from this witness, active involvement, presence and participation of accused No.26, accused No.37 and accused No.62 stand proved in the charged offences beyond all reasonable doubt for the morning incident. The trial court has further held that accused No.37 has been attributed a role of delivering provoking speech and instigating the members of the mob (morning); attempt to file complaint against accused No.37 in the year 2002 had failed; at about 11:00 a.m., accused No.37 came in her car, she gave signals to the mob, hence, the mob came close to her, she talked with the mob wherein about hundred leaders were present; after Mayaben went away, the mob attacked Noorani. The trial court has also recorded a finding that accused No.37 came twice in the morning in the area.

377. A perusal of the testimony of this witness shows that insofar as accused No.37 Mayaben Kodnani is concerned, the witness has stated that he had seen her on two occasions on the day of the incident. On one occasion he had seen her between 8:30 to 9:00 near Natraj Hotel. Insofar as the presence of Mayaben at Natraj Hotel between 8:30 to 9:00 is concerned, there is material on record to show that she being an MLA, was present at the Vidhan Sabha at Gandhinagar and was present there till around 8:45 a.m. and left thereafter. In these circumstances, even if she had come to the spot straight from Gandhinagar, she could not have reached there on or before 9:00 a.m. Insofar as the second incident is concerned, it may be noted that there is ample evidence on record in the nature of testimonies of police officers, which indicates the presence of high ranking officers near the S.T. Workshop gate between 10:30 to 12:00 in the morning. Therefore, it is highly doubtful that in the presence of all these officers who have deposed that they were making all efforts to quell the riots, Mayaben would have been able to distribute weapons to the mob. Moreover, none of the officers have mentioned the presence of Mayaben at the S.T. Workshop gate at that time. It cannot be gainsaid that Mayaben being the MLA of the area was a public figure, and hence, her presence at the spot would not have gone unnoticed by the police. It is highly unfortunate that on the one hand the prosecution seeks to implicate Mayaben Kodnani in the offence in question, but none of the police officers support the prosecution case. Moreover, several witnesses who were at the corner of the S.T. Workshop in the morning on that day have been examined by the prosecution. Most of the witnesses have not referred to Mayaben having come there and no other witness has stated that she came there twice, and more particularly, no witness has stated facts regarding the arrival of a TRAX Jeep and distribution of weapons. Thus, the prosecution has led two sets of evidence, one which shows the presence of this accused at the scene of offence and another which negates her presence. It is settled legal position that when two sets of evidence are led by the prosecution, one against and one favouring the accused, the view in favour of the accused has to be adopted.

378. The prosecution has also examined PW-156 Abdulmajid Mohammadusman Shaikh to prove the charge of conspiracy against the accused. According to this witness, the mobs started coming at 9:00 a.m. Two police vehicles came near the S.T. Workshop and unloaded two black trunks. Thereafter, a white car came and everyone started taking Mayaben Kodnani's name. Mayaben got down from the car and said "Maro Salao Ne". The witness has stated that thereafter, the mob had attacked them, whereupon they had asked the police to help, but were told to go away as they would also be beaten. The mob attacked them and the police also fired and lobbed tear gas cells.

379. Insofar as reference to the presence of Mayaben Kodnani on the national highway in the morning is concerned, such version has come up for the first time in the year 2008 in the statement recorded by the SIT. Prior thereto, the witness has not named Mayaben before the investigating agency despite the fact that several statements of the witness were recorded by different Investigating Officers. A general grievance has been voiced that at the relevant time, considering the fact that Mayaben was an influential person, the police were not ready and willing to record her name in the array of accused. However, in the case of this witness, in the year 2003, he had made an affidavit for the purpose of filing the same before the Supreme Court in petitions for further investigation and transfer of investigation from the State of Gujarat. At that time, the witness was assisted by legal minds and nothing prevented him from stating the name of Mayaben Kodnani in the affidavit. In fact, not recording the name of Mayaben as an accused by the police would have been one of the focal points in the affidavit made by the witness; however, the affidavit is totally silent as regards the involvement of Mayaben in the incident in question. Under the circumstances, considering the fact that the witness has named other accused in his previous statements and the police have recorded the names of such accused, and more particularly, when in his affidavit filed before the Supreme Court, the witness has not named Mayaben, it would be hazardous to rely upon the testimony of this witness against accused No.37 when her involvement has been brought on record after a period of more than six years in the year 2008.

380. The trial court after appreciating the evidence of this witness, has arrived at the conclusion that if the examination-in-chief is taken in the light of the overall impression created in the mind of the court about the witness, it is felt that it would be extremely unsafe to rely upon this witness completely as far as involvement of the accused persons is concerned. The trial court has thereafter observed that the witness has stated about the attack on the Noorani Masjid and other things about the morning occurrence. He has seen accused No.37 in the morning occurrence, provoking the members of the mob which is also seen and deposed by many of the witnesses. Moreover, upon scrutiny of this part of the evidence, since it is supported by many prosecution witnesses, it seems that even this part of the evidence of the witness is acceptable. The trial court has also found the witness to be truthful as regards the occurrences of the morning and noon. The trial court after appreciating the evidence of this witness, has found that the witness proves the hatching of conspiracy amongst the accused is probable. He proves the participation of accused No.37 in the morning occurrence, accused No.1, accused No.10 and Guddu in the noon occurrence and accused No.22 and Bhavani in the evening occurrence.

381. Thus, while the trial court has not found this witness to be very credible, it has accepted the version of this witness insofar as the presence of accused No.37 on the road in the morning is concerned, despite the fact that such version has come on record only at the stage when the SIT came into the picture. Insofar as the morning incident is concerned, the trial court has believed the presence of only accused No.37 from amongst the accused named by this witness, despite which, the trial court has come to the conclusion that the witness proves that hatching conspiracy amongst the accused is probable. When the trial court has not believed the testimony of this witness qua any other accused in the morning incident, one fails to understand as to how and between whom the hatching of conspiracy could be inferred.

382. The prosecution has also examined PW-227 Zuberkhan Ismailkhan Pathan for the purpose of establishing the charge of conspiracy under section 120B of the Penal Code. According to this witness, he had gone to Milan Hotel, near the Noorani Masjid at around 9:00 to 9:15 in the morning, at which point of time, the mobs had started coming from the side of Natraj Hotel as well as Krushnanagar. The witness has stated that he went towards Krushnanagar to watch and upon seeing the mobs, he returned to the Milan Hotel. At that time, in the mob from the side of Krushnanagar, he had seen Bipin Panchal (A-44), Guddu Chhara and Babu Garagewala (A-33) armed with weapons. Thereafter, he had gone to Natraj Hotel and in the mob from the side of Natraj Hotel, he had seen Mayaben Kodnani (A-37) on the road. She was telling the people in the mob that they should go forward and that she was with them. According to this witness, he had seen Mayaben in the mob which came from the side of Natraj Hotel and she was encouraging the mob. Based upon the testimony of this witness, the trial court has held that he proves the presence and participation of Guddu, accused No.37 and accused No.44 beyond reasonable doubt in the morning occurrence and the presence and participation of Guddu and accused No.22 in the noon occurrence. According to the trial court, the witness proves that hatching conspiracy amongst the accused is probable.

383. As is evident from the evidence of this witness, all that he has stated is that he had seen three accused, viz., Bipin Panchal, Guddu Chhara and Babu Garagewala in the mob from the side of Krushnanagar and in the mob from Natraj Hotel, he had seen Mayaben on the road. Mayaben was encouraging the people telling them that they should go ahead and she was with them. It may be noted that the statement of this witness has not been recorded at the relevant time and for the first time, his statement was recorded by the SIT in the year 2008. It appears that the witness had made a complaint application on 6.3.2002 wherein he had named Bipin Panchal and Babu, but had not named Guddu, Suresh and Mayaben. From the findings recorded by the trial court, there is nothing to indicate as to on what basis, the trial court has found that the witness proves the hatching of conspiracy amongst the accused is probable.

384. The prosecution has also examined PW-52 Amina Abbas Belim to prove the charge of conspiracy under section 120B of the Penal Code. According to this witness, she was dressed in a khakhi coloured saree and blouse, which was a uniform given to her by the company in which she was working. The witness has deposed that she had gone out in front of the Noorani Masjid and had seen the mob standing there. From the midst of the mob, a white car came from the direction of Natraj Hotel towards the Noorani Masjid. The white car came from the direction of the ice factory which is situated on the left side of the Noorani Masjid towards the Noorani Masjid. This white car halted near the masjid and Mayaben and her assistant got down. Mayaben was wearing a white saree and after both of them got down from the car, Mayaben started talking with the people in the mob. Mayaben was standing near the masjid and the people in the mob were coming near the masjid where Mayaben was standing, and she was gesturing with her hands to show the Muslim area. Within hearing distance, Mayaben told the mob that the masjid and the Muslim area should be destroyed. The witness has stated that as she was wearing khakhi clothes for attending her job, nobody recognized her as a Muslim woman and thinking that she was a police personnel, they were talking in her presence. The witness has stated that thereafter, the mob started pelting stones and vandalizing the houses. The people in the mob were wearing something like shorts, which were half pants and they had tied saffron bands around their heads. All these persons were raising slogans like, "Jay Shri Ram", and "the Godhra incident has to be avenged". The mob had started pelting stones near the Noorani Masjid and thereafter, the damage and destruction escalated. There were police personnel near the masjid. The witness has further deposed that the police got up and released tear gas at them and were shooting. Thereafter, she had seen that Mayaben had something like a pistol in her hand and she also was firing. After firing, Mayaben told the mob that they should continue and thereafter, she returned in the same car in which she had come.

385. The trial court, based upon the evidence of this witness, has arrived at the finding that the arrival and the active participation of accused No.37 added to the objects and intentions of the mob, which has added tremendous confidence in the mob. Accused No.37 came, talked with the mob and then the mob became violent. This proves provocation, instigation and/or abetment by accused No.37 to the mob. The disturbances started after arrival of accused No.37. The presence and participation of Guddu, accused No.37 and accused No.44 at the time of the morning incident stands proved beyond reasonable doubt. The witness proves that hatching conspiracy amongst the accused is probable.

386. A perusal of the reasoning given by the trial court reveals that according to the trial court, it can be safely inferred that accused No.37 being a VIP of the area and then current MLA, in the facts and circumstances of the case, either the witness may not dare to spell the name and role of accused No.37 in the offence and/or the police would not have dared to record such statement of the witness. The trial court has observed that even if it is believed that the witness was unable to overhear the instructions given by accused No.37 to the mob, in the facts and circumstances of the case, where before accused No.37 arrives, countless Hindus belonging to different Hindu Organizations with dress code revealing peculiar identity, shouting the slogans like "Jay Shri Ram" and other slogans, wearing saffron headbands, saffron mufflers etc. were present, is clearly suggesting that the Hindu mob was fully prepared.

387. The trial court has further observed that if accused No.37 would give any instructions, any direction, or any guideline to remain peaceful or not to do illegal acts or refrain from beating, killing, cutting or burning of Muslims as suggested by the defence to PW-104, then the tempo of the mob can apparently be inferred to be such wherein they would first of all attack such adviser even if such adviser was none other than the then present M.L.A. of the constituency, hence, the talk of accused No.37 with the mob was bound to be provoking, instigating and of the mood the mob had. The trial court has further observed that it is, therefore, just, proper, correct and suiting with the facts and circumstances of the case that accused No.37 has instigated and provoked the Hindus to do illegal act and that it can also be inferred from the conduct of the members of the mob, with whom accused No.37 had talked, which mob after her arrival had committed tremendous violent acts including taking lives of Muslims by burning them alive. The trial court was of the view that accused No.37 was the then current M.L.A., hence, it can be inferred that she must have ambition to go ahead in politics and she cannot leave the temptation of taking political mileage by being kingpin in the series of events that took place on that day. Thus, the entire findings of the trial court insofar as accused No.37 are concerned, are based upon inferences drawn by it without any basis whatsoever.

388. This court after appreciating the testimony of this witness has noticed that the statement of the witness was not recorded by the police at the relevant time in the year. After the riots, the witness appears to have shifted to Maharashtra and it was only six years after the incident that the witness travelled from Bhiwandi in Maharashtra to Ahmedabad for giving her statement before the SIT. As to how she came to know that her statement is required to be recorded is also not very clear. In her testimony the witness has referred to various incidents, which do not find any corroboration from the evidence on record or support from the testimonies of other witnesses. This witness claims to be roaming around freely in the area where throughout the day there was violence, ransacking and arson by Hindu mobs without being harmed, only because she was wearing a khaki uniform. The fact regarding her having put on a khaki uniform is also doubtful because whereas in her examination-in-chief she has stated that she had put on her uniform to go to her workplace, in her cross-examination it has been elicited that on the previous day, that is, 27th February, 2002 they were told that in view of the call for Gujarat Bandh they should not come on the 28th and hence, as rightly submitted by the learned counsel for the appellants, there was no reason for her to put on her uniform.

389. It is the case of the witness that after Mayaben and her assistant got down from the car; Mayaben was talking with the people in the mob. Mayaben was standing near the masjid and upon the people in the mob coming near, she gestured with her hands and showed the Muslim area and that she had heard her telling the mob to destroy the masjid and the Muslim area. According to the witness as she was wearing a khaki saree and blouse she was not identified as a Muslim and was taken to be police personnel, and hence, she (Mayaben) spoke in her presence. Thereafter the mob resorted to violence. She has also stated that she saw Mayaben firing from a pistol. Firstly, the fact regarding the witness wearing a khaki dress is doubtful in view of the contradiction brought out in her cross examination. Moreover, the witness has stated that she saw a truck full of gas cylinders being brought and cans of kerosene in the hands of the people in the mob and upon this being brought to the notice of the police by her, they had told her that it was their holiday and that they (the Muslims) had to die today. It may be noted that on the one hand, the witness says that she being in a khaki uniform, people thought she was a policewoman and on the other hand she says that the police had told her that they had to die today, which clearly belies the version given by the witness regarding her being in a khaki dress. Thus, the testimony of the witness is self contradictory. The entire story that she could stand close to Mayaben because she was wearing a khaki dress, therefore, does not appear to be credible.

390. The witness has stated that she has seen the whole family of the watchman of Mahavir Hall, in all four persons, being done to death by the mob and cut into pieces and thrown on the road, however, there is no evidence to corroborate her say. From the evidence coming on record, there is nothing to suggest that any person was killed on the national highway on the date of the incident. All incidents of killing are stated to have taken place inside the chawls, except in case of Abid where some witnesses say that he died due to bullet wounds in police firing and was burnt by the mob.

391. The witness also claims to have witnessed the killing of Vermaji Panwala. She also claims to have seen the mob looting her house. She further claims that Bipinbhai Autowala had climbed on his shop and was firing from there. Apart from the fact that this version does not find corroboration from any other witness, it is difficult to believe that Bipinbhai would fire from the terrace of Bipin Auto, inasmuch as from the testimonies of the witnesses it emerges that there were mobs of Hindus on both sides of the national highway, in which case it would be Hindus who would be injured in such firing. Her version of having made telephone calls to the police also does not inspire confidence. The witness also claims to have gone to Jawannagar and having seen that in the houses that were looted, there were ornaments and money which the S.R.P. jawans were putting in their pockets. She further claims to have seen Chharas taking away goats in rickshaws. The fact regarding use of rickshaw is totally contrary to the evidence which has come on record. Furthermore, the witness also claims to have seen a woman lying in a burnt condition asking for water. Thus, the witness claims to have seen multiple incidents during the entire day, however, none of this was disclosed by her at the relevant time and after a period of six years she has come all the way from Maharashtra and has narrated the same before the SIT. This witness has named accused No.37 Mayaben, her assistant (who as per the prosecution is accused No.62 Kirpalsingh), accused No.44 Bipinbhai, Guddu (deceased) and accused No.22 Suresh. Out of the accused named by her, she has identified accused No.37, she has identified accused No.44 Bipinbhai but has stated that she cannot remember his name at present and has thereafter identified accused No.38 as Mayaben's assistant and has not identified accused No.22 at all. Thus, the witness could not identify accused No.62 and 22, and has identified accused No.44 by his face and not by his name. Thus, the only accused whom she has fully identified is Mayaben Kodnani (A-37), who being a public figure, her photographs and posters would be easily accessible, moreover, in this case there is no other female accused of her age, and therefore, it is very easy for anyone to identify her. Insofar as accused No.62 Kirpalsingh is concerned, there is nothing on record to show as to how he is sought to be implicated as the witness has only referred to a person, who according to her was Mayaben's assistant, as having accompanied her, but nothing has been brought on record to show that accused No.62 is in fact Mayaben's assistant, nor has any test identification parade carried out to establish his identity. The witness, therefore, appears to have come up with a highly exaggerated version of the incident, that too, for the first time after six years. Considering the overall testimony of this witness she does not come across as a truthful or credible witness. Her entire testimony does not inspire any confidence and therefore, no part of her testimony can be relied upon to convict the accused named by her.

392. The next witness examined by the prosecution to prove the charge of conspiracy under section 120B of the Penal Code is PW-143 Dildar Umrao Saiyed. From the testimony of the witness as deposed before the court, briefly stated, the witness has stated that at around quarter to twelve, the Muslims were shouting "Mari nakhya" ("have been killed") and he climbed on the Jawannagar compound wall and saw the Muslims from Hussainnagar fleeing towards Jawannagar. At that time, he could see flames and smoke in Hussainnagar. The witness has thereafter stated that while he was standing near his Eicher vehicle near Panchvati Estate, Mysorewala had come in a jeep and parked his jeep near Panchvati Estate. Together with him, four to five policemen had also got down. After ten minutes, a white coloured Maruti car came from which their MLA Mayaben Kodnani, Bipin Panchal, Murli Sindhi and Guddu Chhara alighted. The mob followed the car. Thereafter, the door of the car was opened and swords were taken out and distributed. Bipin Panchal saw him and chased him, whereafter he fled and went to a Maratha's house. Thereafter, the mob tried to start his vehicle, but could not. They pushed the vehicle and broke the Jawannagar compound wall and thereafter, set the vehicle ablaze.

393. After appreciating the evidence of this witness, the trial court has come to the conclusion that by using the vehicle of this witness, Jawannagar wall was broken. The witness is an eyewitness to the noon occurrences wherein the houses of Muslims were burnt and gas cylinders were burst. The trial court has held that the witness has been threatened by accused No.2 to strike out names of accused No.2 and accused No.37. The active presence and participation of accused No.2, accused No.37, accused No.44, accused No.55 and deceased Guddu at the site has been proved beyond all reasonable doubts in the morning incident. The presence and participation of accused No.2, accused No.44 and accused No.55 stands proved in the evening occurrence. As accused No.37 was the leader and it is only after she came on that day the disturbances started, she needs to be held as kingpin. Accused No.37 and many other accused are held to have hatched the criminal conspiracy as mentioned in the charge.

394. The trial court, while appreciating the evidence of the witness, has observed that "It is true that in the examination-in-chief itself, the witness has not alleged against any accused as to who opened the car and who distributed the swords, but the fact remains that when the M.L.A. of the area is coming out from this car, she would not keep swords in the car and that too, number of swords which then somebody would be publicly distributing. It is probable that there may be distribution of some material or some other non-incriminating thing, but it cannot be believed that from the car in which M.L.A. is travelling, there may be stock of the swords being carried and then being distributed publicly. Upon strict scrutiny, what can be believed for sure for A-37 is, she did instigate others to commit crimes or to enter into criminal conspiracy with the co-accused to commit offences. All these activities can be done secretly and without exposing herself publicly, which in fact she did, as it also stands proved by other PW." The trial court has noted that the witness has mentioned the presence of Mr. Mysorewala and that in his presence, swords were distributed. However, the trial court was not ready to believe the public distribution of swords, that too, the stock being taken out from the car of accused No.37, and has found that this part of the testimony was not found safe to act upon. The trial court has further found that the current M.L.A. of the area, viz., accused No.37, talking with Shri Mysorewala on that day also seems very natural, he being the Senior P.I. of the police station, it is but natural that if the M.L.A. of the area would come at the spot, he would be talking to her, but then it is not crime.

395. Thus, the trial court has partly believed the testimony of the witness and partly disbelieved the testimony of this witness. While the trial court believes the witness when he says that Mayaben came in a white coloured Maruti car with Bipin Panchal, Murli Sindhi and Guddu Chhara and that ten minutes prior thereto, Mysorewala had come in a jeep together with four or five policemen, the mob followed the car, it disbelieves that the door of the car was opened and swords were taken out and distributed, and believes that thereafter the witness was chased by Bipin Panchal and he fled from there. Thus, the overt act attributed by the witness to Mayaben Kodnani is that she came in a car with three other accused and the mob followed the car. Thereafter, the door of the car was opened and the swords were taken out and distributed. The witness also refers to the presence of Shri Mysorewala at the spot.

396. The trial court while disbelieving the part where the witness says that the swords were distributed, still says that the active presence and participation of accused No.2, accused

No.37, accused No.44 and accused No.55 is proved in the morning incident beyond reasonable doubt.

397. From the evidence of the witness, the overt act attributed to the accused is that the swords were brought in the car and were distributed to the mob. Other than that, no other overt act is attributed to them. Therefore, if the act of distributing the swords is discarded, no other overt act has been attributed to the accused. Therefore, there would be no basis for the trial court to arrive at the conclusion regarding the presence and participation of the accused in the morning incident.

398. From the tenor of the judgment of the trial court, it appears that the trial court was too keen to give a clean chit to the police, despite the fact that the witnesses have duly implicated them. The trial court has chosen to accept the testimonies of the witnesses qua the accused, while discarding what is stated by the very same witnesses against the police. It may be noted that the trial court finds it very natural that Shri Mysorewala being a Senior P.I. of the police station would come to the spot where the M.L.A. of the area had come; however, it does not find anything unnatural about Mysorewala not deposing about such fact. It may be noted that not only Shri Mysorewala but several police officials were present at the scene of incident in the morning on that day. However, not a single police officer has mentioned about the presence of Mayaben Kodnani in the morning on the road on the day of the incident. It cannot be gainsaid that Mayaben Kodnani was a well known figure in the area and therefore, had she been present at the scene of offence, more particularly near the S.T.

Workshop, her presence would not have gone unnoticed by several other Muslims who were standing near the corner of the S.T. Workshop. According to the trial court, it is but natural that the police would not name a VIP in their statement or deposition. This conclusion of the trial court has no basis whatsoever, inasmuch as, for the police the law applies equally to all, be it a common man or a VIP. Therefore, if a VIP had in fact been present and had participated in the offence, there can be no excuse for the police not to name him/her. Moreover, if the trial court found there was nothing wrong in Shri Mysorewala coming to the spot where Mayaben had come, there was no reason for Shri Mysorewala to suppress such fact.

399. It may be noted that none of the witnesses whose statements were recorded in the year 2002 have mentioned the name of Mayaben as being present on the road and instigating the mob. All the witnesses who have named her have done so in the year 2008, after the SIT came to be constituted. While some such witnesses have stated that though they had named Mayaben, the police had not written down her name, the other witnesses who were present at the scene of incident, have neither named her nor have stated that the police had not recorded her name at the relevant time. It may be noted that the witnesses have stated that Mayaben came in a white Maruti Franti car together with other accused and alighted either at the S.T. Workshop or near the Noorani Masjid. On that day, there were hardly any vehicles moving on that road. Therefore, if a vehicle had come and Mayaben had indeed alighted from it, most of the witnesses present there would have noticed it. The fact that none of the other witnesses of the morning incident whose statements were recorded at the relevant time, have mentioned the presence of Mayaben in the morning incident, gives reason to doubt the subsequent versions of the witnesses which have come on record.

400. Apart from the above witnesses who have referred to the presence of accused No.37 and other accused, the trial court has also referred to the testimony of PW-112 Fatimabibi Mahammad Yusuf Shaikh. The trial court has observed that this witness supports the prosecution case of conspiracy amongst the accused to commit the crime as she says in paragraph 6 that the mob came with deadly weapons and with arrangement of diesel, petrol, etc. The trial court has further observed that numerous occurrence witnesses, witnesses who involve dead accused in the crime, and in fact, out of a total of 173 witnesses about 150 witnesses very clearly and firmly bring on record the fact about the presence and participation of the accused with deadly weapons on the day. According to the trial court, this fact is possible only if there is a meeting of mind, agreement, pre-meditation, pre-concert and preparation amongst the accused and that when so many accused behaved in a similar manner at similar site and time, it itself speaks about the conspiracy at a large level. The trial court has, accordingly, held that the conspiracy having been hatched amongst the accused stands proved. The trial court has also referred to the testimony of PW-219 and other witnesses who had stated that there was tremendous hue and cry on the road in connection with the tragedy of the Godhra carnage at about 9:00 or 9:30 p.m. near Natraj Hotel, the people had assembled and were shouting slogans of Jay Shri Ram and were screaming and burning the tyres, cars, cabins, dwelling houses etc. According to the trial court, there was ample material on record to draw the inference of existence of conspiracy on record. The trial court was of the view that this attitude shows that the accused and others had made up their minds to do away, destroy and damage Muslims, they were apparently charged and provoked as their action so speaks and even this has to be treated as preparation and pre-concert. The witnesses proved hatching of conspiracy amongst the accused.

401. The trial court has thereafter taken support of certain complaints which formed the record of "C" summary of the learned Metropolitan Magistrate. The trial court has referred to a complaint tagged on page 2 of Exhibit-1776/1 filed by one Shri Rahim Shaikh. The court has further referred to the contents of the complaint of the year 2002 and was of the view that the same pointed to the existence of criminal conspiracy. In this regard, it may be pertinent to note that it is settled legal position that any documentary evidence on record has to be duly proved in accordance with law. The document which has been referred to by the trial court at Exhibit-1776/1 has not been proved by any witness. Shri Rahim Shaikh has not been examined as a witness. Under the circumstances, in the absence of such document having been proved, the trial court was not justified in referring to it, much less, relying upon it for the purpose of establishing the charge of criminal conspiracy. Based upon such complaint, the trial court has observed that the complaint made in black and white shows a very strong circumstance of pre-meditated, pre-planned commission of offence, wherein all the accused were conspirators and/or co-conspirators. Thus, the trial court, while recording its findings, has also placed reliance upon inadmissible evidence.

402. The trial court has also referred to the first information report Exhibit-1773, lodged by P.S.I. Shri Solanki. Based upon the contents of the FIR, the trial court has observed that it was alleged there that active members of B.J.P. were present in the mobs and were instigating the mobs. The trial court was of the opinion that in any area, normally none can be more active leader than the M.P. or M.L.A. It is not only undisputed but even admitted fact that accused No.37 is the M.L.A. of B.J.P., the then ruling party, from Naroda Constituency, hence, it is clear that she hails from and she is on the date of occurrence in B.J.P. Now, if she cannot be termed to be active leader of B.J.P., that too in Naroda Constituency, then who else can be called the leader of B.J.P. in that area. It can, therefore, be inferred that accused No.37 was present at the site. The police officer has very specifically stated that the active leaders were instigating the mobs. Therefore, it can be safely inferred that accused No.37 was instigating the mob, that too in the morning hours, at the site of offence, but the police has made conscious efforts to screen her presence.

403. The above findings recorded by the trial court are to say the least, shocking. The trial court has read into a complaint what has not been stated by the complainant. The P.S.I., Shri Solanki has been examined by the prosecution and cross-examined by the defence. The trial court itself has examined some of the police officers and put questions to them. If the trial court was under the impression that when the complainant says the active leaders of B.J.P. in his complaint, it would also include accused No.37 Mayaben Kodnani, nothing prevented it from putting such questions to the witness. One fails to understand as to how the trial court could stretch the matter to this extent by reading into the first information report, something which is not stated therein. This clearly indicates the mindset of the trial court which has first assumed the guilt of accused No.37 Mayaben Kodnani and come to the conclusion that she is the kingpin, and has thereafter sought to find reasons to support such belief.

404. According to the trial court, when the occurrence had flared up and resulted into so many casualties, no policeman would involve the M.L.A. of the area and even if the police desire to involve, the police normally would not be successful in doing so. The trial court has further stated "that the attempt is not to say that every police officer is influenced by the politicians, but it is not impossible as well. The trial court has observed that no police officer would be aware on the date of writing the complaint that there would be any order for the further investigation and that too, by Special Investigating Team. The fact remains that whatever stand once the police has taken, that too in the complaint itself, the police has no option, but to maintain the same stand. It is different that the police are projecting five persons named in the first information report as being present in the mob. In the peculiar facts and circumstances, since the name of biggest leaders, viz. accused No.37 was not possible to be written down in the complaint, the names of others have been written."

405. With due respect to the trial court, in the opinion of this court, there is no basis for such findings recorded by the trial court, viz., that though accused No.37 was present, instead of her name, the names of others have been written. It is settled legal position that in a criminal trial, the trial court is required to base its findings upon an appreciation of the evidence on record and the guilt of the accused is required to be based upon substantive evidence and not on inferences. However, in the present case, the trial court has stressed upon inferences rather than the substantive evidence for the purpose of holding accused No.37 guilty for the offence of criminal conspiracy under section 120B of the Penal Code.

406. In the findings of conspiracy, the trial court has observed that “the witnesses have proved beyond reasonable doubt that A-37 was present at the site of offence near Noorani Masjid, S.T. Workshop, Opposite Noorani Masjid and Jawannagar Khada close by to Panchwati Estate, Uday Gas Agency etc. in the morning. She seems to have visited the site twice. All these places are extremely close by to one another”. “It is proved that A-37 had even visited in the evening when she was near the S.T. Workshop along with A-44 which is supported by extra judicial confession of the co-accused about the visit of A-37 in the evening also. The presence of co-accused like A-41, A-44, A-45, etc. is also on record”. Thus, the trial court has relied upon the extra-judicial confession of the co-accused for the purpose of coming to the conclusion that accused No.37 was present at the scene of offence in the evening hours also.

407. The trial court has observed that “the minutes produced by A-37 of the proceedings of the Legislative Assembly of Gujarat State read with the deposition of PW-310 and upon perusal of Exhibit-2190 and more particularly, the presence register wherein A-37 has signed, it becomes clear that on the day of the incident, she had attended the Legislative Assembly, but then the Legislative Assembly has worked on that day from 8:30 a.m. to 8:40 a.m. only". The trial court has held that it stands proved that accused No.37 was at the Legislative Assembly, viz., at Gandhinagar till 8:40 a.m.

408. The trial court has further observed that "there is no cogent, convincing or reliable evidence to conclude that the presence of A-37 was not at the site in the morning hours, as has been testified by the witnesses. Even no reasonable doubt is created against the versions of the witnesses who have stated that A-37 was at the site in the morning. As comes up in sting operation, she was even present in the evening. The evidence speaks of the presence of A-37 at the site from about 9:30 onwards and from 11:45 a.m. onwards, therefore, her presence becomes more credible than the defence put up regarding absence of A-37".

409. The trial court has expressed the view that "another important aspect which is required to be kept in mind is that the accused being M.L.A. of the Naroda Constituency and since it was a tense day and when there was call for bandh by Vishwa Hindu Parishad, A-37 would obviously be inclined first of all to reach her constituency which is quite natural tendency of any person in political life. Even the facts and circumstances of the case are strong and capable enough from which only one inference can be drawn that the first priority of A-37 must be to reach Naroda after the Assembly was over". The trial court has further observed that "as already proved beyond reasonable doubt, there was a large crowd of Hindus who had weapons in their hands who were very much excited and angry and were out to settle the accounts with Muslims and to do away the Muslims. Keeping in mind the above situation which is hard reality, it cannot be believed that the leader of the area, viz., elected M.L.A. of the area would address the gathering otherwise than the mood of the mob. The mood of the mobs would be such that first of all, such mob would attack her if she preaches or advises not to do illegal acts, which has not happened. This shows that she has not played any positive role of pacifying agent as suggested to PW-104. Secondly, the temptation to take political mileage from such situation can easily be inferred qua A-37 and in such situation and in the facts and circumstances of the case, and when she was found amongst the Hindus and addressing the Hindus, the said words cannot be anything else, but provocation and instigation to Hindus to attack the Muslims". The trial court was also of the view that "it cannot even remotely be perceived that the M.L.A. of the Constituency would talk to majority (Hindus) in the atmosphere of the day to pacify as because of that, they would be displeased".

410. Thus, from the reasoning adopted by the trial court, insofar as accused No.37 Mayaben Kodnani is concerned, she is in a no win situation. According to the trial court, accused No.37 being the M.L.A. of the area, her first priority on a day like this, when there was a call for bandh, would be to reach her constituency; once she comes to the constituency, she would address the gathering according to the mood of the crowd; having regard to the mood of the mob on that day, this accused could not have tried to pacify them and therefore, it has to be inferred that she was instigating them. If this reasoning of the trial court is taken to its logical end, every M.L.A. of any area where riots have erupted would be guilty of the charge even if no witness has implicated him as accused inasmuch as according to the trial court, the concerned M.L.A. has to be present at the spot; and has to address the mob in accordance with its mood; which ultimately is an offence. It is, therefore, not possible to agree with the view adopted by the trial court which is based merely upon inferences, conjectures and surmises, and not on substantive evidence led by the witnesses.

411. Insofar as reliance placed by the trial court on the extra-judicial confession of a co-accused for coming to the conclusion that accused No.37 Mayaben Kodnani was present at the scene of offence in the morning as well as evening hours is concerned, on behalf of the appellants it has been contended that the evidence of sting is not admissible for coming to the conclusion that there was a conspiracy under section 10 of the Evidence Act as the same has been done long after the conspiracy was over. It was pointed out that the trial court, in Chapter II, Part-3, at page 750, has referred to a sting operation carried out by a reporter, viz. Shri Ashish Khetan of Tehelka Magazine on accused No. 18, 21 and 22, to submit that the said evidence of sting operation which was conducted in the year 2007, is not admissible for coming to the conclusion of conspiracy under section 10 of the Evidence Act, as the same has been done long after, that is, more than five and half years, after the conspiracy was over. It was submitted that the sting operation was carried out in the year 2007, whereas, even if it is assumed, without admitting, that there was conspiracy, the same has come to an end on 28.2.2002 in the evening. According to the learned counsel, in State (NCT of Delhi) v. Navjot Sandhu (supra), the Supreme Court of India is very clear on this aspect as to when the provisions of section 10 of the Evidence Act would apply to 'confession'. It was further submitted that under section 30 of the Evidence Act, if a confession made by one of such persons affecting himself and some other of such persons is proved, the court may take into consideration such confession as against such other person as well as against the person who makes such confession when more persons than one are tried jointly for the same offence. Thus, it is apparent from this provision of Evidence Act, the court can only take into consideration the confession of co-accused implicating other accused persons. It was further submitted that, as per the law laid down by the Supreme Court of India, extra-judicial confession is very weak piece of evidence and it cannot be used as substantive evidence against the co-accused. The court can rely upon the substantive evidence against the accused on which the court can base its conclusion of guilt and then only the confession of co-accused can be used as a corroborative evidence to lend assurance to the finding of guilty recorded by the trial court on substantive evidence.

412. At this juncture, it may be apposite to refer to the decision of the Supreme Court in Yakub Abdul Razak Memon v. State of Maharashtra, (2013) 13 SCC 1, wherein it has been held thus:

“146. Section 10 of the Evidence Act further provides a unique and special rule of evidence to be followed in cases of conspiracy. Section 10 reads as under:

“10. Things said or done by conspirator in reference to common design.—Where there is reasonable ground to believe that two or more persons have conspired together to commit an offence or an actionable wrong, anything said, done or written by any one of such persons in reference to their common intention, after the time when such intention was first entertained by any one of them, is a relevant fact as against each of the persons believed to be so conspiring, as well for the purpose of proving the existence of the conspiracy as for the purpose of showing that any such person was a party to it.

Illustration

Reasonable ground exists for believing that A has joined in a conspiracy to wage war against the Government of India.

The facts that B procured arms in Europe for the purpose of the conspiracy, C collected money in Calcutta for a like object, D persuaded persons to join the conspiracy in Bombay, E published writings advocating the object in view at Agra, and F transmitted from Delhi to G at Kabul the money which C had collected at Calcutta, and the contents of a letter written by H giving an account of the conspiracy, are each relevant, both to prove the existence of the conspiracy, and to prove A's complicity in it, although he may have been ignorant of all of them, and although the persons by whom they were done were strangers to him, and although they may have taken place before he joined the conspiracy or after he left it.”

147. It is to be seen that there are three conditions in Section 10. One is, before utilising the section for admitting certain statements of the co-accused from a confession, there should be a reasonable ground to believe that two or more persons have conspired together to commit an offence or an actionable wrong. According to this section, only when this condition is satisfied in a given case, then only the question of utilising the statement of an accused against the co-accused can be taken into consideration. Thus, as per Section 10, the following principles are agreed upon unanimously:

147.1. There shall be prima facie evidence affording a reasonable ground for the court to believe that two or more persons were part of a conspiracy to commit a wrongful act or offence;

147.2. Once this condition was fulfilled, anything said, done or written by any of its members, in reference to their common intention, will be considered as evidence against other co-conspirators;

147.3. This fact would be evidence for the purpose of existence of a conspiracy and that the persons were a part of such conspiracy.

148. This Court, in Nalini, (1999) 5 SCC 253, observed as under:

148.1. Per Thomas, J. The theory of agency, according to him, is the basic principle which underlines Section 10 of the Evidence Act. He says that the first condition for application of Section 10 is "reasonable ground to believe" that the conspirators have conspired together based on prima facie evidence. If this condition is fulfilled, anything said by any of the conspirators becomes substantive evidence for the purpose of corroboration if the statement is in reference to their common intention. (This is much wider than its English counterpart which uses the expression "in furtherance of the common object".) The arrest of a conspirator will not cut off his connection with the conspiracy.

148.2. Per Wadhwa, J. (concurring)

He was of the opinion that before considering the principle of Section 10 and applying it to the facts and circumstances, it is necessary to ascertain the period of conspiracy because any statement made before or after the conspiracy is thatched will not be admissible under the aforesaid section. It would also be relevant against a person who entered or left the time-frame during the existence of the conspiracy."

413. Reference may also be made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Mohd. Khalid v. State of W.B., (2002) 7 SCC 334, wherein it was held thus:

"31. A confessional statement is not admissible unless it is made to the Magistrate under Section 25 of the Evidence Act. The requirement of Section 30 of the Evidence Act is that before it is made to operate against the co-accused the confession should be strictly established. In other words, what must be before the court should be a confession proper and not a mere circumstance or an information which could be an incriminating one. Secondly, it being the confession of the maker, it is not to be treated as evidence within the meaning of Section 3 of the Evidence Act against the non-maker co-accused and lastly, its use depends on finding other evidence so as to connect the co-accused with the crime and that too as a corroborative piece. It is only when the other evidence tendered against the co-accused points to his guilt then the confession duly proved could be used against such co-accused if it appears to effect (sic) him as lending support or assurance to such other evidence. To attract the provisions of Section 30, it should for all purposes be a confession, that is a statement containing an admission of guilt and not merely a statement raising the inference with regard to such a guilt. The evidence of the co-accused cannot be considered under Section 30 of the Evidence Act, where he was not tried jointly with the accused and where he did not make a statement incriminating himself along with the accused. As noted above, the confession of a co-accused does not come within the definition of evidence contained in Section 3 of the Evidence Act. It is not required to be given on oath, nor in the presence of the accused, and it cannot be tested by cross-examination. It is only when a person admits guilt to the fullest extent, and exposes himself to the pains and penalties provided for his guilt, there is a guarantee for his truth. The legislature provides that his statement may be considered against his fellow accused charged with the same crime. The test is to see whether it is sufficient by itself to justify the conviction of the person making it of the offence for which he is being jointly tried with the other person or persons against whom it is tendered. The proper way to approach a case of this kind is, first to marshal the evidence against the accused excluding the confession altogether from consideration and see whether if it is believed, a conviction could safely be based on it. If it is capable of belief independently of the confession, then of course it is not necessary to call the confession in aid. But cases may arise where the Judge is not prepared to act on the other evidence as it stands even though, if believed, it would be sufficient to sustain a conviction. In such an event the Judge may call in aid the confession and use it to lend assurance to the other evidence. This position has been clearly explained by this Court in Kashmira Singh v. State of M.P., AIR 1952 SC 159. The exact scope of Section 30 was discussed by the Privy Council in the case of Bhuboni Sahu v. R., (1949) 50 Cri.L.J. 872. The relevant extract from the said decision which has become locus classicus reads as follows:

Section 30 applies to confessions, and not to statements which do not admit the guilt of the confessing party. ... But a confession of a co-accused is obviously evidence of a very weak type. ... It is a much weaker type of evidence than the evidence of an approver which is not subject to any of those infirmities. Section 30, however, provides that the court may take the confession into consideration and thereby, no doubt, makes it evidence on which the court may act; but the section does not say that the confession is to amount to proof. Clearly there must be other evidence. The confession is only one element in the consideration of all the facts proved in the case; it can be put into the scale and weighed with the other evidence. The confession of a co-accused can be used only in support of other evidence and cannot be made the foundation of a conviction.

32. Kashmira Singh (supra) principles were noted with approval by a Constitution Bench of this Court in Haricharan Kurmi v. State of Bihar, AIR 1964 SC 1184. It was noted that the basis on which Section 30 operates is that if a person makes a confession implicating himself, that may suggest that the maker of the confession is speaking the truth. Normally, if a statement made by an accused person is found to be voluntary and it amounts to a confession in the sense that it implicates the maker, it is not likely that the maker would implicate himself untruly. So Section 30 provides that such a confession may be taken into consideration even against the co-accused who is being tried along with the maker of the confession. It is significant, however, that like other evidence which is produced before the court, it is not obligatory on the court to take the confession into account. When evidence as defined by the Evidence Act is produced before the court, it is the duty of the court to consider that evidence. What weight should be attached to such evidence is a matter in the discretion of the court. But the court cannot say in respect of such evidence that it will just not take that evidence into account. Such an approach can, however, be adopted by the court in dealing with a confession because Section 30 merely enables the court to take the confession into account. Where, however, the court takes it into confidence, it cannot be faulted. The principle is that the court cannot start with confession of a co-accused person; it must begin with other evidence adduced by the prosecution and after it has formed its opinion with regard to the quality and effect of the said evidences, then it is permissible to turn to the confession in order to receive assurance to the conclusion of guilt which the judicial mind is about to reach on some other evidence. That is the true effect of the provision contained in Section 30. We may note that great stress was laid down on the so-called retraction of the makers of the confession. Apart from the fact that the same was made after about two years of the confession, PWs 81 and 82 have stated in court as to the procedures followed by them, while recording the confession. The evidence clearly establishes that the confessions were true and voluntary. That was not the result of any tutoring, compulsion or pressurization. As was observed by this Court in Shankaria v. State of Rajasthan, (1978) 3 SCC 435, the court is to apply a double test for deciding the acceptability of a confession i.e. (i) whether the confession was perfectly voluntary, and (ii) if so, whether it is true and trustworthy. Satisfaction of the first test is a sine qua non for its admissibility in evidence. If the confession appears to the court to have been caused by any inducement, threat or promise, such as mentioned in Section 24 of the Evidence Act, it must be excluded and rejected brevi manu. If the first test is satisfied, the court must before acting upon the confession reach the finding that what is stated therein is true and reliable. The Judicial Magistrate, PWs 81 and 82 have followed the requisite procedure. It is relevant to further note that complaint was lodged before the Magistrate before his recording of the confessional statement of accused Md. Gulzar. The complaint was just filed in court and it was not moved. The name of the lawyer filing the complaint could not be ascertained either. This fact has been noted by the Designated Court.

33. In view of what we have said about the confessional statement it is not necessary to go into the question as to whether the statement recorded under Section 164 of the Code has to be given greater credence even if the confessional statement has not been recorded under Section 15 of the TADA Act. However, we find substance in the stand of learned counsel for the accused-appellants that Section 10 of the Evidence Act which is an exception to the general rule while permitting the statement made by one conspirator to be admissible as against another conspirator restricts it to the statement made during the period when the agency subsisted. In State of Gujarat v. Mohd. Atik, (1998) 4 SCC 351, it was held that the principle is no longer res integra that any statement made by an accused after his arrest, whether as a confession or otherwise, cannot fall within the ambit of Section 10 of the Evidence Act. Once the common intention ceased to exist, any statement made by a former conspirator thereafter cannot be regarded as one made in reference to their common intention. In other words, the post-arrest statement made to a police officer, whether it is a confession or otherwise touching his involvement in the conspiracy, would not fall within the ambit of Section 10 of the Evidence Act.

34. The first condition which is almost the opening lock of that provision is the existence of “reasonable ground to believe” that the conspirators have conspired together. This condition will be satisfied even when there is some prima facie evidence to show that there was such a criminal conspiracy. If the aforesaid preliminary condition is fulfilled then anything said by one of the conspirators becomes substantive evidence against the other, provided that should have been a statement “in reference to their common intention”. Under the corresponding provision in the English law the expression used is “in furtherance of the common object”. No doubt, the words “in reference to their common intention” are wider than the words used in English law (vide Sardar Sardul Singh Caveeshar v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1957 SC 747).

35. But the contention that any statement of a conspirator, whatever be the extent of time, would gain admissibility under Section 10 if it was made “in reference” to the common intention, is too broad a proposition for acceptance. We cannot overlook that the basic principle which underlies Section 10 of the Evidence

Act is the theory of agency. Every conspirator is an agent of his associate in carrying out the object of the conspiracy. Section 10, which is an exception to the general rule, while permitting the statement made by one conspirator to be admissible as against another conspirator restricts it to the statement made during the period when the agency subsisted. Once it is shown that a person became snapped out of the conspiracy, any statement made subsequent thereto cannot be used as against the other conspirators under Section 10.

36. Way back in 1940, the Privy Council had considered this aspect and Lord Wright, speaking for Viscount Maugham and Sir George Rankin in Mirza Akbar v. King-Emperor, AIR 1940 PC 176, had stated the legal position thus:

“[T]he words ‘common intention’ signify a common intention existing at the time when the thing was said, done or written by the one of them. Things said, done or written while the conspiracy was on foot are relevant as evidence of the common intention, once reasonable ground has been shown to believe in its existence. But it would be a very different matter to hold that any narrative or statement or confession made to a third party after the common intention or conspiracy was no longer operating and had ceased to exist is admissible against the other party.”

37. Intention is the volition of mind immediately preceding the act while the object is the end to which effect is directed, the thing aimed at and that which one endeavours to attain and carry on. Intention implies the resolution of the mind while the object means the purpose for which the resolution was made.

38. In Bhagwan Swarup case, AIR 1965 SC 682, it was observed that the expression “in reference to their common intention” is wider than the words “in furtherance of the common intention” and this is very comprehensive and it appears to have been designedly used to give it a wider scope than the words “in furtherance of” in the English law. But, once the common intention ceased to exist any statement made by a former conspirator thereafter cannot be regarded as one made “in reference to the common intention”. Therefore, a post-arrest statement made to the police officer was held to be beyond the ambit of Section 10 of the Evidence Act.

39. In Sardul Singh Caveeshar v. State of Bombay, AIR 1957 SC 747, it was held:

The principle underlying the reception of evidence under Section 10 of the Evidence Act of the statements, acts and writings of one co-conspirator as against the other is on the theory of agency. The rule in Section 10 of the Evidence Act, confines that principle of agency in criminal matters to the acts of the co-conspirator within the period during which it can be said that the acts were 'in reference to their common intention' that is to say 'things said, done or written, while the conspiracy was on foot' and 'in carrying out the conspiracy'. It would seem to follow that where, the charge specified the period of conspiracy, evidence of acts of co-conspirators outside the period is not receivable in evidence.

(i) In a given case, however, if the object of conspiracy has not been achieved and there is still agreement to do the illegal act, the offence of a criminal conspiracy continues and Section 10 of the Evidence Act applies. In other words, it cannot be said to be a rule of universal application. The evidence in each case has to be tested and the conclusions arrived at. In the present case, the prosecution has not led any evidence to show that any particular accused continued to be a member of the conspiracy after his arrest. Similar view was expressed by this Court in State v. Nalini, (1999)5 SCC 253."

414. Thus, what has been laid down in the above decisions is that the basic principle which underlies section 10 of the Evidence Act is the theory of agency. Every conspirator is an agent of his associate in carrying out the object of the conspiracy. Section 10, which is an exception to the general rule, while permitting the statement made by one conspirator to be admissible as against another conspirator, restricts it to the statement made during the period when the agency subsisted. Once it is shown that a person became snapped out of the conspiracy, any statement made subsequent thereto cannot be used as against the other conspirators under section 10. In other words the rule in section 10 of the Evidence Act, confines that principle of agency in criminal matters to the acts of the co-conspirator within the period during which it can be said that the acts were 'in reference to their common intention' that is to say 'things said, done or written, while the conspiracy was on foot' and 'in carrying out the conspiracy'. Therefore, where, the charge specified the period of conspiracy, evidence of acts of co-conspirators outside the period is not receivable in evidence.

415. In the facts of the present case, the charge relates to the acts committed on 28th February 2002, whereas the statement of the co-accused made during the course of the sting operation has been recorded in the year 2007, much after the period of conspiracy. Therefore, in view of the provisions of section 10 of the Evidence Act, the extra-judicial confession made by the co-accused is not admissible in evidence qua those accused and would be restricted to the concerned accused. The trial court has failed to consider this legal aspect while placing reliance upon on the extra-judicial confession of a co-accused made during the course of the sting operation for coming to the conclusion that accused No.37 Mayaben Kodnani was present at the scene of offence in the morning as well as evening hours and holding that a conspiracy had been hatched by accused No.37 and other co-accused who were not part of the sting operation.

416. PRINCIPLES: Proceeding to the charge of criminal conspiracy under section 120B of the Indian Penal Code, the principles laid down in the above cited decisions may be reiterated thus:

- Conspiracy requires an act, that is, actus reus and an accompanying mental state that is mens rea. Whereas the agreement constitutes the act, the intention to achieve the unlawful objectives of the agreement comprises the required mental state.
- In conspiracy prosecutions, any declaration by one conspirator made in furtherance of a conspiracy and during its pendency, is admissible against each co-conspirator. Conspirators are liable on an agency theory by the statements of co-conspirators, just as they are for the overt acts and crimes committed by their confreres.
- For proving a charge of conspiracy, it is not necessary that all the conspirators know each and every detail of the conspiracy so long as they are co-participants in the main object of conspiracy. It is also not necessary that all the conspirators should participate from the inception of conspiracy to its end. If there is unity of object or purpose, all participating at different stages of the crime will be guilty of conspiracy.
- In criminal trials, on a charge of conspiracy evidence not admissible under Section 10 of the Evidence Act as proof of the two issues to which it relates viz. of the existence of conspiracy and of the fact of any particular person being a party to that conspiracy, is not admissible at all. What is sought to be admitted in such a case is, something said, or done, or written by any one of the co-conspirators behind the backs of the others as being in law attributable to the others and what is sought to be proved by such evidence taken by itself is the existence of the conspiracy as between the alleged conspirators and the fact that a particular person was a party to the conspiracy.

- There must be a meeting of minds in the doing of the illegal act or the doing of a legal act by illegal means. If in the furtherance of the conspiracy certain persons are induced to do an unlawful act without the knowledge of the conspiracy or the plot they cannot be held to be conspirators, though they may be guilty of an offence pertaining to the specific unlawful act. The offence of conspiracy is complete when two or more conspirators have agreed to do or cause to be done an act which is itself an offence, in which case no overt act need be established. It is also clear that an agreement to do an illegal act which amounts to a conspiracy will continue as long as the members of the conspiracy remain in agreement and as long as they are acting in accord and in furtherance of the object for which they entered into the agreement.

- A conspiracy ordinarily is hatched in secrecy. The court for the purpose of arriving at a finding as to whether the said offence has been committed or not may take into consideration the circumstantial evidence. While however doing so, it must be borne in mind that meeting of the mind is essential; mere knowledge or discussion would not be sufficient.

- It is manifest that the meeting of minds of two or more persons for doing an illegal act or an act by illegal means is sine qua non of the criminal conspiracy but it may not be possible to prove the agreement between them by direct proof. Nevertheless, existence of the conspiracy and its objective can be inferred from the surrounding circumstances and the conduct of the accused. But the incriminating circumstances must form a chain of events from which a conclusion about the guilt of the accused could be drawn.

- An offence of conspiracy cannot be deemed to have been established on mere suspicion and surmises or inferences which are not supported by cogent evidence.

- The essence of criminal conspiracy is an agreement to do an illegal act and such an agreement can be proved either by direct evidence or by circumstantial evidence or by both and it is a matter of common experience that direct evidence to prove conspiracy is rarely available. Therefore the circumstances proved before, during and after the occurrence have to be considered to decide about the complicity of the accused. But if those circumstances are compatible also with the innocence of the accused persons then it cannot be held that the prosecution has successfully established its case. Even if some acts are proved to have been committed it must be clear that they were so committed in pursuance of an agreement made between the accused who were parties to the alleged conspiracy. Inferences from such proved circumstances regarding the guilt may be drawn only when such circumstances are incapable of any other reasonable explanation.

- Proof or otherwise of such conspiracy is a matter of inference and the court in drawing such an inference must consider whether the basic facts i.e. circumstances from which the inference is to be drawn have been proved beyond all reasonable doubt, and thereafter, whether from such proved and established circumstances no other conclusion except that the accused had agreed to commit an offence can be drawn.
- Conspiracy is a clandestine activity. Persons generally do not form illegal covenants openly. In the interests of security, a person may carry out his part of a conspiracy without even being informed of the identity of his co-conspirators. Since an agreement of this kind can rarely be shown by direct proof, it must be inferred from circumstantial evidence of cooperation between the accused. What people do is, of course, evidence of what lies in their minds. To convict a person of conspiracy, the prosecution must show that he agreed with others that together they would accomplish the unlawful object of the conspiracy.
- So far as the mental state is concerned, two elements required by conspiracy are the intent to agree and the intent to promote the unlawful objective of the conspiracy. It is the intention to promote a crime that lends conspiracy its criminal cast.

- Generally, a conspiracy is hatched in secrecy and it may be difficult to adduce direct evidence of the same. The prosecution will often rely on evidence of acts of various parties to infer that they were done in reference to their common intention. The prosecution will also more often rely upon circumstantial evidence. The conspiracy can be undoubtedly proved by such evidence direct or circumstantial. But the court must enquire whether the two persons are independently pursuing the same end or they have come together in the pursuit of the unlawful object. The former does not render them conspirators, but the latter does. It is, however, essential that the offence of conspiracy requires some kind of physical manifestation of agreement.
- The relative acts or conduct of the parties must be conscientious and clear to mark their concurrence as to what should be done. The concurrence cannot be inferred by a group of irrelevant facts artfully arranged so as to give an appearance of coherence. The innocuous, innocent or inadvertent events and incidents should not enter the judicial verdict.
- To attract the applicability of section 120-B it has to be proved that all the accused had the intention and they had agreed to commit the crime.
- Prosecution has to produce evidence not only to show that each of the accused has knowledge of the object of conspiracy but also of the agreement. In the charge of conspiracy the court has to guard itself against the danger of unfairness to the accused. Introduction of evidence against some may result in the conviction of all, which is to be avoided. By means of evidence in conspiracy, which is otherwise inadmissible in the trial of any other substantive offence prosecution tries to implicate the accused not only in the conspiracy itself but also in the substantive crime of the alleged conspirators. There is always difficulty in tracing the precise contribution of each member of the conspiracy but then there has to be cogent and convincing evidence against each one of the accused charged with the offence of conspiracy.

- It is difficult to support the charge of conspiracy with direct evidence in every case but if the prosecution relies upon circumstantial evidence, a clear link has to be established and the chain has to be completed, otherwise it would be indeed hazardous to accept a part of the link as a complete one and on the basis of such incomplete evidence, the allegation of conspiracy cannot be accepted.

417. In brief, to establish the charge of conspiracy the prosecution has to establish that there was a meeting of minds among the co-conspirators. There may not be any direct evidence of such meeting of minds; nevertheless, the existence of conspiracy can be inferred from surrounding circumstances and the conduct of the accused. But the incriminating circumstances must form a chain of events from which the conclusion of the guilt of the accused can be drawn. If the prosecution relies upon circumstantial evidence, a clear link has to be established and the chain has to be completed. The circumstances proved before, during and after the occurrence have to be considered to decide about the complicity of an accused. An offence of conspiracy cannot be deemed to have been established on mere suspicion and surmises or inferences which are not supported by any cogent evidence. To convict a person of conspiracy, the prosecution must show that he agreed with others that together they would accomplish the unlawful object of the conspiracy. It is essential that the offence of conspiracy requires some kind of physical manifestation of agreement.

418. The evidence on record is required to be evaluated in the light of the above principles.

419. Considering the evidence adduced by the prosecution, if one considers the testimonies of the above referred eleven witnesses, all that they have mentioned is the presence and participation of the accused. From the testimonies of none of the witnesses can one discern any meeting of minds amongst the accused or pre-meditation and pre-concert. Apart from the fact that this kind of evidence has come on record after a considerable delay of six years, even assuming that the versions given by the witnesses are true and correct, all that it shows is that the accused were part of the mob and were leading the mobs. One of the witnesses has referred to swords having been brought in a vehicle and having been distributed at the instance of accused No.37, which part of the evidence has not been accepted by the trial court on the ground that it was not possible for the accused to have distributed swords in this manner in the gaze of the public. From the circumstances referred to by the witnesses in their testimonies, there is nothing to infer a meeting of minds among any of the accused or any pre-planning. As rightly submitted by the learned counsel for the appellants, in view of the incident of burning a coach at Godhra that had taken place on the previous day, there were incidents of rioting all over Gujarat and the public had come out spontaneously to ventilate their anger. Therefore, insofar as the accused persons other than those on whom the sting operation was conducted are concerned, the chain of circumstances has not been established to prove that there was meeting of minds between the accused and that they had planned in advance to commit any illegal act.

420. Insofar as accused No.37 is concerned, even if the evidence of the witnesses is taken at face value, at best her presence at the scene of offence can be said to have been established and she can be stated to have instigated the accused in the commission of the offences. However, from no part of the evidence of the witnesses can it be culled out that there was any meeting of minds between accused No.37 and any other co-accused. Insofar as the presence of accused No.37 at the scene of offence is concerned all the eleven witnesses have given different versions showing her presence at different spots at more or less the same spot. (i) PW 104 Mohammadsalim Mohammadhussain Shaikh says that after 9:00 to 9:30, first a police jeep came near the S.T. Workshop gate, followed by Kishan Korani, Manoj Videowala and Murli Sindhi and after a while a white Maruti Franti car came in which he saw MLA Mayaben Kodnani. She spoke to the above three accused and the police in an aggressive tone and all of them gestured to the mob which had run away and called the mob back, after which Mayaben spoke to the mob in an aggressive tone and went back in the same car that she had come. Whereas (ii) PW 136 Basirkhan Nanhekan Pathan speaks about Mayaben coming in a white car near a police vehicle which was parked near the S.T. Workshop and talking to the police after which the police fired at the Muslims. (iii) PW 176 Zulekhabanu Sardarahemad Sarmuddin Chaudhary at the end of her examination-in-chief has stated that in the mob which she saw between 9:00 to 9:45, she had seen Mayaben Kodnani. Nothing has been stated about the place where she saw her nor has any role been attributed to her. (iv) PW 149 Faridabibi Abdulkadar Khalifa has deposed that at around 9:00 to 9:30, she was standing next to the S.T. Workshop compound wall and Shri K.K. Mysorewala was also present at the S.T. Workshop in a Government jeep. At this time Mayaben Kodnani came out of the mob, went near K.K. Mysorewala and spoke to him. She has also referred to the presence of several accused in the mob. She has stated that after talking with Mysorewala, Mayaben left, after which there was police and private firing. The witness does not describe the manner in which Mayaben left. (v) PW 192 Rasidabanu Imtiyazhussain Momin has deposed that she has seen Mayaben in the mob which had come from the direction of Natraj. In this mob she had also seen Manoj Videowala, Bipin Autowala, Santosh Dudhwala, Guddu Chhara, Naresh Chhara, Suresh Langdo and Suresh Langda's younger brother. Mayaben was instigating the public by saying "come forward" and "kill". (vi) PW 198 Harun Mahammadbhai Shaikh says that mobs had gathered near the S.T. Workshop as well as the S.R.P. Quarters gate and in the mob he had seen Mayaben, Babu Bajrangi, Sachin Modi, Ashok Pangallawala, Manoj Videowala, Suresh Langdo, Haresh, Guddu and Bipin Autowala at around 9:30 in the morning. (vii) PW 236

Siddiquebhai Allabax Mansuri has deposed that at around 8:30 to 9:00 in the morning, he went near Natraj Hotel where there was a mob of five to ten thousand people. While he was present there, Mayaben came in a Maruti Franti car together with her P.A./Assistant. Mayaben gave a provocative speech to the people there and instigated them to kill and hack down the miyas. After giving a speech she left. After Mayaben left the public was incited and advanced towards the Muslim area. This witness has deposed that at around 11:00 o'clock Mayaben came in a white coloured Maruti Franti car near the S.T. Workshop which was followed by a TRAX jeep. Mayaben alighted from the car and gestured to the mob standing near Natraj whereupon about a hundred leaders came, including Mayaben's P.A. She talked to them and thereafter, under her instructions her P.A. distributed weapons from the jeep to the leaders. Thereafter Mayaben left and the people in the mob, including her P.A. attacked the Noorani Masjid. (viii) PW 156 Abdulmajid Mohammadusman Shaikh has deposed that the mobs started coming at 9:00 a.m. Two police vehicles came near the S.T. Workshop and unloaded two black trunks. Thereafter, a white car arrived and Mayaben alighted from the car and said "Maro salao ne". Thereafter the mob attacked them. (ix) PW 227 Zuber Khan Ismail Khan Pathan has deposed that at around 9:00 to 9:15 in the morning the mobs had started coming from the side of Natraj Hotel as well as Krushnanagar. In the mob from the side of Krushnanagar he had seen Bipin Panchal, Guddu Chhara and Babu Garagewala armed with weapons. In the mob from the side of Natraj Hotel, he had seen Mayaben Kodnani on the road and she was telling the people in the mob to march ahead and that she was with them. (x) PW 52 Amina Abbas Belim has stated that from the midst of the mob, a white car came from the direction of Natraj Hotel and halted near the masjid and Mayaben and her assistant alighted from the car. Mayaben started talking with the people in the mob. Mayaben told the mob that the masjid and Muslim area should be destroyed. The witness also claims to have seen something like a pistol in Mayaben's hand with which she was firing and after firing, Mayaben told the mob that they should continue and thereafter, she returned in the same car in which she had come. (xi) PW 143 Dildar Umrao Saiyed has deposed that he was standing near his Eicher vehicle near Panchvati estate when Mysorewala came and parked his jeep there and together with him four to five policemen also alighted from the jeep. After ten minutes, a white Maruti car came from which their MLA Mayaben Kodnani, Bipin Panchal, Murli Sindhi and Guddu Chhara alighted and the mob followed the car. Thereafter weapons were distributed from the car. Bipin Panchal saw the witness and chased him away.

421. Thus, eleven witnesses have testified regarding having seen Mayaben Kodnani at the scene of offence in the morning on the day of the incident. The credibility of the witnesses and the veracity of the versions given by them has already been discussed hereinabove. However, assuming for the sake of argument that all the witnesses are speaking the truth, it may be noted that out of the eleven witnesses six witnesses claim to have seen her alighting from a white coloured Maruti Franti car. While PW 104, PW 136, PW 156 refer to only Mayaben (A-37) alighting from the car, PW 236 and 52 speak of her alighting from the car with her P.A./assistant, whereas PW 143 talks of Mayaben, Bipin

Panchal, Murli Sindhi and Guddu Chhara alighting from the car. The time referred to by all these witnesses is more or less the same, viz. around 9:00 to 9:30 in the morning. PW 236, however, claims to have seen accused No.37 twice, once around 9:00 to 9:30 and again at around 11:00 a.m. The remaining five witnesses, viz., PW 176, 149, 192, 198 and 227, claim to have seen Mayaben Kodnani (A-37) in the mob. All these witnesses also claim to have seen her at around the same time. Again while PWs 104, 136 and 149 say that Mayaben spoke to the police, PW 104 also says she spoke to the mob, PW 176 only refers to the presence of Mayaben in the mob, PW 192 says she saw Mayaben with several other accused and Mayaben was instigating the mob, while PW 198 simply refers to the presence of Mayaben with several other co-accused in the mob and PW 227 says he saw Mayaben in the mob and that she was instigating the mob. Thus, while some of the witnesses say Mayaben came in a car, and then either spoke to the police or instigated the mob or did both and left, while others speak about her mere presence in the mob or of her presence in the mob and instigating the mob. Considering the overall evidence which has come on record, it is difficult to reconcile the versions given by the different witnesses, inasmuch as if around the same time Mayaben came in a car and left, how could she be present in the mob. Besides, around the same time how is it possible that Mayaben came in a car alone, or came with her P.A. or came with Bipin Panchal, Murli Sindhi and Guddu Chhara in a car? The trial court has simpliciter accepted the testimonies of all the witnesses brushing aside all the discrepancies in their evidence and without considering the credit worthiness of such witnesses. Since the prosecution has put forth evidence of witnesses which conflict with each other and it is not possible to reconcile the same, the benefit of doubt has to go to the accused. Another notable aspect of the matter is that while the above referred witnesses talk of Mayaben Kodnani (A-37) coming in a white Maruti Franti car, none of the witnesses have given the number of the vehicle. Not only that, no investigation has been carried out by the SIT to ascertain whether accused No.37 owned or was using any such vehicle at the relevant time, nor has it attempted to trace out such vehicle. This is a serious lacuna in the investigation by the SIT because all evidence against accused No.37 Mayaben Kodnani has come only at the stage when the SIT came into the picture; therefore, it was the duty of the Investigating Officer (SIT) to gather evidence in support of the versions given by the witnesses. Moreover, even if one brushes aside all the discrepancies in the evidence of the witnesses, there is still no material on record to indicate the hatching of a conspiracy as no evidence whatsoever has been adduced by the prosecution to show any meeting of minds between accused No.37 and any other accused so as to establish the existence of a conspiracy. The trial court has also placed reliance upon the evidence of the sting operation, which as discussed above, being an extra judicial confession of a co-accused long after the conspiracy was over, is not admissible in evidence against the other co-accused. The trial court was, therefore, not justified in considering the evidence of the sting operation qua any accused other than those who had made the extra-judicial confession. It is well settled that an offence of conspiracy cannot be deemed to have been established on mere suspicion and surmises or inferences which are not supported by cogent evidence.

422. The trial court has accepted part of the testimony of the witnesses and has discarded part of it while considering the charge of conspiracy. While it is true, that it is permissible for the court to accept part of the evidence that appears credible and discard the part that is not credible, by separating the grain from the chaff. However, where it is not possible to separate the grain from the chaff, the entire evidence cannot be taken into consideration. In the present case, the trial court has accepted the version given by the witnesses who have stated that Mayaben got down from her car and talked either to Mysorewala or the police and then went back to hold that the charge of conspiracy has been proved, despite the fact that Mysorewala and the police are totally silent about it, and without holding that the police were also involved in the conspiracy. If the act of Mayaben alighting from the car and talking to the police can be said to be part of the conspiracy, how then, can the police be excepted from such conspiracy!

423. However, accused No.18 Babubhai Bajrangi, accused No.21 Prakash Rathod and accused No.22 Suresh Chhara stand on a different footing, inasmuch as they have made extra-judicial confessions before PW 322 Ashish Khetan, who has duly deposed about it in his testimony. Of course, if the entire sting operation as contained in the DVDs or as contained in the transcripts prepared by PW 322 had been proved in accordance with law, the evidence against those accused would have been stronger as the same would also have established the collection of inflammable substances by the accused for the purpose of committing the offences, nonetheless, to the extent the extra-judicial confession made before PW 322 has been duly proved by him through his testimony, the same can certainly be used as evidence against the said accused. As regards the defence of the accused that they were speaking from readymade scripts, it may be apposite to note that the entire recording of the sting was done through spy cameras of which the accused were unaware; therefore, there was no occasion for the accused to recite from a readymade script.

424. If one considers the testimony of PW 322 Ashish Khetan, he has duly deposed that accused No.18 had told him that on 27th February, 2002, viz. a day prior to the incident, he had gone to Godhra and had seen the dead bodies of the kar sevaks and on that day he had decided that they would show the results at Naroda Patiya on the next day. This witness has also deposed that accused No.18 stated before him, that on the previous night he along with twenty nine to thirty other persons had visited houses of people in the area who had arms and had forcible collected twenty three revolvers. He has also stated that after he saw what had happened in the Godhra incident, on the next day they had given their retaliation. On a query by Anandji as to how did they organise it within such a short time, Babu Bajrangi had said that they had gathered a team of about twenty nine to thirty persons at night itself and approached those who had guns and forcibly collected twenty three revolvers from them. The witness has also deposed that Babu Bajrangi had said that if the police so desired, they would not have let them enter inside patiya; that the gas cylinders belonged to the Muslims and they were burst.... they had revolvers with them; they had thrust a whole diesel tanker into the masjid and set it ablaze; at that time the leadership was theirs, they did whatever they wanted to.

425. Thus, from the extra-judicial confession made by accused No.18 Babubhai Bajrangi before PW 322, it is clearly established that on the previous day he along with other persons had forcibly collected revolvers from persons who possessed such fire-arms; which indicates pre-planning. The accused has also stated that on the previous day when they went to Godhra and saw the dead bodies they had decided to give a befitting reply at Patiya on the next day. Therefore, both the motive and planning are evident from the extra-judicial confession. The active participation of the accused in the riots and in setting ablaze the masjid and mass killing of people is also borne out from such extra-judicial confession. Clearly therefore, the ingredients of criminal conspiracy are clearly made out, inasmuch as, while the names of the other persons who have participated in collecting fire-arms on the previous day have not come on record, nonetheless it is clear that there was a meeting of minds between accused No.18 and those unnamed accused, to collect arms with a view to use them on the next day for retaliating in respect of the Godhra incident.

426. Accused No.18 Babubhai Bajrangi has been named by in all ten witnesses, viz. (i) PW 142 Zannatbibi Kallubhai, (ii) PW 149 Faridabibi Abdulkadar, (iii) PW 174 Abdulsalim Abdulmajid, (iv) PW 198 Haroon Mohmad, (v) PW 228 Javed Ismail, (vi) PW 244 Maiyuddin Imamuddin, (vii) PW 262 V.K. Solanki, (viii) PW 266 P.V. Thakore, (ix) PW 274 K.K. Mysorewala and (x) PW 277 M.T. Rana, out of whom the last four are police witnesses. Out of the above witnesses, this court while evaluating the credibility of the witnesses individually has found that in case of PW 142, insofar as the presence of Babu Bajrangi is concerned, there is an inconsistency between the previous statement of this witness recorded by the police and her testimony before the court and has held that the testimony of this witness cannot be relied upon to prove the charge against Babu Bajrangi (A-18). As regards PW 149, the court has found that insofar as implication of this accused is concerned, it is in the nature of an improvement and that the witness had not named him in her earlier statement. Therefore, the witness is not consistent as regards the presence of this accused. In case of PW 174, the court, upon considering the quality of the testimony of this witness, found that he does not appear to be very credible and that it would be very hazardous to place reliance upon the testimony of this witness to prove the charge against the accused. As regards PW 198, the court, upon considering the nature of contradictions in the testimony of this witness, as well as the fact that his version has come on record for the first time in the year 2008 when his statement came to be recorded by the SIT, as well as considering the contradictions in his testimony before the court and his statement recorded by the SIT, has found that the witness does not come across as a credible and truthful witness and that it would be hazardous to rely upon his testimony to prove the charge in such a serious offence. As regards PW 228, the court has noted that at the relevant time when the incident took place the witness was fourteen years of age. The court has expressed the opinion that insofar as naming of the accused is concerned, it would be risky to accept such version which has come at such a belated stage, more, so, when nothing has been brought on record to establish the acquaintance of the witness with the accused and no test identification parade has been carried out to establish the identity of the accused. As regards PW 244, this court has recorded that this witness's statements came to be recorded on 13.5.2002 as well as on 26.6.2002. At the relevant time he did not name any accused and in fact had stated that does not know any person in the mob. However, in the year 2008, before the SIT he has named accused No.18 Babubhai Bajrangi and has stated that he had seen him in the mob, and though he did not know him, some of the other Muslims pointed out to the accused and said "woh raha Babu Bajrangi". The witness has also failed to identify the accused in the dock. Thus, from testimony of this witness, it emerges that at the relevant time he had not named any accused, but before the SIT after a period of more than six years, he has named the accused and that too on the basis of other persons having said that such person is Babu Bajrangi. The witness has admitted that he had no prior acquaintance with the said accused and that he had never seen him prior to the incident. It is an admitted position that no test identification parade had been carried out to identify the accused. Under these circumstances, apart from the fact that at the relevant time the witness had not named the accused when his statement came to be recorded, when the witness had no acquaintance with the accused and has not been able to identify him in the dock, no reliance can be placed upon the testimony of this witness to prove the charge against the accused. Thus insofar as the private witnesses are concerned, the court has found it hazardous to rely upon their testimonies insofar as accused No.18 Babu Bajrangi is concerned.

427. However, this accused has also been named by four police witnesses. In this case there are several Investigating Officers, as well as their assignee officers who, under the instructions of the Investigating Officers have recorded statements and drawn panchnamas. Apart from these officers who have taken part in the investigation, there are police officers and police personnel who were on stand to duty on the day of the incident and are eye witnesses of the incident and have named some of the accused. The trial court has found the investigation to be not credible and has discarded the entire investigation carried out by the police at the relevant time except for the ministerial work like drawing of panchnamas etc. by the previous investigating agency. While discarding the investigation, the trial court has also observed that where any policeman has named an accused, it would not rely upon the same unless such accused is also named by a private witness. It may be noted that not all the police who are eye-witnesses have taken part in the investigation. Besides, there does not appear to be any justification for discarding the evidence of the police officers who are eye witnesses merely because the investigation is not up to the mark. Moreover, no evidence has been brought on record by the defence to show that these police personnel who named them bore any grudge or animosity against them so as to falsely implicate them.

428. PW 262 V.K. Solanki has deposed that at around nine to nine thirty in the morning, mobs started gathering on the road and they made attempts to disperse them during the course of patrolling. At around 11:00 to 11:30 in the morning, while patrolling they came to Naroda Patiya near the Noorani Masjid, at that time Hindu mobs had gathered in large numbers and were shouting slogans like “kill them, hack them". In the meanwhile their Deputy Police Commissioner, Shri P.B. Gondia and A.C.P. Shri M.T. Rana and Naroda Police Station Senior P.I. Shri K.K. Mysorewala also arrived there. At that time mobs from Krushnanagar, Saijpur, Fadeli, Kubernagar, Chharanagar started gathering near the Noorani Masjid and Hussainnagar hutments. At the relevant time, active members of the V.H.P. and B.J.P., Kishan Korani, P.J. Rajput, Hareesh Rohera, Babu Bajrangi and Raju Chaumal were leading the mobs and were instigating them and in a while, shops, houses of Muslims and the Noorani Masjid were targeted and ransacked and set ablaze and looted. From the evidence on record, the presence of this witness at the scene of offence has been established. This witness has lodged the first information report in this case and has named the above referred accused including accused No.18 Babu Bajrangi as leading the mobs and instigating them.

429. PW 266 P.V. Thakore is another police witness whose presence at the scene of offence has been established. This court, after appreciating the evidence of this witness has found that through his evidence the presence of the accused named and identified by him, viz., accused No.24 Raju Chobal, accused No.18 Babu Bajrangi and accused No.20 Kishan Korani, is duly established and there is no reason to disbelieve the witness to the extent he has named and identified these accused as being present in the mob in the afternoon.

430. The presence of PW 274 K.K. Mysorewala at the scene of offence has been duly established by the prosecution. While the witness has failed to discharge his duties in a proper manner and prevent the mobs from committing the offences in question, he has named five accused, including accused No.18 Babu Bajrangi. This witness along with PW 262 and PW 277 was present at the scene of offence, and all three of them have named this accused as being present.

431. PW 277 Shri M.T. Rana whose presence at the scene of offence has also been duly established has also deposed regarding the presence of accused No.18 Babu Bajrangi.

432. Thus, when four police officers have named this accused first in point of time, at the relevant time when the incident took place, there is no reason to disbelieve their testimonies. Apart from the testimonies of the police witnesses, the evidence of PW 322 Ashish Khetan before whom the accused made an extra-judicial confession as narrated hereinabove, clearly indicates the active involvement of the accused in the entire incident as well as the pre-planning and pre-concert, which is indicative of a criminal conspiracy having been hatched between this accused and some of the other accused. The prosecution has therefore, duly established the charge of criminal conspiracy qua this accused.

433. Insofar as accused No.22 Suresh Chhara is concerned, this witness has been named by as many as fifty seven eye witnesses, many of whom have been found to be credible and trustworthy by the court. The presence and participation of this accused in incidents that took place throughout the day is established through the testimonies of the witnesses, a detailed reference to which shall be considered while considering the evidence against each individual accused. From the testimony of PW 322 Ashish

Khetan, it has been clearly established that this accused made an extra-judicial confession before him which also shows his involvement in the offences in question. The accused has also talked about Babubhai Bajrangi helping them. From the extra-judicial confession made by this accused, it can be inferred that there was a meeting of minds between this accused and Babubhai Bajrangi to commit illegal acts and that they planned and conspired to attack the Muslims of Naroda Patiya and their properties. However, insofar as the other accused are concerned, it is not possible to say that they were aware of the conspiracy and if in furtherance of the conspiracy they were induced to do any unlawful acts. Without the knowledge of the conspiracy, they cannot be held to be conspirators, though they may be guilty of an offence pertaining to the specific unlawful act.

434. Insofar as accused No.21 Prakash Rathod is concerned, he has not been named by any witness and appears to have been implicated on the basis of the sting operation conducted on him by PW 322 Ashish Khetan. Therefore, in the case of this accused the only evidence against him is the extra-judicial confession made by him before PW 322. Before evaluating the evidentiary value of such extra-judicial confession, it may be germane to refer to certain decisions of the Supreme Court on the question as to whether an extra-judicial confession can be the sole basis for convicting an accused.

435. In Aloke Nath Dutta v. State of W.B., (2007) 12 SCC 230, the Supreme Court held thus:

“68. In State of Rajasthan v. Raja Ram, (2003) 8 SCC 180, it was held:

“19. An extra-judicial confession, if voluntary and true and made in a fit state of mind, can be relied upon by the court. The confession will have to be proved like any other fact. The value of the evidence as to confession, like any other evidence, depends upon the veracity of the witness to whom it has been made. The value of the evidence as to the confession depends on the reliability of the witness who gives the evidence. It is not open to any court to start with a presumption that extra-judicial confession is a weak type of evidence. It would depend on the nature of the circumstances, the time when the confession was made and the credibility of the witnesses who speak to such a confession. Such a confession can be relied upon and conviction can be founded thereon if the evidence about the confession comes from the mouth of witness who appear to be unbiased, not even remotely inimical to the accused, and in respect of whom nothing is brought out which may tend to indicate that he may have a motive of attributing an untruthful statement to the accused, the words spoken to by the witness are clear, unambiguous and unmistakably convey that the accused is the perpetrator of the crime and nothing is omitted by the witness which may militate against it. After subjecting the evidence of the witness to a rigorous test on the touchstone of credibility, the extra-judicial confession can be accepted and can be the basis of a conviction if it passes the test of credibility.”

It was further observed:

“20. If the evidence relating to extra-judicial confession is found credible after being tested on the touchstone of credibility and acceptability, it can solely form the basis of conviction. The requirement of corroboration as rightly submitted by the learned counsel for the respondent-accused, is a matter of prudence and not an invariable rule of law.”

69. In Gagan Kanojia v. State of Punjab, (2006) 13 SCC 516, this Court opined:

“23. Extra-judicial confession, as is well known, can form the basis of a conviction. By way of abundant caution, however, the court may look for some corroboration. Extra-judicial confession cannot ipso facto be termed to be tainted. An extra-judicial confession, if made voluntarily and proved can be relied upon by the courts."

(emphasis supplied)

70. In Nazir Khan v. State of Delhi, (2003) 8 SCC 461, this Court held:

"A free and voluntary confession is deserving of the highest credit, because it is presumed to flow from the highest sense of guilt."

(See also Ram Khilari v. State of Rajasthan, (1999) 9 SCC 89 and Namala Subba Rao v. State of A.P., (2006) 10 SCC 557)

71. It will also be relevant to consider State of Rajasthan v. Kashi Ram, (2006) 12 SCC 254, wherein this Court observed:

"14. ... There was nothing to show that he had reasons to confide in them. The evidence appeared to be unnatural and unbelievable. The High Court observed that evidence of extra-judicial confession is a weak piece of evidence and though it is possible to base a conviction on the basis of an extra-judicial confession, the confessional evidence must be proved like any other fact and the value thereof depended upon the veracity of the witnesses to whom it was made."

72. Recently, in Kulwinder Singh v. State of Punjab, (2006) 12 SCC 538, this Court held:

"31. The evidentiary value of an extra-judicial confession must be judged in the fact situation obtaining in each case. It would depend not only on the nature of the circumstances but also the time when the confession had been made and the credibility of the witness who testifies thereto."

73. In his confession Alope Nath takes the entire blame on himself. We are not persuaded to hold that the courts below erred in opining that extra-judicial confession of Alope Nath is in any way doubtful."

436. Another decision of the Supreme Court which may profitably be referred to is Gura Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (2001) 2 SCC 205, wherein it has been held thus:

“6. It is settled position of law that extrajudicial confession, if true and voluntary, it can be relied upon by the court to convict the accused for the commission of the crime alleged. Despite inherent weakness of extrajudicial confession as an item of evidence, it cannot be ignored when shown that such confession was made before a person who has no reason to state falsely and to whom it is made in the circumstances which tend to support the statement. Relying upon an earlier judgment in Rao Shiv Bahadur Singh v. State of Vindhya Pradesh, AIR 1954 SC 322, this Court again in Maghar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1975) 4 SCC 234, held that the evidence in the form of extrajudicial confession made by the accused to witnesses cannot be always termed to be a tainted evidence. Corroboration of such evidence is required only by way of abundant caution. If the court believes the witness before whom the confession is made and is satisfied that the confession was true and voluntarily made, then the conviction can be founded on such evidence alone. In Narayan Singh v. State of M.P., (1985) 4 SCC 26, this Court cautioned that it is not open to the court trying the criminal case to start with a presumption that extrajudicial confession is always a weak type of evidence. It would depend on the nature of the circumstances, the time when the confession is made and the credibility of the witnesses who speak for such a confession. The retraction of extrajudicial confession which is a usual phenomenon in criminal cases would by itself not weaken the case of the prosecution based upon such a confession. In Kishore Chand v. State of H.P., (1991) 1 SCC 286, this Court held that an unambiguous extrajudicial confession possesses high probative value force as it emanates from the person who committed the crime and is admissible in evidence provided it is free from suspicion and suggestion of any falsity. However, before relying on the alleged confession, the court has to be satisfied that it is voluntary and is not the result of inducement, threat or promise envisaged under Section 24 of the Evidence Act or was brought about in suspicious circumstances to circumvent Sections 25 and 26. The court is required to look into the surrounding circumstances to find out as to whether such confession is not inspired by any improper or collateral consideration or circumvention of law suggesting that it may not be true. All relevant circumstances such as the person to whom the confession is made, the time and place of making it, the circumstances in which it was made have to be scrutinised. To the same effect is the judgment in Baldev Raj v. State of Haryana, 1991 Supp (1) SCC 14. After referring to the judgment in Piara Singh v. State of Punjab, (1977) 4 SCC 452, this Court in Madan Gopal Kakkad v. Naval Dubey, (1992) 3 SCC 204, held that the extrajudicial confession which is not obtained by coercion, promise of favour or false hope and is plenary in character and voluntary in nature can be made the basis for conviction even without corroboration.”

437. In Kadamanian v. State, (2016) 9 SCC 325, the Supreme Court held thus:

“8. In Sahadevan v. State of T.N., (2012) 6 SCC 403, it has been observed that extra-judicial confession is weak piece of evidence. Before acting upon it the court must ensure that the same inspires confidence and it is corroborated by other prosecution evidence. In Balwinder Singh v. State of Punjab, 1995 Supp (4) SCC 259, it has been observed that extra-judicial confession requires great deal of care and caution before acceptance. There should be no suspicious circumstances surrounding it. In Pakkirisamy v. State of T.N., (1997) 8 SCC 158, it has been observed that there has to be independent corroboration for placing any reliance upon extra-judicial confession. In Kavita v. State of T.N., (1998) 6 SCC 108, it has been observed that reliability of the same depends upon the veracity of the witnesses to whom it is made. Similar view has been expressed in State of Rajasthan v. Raja Ram, (2003) 8 SCC 180, in which this Court has further observed that witness must be unbiased and not even remotely inimical to the accused. In Alope Nath Dutta v. State of W.B., (2007) 12 SCC 230, it has been observed that the main features of confession are required to be verified. In Sansar Chand v. State of Rajasthan, (2010) 10 SCC 664, it has been observed that extra-judicial confession should be corroborated by some other material on record. In Rameshbhai Chandubhai Rathod v. State of Gujarat, (2009) 5 SCC 740, it has been observed that in the case of retracted confession it is unsafe for the court to rely on it. In Vijay Shankar v. State of Haryana, (2015) 12 SCC 644, this Court has followed the decision in Sahadevan (supra). Based on the aforesaid judgment rendered by this Court, it was submitted that the extra-judicial confession being a weak piece of evidence, should not have been relied upon for determining the culpability of the appellant.

15. Having given our thoughtful consideration on the above contention, we are of the view that the judgment² relied upon by the learned counsel is wholly inapplicable in the facts and circumstances of this case for two distinguishing features in the present case, namely, that the extra-judicial confession in the instant case was made to the Village Administrative Officer, R.V. Alagurajan, PW 12, who was totally unbiased and unconnected with the controversy in hand. He could also not be stated to be inimical to the appellant. He is not shown to have any relationship with either the complainant or the accused. Moreover, insofar as the extra-judicial confession made in the judgment relied upon by the appellant is concerned, the same had been made by the accused to the sister of the deceased, which by itself made the extra-judicial confession extremely doubtful. We are therefore not impressed with the submission advanced by the learned counsel for the appellant based on the cited judgment."

438. From the above decisions, it can be culled out thus:

- Extra-judicial confession requires great deal of care and caution before acceptance. There should be no suspicious circumstances surrounding it.
- An extra-judicial confession, if voluntary and true and made in a fit state of mind, can be relied upon by the court. The confession will have to be proved like any other fact. The value of the evidence as to confession, like any other evidence, depends upon the veracity of the witness to whom it has been made. The value of the evidence as to the confession depends on the reliability of the witness who gives the evidence. It is not open to any court to start with a presumption that extra-judicial confession is a weak type of evidence. It would depend on the nature of the circumstances, the time when the confession was made and the credibility of the witnesses who speak of such a confession. Such a confession can be relied upon and conviction can be founded thereon if the evidence about the confession comes from the mouth of a witness who appears to be unbiased, not even remotely inimical to the accused, and in respect of whom nothing is brought out which may tend to indicate that he may have a motive of attributing an untruthful statement to the accused; the words spoken to by the witness are clear, unambiguous and unmistakably convey that the accused is the perpetrator of the crime and nothing is omitted by the witness which may militate against it. After subjecting the evidence of the witness to a rigorous test on the touchstone of credibility, the extra-judicial confession can be accepted and can be the basis of a conviction if it passes the test of credibility.

- If the evidence relating to extra-judicial confession is found credible after being tested on the touchstone of credibility and acceptability, it can solely form the basis of conviction. The requirement of corroboration is a matter of prudence and not an invariable rule of law.
- The evidentiary value of an extra-judicial confession must be judged in the fact situation obtaining in each case. It would depend not only on the nature of the circumstances but also the time when the confession had been made and the credibility of the witness who testifies thereto.

- The confession will have to be proved like any other fact. The value of the evidence as to confession, like any other evidence, depends upon the veracity of the witness to whom it has been made. The value of the evidence as to the confession depends on the reliability of the witness who gives the evidence.

439. Examining the extra-judicial confession made by accused No.21 in the light of the above principles, PW 322 Ashish Khetan before whom such confession came to be made is an unbiased witness, who is not even remotely inimical to the accused. While the witness has assumed an identity and claimed to be a scholar in Hindutva, there is no reason whatsoever to doubt the veracity of the evidence of the witness, who comes across as a truthful and credible witness, who has withstood the grilling cross-examination by the learned counsel for the accused. Moreover, as discussed earlier, it is not even the defence of the accused that no such sting operation had been carried out and that they had not met the witness and stated what has been attributed to them. A faint attempt has been made to suggest that they were reading from a prepared script, however, considering the manner in which the sting operation came to be conducted, whereby the sting was recorded through spy cameras, it is apparent that the accused were not even aware that their conversation was being recorded. Therefore, the question of reading from a prepared script does not arise. Though as discussed earlier, the evidence of the sting as contained in the DVDs and CDs is not admissible in evidence as the same has not been proved in accordance with law; however, PW 322, who had conducted the sting has duly deposed as to what was stated by the accused to him from a transcript prepared by him on the basis of what was recorded during the course of the sting. Thus, the confession has been duly proved like any other fact. The value of the evidence as to confession, like any other evidence, depends upon the veracity of the witness to whom it has been made. In the present case, PW 322 comes across as a reliable and trustworthy witness and his evidence can be given due weightage. Therefore, considering the nature of the evidence of extra-judicial confession, the same appears to be reliable and trustworthy and can form the basis of conviction based upon what has been stated in such extra-judicial confession.

440. It may be noted that it is well settled that the court cannot start with the confession of a co-accused person; it must begin with other evidence adduced by the prosecution and after it has formed its opinion with regard to the quality and effect of the said evidences, then it is permissible to turn to the confession in order to receive assurance to the conclusion of guilt which the judicial mind is about to reach on some other evidence. However in this case, the court is not concerned with the confession of a co-accused but with the confession of the maker himself. Therefore, if the extra-judicial confession appears to be true and credible it can be made the sole basis of conviction.

441. PW 322 Ashish Khetan has duly deposed that this accused had stated before him that they were inside the riots when Mayaben came. He has further deposed that this accused had stated before him that they came to know that the Godhra incident had taken place, Mohammedan people have burnt a train wherein Ramsevaks died, many Hindu people died, and they had thought since there is call for bandh, no one should open their shop. In response of a question as to whether the Chharas fought only with their hands, legs and sticks, he has said that some of them had swords and trishuls. The accused has also stated that Suresh Chhara had in his possession all kinds of weapons, except revolvers. In response to a question as to whether he cut two or four Miyas or not, the accused has stated that their people had broken hands and legs of many people and that they had badly beaten those who were there. He has further stated that he had not gone inside; they had remained there and would beat and chase away whoever had come. The accused has also referred to the presence of other co-accused, however, since the extra-judicial confession has been made after the conspiracy has been made, it cannot be considered for the purpose of proving the charge of conspiracy against the co-accused. Nonetheless, it can certainly be used as a circumstance against the accused who made such extra judicial confession while considering his/her complicity in the other offences. The accused has also referred to Bipin Panchal coming with his people, etc. The accused has further stated that amongst the Chharas Suresh Richard, Guddu and Naresh fought strongly and without getting tired. The accused has further talked about having burst many cylinders, despite which the masjid was not shaken much.

442. Considering the nature of the extra-judicial confession of this accused and his close association with accused No.22 Suresh Chhara, it can be inferred that this accused was aware of the conspiracy to cause loss of life of Muslims and to damage their properties. The fact regarding conspiracy can be culled out from the fact that the accused had come prepared with weapons and inflammable substances. It was not as if they had come as mere spectators and had thereafter joined in the commission of the offence.

443. In the present case the mobs were comprised of thousands of people. It is an admitted position that on the previous day a coach of the Sabarmati Express had been set ablaze by at Godhra, allegedly by Muslims, which resulted in several Ram Sevaks being burnt to death. In view of the broadcast by the television channels, tempers were running high and people, on their own, came out on the streets. Therefore, when there are mobs of thousands, it is evident that all the people in the mob would not have come as a part of the conspiracy and many would have come on their own having regard to the situation prevailing on that day. Therefore, all the accused named and unnamed cannot be held to be guilty of conspiracy. From the evidence on record, insofar as the charge of conspiracy is concerned, the same can be said to be duly proved only qua accused No.18 Babubhai Bajrangi, accused No. 21 Prakash Rathod and accused No.22 Suresh Langda. Insofar as the other accused are concerned, there can be said to be strong suspicion that they were also co-conspirators, but suspicion, however strong, cannot take the place of evidence, and in the absence of any direct or circumstantial evidence showing their involvement in the conspiracy, it cannot be said that the charge of criminal conspiracy qua them has been proved. The accused other than accused No.18, 21 and 22 are therefore required to be given the benefit of doubt insofar as the charge of the offence under section 120B of the Penal Code is concerned.

444. From the video of the sting operation, it emerges that on the prior night that is on 27th February 2002, Babu Bajrangi and his associates had forcibly collected arms from people in that area. He has also boasted about how the petrol pump owner had given them petrol for free. Unfortunately, the recording of the sting operation is not admissible in evidence as the prosecution has not chosen to prove it in accordance with law. Nonetheless, insofar as use of inflammable substances is concerned, many witnesses have deposed regarding people in the mob having cans of kerosene, petrol and other inflammable substances. The manner in which the victims have been burnt to death is indicative of large scale use of inflammable substances. The victims have been burnt by pouring inflammable substances on them; or by soaking mattresses, quilts etc. in inflammable substances and throwing them on the hapless victims. The availability of such large quantities of inflammable substances is indicative of prior planning on the part of the mob. Of course, the prosecution has not adduced any evidence as regards use of such arms, but some of the witnesses have attributed use of arms to some of the accused. Accused Suresh Chhara in the sting operation has stated that Babu Bajrangi had helped them. What is stated by the accused in the sting operation is not merely an act of bravado and mere boasting on his part, but also has an element of truth considering the events that transpired on that day and the manner in which the heinous offence was committed.

445. Coincidentally, the number of people who were burnt to death in the Godhra Train carnage was fifty eight and the number of persons who were burnt to death at the passage of the water tank is also fifty eight. However, that appears to be a mere coincidence, inasmuch as several other persons were injured in the incident and later on died in the hospital. Besides, considering the manner in which the incident took place, it would be too farfetched to assume that fifty eight persons were killed near the passage of the water tank as the toll in the Godhra Train carnage for fifty eight. However, pertinently, the passengers in the coach were roasted to death, and similarly, the victims in the incident have also been roasted to death. In the opinion of this court, the manner in which the Muslims have been killed by the mob, is not a matter of coincidence, but matches with what the accused has said, namely that they would pay back in the same coin.

446. It is a matter of regret and concern that the prosecution, despite being represented by a Senior Public Prosecutor, who supposedly was well versed with and experienced in criminal law, has not thought it fit to prove the electronic documentary evidence on record. Significantly, even as muddamal, it is only pursuant to the suo motu order dated 25.1.2012 passed by the trial court at Exhibit 2555, that such DVDs and CDs have been brought on record. Moreover, despite the fact that PW 322 Ashish Khetan had produced a complete transcript of the sting operation, such transcript was only placed on record with a list and the learned Special Public Prosecutor did not deem it fit to ensure that the same is proved in accordance with law and exhibited. It is difficult to believe that such an experienced Public Prosecutor was not aware of the importance of proving the sting operation and the transcript. However, for reasons best known to the prosecution as well as the investigating agency, they have not thought it fit to prove such important evidence in accordance with law. While the CBI Officer, FSL officer and Director of Akashwani Ahmedabad have been examined to prove that there is no tampering with the DVDs and CDs and that the voices in the sting operation are that of accused No.18, 21 and 22, in the absence of the DVDs and CDs being admitted in evidence, the entire exercise has been rendered an exercise in futility.

447. In the light of the above discussion, the court is of the view that the prosecution has duly established the charge of criminal conspiracy punishable under section 120B of the Indian Penal Code against accused No.18 Babu Bajrangi, accused No.21 Prakash Rathod and accused No.22 Suresh Richard Chhara.

XXX UNLAWFUL ASSEMBLY:

448. Mr. Y.S. Lakhani, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that apart from very shaky evidence of witnesses, which is full of material contradictions/omissions/improvements and embellishments, severely affecting the core of the prosecution case, the omnibus allegation of witnesses against the accused being there as a part of mob would never make them liable under the constructive and vicarious liability by invoking section 149 of the Indian Penal Code, particularly when several incidents of different nature, at different places, at different points of time and indicating different complicity of different accused are brought in evidence of the case. It was submitted that the following situation is required to be looked at and appreciated:

448.1 There are large number of small to big incidents which have taken place in a large spread of the Naroda Police Station like at the Noorani Masjid, at the gate of the S.T. Workshop or near Natraj Hotel, at or near Bipin Auto, at or on the road towards Krushnanagar, towards Kubernagar, at different chawls on the road opposite to Noorani Masjid, at different chawls of Hussain Nagar, at different chawls of Jawannagar, at or near Gopinath and Gangotri Society, on the road from Uday Gas Agency, at or near the S.R.P. Quarters, etc. from 09:00 hours in the morning to 19:00 hours in the evening.

448.2 In relation to the morning incidents, the learned counsel submitted that as per the versions given by witnesses, a large number of people had gathered in the morning on the road near the Noorani Masjid, the number of people being in thousands. No incident of causing any injury by any weapon or otherwise to any person of the minority community had taken place at the hands of any accused. Incidents of police firing has taken place wherein one person from the Muslim community has died and four to five other persons of the Muslim community have been injured therein as per the evidence of witnesses. Two persons of the Hindu community, who are shown as deceased accused in the charge-sheet, have also died in the police firing. A few of victim witnesses have tried to even allege private firing in the morning hours as an improved story, but the same is not corroborated by any other evidence, direct or circumstantial, as also by any of the police witnesses. A few incidents of setting on fire the shops and properties on the road, causing damage to them and pelting of stones, etc. is alleged to have taken place in the morning hours. No specific evidence against any accused causing any injury by any weapon to any of the members of the minority community has surfaced or even alleged in the morning hours.

448.3 No specific evidence of causing damage to a particular property by a specific accused (except to the Noorani Masjid) has been alleged by witnesses. There seems no specific allegation made by witnesses against any specific accused regarding the utterance of specific words or sentences except making general allegations.

448.4 Referring to the evidence of the afternoon incident, it was submitted that though the witnesses have tried to make out a case that in the afternoon hours of 28.2.2002, the mobs had entered the chawls from the road of the S.T. Workshop and caused damage to the properties in the lanes of such chawls up to Lane No. 3 of Hussainnagar, except saying so in general, no specific and definite evidence in this regard has been led by the prosecution against any particular accused. Though in the afternoon, some incidents relating to the death of Maiyuddin, Ayub and Hasanali have been alleged by some witnesses, but the version given by those witnesses runs contrary to and in contradiction to each other, indicating different points of time, different manner of occurrence, showing complicity of different accused, etc. which is difficult to reconcile. It was submitted that the inquest reports of such deceased together with the post mortem notes and the text of the relevant panchnamas make such case of the witnesses further doubtful.

448.5 As regards the evening incident, the learned counsel submitted that mass killing is stated to have taken place at the passage near the water tank between Gopinath and Gangotri Society, which is said to have taken place at the hands of few persons who came from the S.T. Workshop side and at the hands of a large number of unknown persons who came from the rear side (viz., from the open ground of Teesra Kuva) where the canal is situated.

448.6 It was submitted that in short, the morning incident, afternoon incident and evening incident, are all different offences allegedly committed by different sets of accused unconnected with each other and such incidents apparently are not the result of any conspiracy hatched amongst them. It was contended that no cogent, clinching, convincing, reliable and dependable evidence has been led or is coming on record whereby it can be said that all such incidents and everything that had happened from 9:00 to 19:00 hours is a part of the result of a single conspiracy hatched by the accused. Thus the concept of constructive liability under section 149 IPC needs to be examined in such facts of the case to decide whether all the accused against whom reliable and dependable evidence has been led can be convicted for all the offences so committed during the course of the day, taking them within the sweep of section 149 IPC as sharing the common object and acting in pursuance of that common object.

448.7 It was argued that firstly, there is no evidence on record to show that the accused against whom reliable and creditworthy evidence has been found showing their presence and participation in the mob in the morning, were even sharing any object, much less, a common object for anything which has taken place in his absence in the afternoon or evening nor can it be said that they knew that such incidents are likely to be committed. Secondly, there are few accused against whom no overt act has been alleged in the morning, except to say that he was seen as part of mob. It was submitted that mere presence in mob without any overt act in such a situation may be innocent or innocuous, particularly when such accused reside in that very area and have their business/work place there. Noticing somebody's presence in a large mob of thousand of persons without any overt act may not be for the purpose of committing some offence and, therefore, such persons cannot be held liable for sharing any common object whatsoever, in the absence of any other evidence against them. Thirdly, if there is reliable and dependable evidence against certain accused that were seen in the mob in the morning and against whom an overt act has been attributed by leading cogent evidence, it is required to be ascertained as to what common object he was sharing in prosecution whereof that he committed that overt act. Beyond such apparent common object, which from the facts of the case can be reasonably deduced, such accused cannot be held liable for any other offence which either he would not have shared nor would he be knowing that is likely to be committed in prosecution thereof. Fourthly, the incidents which are stated to have taken place in the afternoon are not proved beyond reasonable doubt in view of the contradictory and improved versions of different witnesses incident-wise. The accused so attempted to be implicated cannot, therefore, be held liable under section 149 IPC for any of the incidents which have taken place in the evening as the evening incident is altogether a separate and distinct incident, not even anticipated or known to be likely to be committed or even foreseen by all the accused, to take them within the sweep of section 149 IPC. Fifthly, in the absence of any cogent and reliable evidence on record any and every omnibus allegation in the above stated fact situation can never be said to satisfy the tests and parameters prescribed by the apex court to bring the accused within the sweep of constructive liability of section 149 IPC for holding all of them liable for all the incidents of 28.2.2002 that occurred in the Naroda Patiya area under various sections of the Penal Code as per the charges framed. Sixthly, the prosecution has miserably failed to prove beyond reasonable doubt that any overt act on the part of the accused at any point of time in any area of Naroda Patiya, was a result of the prosecution of a common object, so as to make all the accused vicariously liable for anything and everything done by other accused resorting to section 149 IPC. Seventhly, these incident have to be appropriately divided into different groups as may be found just and proper in the set of facts of the case by the court and to hold only those accused guilty whose presence and participation is proved beyond reasonable doubt by way of reliable, creditworthy and dependable evidence for the particular incident committed at one point of time at one place, but not holding him so guilty for the other incident committed at another and distinct point of time at a totally different place by resorting to section 149 IPC, inasmuch as, doing so would be in consonance with the law laid down by the apex court in the case of Najabhai Desurbhai Wagh v. Velerabhai Deganbhai Vagh, 2017 (3) SCC 261, wherein distinct sub-groups were discernible with different common object/intention.

449. Mr. B.B. Naik, learned counsel for the appellants invited the attention of the court to paragraph (h) at page 1601 of the impugned judgment to submit that the trial court has recorded a finding that, except accused No.37, all the remaining conspirators have joined in the unlawful assembly for executing the conspiracy in the morning itself. Thus, they all are punishable for the offences committed as members of unlawful assembly also. It is submitted that there is no evidence to show that accused No. 34, accused No.39 and accused No.47 have been seen by any witnesses after the morning incident, that is, in the incident which has taken place in the chawls in the afternoon and in the incident at the khancha (passage) in the evening. Thus, it becomes very clear that the findings recorded by the trial court are not based on relevant evidence. Not only that, but, the findings are contrary to the evidence on the record of the case.

449.1 It was pointed out that in paragraph (vi) of Part-3: Section 149; at page 1613, the trial court, in sub-paragraph (a) has recorded a finding that all the accused mentioned above, that is, in paragraph (b-1) are held "Guilty" as members of unlawful assembly who have committed offences while being and continuing as part of the said unlawful assembly and that it is that assembly which has committed offences against property, offences against human body, offences relating to religion and offences against public tranquillity, etc. It is further recorded by the trial court that it can safely be inferred from the conduct of the accused, from the continuation of the accused as member of the unlawful assembly and from the very act of joining the said assembly by the accused that the accused have joined the unlawful assembly intentionally and that it can also be safely inferred that the accused had knowledge of the common object which, in fact, was shared by all members of the said unlawful assembly. Mr. Naik submitted that, as stated above, accused No. 34, accused No.39 and accused No.47 were not seen by any witness after the morning incident either in the incidents that took place in the afternoon or in the evening, and, thus, it becomes clear that this finding is also contrary to the evidence on record and perverse.

450. Mr. Bhargav Bhatt, learned counsel for accused No.62 Kirpalsingh, submitted that to prove the charge under section 149 of the Penal Code, the prosecution has to prove that: (i) there was an unlawful assembly; (ii) that the accused was a member thereof at the time of committing the offence as contemplated under section 142 of the Penal Code; (iii) that he intentionally joined and continued in that assembly; (iv) that he knew the common object of the assembly; (v) that an offence was committed by a member of such assembly; and (vi) it was either committed: (a) in prosecution of the common object of the assembly, or (b) was such, as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of their common unlawful object.

450.1 It was submitted that a gathering of five or more persons is first essential for an unlawful assembly; such unlawful assembly should have a common object; such unlawful assembly should have gathered for fulfilling the common object; the possibility of knowledge of the common object is sufficient to attract section 149 of the Penal Code; however, each and every member of the unlawful assembly, even when his presence is proved in or near a riotous mob by itself does not become liable; for such person, the argument will still be open, that his association with the assembly in the commission of the offence was not from the beginning to the end and that his association in it is insignificant. It was submitted that to put it differently, the prosecution has to prove sharing of the common object by such person at all crucial stages.

451. In support of their submissions, the learned counsel placed reliance upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Ranjit Singh v. State of Punjab, (2013) 16 SCC 752, wherein it was held thus:

“34. We may, before turning to the facts of the case, briefly refer to the legal position as regards the applicability of Section 149 IPC, which has fallen for interpretation on numerous occasions in the past before this Court and has been comprehensively dealt with in several pronouncements. The essence of Section 149 IPC is that a member of an unlawful assembly is responsible for the acts committed by any other member of the assembly in the same measure as the person committing such an act himself is. The section thereby creates a vicarious or constructive liability for all those who share the common object of the unlawful assembly provided the acts constituting the offence are done in pursuit of the common object of the unlawful assembly or are acts which the members of the unlawful assembly knew to be likely to be committed in pursuance of that object.

35. Baladin v. State of U.P., AIR 1956 SC 181, was one of the early cases in which this Court dealt with Section 149 IPC. This Court held that mere presence in an assembly does not make a person a member of the unlawful assembly, unless it is shown that he had done or omitted to do something which would show that he was a member of the unlawful assembly or unless the case fell under Section 142 IPC. Resultantly, if all the members of a family and other residents of the village assembled at the place of occurrence, all such persons could not be condemned ipso facto as members of the unlawful assembly. The prosecution in all such cases shall have to lead evidence to show that a particular accused had done some overt act to establish that he was a member of the unlawful assembly. This would require the case of each individual to be examined so that mere spectators who had just joined the assembly and who were unaware of its motive may not be branded as members of the unlawful assembly.

36. The observations made in Baladin case (supra) were considered in Masalti v. State of U.P., AIR 1965 SC 292, where this Court explained that cases in which persons who are merely passive witnesses and had joined the assembly out of curiosity, without sharing the common object of the assembly stood on a different footing; otherwise it was not necessary to prove that the person had committed some illegal act or was guilty of some omission in pursuance of the common object of the assembly before he could be fastened with the consequences of an act committed by any other member of the assembly with the help of Section 149 IPC. The following passage is apposite in this regard:

“17. ... The crucial question to determine in such a case is whether the assembly consisted of five or more persons and whether the said persons entertained one or more of the common objects as specified by Section 141. While determining this question, it becomes relevant to consider whether the assembly consisted of some persons who were merely passive witnesses and had joined the assembly as a matter of idle curiosity without intending to entertain the common object of the assembly. It is in that context that the observations made by this Court in Baladin (supra) assume significance; otherwise, in law, it would not be correct to say that before a person is held to be a member of an unlawful assembly, it must be shown that he had committed some illegal overt act or had been guilty of some illegal omission in pursuance of the common object of the assembly. In fact, Section 149 makes it clear that if an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who, at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly, is guilty of that offence; and that emphatically brings out the principle that the punishment prescribed by Section 149 is in a sense vicarious and does not always proceed on the basis that the offence has been actually committed by every member of the unlawful assembly."

37. Again in Bajwa v. State of U.P., (1973) 1 SCC 714, this Court held that while in a faction-ridden society there is always a tendency to implicate even the innocent with the guilty, the only safeguard against the risk of condemning the innocent with the guilty lies in insisting upon acceptable evidence which in some measure implicates the accused and satisfies the conscience of the court."

451.1 Reliance was also placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Busi Koteswara Rao v. State of A.P., (2012) 12 SCC 711, wherein it was held thus:

"11. According to the prosecution, there was a friction amongst the two groups of the same village. The prosecution party belongs to Telugu Desam Party and the accused party belongs to Congress (I). It is also projected by the prosecution that apart from the political rivalry, there is also serious enmity between the parties in respect of lease of temple lands. There is no dispute that the incident occurred on 14-4-1997 was a group clash between two rivalries. In such type of incidents, an onerous duty is cast upon the criminal courts to ensure that no innocent is convicted and deprived of his liberties. At the same time, in the case of group clashes and organised crimes, persons behind the scene executing the crime, should not be allowed to go scot-free. In other words, in cases involving a number of accused persons, a balanced approach by the court is required to be insisted upon. In a series of decisions, this Court has held that in cases of arson and murder where a large number of people are accused of committing crime, the courts should be cautious to rely upon the testimony of the witnesses speaking generally without specific reference to the accused or the specific role played by them.

12. Even, as early as in 1965, a larger Bench of this Court in Masalti v. State of U.P., AIR 1965 SC 202, considered about how the prosecution case is to be believed. The principles laid down in para 16 of the decision are relevant which are as under:

“16. Mr Sawhney also urged that the test applied by the High Court in convicting the appellants is mechanical. He argues that under the Evidence Act, 1872 trustworthy evidence given by a single witness would be enough to convict an accused person, whereas evidence given by half a dozen witnesses which is not trustworthy would not be enough to sustain the conviction. That, no doubt is true; but where a criminal court has to deal with evidence pertaining to the commission of an offence involving a large number of offenders and a large number of victims, it is usual to adopt the test that the conviction could be sustained only if it is supported by two or three or more witnesses who give a consistent account of the incident. In a sense, the test may be described as mechanical; but it is difficult to see how it can be treated as irrational or unreasonable. Therefore, we do not think that any grievance can be made by the appellants against the adoption of this test. If at all the prosecution may be entitled to say that the seven accused persons were acquitted because their cases did not satisfy the mechanical test of four witnesses, and if the said test had not been applied, they might as well have been convicted. It is, no doubt, the quality of the evidence that matters and not the number of witnesses who give such evidence. But sometimes it is useful to adopt a test like the one which the High Court has adopted in dealing with the present case.”

13. It is clear that when a criminal court has to deal with evidence pertaining to the commission of an offence involving a large number of offenders and a large number of victims, the normal test is that the conviction could be sustained only if it is supported by two or more witnesses who give a consistent account of the incident in question.”

451.2 The decision of the Supreme Court in Akbar Sheikh v. State of W.B., (2009) 7 SCC 415, was cited for the following proposition of law:

“21. Whether an assembly is unlawful one or not, thus, would depend on various factors, the principal amongst them being a common object formed by the members thereof to commit an offence specified in one or the other clauses contained in Section 141 of the Penal Code. Constructive liability on a person on the ground of being a member of unlawful assembly can be fastened for an act of offence created (sic committed) by one or more members of that assembly if they had formed a common object. The distinction between a common object and common intention is well known.

22. In Munna Chanda v. State of Assam, (2006) 3 SCC 752, this Court held as under:

“10. The concept of common object, it is well known, is different from common intention. It is true that so far as common object is concerned no prior concert is required. Common object can be formed on the spur of the moment. Course of conduct adopted by the members of the assembly, however, is a relevant factor. At what point of time the common object of the unlawful assembly was formed would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case.

11. Section 149 IPC creates a specific and distinct offence. There are two essential ingredients thereof:

(i) commission of an offence by any member of an unlawful assembly, and

(ii) such offence must have been committed in prosecution of the common object of that assembly or must be such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed.

12. It is, thus, essential to prove that the person sought to be charged with an offence with the aid of Section 149 was a member of the unlawful assembly at the time the offence was committed.

13. The appellants herein were not armed with weapons. They except Bhuttu were not parties to all the three stages of the dispute. At the third stage of the quarrel, they wanted to teach the deceased and others a lesson. For picking up quarrel with Bhuttu, they might have become agitated and asked for apologies from Moti. Admittedly, it was so done at the instance of Nirmal, Moti was assaulted by Bhuttu at the instance of Ratan. However, it cannot be said that they had common object of intentional killing of the deceased. Moti, however, while being assaulted could free himself from the grip of the appellants and fled from the scene. The deceased was being chased not only by the appellants herein but by many others. He was found dead the next morning. There is, however, nothing to show as to what role the appellants either conjointly or separately played. It is also not known as to whether if one or all of the appellants were present, when the last blow was given. Who are those who had assaulted the deceased is also not known. At whose hands he received injuries is again a mystery. Neither Section 34 nor Section 149 of the Penal Code is, therefore, attracted. (See Dharam Pal v. State of Haryana, (1978) 4 SCC 440 and Shambhu Kuer v. State of Bihar, (1982) 1 SCC 486.)”

23. The question came up for consideration before this Court in Baladin v. State of U.P., AIR 1956 SC 181, wherein B.P. Sinha, J., as the learned Chief Justice then was, opined that with a view to invoke the provisions of Section 149 of the Penal Code, “it was necessary therefore for the prosecution to lead evidence pointing to the conclusion that all the appellants before us had done or been committing some overt act in prosecution of the common object of the unlawful assembly”.

24. It was furthermore stated in Baladin case (supra):

“19. ... The evidence as recorded is in general terms to the effect that all these persons and many more were the miscreants and were armed with deadly weapons, like guns, spears, pharsas, axes, lathis, etc. This kind of omnibus evidence naturally has to be very closely scrutinised in order to eliminate all chances of false or mistaken implication. That feelings were running high on both sides is beyond question.

That the six male members who were done to death that morning found themselves trapped in the house of Mangal Singh has been found by the courts below on good evidence. We have, therefore, to examine the case of each individual accused to satisfy ourselves that mere spectators who had not joined the assembly and who were unaware of its motive had not been branded as members of the unlawful assembly which committed the dastardly crimes that morning.

It has been found that the common object of the unlawful assembly was not only to kill the male members of the refugee families but also to destroy all evidence of those crimes. Thus even those who did something in connection with the carrying of the dead bodies or disposal of them by burning them as aforesaid must be taken to have been actuated by the common objective.”

25. The aforementioned observation in Baladin case (supra) was, however, not accepted later by this Court as an absolute proposition of law and was held to be limited to the peculiar facts of the case in Masalti v. State of U.P., AIR 1965 SC 202, in the following terms:

“17. ... What has to be proved against a person who is alleged to be a member of an unlawful assembly is that he was one of the persons constituting the assembly and he entertained along with the other members of the assembly the common object as defined by Section 141 IPC. Section 142 provides that however, being aware of facts which render any assembly an unlawful assembly, intentionally joins that assembly, or continue in it, is said to be a member of an unlawful assembly. In other words, an assembly of five or more persons actuated by, and entertaining one or more of the common objects specified by the five clauses of Section 141, is an unlawful assembly. The crucial question to determine in such a case is whether the assembly consisted of five or more persons and whether the said persons entertained one or more of the common objects as specified by Section 141. While determining this question, it becomes relevant to consider whether the assembly consisted of some persons who were merely passive witnesses and had joined the assembly as a matter of idle curiosity without intending to entertain the common object of the assembly.”

26. We may, however, notice that whereas the principle of law laid down in Masalti (supra) is beyond any doubt or dispute, its application in the later cases has not been strictly adhered to. This Court, as would appear from the discussions made hereinafter, in some of its decisions had proceeded to determine the issue in the factual matrix obtaining therein although some observations of general nature had been made.

27. Sherey v. State of U.P., 1991 Supp (2) SCC 437, involved a case where there was a dispute between Hindus and Muslims of a village regarding a grove. Whereas the Hindus were claiming that it was a grove, the Muslims were claiming it to be a graveyard. A large number of Muslims, about 25 in number, came out with lethal weapons and killed three persons and injured others. Before this Court an argument was advanced that the appellants against whom no overt act was attributed but were part of the unlawful assembly should be held to be not guilty was accepted, stating:

“4. ... Therefore, it is difficult to accept the prosecution case that the other appellants were members of the unlawful assembly with the object of committing the offences with which they are charged. We feel it is highly unsafe to apply Section 149 IPC and make everyone of them constructively liable. But so far as the above nine accused are concerned the prosecution version is consistent, namely, that they were armed with lethal weapons like swords and axes and attacked the deceased and others. This strong circumstance against them establishes their presence as well as their membership of the unlawful assembly. The learned counsel appearing for the State vehemently contended that the fact that the Muslims as a body came to the scene of occurrence would show that they were members of an unlawful assembly with the common object of committing various offences including that of murder. Therefore, all of them should be made constructively liable. But when there is a general allegation against a large number of persons the Court naturally hesitates to convict all of them on such vague evidence. Therefore, we have to find some reasonable circumstance which lends assurance. From that point of view it is safe only to convict the abovementioned nine accused whose presence is not only consistently mentioned from the stage of FIR but also to whom overt acts are attributed.”

28. Similarly, in Musa Khan v. State of Maharashtra, (1977) 1 SCC 733, it was opined:

“5. ... It is well settled that a mere innocent presence in an assembly of persons, as for example a bystander, does not make the accused a member of an unlawful assembly, unless it is shown by direct or circumstantial evidence that the accused shared the common object of the assembly. Thus a court is not entitled to presume that any and every person who is proved to have been present near a riotous mob at any time or to have joined or left it at any stage during its activities is in law guilty of every act committed by it from the beginning to the end, or that each member of such a crowd must from the beginning have anticipated and contemplated the nature of the illegal activities in which the assembly would subsequently indulge. In other words, it must be proved in each case that the person concerned was not only a member of the unlawful assembly at some stage, but at all the crucial stages and shared the common object of the assembly at all these stages."

It was opined therein that as evidence was wholly lacking that all of them had taken part at all stages of the commission of offence, they were held to be not guilty of the charges levelled against them.

29. Yet again in Nagarjit Ahir v. State of Bihar, (2005) 10 SCC 369, it was opined:

"12. ... Moreover, in such situations though many people may have seen the occurrence, it may not be possible for the prosecution to examine each one of them. In fact, there is evidence on record to suggest that when the occurrence took place, people started running helter-skelter. In such a situation it would be indeed difficult to find out the other persons who had witnessed the occurrence."

It was furthermore observed:

"14. ... In such a case, it may be safe to convict only those persons against whom overt act is alleged with the aid of Section 149 IPC, lest some innocent spectators may get involved. This is only a rule of caution and not a rule of law."

30. Almost a similar view has been taken in Hori Lal v. State of U.P., (2006) 13 SCC 79, wherein this Court noticed both Baladin, AIR 1956 SC 181 and Masalti, AIR 1965 SC 202 as also other decisions to opine:

"23. Common object would mean the purpose or design shared by all the members of such assembly. It may be formed at any stage.

24. Whether in a given case the accused persons shared common object or not, must be ascertained from the acts and conduct of the accused persons. The surrounding circumstances are also relevant and may be taken into consideration in arriving at a conclusion in this behalf.

25. It is in two parts. The first part would be attracted when the offence is committed in furtherance of the common object. The offence, even if is not committed in direct prosecution of the common object of the assembly, Section 149 IPC may still be attracted."

What was, therefore, emphasised was that not only the acts but also the conduct and surrounding circumstances would be the guiding factors.

31. In Shankaraya Naik v. State of Karnataka, (2008) 14 SCC 685, this Court held:

"15. ... It is clear from the record that the accused had come to the place of incident duly armed and had immediately proceeded with the attack on the opposite party and had caused serious injuries to the deceased and to as many as eight witnesses. It is also clear from the facts preceding the attack that there was great animosity between the parties and it must, therefore, be inferred that when the accused had come armed with lethal weapons, the chance that somebody might be killed was a real possibility."

32. In Maranadu v. State, (2008) 16 SCC 529, this Court stated the law, thus

"17. 'Common object' is different from 'common intention' as it does not require a prior concert and a common meeting of minds before the attack. It is enough if each has the same object in view and their number is five or more and that they act as an assembly to achieve that object. The 'common object' of an assembly is to be ascertained from the acts and language of the members composing it, and from a consideration of all the surrounding circumstances. It may be gathered from the course of conduct adopted by the members of the assembly. For determination of the common object of the unlawful assembly, the conduct of each of the members of the unlawful assembly, before and at the time of attack and thereafter, the motive for the crime, are some of the relevant considerations. What the common object of the unlawful assembly is at a particular stage of the incident is essentially a question of fact to be determined, keeping in view the nature of the assembly, the arms carried by the members, and the behaviour of the members at or near the scene of the incident. It is not necessary under law that in all cases of unlawful assembly, with an unlawful common object, the same must be translated into action or be successful. Under the Explanation to Section 141, an assembly which was not unlawful when it was assembled, may subsequently become unlawful. It is not necessary that the intention or the purpose, which is necessary to render an assembly an unlawful one comes into existence at the outset. The time of forming an unlawful intent is not material. An assembly which, at its commencement or even for some time thereafter, is lawful, may subsequently become unlawful. In other words it can develop during the course of incident at the spot eo instanti."

33. We may, however, notice that in Maranadu case (supra) this Court had taken note of an earlier decision of this Court in State of U.P. v. Dan Singh, (1997) 3 SCC 747, wherein it was held:

"34. Mr Lalit is right in submitting that the witnesses would be revengeful as a large-scale violence had taken place where the party, to which the eyewitnesses belonged, had suffered and it is, therefore, necessary to fix the identity and participation of each accused with reasonable certainty. Dealing with a similar case of riot where a large number of assailants who were members of an unlawful assembly committed an offence of murder in pursuance of a common object, the manner in which the evidence should be appreciated was adverted to by this Court in Masalti case as follows:

'15. Then it is urged that the evidence given by the witnesses conforms to the same uniform pattern and since no specific part is assigned to all the assailants, that evidence should not have been accepted. This criticism again is not well founded. Where a crowd of assailants who are members of an unlawful assembly proceeds to commit an offence of murder in pursuance of the common object of the unlawful assembly, it is often not possible for witnesses to describe accurately the part played by each one of the assailants. Besides, if a large crowd of persons armed with weapons assaults the intended victims, it may not be necessary that all of them have to take part in the actual assault. In the present case, for instance, several weapons were carried by different members of the unlawful assembly, but it appears that the guns were used and that was enough to kill 5 persons. In such a case, it would be unreasonable to contend that because the other weapons carried by the members of the unlawful assembly were not used, the story in regard to the said weapons itself should be rejected. Appreciation of evidence in such a complex case is no doubt a difficult task; but criminal courts have to do their best in dealing with such cases and it is their duty to sift the evidence carefully and decide which part of it is true and which is not.' "

34. The decisions of this Court in Shankaraya Naik, (2008) 14 SCC 685 and Maranadu, (2008) 16 SCC 529, therefore, do not militate against the proposition of law in regard to appreciation of evidence, which we have to apply herein.

35. The prosecution in a case of this nature was required to establish: (i) whether the appellants were present; and (ii) whether they shared a common object."

451.3 The learned counsel for the appellants further placed reliance upon the decisions of the Supreme Court in Masalti v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 1965 SC 202, Musa Khan v. State of Maharashtra, (1977) 1 SCC 733, and State of U.P. v. Dan Singh, (1997) 3 SCC 747, which already find reference in the decisions cited hereinabove, and hence, it is not necessary to reiterate the same.

451.4 Reliance was placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Ek Nath Ganpat Aher v. State of Maharashtra, (2010) 6 SCC 519, wherein the Supreme Court held thus:

23. In our considered opinion the aforesaid approach of the courts below was incorrect. Nine persons including four witnesses belonging to the complainant party received injuries whereas as many as 14 accused persons received injuries including some who even suffered grievous injuries. Admittedly, there was a mob of about 75-100 persons who descended from the hillside to the place of occurrence by pelting stones and a melee followed. Not even a single witness including the injured witnesses could specifically state as to who had caused which injury either to the deceased or to the injured witnesses or to the accused. A very general statement has been made that the accused persons were armed with deadly weapons and caused injuries to the complainant party. In a situation where a mob of 75-100 persons entered into a clash with the complainant party it could not have been possible for any of the witnesses, who would naturally be concerned with their own safety and to save themselves from the assault, to see as to who had inflicted what type of injury either on the deceased or on the injured witnesses.

24. In view of such omnibus and vague statements given by the witnesses, the Court below acquitted as many as 21 accused persons on the ground that there is no evidence on record to implicate them in the offences alleged. There being no other evidence to specifically ascribe any definite role to any of the 14 appellants herein, it is difficult to hold that any of the present appellant had inflicted any particular injury on any of the deceased or the injured witnesses. Unless there is cogent and specific evidence attributing a specific role in the incident to the accused persons, who have themselves been injured and there being no explanation forthcoming as to such injuries, it would be unsafe to pass an order recording conviction and sentence against the appellants, more so when the prosecution has produced, in support of its case, witnesses who are inimical to the accused persons.

452. On the other hand Mr. Prashant Desai, learned Special Public Prosecutor, submitted that the trial court has appreciated the evidence in proper perspective while finding that the appellants are guilty of the offence under section 149 of the Penal Code for the offences that were committed throughout the day. It was submitted that in the facts of the present case, it is likely that the members of the mob were aware that grievous hurt is likely to be caused, though at the initial stage the members did not know about the grievous hurt. Therefore, all the accused are covered also under the second part of section 149 of the Penal Code and their appeal deserves to be dismissed and their conviction for the offences under section 302, 326, etc. read with section 149 of the Penal Code is required to be upheld.

452.1 In support of his submissions, the learned Special Public Prosecutor placed reliance upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Gangadhar Behera v. State of Orissa, (2002) 8 SCC 381:

“22. Another plea which was emphasized relates to the question whether Section 149 IPC has any application for fastening the constructive liability which is the sine qua non for its operation. The emphasis is on the common object and not on common intention. Mere presence in an unlawful assembly cannot render a person liable unless there was a common object and he was actuated by that common object and that object is one of those set out in Section 141. Where common object of an unlawful assembly is not proved, the accused persons cannot be convicted with the help of Section 149. The crucial question to determine is whether the assembly consisted of five or more persons and whether the said persons entertained one or more of the common objects, as specified in Section 141. It cannot be laid down as a general proposition of law that unless an overt act is proved against a person, who is alleged to be a member of an unlawful assembly, it cannot be said that he is a member of an assembly. The only thing required is that he should have understood that the assembly was unlawful and was likely to commit any of the acts which fall within the purview of Section 141. The word "object" means the purpose or design and, in order to make it "common", it must be shared by all. In other words, the object should be common to the persons, who compose the assembly, that is to say, they should all be aware of it and concur in it. A common object may be formed by express agreement after mutual consultation, but that is by no means necessary. It may be formed at any stage by all or a few members of the assembly and the other members may just join and adopt it. Once formed, it need not continue to be the same. It may be modified or altered or abandoned at any stage. The expression "in prosecution of common object" as appearing in Section 149 has to be strictly construed as equivalent to "in order to attain the common object"? It must be immediately connected with the common object by virtue of the nature of the object. There must be community of object and the object may exist only up to a particular stage, and not thereafter. Members of an unlawful assembly may have community of object up to a certain point beyond which they may differ in their objects and the knowledge, possessed by each member of what is likely to be committed in prosecution of their common object may vary not only according to the information at his command, but also according to the extent to which he shares the community of object, and as a consequence of this the effect of Section 149 IPC may be different on different members of the same assembly.

23. "Common object" is different from a "common intention" as it does not require a prior concert and a common meeting of minds before the attack. It is enough if each has the same object in view and their number is five or more and that they act as an assembly to achieve that object. The "common object" of an assembly is to be ascertained from the acts and language of the members composing it, and from a consideration of all the surrounding circumstances. It may be gathered from the course of conduct adopted by the members of the assembly. What the common object of the unlawful assembly is at a particular stage of the incident is essentially a question of fact to be determined, keeping in view the nature of the assembly, the arms carried by the members, and the behaviour of the members at or near the scene of the incident. It is not necessary under law that in all cases of unlawful assembly, with an unlawful common object, the same must be translated into action or be successful. Under the Explanation to Section 141, an assembly which was not unlawful when it was assembled, may subsequently become unlawful. It is not necessary that the intention or the purpose, which is necessary to render an assembly an unlawful one comes into existence at the outset. The time of forming an unlawful intent is not material. An assembly which, at its commencement or even for some time thereafter, is lawful, may subsequently become unlawful. In other words it can develop during the course of incident on the spot eo instanti.

24. Section 149 IPC consists of two parts. The first part of the section means that the offence to be committed in prosecution of the common object must be one which is committed with a view to accomplish the common object. In order that the offence may fall within the first part, the offence must be connected immediately with the common object of the unlawful assembly of which the accused was a member. Even if the offence committed is not in direct prosecution of the common object of the assembly, it may yet fall under Section 141, if it can be held that the offence was such as the members knew was likely to be committed and this is what is required in the second part of the section. The purpose for which the members of the assembly set out or desired to achieve is the object. If the object desired by all the members is the same, the knowledge that is the object which is being pursued is shared by all the members and they are in general agreement as to how it is to be achieved and that is now the common object of the assembly. An object is entertained in the human mind, and it being merely a mental attitude, no direct evidence can be available and, like intention, has generally to be gathered from the act which the person commits and the result therefrom. Though no hard-and-fast rule can be laid down under the circumstances from which the common object can be culled out, it may reasonably be collected from the nature of the assembly, arms it carries and behaviour at or before or after the scene of incident. The word "knew" used in the second branch of the section implies something more than a possibility and it cannot be made to bear the sense of "might have been known". Positive knowledge is necessary. When an offence is committed in prosecution of the common object, it would generally be an offence which the members of the unlawful assembly knew was likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. That, however, does not make the converse proposition true; there may be cases which would come within the second part but not within the first part. The distinction between the two parts of Section 149 cannot be ignored or obliterated. In every case it would be an issue to be determined, whether the offence committed falls within the first part or it was an offence such as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object and falls within the second part. However, there may be cases which would be within the first, offences committed in prosecution of the common object would be generally, if not always, within the second, namely, offences which the parties knew were likely to be committed in the prosecution of the common object. (See Chikkarange Gowda v. State of Mysore, AIR 1956 SC 731)

25. The other plea that definite roles have not been ascribed to the accused and therefore Section 149 is not applicable, is untenable. A four-Judge Bench of this Court in Masalti case, AIR 1965 SC 202, observed as follows:

"15. Then it is urged that the evidence given by the witnesses conforms to the same uniform pattern and since no specific part is assigned to all the assailants, that evidence should not have been accepted. This criticism again is not well founded. Where a crowd of assailants who are members of an unlawful assembly proceeds to commit an offence of murder in pursuance of the common object of the unlawful assembly, it is often not possible for witnesses to describe accurately the part played by each one of the assailants. Besides, if a large crowd of persons armed with weapons assaults the intended victims, it may not be necessary that all of them have to take part in the actual assault. In the present case, for instance, several weapons were carried by different members of the unlawful assembly, but it appears that the guns were used and that was enough to kill 5 persons. In such a case, it would be unreasonable to contend that because the other weapons carried by the members of the unlawful assembly were not used, the story in regard to the said weapons itself should be rejected. Appreciation of evidence in such a complex case is no doubt a difficult task; but criminal courts have to do their best in dealing with such cases and it is their duty to sift the evidence carefully and decide which part of it is true and which is not."

26. To similar effect is the observation in Lalji v. State of U.P., (1989) 1 SCC 437. It was observed that:

"Common object of the unlawful assembly can be gathered from the nature of the assembly, arms used by them and the behaviour of the assembly at or before the scene of occurrence. It is an inference to be deduced from the facts and circumstances of each case."

27. In State of U.P. v. Dan Singh, (1997) 3 SCC 747, it was observed that it is not necessary for the prosecution to prove which of the members of the unlawful assembly did which or what act. Reference was made to Lalji case (supra) where it was observed that:

"While overt act and active participation may indicate common intention of the person perpetrating the crime, the mere presence in the unlawful assembly may fasten vicariously criminal liability under Section 149."

452.2 Reference was made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Yunis v. State of M.P., (2003) 1 SCC 425 wherein it was held thus:

9. The learned counsel appearing for appellant Liyaquat argued that no overt act is imputed to his client and he was being implicated only on the basis of Section 149 IPC. This argument, in our view, has no merit. Even if no overt act is imputed to a particular person, when the charge is under Section 149 IPC, the presence of the accused as part of an unlawful assembly is sufficient for conviction.

The fact that Liyaquat was a member of the unlawful assembly is sufficient to hold him guilty. The presence of Liyaquat has not been disputed.

452.3 The decision of the Supreme Court in Vishnu v. State of Rajasthan, (2009) 10 SCC 477 was relied upon, wherein it has been held thus:

44. The plea that the provisions of Section 149 IPC would not be attracted to the facts of the case and therefore the appellants who had not played overt act in causing injury to deceased Sukh Lal could not have been convicted under Section 302 with the aid of Section 149 IPC has no substance.

45. Section 149 of the Penal Code provides for vicarious liability. If an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of a common object thereof or such as the members of that assembly knew that the offence to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who at the time of committing that offence was member would be guilty of the offence committed. The common object may be commission of one offence while there may be likelihood of commission of yet another offence, the knowledge whereof is capable of being safely attributable to the members of the unlawful assembly. Whether a member of such unlawful assembly was aware as regards likelihood of commission of another offence or not would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case. Background of the incident, the motive, the nature of the assembly, the nature of the arms carried by the members of the assembly, their common object and the behaviour of the members soon before, at or after the actual commission of the crime would be relevant factors for drawing an inference in that behalf.

46. The record unmistakably indicates that accused Lata who is now acquitted by the High Court, had gone to the place where the first informant and his relatives were watching sports event, to inform appellant Bhanwar Lal and others that Jatavas were plying tractor in the disputed land. The evidence of the complainant shows that the moment the said information was conveyed by Lata, Kanhaiya Lal i.e. father of appellant Bhanwar Lal had loudly shouted that where all their people had gone, upon which Babu Devta, Mahesh, Brahmanand, Kanta, Vishnu, Din Dayal, Kailash, Bhagwan Lal, Bhanwar Lal, Lata, etc. had armed themselves with different weapons including axes and started proceeding towards the disputed land.

47. The appellants were knowing fully well that the land was allotted to Jatavas and they were entitled to cultivate the same, but with a view to preventing them from cultivating the land, the appellants with others had gone to the disputed land with weapons and started attacking the first informant and his relatives. Having regard to the definition of the word “unlawful assembly” as given in Section 141 IPC there is no manner of doubt that the appellants were members of unlawful assembly, common intention of which was to mount attack and cause injuries to Jatavas.

48. The evidence of the informant proves that first of all he was assaulted after which his wife was assaulted and thereafter his brother Ram Khiladi was assaulted. His evidence further establishes that his father Harmukh, his mother Sua Bai, his wife Birma Bai were also assaulted by the appellants and others. His evidence further shows that deceased Sukh Lal with his wife was running towards the house to save himself but the appellants had chased him and after overtaking him, delivered blows with dangerous weapons and sticks as a result of which he lost his life on the spot. The appellants and others who had come in a group had left the place of incident together.

49. The cumulative effect of the circumstances proved by the prosecution is such that the intention of the unlawful assembly was to cause death of Sukh Lal and to cause injuries to the injured witnesses. Thus the conviction of the appellants under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC cannot be said to be erroneous at all and no ground is made out to interfere with the same in the instant appeal.”

452.4 Reliance was also placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Annareddy Sambasiva Reddy v. State of A.P., (2009) 12 SCC 546, wherein it was held thus:

“43. In Nanak Chand, AIR 1955 SC 274, this Court stated:

“7. ... There is a clear distinction between the provisions of Sections 34 and 149 IPC and the two sections are not to be confused. The principal element in Section 34 IPC is the common intention to commit a crime. In furtherance of the common intention several acts may be done by several persons resulting in the commission of that crime. In such a situation Section 34 provides that each one of them would be liable for that crime in the same manner as if all the acts resulting in that crime had been done by him alone. There is no question of common intention in Section 149 IPC. An offence may be committed by a member of an unlawful assembly and the other members will be liable for that offence although there was no common intention between that person and other members of the unlawful assembly to commit that offence provided the conditions laid down in the section are fulfilled. Thus if the offence committed by that person is in prosecution of the common object of the unlawful assembly or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object, every member of the unlawful assembly would be guilty of that offence, although there may have been no common intention and no participation by the other members in the actual commission of that offence.”

“44. In Umesh Singh, (2000) 6 SCC 89, while dealing with Section 149 IPC, this Court held:

*“4. Vicarious liability, we may state, as rightly contended for the State by Shri B.B. Singh relying upon the decisions of this Court in Shamshul Kanwar v. State of U.P., (1995) 4 SCC 430 and Bhajan Singh v. State of U.P., (1974) 4 SCC 568, extends to members of the unlawful assembly only in respect of acts done in pursuance of the common object of the unlawful assembly or such offences as the members of the unlawful assembly are likely to commit in the execution of that common object. An accused whose case falls within the terms of Section 149 IPC as aforesaid cannot put forward the defence that he did* not with his own hand commit the offence committed in prosecution of the common object of the unlawful assembly or such as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object. Everyone must be taken to have intended the probable and natural results of the combination of the acts in which he had joined. It is not necessary in all cases that all the persons forming an unlawful assembly must do some overt act. Where the accused had assembled together, armed with guns and lathis, and were parties to the assault on the deceased and others, the prosecution is not obliged to prove which specific overt act was done by which of the accused. Indeed the provisions of Section 149 IPC, if properly analysed will make it clear that it takes an accused out of the region of abetment and makes him responsible as a principal for the acts of each and all merely because he is a member of an unlawful assembly. We may also notice that under this provision, the liability of the other members for the offence committed during the continuance of the occurrence rests upon the fact whether the other members knew beforehand that the offence actually committed was likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. Such knowledge can reasonably be intended from the nature of the assembly, arms or behaviour, at or before the scene of action. If such knowledge may not reasonably be attributed to the other members of the assembly then their liability for the offence committed during the occurrence does not arise. Tested on this touchstone, we may safely say that in the present case when the appellants were members of an unlawful assembly which was armed with lathis and guns and a declaration had been made that in the event there is any resistance to the taking away of the paddy which is stated to have been the original object, they were willing to take the life of the deceased and take away the paddy. If that is the position, it is futile to contend for the appellants that their conviction is in any way bad."

47. Section 149 IPC creates constructive liability i.e. a person who is a member of an unlawful assembly is made guilty of the offence committed by another member of the same assembly in the circumstances mentioned in the section, although he may have had no intention to commit that offence and had done no overt act except his presence in the assembly and sharing the common object of that assembly.”

453. FINDINGS: In the backdrop of the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the respective parties and the authorities cited at the bar, the applicability or otherwise of the provisions of section 149 of the Penal Code is required to be examined. If the court comes to the conclusion that the provisions of section 149 of the Penal Code would be attracted and that the accused persons had in fact formed an unlawful assembly, two other questions would also have to be addressed. This being a riot case where there are a large number of witnesses and a large number of accused, whether the proposition advanced by the learned counsel for the appellants to apply a two, three or four witnesses theory in case of each accused should be accepted. Another important question that arises for consideration is that this is not a case of a single incident or a series of incidents at one place at one time, but is an incident which has started in the morning and continued till night and several scattered incidents have taken place throughout the day at different places in the Naroda Patiya area. From the testimonies of the witnesses it emerges that some accused have been implicated only in the incidents that took place in the morning, some are implicated in the incidents that took place in the afternoon and some are implicated in the incidents that took place in the evening. Some of the accused are implicated in incidents that took place in the morning as well as afternoon, some in the incidents that took place in the morning and evening, some have been implicated in the afternoon and evening incidents and some have been implicated in incidents that took place in the morning, afternoon as well as in the evening. Some of the accused have been implicated only in the incidents that took place on the road without there being any reference to their presence inside the chawls, though the time may be in the afternoon. Thus, the question that arises is whether all the accused can be held guilty of the offences that took throughout the day by invoking section 149 of the Penal Code or whether section 149 can be invoked to the extent of the offences committed at that time of the day. Yet another question that would arise for consideration is if the two witnesses theory is adopted, as to how to apply such theory? Whether the court should insist upon two witnesses having deposed regarding individual incidents or two witnesses deposing regarding any incident that took place at any time of the day in which the accused are sought to be involved.

454. At the outset the legal position may be examined. From the decisions cited by the learned counsel for the respective parties, the following principles can be culled out:

- The concept of common object, it is well known, is different from common intention. It is true that so far as common object is concerned no prior concert is required. Common object can be formed on the spur of the moment. Course of conduct adopted by the members of the assembly, however, is a relevant factor. At what point of time the common object of the unlawful assembly was formed would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case.

Section 149 IPC creates a specific and distinct offence. There are two essential ingredients thereof:

- (i) commission of an offence by any member of an unlawful assembly, and
- (ii) such offence must have been committed in prosecution of the common object of that assembly or must be such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed.

It is, thus, essential to prove that the person sought to be charged with an offence with the aid of Section 149 was a member of the unlawful assembly at the time the offence was committed.

- The essence of section 149 IPC is that a member of an unlawful assembly is responsible for the acts committed by any other member of the assembly in the same measure as the person committing such an act himself is. The section thereby creates a vicarious or constructive liability for all those who share the common object of the unlawful assembly provided the acts constituting the offence are done in pursuit of the common object of the unlawful assembly or are acts which the members of the unlawful assembly knew to be likely to be committed in pursuance of that object.
- Mere presence in an assembly does not make a person a member of the unlawful assembly, unless it is shown that he had done or omitted to do something which would show that he was a member of the unlawful assembly or unless the case fell under section 142 IPC.

- Cases in which persons who are merely passive witnesses and had joined the assembly out of curiosity, without sharing the common object of the assembly stand on a different footing; otherwise it is not necessary to prove that the person had committed some illegal act or was guilty of some omission in pursuance of the common object of the assembly before he could be fastened with the consequences of an act committed by any other member of the assembly with the help of Section 149 IPC.
- The crucial question to determine in such a case is whether the assembly consisted of five or more persons and whether the said persons entertained one or more of the common objects as specified by Section 141. While determining this question, it becomes relevant to consider whether the assembly consisted of some persons who were merely passive witnesses and had joined the assembly as a matter of idle curiosity without intending to entertain the common object of the assembly.
- Where a criminal court has to deal with evidence pertaining to the commission of an offence involving a large number of offenders and a large number of victims, it is usual to adopt the test that the conviction could be sustained only if it is supported by two or three or more witnesses who give a consistent account of the incident. In a sense, the test may be described as mechanical; but it cannot be treated as irrational or unreasonable. It is, no doubt, the quality of the evidence that matters and not the number of witnesses who give such evidence. But sometimes it is useful to adopt such a test. When a criminal court has to deal with evidence pertaining to the commission of an offence involving a large number of offenders and a large number of victims, the normal test is that the conviction could be sustained only if it is supported by two or more witnesses who give a consistent account of the incident in question.

- It is well settled that a mere innocent presence in an assembly of persons, as for example a bystander, does not make the accused a member of an unlawful assembly, unless it is shown by direct or circumstantial evidence that the accused shared the common object of the assembly. Thus a court is not entitled to presume that any and every person who is proved to have been present near a riotous mob at any time or to have joined or left it at any stage during its activities is in law guilty of every act committed by it from the beginning to the end, or that each member of such a crowd must from the beginning have anticipated and contemplated the nature of the illegal activities in which the assembly would subsequently indulge. In other words, it must be proved in each case that the person concerned was not only a member of the unlawful assembly at some stage, but at all the crucial stages and shared the common object of the assembly at all these stages.
- Whether in a given case the accused persons shared common object or not, must be ascertained from the acts and conduct of the accused persons. The surrounding circumstances are also relevant and may be taken into consideration in arriving at a conclusion in this behalf.

- Mere presence in an unlawful assembly cannot render a person liable unless there was a common object and he was actuated by that common object and that object is one of those set out in section 141. Where common object of an unlawful assembly is not proved, the accused persons cannot be convicted with the help of section 149. The crucial question to determine is whether the assembly consisted of five or more persons and whether the said persons entertained one or more of the common objects, as specified in section 141. It cannot be laid down as a general proposition of law that unless an overt act is proved against a person, who is alleged to be a member of an unlawful assembly, it cannot be said that he is a member of an assembly. The only thing required is that he should have understood that the assembly was unlawful and was likely to commit any of the acts which fall within the purview of section 141. The word "object" means the purpose or design and, in order to make it "common", it must be shared by all. In other words, the object should be common to the persons, who compose the assembly, that is to say, they should all be aware of it and concur in it. A common object may be formed by express agreement after mutual consultation, but that is by no means necessary. It may be formed at any stage by all or a few members of the assembly and the other members may just join and adopt it. Once formed, it need not continue to be the same. It may be modified or altered or abandoned at any stage.

- The expression “in prosecution of common object” as appearing in section 149 has to be strictly construed as equivalent to “in order to attain the common object”. It must be immediately connected with the common object by virtue of the nature of the object. There must be community of object and the object may exist only up to a particular stage, and not thereafter. Members of an unlawful assembly may have community of object up to a certain point beyond which they may differ in their objects and the knowledge, possessed by each member of what is likely to be committed in prosecution of their common object may vary not only according to the information at his command, but also according to the extent to which he shares the community of object, and as a consequence of this the effect of Section 149 IPC may be different on different members of the same assembly.
- An assembly which, at its commencement or even for some time thereafter, is lawful, may subsequently become unlawful. In other words it can develop during the course of incident on the spot eo instanti.
- When an offence is committed in prosecution of the common object, it would generally be an offence which the members of the unlawful assembly knew was likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. That, however, does not make the converse proposition true;

there may be cases which would come within the second part but not within the first part. The distinction between the two parts of section 149 cannot be ignored or obliterated. In every case it would be an issue to be determined, whether the offence committed falls within the first part or it was an offence such as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object and falls within the second part. However, there may be cases which would be within the first, offences committed in prosecution of the common object would be generally, if not always, within the second, namely, offences which the parties knew were likely to be committed in the prosecution of the common object.

- Even if no overt act is imputed to a particular person, when the charge is under section 149 IPC, the presence of the accused as part of an unlawful assembly is sufficient for conviction.

- Section 149 of the Penal Code provides for vicarious liability. If an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of a common object thereof or such as the members of that assembly knew that the offence to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who at the time of committing that offence was member would be guilty of the offence committed. The common object may be commission of one offence while there may be likelihood of commission of yet another offence, the knowledge whereof is capable of being safely attributable to the members of the unlawful assembly. Whether a member of such unlawful assembly was aware as regards likelihood of commission of another offence or not would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case. Background of the incident, the motive, the nature of the assembly, the nature of the arms carried by the members of the assembly, their common object and the behaviour of the members soon before, at or after the actual commission of the crime would be relevant factors for drawing an inference in that behalf.

- An accused whose case falls within the terms of section 149 IPC cannot put forward the defence that he did not with his own hand commit the offence committed in prosecution of the common object of the unlawful assembly or such as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object. Everyone must be taken to have intended the probable and natural results of the combination of the acts in which he had joined. It is not necessary in all cases that all the persons forming an unlawful assembly must do some overt act.

455. Examining the facts of the present case in the light of the above legal principles, the evidence on record indicates that on 27th February, 2002 a coach of the Sabarmati Express came to be set on fire at the Godhra Railway Station allegedly by members of a minority community. Several kar sevaks who had gone to Ayodhya were travelling in the coach and were burnt to death. The news was widely broadcast on television and sentiments were running high. On the next day, viz. 28th February, 2002, the dead bodies of the kar sevaks hailing from Ahmedabad were brought to the city. Some of the survivors were from the Naroda area, who upon their return narrated their versions of the incident that took place at Godhra thereby arousing a feeling of anger against the minority community amongst the Hindus in the area. On the morning of the 28th mobs started gathering on the road opposite the Noorani Masjid, a religious place of the minority community and its surrounding areas which are predominantly Muslim areas. Anticipating trouble, police points were placed at strategic points at and near the Noorani Masjid and the surrounding areas and the police were on stand to duty from 7:00 a.m. and there was constant patrolling by the police. Since there was a call for bandh by the VHP, most of the shops and business places were closed and the traffic had also come to a standstill, and hence, people who are not ordinary residents of that area would not be present there, unless they had come there with the intention of rioting. It could be that initially people may have come out of curiosity, but with the passage of time, the mobs grew larger and larger and resorted to stone pelting, destruction and arson. The evidence on record shows that the police who were present near the Noorani Masjid and the S.T. Workshop, made efforts to disperse the mobs, but to no avail. The mobs, after dispersing, would once again assemble, which is clearly indicative of the intention of the people in the mob to persist with the rioting. While it may be true that there may be onlookers or passersby, or people who might have come out only out of curiosity; however, once the police started dispersing the mob and at least when the curfew was imposed, such bystanders had no business to continue to remain present on the road. Once curfew was declared, no one could have lawfully gathered on the road.

Thus, while the people who joined the mob may have no connection with each other or there may have been no prior concert, but the fact is that the common object of the unlawful assembly which had gathered on the road in the morning is evident on the face of the record, namely, to damage and destroy the properties belonging to Muslims and to damage and destroy their religious place, viz. the Noorani Masjid. Section 149 of the Penal Code creates a vicarious or constructive liability for all those who share the common object of the unlawful assembly. Therefore, a member of the unlawful assembly is responsible for the acts committed by any other member of the assembly in the same measure as the person committing such an act himself. While persons who are merely passive witnesses and had joined the assembly out of curiosity, without sharing the common object stand on a different footing, in the opinion of this court, once the police called upon the mobs to disperse, it can be safely presumed that the persons who still remained in the mob were not innocent bystanders, but shared the common object of the mob.

456. Therefore, it can safely be assumed that all the accused whose presence is established on the highway opposite the Noorani Masjid and the S.T. Workshop and nearby areas shared the common object of the unlawful assembly of damaging, destroying and burning the properties of the Muslims as well as hurting their sentiments by destroying their religious place, the Noorani Masjid. The evidence on record indicates large scale destruction of the properties belonging to the minority community on both sides of the highway, be it shops, cabins, carts, vehicles or residential houses. These factors act as pointers towards the formation of an unlawful assembly.

457. The incidents that took place on the day of the incident are in three stages: (i) those incidents that took place in the morning, including incidents that took place on the road throughout the day; (ii) those incidents that took place inside the chawls in the afternoon; and (iii) the incidents that took place in the evening, including the incident that occurred at the passage of the water tank.

458. Insofar as the first stage is concerned, from the evidence of the witnesses, including the police witnesses, right from around 9:00 to 9:30 in the morning the mobs started pelting stones, thereafter they resorted to vandalism and burning the carts, cabins, stalls, shops, vehicles and residential houses of the Muslims on both sides of the road. They also pelted stones at the Noorani Masjid, damaged it and set it on fire. The evidence on record shows that many of the people in the mob were carrying cans of inflammable substances. The police witnesses have stated that they had made attempts to disperse the crowd, but in vain. The police had burst tear gas shells, resorted to lathi charge and firing but the mob did not disperse. Thus, despite the police asking the mobs to disperse, the members of the unlawful assembly, including the named accused, continued to remain in the mob, which ultimately resulted in large scale destruction of properties. However, from the evidence on record, though one Muslim youth died due to bullet injuries and six others sustained bullet injuries on the road in the morning, such injuries were sustained due to firing by the police. Insofar as the mobs are concerned, there is no evidence on record that to show that they had resorted to any physical violence and injured any person in the incidents that occurred on the road. One witness, viz. PW 52 Amina Abbas Belim has referred to incidents of violence on the road wherein the watchman of Mahavir Hall, his wife and his children, in all four persons, were killed by the mob on the road in front of her eyes and the mob had killed and hacked down all four and thrown them on the road. However, there is no evidence to corroborate the version of the witness, whom the court has even otherwise found to be not a credible witness. A few witnesses have also referred firing by private individuals; however, such version has come on record for the first time after more than six years at the time when the SIT recorded the statements of such witnesses. Moreover, the court after considering the evidence on record has come to the conclusion that the above persons were injured in police firing.

459. In the second stage, from the people in the mob, several persons entered the chawls from both the sides of the road, but mainly from the side of the S.T. Workshop. Once the mobs entered the chawls they resorted to ransacking and damaging the residential houses, shops and other personal properties of the Muslims and burning them. The inquest panchnamas show that dead bodies have been recovered from houses that were burnt down by the mob. When residential houses were set on fire, the people in the mob would have been aware that the persons inside would also sustain burn injuries or be burnt to death. Furthermore, incidents of violence took place in Hussainnagar in the afternoon hours, like the incident in which a violent mob dragged Hasanali out of his house and set him ablaze in the courtyard of Jadikhala's house. Though the accused involved in the offence have not been identified, the occurrence of the incident has been proved beyond reasonable doubt.

460. In the third stage, the incident of the breaking of the Jawannagar Wall occurred, whereafter there was large scale violence. Witnesses have deposed about various incidents in which members of their families have been assaulted and hacked to death and set ablaze by people in the mob. Mobs came from all sides, viz. the S.R.P. Quarters, the S.T. Workshop as well as from the side of the canal. The residents of the chawls were running from one place to another in search of safety and while trying to escape from the open ground beyond Gopinath Society, they were accosted by mobs from both sides and while trying to escape, they were caught in the passage of the water tank between Gangotri Society and Gopinath Society where the most gruesome massacre took place. The people in the mob climbed on the terrace of the tank and terrace of the adjoining shops and poured inflammable substances on the hapless victims. The mob caught hold of the victims and assaulted them and set them ablaze. Mattresses and quilts soaked with kerosene and petrol were thrown on them. Infants and children were thrown in the fire and roasted to death. Women, mostly young girls, were stripped naked, molested, raped and burnt alive. The final toll at and near the passage was fifty eight. Thus, while the offence committed near the passage is culpable homicide amounting to murder punishable under section 302 of the Penal Code, the gravity thereof is of a much greater degree, considering the brutal, savage, inhuman, barbaric and depraved manner in which it was committed, warranting a more severe sentence.

461. It is well settled that a court is not entitled to presume that any and every person who is proved to have been present near a riotous mob at any time or to have joined or left it at any stage during its activities is in law guilty of every act committed by it from the beginning to the end, or that each member of such a crowd must from the beginning have anticipated and contemplated the nature of the illegal activities in which the assembly would subsequently indulge. In other words, it must be proved in each case that the person concerned was not only a member of the unlawful assembly at some stage, but at all the crucial stages and shared the common object of the assembly at all these stages.

462. In the facts of the present case, except for the three accused who have been held guilty of the offence of criminal conspiracy under section 120 B of the Penal Code, insofar as the other accused are concerned, some of them have joined the unlawful assembly at the initial stage and have indulged in the offences committed on the road, viz. the first stage of incidents. Some of them have continued to remain in the unlawful assembly and indulged in the offences committed at the second stage. Some have joined at the second stage. Some have continued till the third stage or have joined at the third stage. From the evidence on record, there is nothing on record to indicate that the accused involved in the offences committed at one stage, had anticipated and contemplated the illegal activities in which the assembly would subsequently indulge. Thus, it will have to be proved that not only was an accused a member of the unlawful assembly, it will further have to be proved that the person concerned was also a member of the unlawful assembly at all the crucial stages and shared the common object at all these stages.

463. Since at the first stage, the unlawful assembly had indulged in damaging and destroying properties belonging to Muslims and setting them ablaze, including the religious place of the Muslims viz., the Noorani Masjid, the accused who are found to be members of the unlawful assembly and whose presence is established on the road, cannot be said to be involved in offences against the human body as there is no evidence of any person being assaulted or killed by the mob. Therefore, the accused whose presence has been established in the mob on the road in the morning hours as well as anytime of the day, would be guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148, 295, 427, 435, 436, 153, 153A, 153-A (2) read with section 149 of the Indian Penal Code unless it is proved that they shared a common object with the unlawful assembly at the other stages also, in which case they would be guilty of the offences committed at those stages also.

464. In the second stage, the unlawful assembly has indulged in damaging and destruction of properties and arson as well as assault and violence, resulting in the deaths of several persons on account of being burnt in their houses or on account of being done to death by the mob. Consequently, the accused whose presence is established in the chawls would be guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148, 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 323, 325, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Indian Penal Code.

465. In the third stage, the unlawful assembly has indulged in the most heinous offences of burning the victims alive in the most gruesome manner. Some of the members of the mob have also stripped young girls naked and have molested and raped them. However, such offences cannot be said to have been committed pursuant to the common object of the unlawful assembly and to that extent, the individual accused would have to be held guilty of the offence under sections 354 and 376 of the Penal Code. The accused whose presence is established in the chawls in the evening hours and more so, in or near the passage of the water tank between Gangotri and Gopinath Society would be guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148, 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 323, 325, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Indian Penal Code.

466. The next question that arises for consideration is whether or not to adopt the two to three witnesses theory propounded by the Supreme Court in case where the court has to deal with evidence pertaining to the commission of an offence involving a large number of offenders and a large number of victims by adopting the test that the conviction be sustained only if it is supported by two or three or more witnesses who give a consistent account of the incident.

467. Reference may be made at this stage to the relevant findings of the trial court while rejecting the request of the defence to adopt the two or three witness theory, which are extracted below:

“It is useful to draw a picture of the situation on that day. On 28/02/2002, it was a situation of total subversion and erosion of rule of law at Naroda Patiya right from about 9.30 a.m. or so to evening at least upto 08:30 p.m. With the highest respect, it needs to be stated that it is true that in Masalti's case, Dansingh's case etc. the fact situation was not like the case on hand, there were no frequent change in the investigating agency, there was no allegation that the investigating agency has helped a particular community against the another community, that case did not come for its trial after seven years, there was no transfer petition filed in that case before Hon'ble Supreme Court and in that case no need was noticed to constitute special investigating team on the ground that previous investigation was improper and even there was no order for further investigation, which all had happened in this case.

A very notable fact of this case is, since the trial has commenced after about 7 years or so and many PW had opportunity to testify after about 8 years, several prosecution witnesses have died. On account of the negative impact of the incidents viz., the communal riots, many of the PWs, many of the victims, who were nowhere heard and who have even left the city of Ahmedabad with the silence they have adopted and thus, the situation as is prevalent in routine communal riot cases, is not existing in this case that after the spur of moment things get settled itself.

Most importantly, because of dropping, death, unavailability, migration of the eyewitnesses for some of the accused in fact no PW was available though was available at the stage of investigation and for some of the accused now none is available and for some of the accused, only one or two PW are now available.

In these circumstances it is not prudent and proper to practice the need of two PW to involve the accused as at times even two are also not available to depose though in fact there were many witnesses, hence it would be in accordance with, the discussed citations, principles of appreciation of evidence, principle of justice, equity and propriety to practice the theory of need of one reliable PW to bring home guilt of the accused. Not adopting the policy would cause serious prejudice to the victims and it is also essential to strike the balance.

The benefit of examining many star eyewitnesses is now not available to the Court hence for the occurrence even if in 2002 there were many eyewitnesses today hardly one or may be two are available who have been examined as PW and even some of them have been dropped by the prosecution to avoid repetition.

Considering the above situation, if theory of two PW is practiced it is likely to cause serious prejudice to the prosecution / victims. After eight years it is already difficult for the prosecution to find out the victim and then after if such theory is practiced it would be amounting to adding injustice to the victims of riot. The usual theory of expecting at least one reliable PW is not going to cause any injustice to the accused and it would be very just and proper in the facts of the case.

To put a rough estimate it may be mentioned that, as the record reveals about 29 witnesses had died before the matter has reached its trial, about 18 witnesses were not found in spite of diligent efforts. Since these witnesses were not examined on account of their death and they being not found, it is very typical circumstance, the court did not have benefit of their first hand experience and version from personal knowledge, which needs consideration as even after this loss of witnesses to the prosecution the theory of need of two, three or four witnesses if would be practiced, then that would be prejudicing the interest of prosecution and of victim and ultimately of justice which cannot be permitted.

PW 263 was summoned to produce the record of learned Metropolitan Magistrate Court wherein numerous 'C' Summaries were filed by the Crime Branch which were filed during the tenure of the then I.O. Shri S.S. Chudasma. These 'C' Summaries were filed for many of the complaints. Along with the material certain statements, certain xerox and original printed complaint application and damage analysis forms were tagged. 'C' Summaries were filed on the ground that the complaint has been lodged by the mistake of fact. This was perhaps with reference to the fact that many complaints have been merged in the I-C.R.No.100/02 and others. About 24 R&P of C-Summaries have been summoned up which all have been exhibited as Exh.1776/1 to 1776/24. Some of such C-Summaries are worth discussing to know the kind of insufficient investigation done to highlight that this is a fit case to adopt the practice of sufficiency of one reliable PW to bring home the guilt, the strong circumstances pointing to the involvement of the accused right from the year, 2002, in the serious offences committed in the riot including of murders, slitting stomach of a pregnant woman, etc. gets confirmed even through this record."

468. With due respect to the findings recorded by the trial court, in the opinion of this court, the delay in the trial and change in investigation cannot be attributed to the accused, inasmuch as, it is not on account of any act on the part of the accused that the delay has occurred. Besides, it is for the prosecution to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt, and settled principles of law cannot be brushed aside on the ground that though witnesses were available at the relevant time, they are not available now. The record of the case reveals that, in all, 327 witnesses have been examined by the prosecution. Several witnesses who have not named any accused nor stated anything which could further the prosecution case, have been examined by the prosecution and several witnesses who had named the accused have been dropped. At the stage of trial, the trial court could have rejected the application for dropping witnesses, if it thought that such witnesses are important witnesses. Thus, when the prosecution deliberately drops witnesses whose testimonies may have supported its case and examines witnesses whose testimonies in no manner furthers its case, the accused cannot be put to a disadvantage and be deprived of the benefit of the legal principles established by the Supreme Court. Moreover, from the nature of the evidence which has come on record, wherein in some cases the court has found a witness to be credible subject to corroboration by some other witness, this court is of the view that it would not be proper to convict an accused on the basis of testimony of a single eye-witness. However, considering the manner in which the incident has occurred as well as considering the fact that the faces in the mob are seldom known faces, the court is of the view that the interests of justice would be sub-served if the two witnesses test is adopted.

469. The next question that arises for consideration is how to apply the two witnesses test. As discussed hereinabove, the incidents took place throughout the day and the witnesses have seen the accused at different parts of the day indulging in different offences at different spots in the area, viz., the Noorani Masjid and the areas nearby as well as on the road in front of the Noorani Masjid and the S.T. Workshop and the chawls situated on the side of the road beside the S.T. Workshop compound wall till the end of the road, viz. Gopinath Society. Therefore, should the court insist upon two witnesses who have named an accused in connection with the same incident or two witnesses who have named an accused in any incident that took place throughout the day? In the opinion of this court, considering the evidence which has come on record, as several incidents have taken place throughout the day it, it is quite natural that there may not be two eyewitnesses available in respect of each individual incident, consequently, it would not be proper to insist upon two witnesses testifying regarding the same incident. Therefore, if any two witnesses name and testify against a particular accused in any incident throughout the day, that should be considered as sufficient evidence against such accused, provided of course, that the court has found such witness to be a credible witness has accepted his/her testimony on its own strength.

470. After conducting such exercise, the next question which would be required to be addressed is when the accused who meet with the two witnesses test are identified, in what manner would section 149 of the Indian Penal Code operate qua each such accused? In other words, the question that arises for consideration is if the presence of the accused has been established only in the mob on the road in the morning or afternoon hours, where no offence against the human body has been found to have taken place, whether such accused can be held guilty for the commission of the offences under sections 323, 325, 326, 302, 307 and 440 read with section 149 of the Indian Penal Code.

471. At this juncture reference may be made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Najabhai Desurbhai Wagh v. Valerabhai Deganbhai Vagh, (supra) on which reliance has been placed by the learned counsel for the appellants, wherein it has been held thus:

9. Whether the High Court was right in acquitting the accused under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC is the question that falls for our consideration in this case. The essential ingredients and the width and amplitude of Section 149 as well as its applicability to the facts of the case have to be examined. It would be relevant to refer to Section 149 IPC which is as under:

“149. Every member of unlawful assembly guilty of offence committed in prosecution of common object.—If an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who, at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly, is guilty of that offence.”

10. A Full Bench of the Calcutta High Court analysed Section 149 IPC in the year 1873 in R. v. Sabed Ali, 1873 SCC OnLine Cal 64, Phear, J., speaking for the majority, held as under:

“... It seems to me clearly not the case that every offence which may be committed by one member of an unlawful assembly while the assembly is existing i.e. while the members are engaged in the prosecution of a common object, is attributed by Section 149 to every other member. The section describes the offence which is to be so attributed, under two alternative forms viz. it must be either, first — ‘an offence committed by a member of the unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly,’ or second — ‘an offence such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object.’

Now, inasmuch as the continuance of the unlawful assembly is by the definition of Section 141 made coterminous with the prosecution of the common object, it seems tolerably clear that the legislature must have employed the words "prosecution of the common object" with some difference of meaning in these two passages respectively. Also the mere fact that the legislature thought fit to express the second alternative appears to show very distinctly that it did not intend the words "in prosecution" which are found in the first to be equivalent "during the prosecution"; for if they were then the second alternative would have clearly been unnecessary. And a comparison with this passage of the language which is used in Section 460, where the legislature makes all the persons concerned in committing a burglary punishable with transportation for life, if any one of their number at the time of committing of burglary causes death, etc., strongly bears out this view. I am of opinion that an offence, in order to fall within the first of the above alternatives i.e. in order to be committed in the prosecution of the common object must be immediately connected with that common object by virtue of the nature of the object: for instance, if a body of armed men go out to fight, their common object is to cause bodily injury to their opponents, and in that case death, resulting from injury caused, would be homicide committed in prosecution of the common object. And an offence will fall within the second alternative if the members of the assembly, for any reason, knew beforehand that it was likely to be committed in the prosecution of the common object, though not knit thereto by nature of the object itself.

It seems, thus, on a little consideration, to be apparent that the two alternatives of Section 149 do not cover all possible cases of an offence being committed by one member of an unlawful assembly during the time when the common object of the assembly is being prosecuted. It follows that, in every trial of prisoners on a charge framed under the provisions of Section 149 of the Penal Code, even when it is proved that the specified offence was committed by one of the members of the assembly during, so to speak, the pendency of that assembly, it yet remains an issue of fact to be determined on the evidence, whether that offence was committed in prosecution of the common object, as I have endeavoured to explain the meaning of those words in the first part of the section; and, if not, whether it was an offence such as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in the prosecution of the object."

The Calcutta High Court was dealing with a case of riot over a dispute about a piece of land between Fukeer Buksh and Sabid Ali. Tureeboollah, who was a member of Sabid Ali's party of assailants, fired a gun and killed one Samed Ali. The trial court held that Tureeboollah was a member of the unlawful assembly of which the others in Sabid Ali's party were also members. It convicted all the accused under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC. The High Court held that the conviction under Section 149 was unsustainable. In a concurring opinion, Jackson, J. held as follows:

"It appears to me that the construction of this Section 149, that is, a construction which shall be at once reasonable grammatical, involves two difficulties, or at least two points which call for attentive consideration—first— "The common object."

second— "Or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in the prosecution of that object."

It has been proposed to interpret the "common object" in a precise sense so as to indicate the exact extent of violence to which the rioters intended to go, namely, to take possession of the land by force extending, if need be, to wounding and the like. This, I think, is not the sense in which the words were intended to be understood. They are not, it seems to me, used in the same sense as "the common intention" in Section 34, which means the intention of all, whatever it may have been. The words here seem to have manifest reference to the defining Section 141, and to point to one of the five objects, which being common to five or more persons assembled together, make their assembly unlawful. For this reason, I think that any attempt to mitigate the rigour of the section by limiting the construction of the words "common object" must fail, and that any offence done by a member of an unlawful assembly, in prosecution of the particular one or more of the five objects mentioned in Section 141, which is or are brought home to the unlawful assembly, to which the prisoner belonged, is an offence within the meaning of the first part of the section."

11. Pontifex, J. agreed with the majority and interpreted the word "knew" in Section 149 in the following terms:

"To bring the offence of murder, as defined by the Code, within Section 149, I think it must either necessarily flow from the prosecution of the common object; or it must so probably flow from the prosecution of the common object that each member might antecedently expect it to happen. The offence of murder as strictly defined by the Code, requires a previous intention or knowledge in the perpetrator; and to "know" that murder is likely to be committed, is to know that some member of the assembly has such previous intention or knowledge. The word "knew" used in the second branch of the section is, I think, advisedly used, and cannot be made to bear the sense of "might have known"."

12. This Court in Mizaji v. State of U.P., AIR 1959 SC 572, observing that various High Courts of India had interpreted Section 149 held that every case has to be decided on its own facts. This Court proceeded to deal with Section 149 in detail as under:

"6. ... The first part of the section means that the offence committed in prosecution of the common object must be one which is committed with a view to accomplish the common object. It is not necessary that there should be a preconcert in the sense of a meeting of the members of the unlawful assembly as to the common object; it is enough if it is adopted by all the members and is shared by all of them. In order that the case may fall under the first part the offence committed must be connected immediately with the common object of the unlawful assembly of which the accused were members. Even if the offence committed is not in direct prosecution of the common object of the assembly, it may yet fall under Section 149 if it can be held that the offence was such as the members knew was likely to be committed. The expression "know" does not mean a mere possibility, such as might or might not happen. For instance, it is a matter of common knowledge that when in a village a body of heavily armed men set out to take a woman by force, someone is likely to be killed and all the members of the unlawful assembly must be aware of that likelihood and would be guilty under the second part of Section 149. Similarly, if a body of persons go armed to take forcible possession of the land, it would be equally right to say that they have the knowledge that murder is likely to be committed if the circumstances as to the weapons carried and other conduct of the members of the unlawful assembly clearly point to such knowledge on the part of them all. There is a great deal to be said for the opinion of Couch, C.J., in Sabed Ali case (supra) that when an offence is committed in prosecution of the common object, it would generally be an offence which the members of the unlawful assembly knew was likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. That, however, does not make the converse proposition true; there may be cases which would come within the second part, but not within the first. The distinction between the two parts of Section 149 of the Penal Code cannot be ignored or obliterated. In every case it would be an issue to be determined whether the offence committed falls within the first part of Section 149 as explained above or it was an offence such as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object and falls within the second part."

Mizaji case (supra) was referred to and relied upon in a long line of decisions of this Court. (See e.g. Avtar Singh v. State of Haryana, (2012) 9 SCC 432, Roy Fernandes v. State of Goa, (2012) 3 SCC 221 and Lokeman Shah v. State of W.B., (2001) 5 SCC 235)

472. In the facts of the present case as is evident from the evidence which has come on record, mobs comprised of thousands of people gathered on the length and breadth of the road in front of the Noorani Masjid and the S.T. Workshop from

Natraj Hotel to the S.R.P. Quarters gate and beyond. This mob indulged in heavy stone throwing and damaging and destroying properties and setting them ablaze, as well as damaging and setting the Noorani Masjid on fire. While witnesses have attributed weapons in the hands of several accused, no overt act has been alleged by using such weapons. Therefore, insofar as the mob on the road is concerned, there is no allegation of any offence affecting the human body thereby attracting the provisions of sections 323, 325, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Indian Penal Code. Some of the accused named by the witnesses have been seen only in the mob on the road in the morning whereas the police witnesses have referred to the presence of some of the accused in the afternoon at around 2:00 to 3:00 p.m. However, except to the extent noted earlier, no allegation of any physical violence against any person has been alleged. Therefore, insofar as the common object of the unlawful assembly which was on the road is concerned, it appears that it was to damage and destroy the properties of the Muslims and to damage and destroy their religious place the Noorani Masjid. In the opinion of this court, the people who formed part of the unlawful assembly on the road in the morning or afternoon can be presumed to share the common object to the extent referred to hereinabove. There is no evidence on record, except in the case of the accused who have been found guilty of the offence of criminal conspiracy under section 120B of the Penal Code, that they knew that the offences which were committed by the unlawful assembly inside the chawls and in the passage of Gangotri and Gopinath Society and nearby areas were likely to be committed. Therefore, insofar as the acts committed by the unlawful assembly at different times of the day are concerned, those persons in the unlawful assembly who had left the assembly or were not part of the unlawful assembly subsequently cannot be held guilty of the offence committed inside the chawls and the societies on the rear side of the chawls. As held by the Supreme Court in the decisions cited hereinabove, a court is not entitled to presume that any and every person who is proved to have been present near a riotous mob at any time or to have joined or left it at any stage during its activities is in law guilty of every act committed by it from the beginning to the end, or that each member of such a crowd must from the beginning have anticipated and contemplated the nature of the illegal activities in which the assembly would subsequently indulge. In other words, it must be proved in each case that the person concerned was not only a member of the unlawful assembly at some stage, but at all the crucial stages and shared the common object of the assembly at all these stages. The complicity of the accused in a particular offence shall, therefore, be required to be decided on the basis of the presence of such accused at a particular stage.

XXXI OTHER OFFENCES:

473. Section 143 of the Penal Code: From the evidence on record, it has been clearly established that the accused whose presence has been established in the morning incidents and/or the afternoon incidents and or/ the evening incidents were members of an unlawful assembly as envisaged in section 141 of the Penal Code, inasmuch as more than five persons had assembled together with the common object as contemplated under the third clause of that section. Thus, such members of the unlawful assembly are clearly guilty of the offence punishable under section 143 of the Penal Code.

474. Section 147 of the Penal Code: The accused were members of an unlawful assembly which used force or violence as contemplated in section 146 of the Penal Code and thus committed the offence punishable under section 147 thereof.

475. Section 148 of the Penal Code: Having regard to the fact that several witnesses have deposed that the members of the unlawful assembly were armed with deadly weapons; the offence under section 148 of the Penal Code is duly established.

476. Section 188 of the Penal Code: In this case curfew was declared in the areas under the jurisdiction of the Naroda Police Station at about 12:30 in the afternoon on the day of the incident. Despite the fact that curfew had been declared, the accused continued to remain in the mob and disobeyed such directions. The offence under section 188 of the Penal Code is therefore clearly established against all the accused who did not obey the order of promulgation of curfew in the area.

477. Section 295 of the Penal Code: From the evidence on record it has been clearly established that the members of the unlawful assembly destroyed and damaged and set ablaze the Noorani Masjid, the place of worship of the Muslims and hence, the accused who participated in the offences that took place on the road are clearly guilty of the offence punishable under section 295 of the Penal Code.

478. Sections 427, 435, 436 and 440: The offence of mischief as contemplated in section 427 of the Penal Code as well the offence of mischief by fire or any explosive substance intending to cause damage to any property to the amount of one hundred rupees upwards as envisaged in section 435 and mischief by fire with intent to destroy any building which is ordinarily used as a place of worship or as a human dwelling place or as a place for the custody of property as envisaged in section 436 of the Penal Code are also clearly established.

479. Insofar as the offence under section 440 of the Penal Code is concerned, from the findings recorded by the trial court, the same relate to the offences of burning houses etc. inside the chawls. Therefore, insofar as the accused whose presence has been established only on the road are concerned, they cannot be held guilty of that offence.

480. Section 153A and section 153A(2) of the Penal Code: The fact that the unlawful assembly committed acts which are prejudicial to the maintenance of harmony between different religions and which disturbed the public tranquillity to a great extent are writ large over the manner in which the occurrences took place. Moreover, such offences also came to be committed in the Noorani Masjid which undisputedly is a place of worship and hence the offence under section 153A (2) of the Penal Code also stands established.

481. Sections 323 to 326 of the Penal Code: The trial court has discussed the applicability of these provisions at great length and hence it is not necessary to reiterate the same. Suffice it to state that through the testimonies of the injured witnesses as well as the medical witnesses, the prosecution has duly established the injuries sustained by the victims in the incidents that took place on the day of the incident, which range from simple to grievous injuries. Under the circumstances, the accused whose presence is established in the chawls at any time of the day are clearly guilty of the offences punishable under section 323, 324, 325 and 326 of the Penal Code.

482. Section 307 of the Penal Code: The evidence on record shows that the members of the unlawful assembly that entered the chawls set the houses on fire. Since the houses in the chawls were residential premises, the members of the mob would certainly be aware of the fact that the occupants of the house would be burnt to death or die due to asphyxia. Moreover, the evidence also shows that several victims have sustained injuries which could have resulted into death of such victims. Therefore, the offence of attempt to murder punishable under section 307 of the Penal Code is clearly established.

483. Section 302 of the Penal Code: The evidence on record shows that dead bodies of persons who were burnt to death were recovered from the houses in the chawl. There have been specific instances wherein the members of the unlawful assembly have killed persons, namely Hasanali brother of PW 135 Hussainabanu, who had been dragged out of his house, assaulted, tied to a cot and burnt to death in the afternoon hours at Hussainnagar; the incident wherein a handicapped boy Maiyuddin came to be assaulted and burnt to death at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon; the incident of Ayub who jumped from a terrace and was burnt to death by the mob; Kausarbanu who came to be done to death in the passage of the water tank between Gangotri and Gopinath Society; as well as several other incidents in which people belonging to the Muslim community were done to death. The offences have been committed from the morning hours; viz. after 11 o'clock and have continued till about 6 or 7 o'clock in the evening, culminating into the massacre that took place near the passage of the water tank. Thus, the offence of murder punishable under section 302 of the Penal Code is clearly established.

484. In the opinion of this court, instead of categorising the occurrences simply as morning, noon and evening offences, it would be more appropriate to categorise them as offences that took place on the road, offences that took place in the chawls and in the other areas in the morning, noon and evening offences. In the opinion of this court, those accused persons who remained only on the road, be it in the morning or noon, cannot be implicated for the offences committed inside the chawls by invoking section 149 of the Penal Code. The invocation of section 149 should be restricted to the offences committed on the road, inasmuch as there is nothing to establish that the accused whose presence is established only on the road shared the common object of the accused who committed the more serious offences inside the chawls.

485. It is in the aforesaid backdrop that the complicity of the individual accused is required to be examined by invoking section 149 of the Penal Code.

XXXII COMPLICITY OF INDIVIDUAL ACCUSED WHO HAVE BEEN CONVICTED BY THE TRIAL COURT:

486. In the light of the testimonies of the witnesses as discussed hereinabove, the complicity of each individual accused may now be examined: (The names of the witnesses whose testimonies have been found to be credible in respect of a particular accused have been shown in bold and the witnesses whose testimonies have been found to be acceptable subject to corroboration by some other witness are shown in italics.)

487. Accused No.1 Naresh Agarsinh Chhara @ Nariyo: This accused has been named by in all fifteen witnesses.

1. PW-73 Basubhai Mayuddin Saiyed: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob near the Noorani Masjid from 8:00 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. However, this court while considering the credibility of this witness has found that his testimony cannot be taken into consideration qua this accused.

2. PW-145 Shahnawazkhan Abbaskhan Pathan: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused along with other named accused in the mob which had vandalized his house which is situated in Hukamsing-ni-Chali and set it on fire at around 11 o'clock in the morning. This witness has been found to a credible and truthful witness.

3. PW-149 Faridabanu Abdulkadar Khalifa:This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob near the Noorani Masjid between 9:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m. as well as having seen him in the mob at Jawannagar at about 7:00 p.m. This witness has been found to be credible and trustworthy and hence, through her evidence the presence of this accused in the mob in the morning as well as in the evening is duly established.

4. PW-156 Abdulmajid Mohammadusman Shaikh:This witness has named this accused in the incident of burning of Ayub in the afternoon at about 4 o'clock before the police in his statement dated 15.4.2002 as well as before the SIT. Before the SIT there was a slight improvement regarding Ayub being put in a rickshaw and burnt, however, as regards the involvement of the accused in the incident, he is consistent. This court has found the testimony of this witness to be credible qua this accused.

5. PW-172 Arifali Kasamali Saiyed:This witness has deposed about the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning at 9:00 a.m. This witness has been found to be credible and hence, his testimony against this accused deserves to be accepted.

6. *PW-182 Bhikhabhai Habibbhai Mansuri:*This witness has seen this accused on the road near the Noorani Masjid at about 9:00 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. The testimony of this witness has been found to be credible, subject to corroboration by some other witness.

7. PW-184 Mahammad Hanif Yusufbhai Shaikh:This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob near Noorani Masjid at 9:00 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. This witness has been found to be credible and trustworthy insofar as implication of this accused is concerned.

8. PW-189 Mahammadimran Imtiazhussain Momin: This witness has deposed that he had seen the accused in the mob at 2:30 to 3:00 which was indulging in looting and assaulting. Through the testimony of this witness, the presence and involvement of this accused in the mob which was looting household goods and committing loot and arson and assault has been found to be established.

9. PW-192 Rasidabanu Imtiazhussain Momin: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob on the road in the morning, however, her testimony has not been found to be credible against this accused.

10. PW-202 Samsuddin Shahbuddin Rathod: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. The witness has been found to be credible and trustworthy qua this accused.

11. PW-209 Shabana Bundubhai Kureshi: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob in the passage of the water tank, however, the testimony of this witness though found to be credible as regards the version of the events that took place on that day, has not been found to be credible insofar as the accused named by her are concerned.

12. PW-212 Rukshana Bundubhai Kureshi: This witness has deposed that this accused was in the mob which had assaulted her mother in the passage of the water tank. The testimony of this witness, though found to be otherwise credible and trustworthy, has not been found to be credible as regards the accused named by her.

13. PW-264 Kirankumar Parsottambhai Makwana: This witness, who is a police witness, has deposed regarding having seen this accused on the road in the morning. This witness has been found to be credible qua the accused named by him.

14. PW-265 ASI Sajjansingh Jaswantsingh Puvar: This witness, who is a police witness, has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob pelting stones and throwing burning rags. This witness has been found to be credible as regards the accused named by him.

15. PW-267 Manubhai Madhabhai Rathod: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the Hindu mob on the road in the morning. This witness has been found to be credible qua the accused named by him.

488. FINDINGS: Thus, as many as ten witnesses, viz., PW-145, PW-149, PW-156, PW-172, PW-184, PW-189, PW-202, PW-264, PW-265 and PW-267, who have been found to be credible and trustworthy witnesses have deposed regarding the presence/involvement of this accused at the scene of incident on the road in the morning, in the chawls in the afternoon as well as at Jawannagar in the evening and the testimony of one witness, viz., PW-182, who has referred to his presence in the mob in the morning has been found to be credible subject to corroboration by some other witness. Thus, through the testimonies of these witnesses, the prosecution has duly established the presence of this accused at the scene of offence in the morning, afternoon and evening incidents. This accused has therefore, rightly been held guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 153A (2), 323, 324, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Penal Code as well as under section 188 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act. The judgment of conviction and sentence qua those offences, therefore, deserves to be sustained. However, the order of conviction and sentence for the offence punishable under section 120B of the Penal Code is required to be set aside.

489. Accused No.2 Morlibhai Naranbhai Sindhi @ Murli: This accused has been named by, in all, nine witnesses.

1. PW-104 Mahammadsalim Mahammadhussain Shaikh: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob and firing on Mustaq in the morning between 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. This witness has not been found to be a credible witness.

2. PW-115 Ibrahimbhai Chhotubhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob at 10:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m., however, he has not been found to be credible as regards this accused.

3. PW-143 Dildar Umrao Saiyed: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob at 12:00 noon as well as in the mob near the S.R.P. Quarters in the evening at 5:30 to 6:00 p.m. and in the incident of Ayub at Jawannagar at 6:15 to 6:30 p.m. This court has found this witness not a credible witness and hence, his testimony cannot be relied upon.

4. PW-145 Shahnawazkhan Abbaskhan Pathan: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused along with other named accused in the mob which had vandalized his house which is situated in Hukamsing-ni-Chali and set it on fire at around 11 o'clock in the morning. This witness has been found to a credible and truthful witness.

5. PW-149 Faridabanu Abdulkadar Khalifa: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob on the road at 9:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m., however, this witness is not found to be credible as regards this accused.

6. PW-184 Mahammad Hanif Yusufbhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed having seen this accused instigating the mob and attacking the Muslims in the morning. The testimony of this witness, however, has not been found to be credible qua this accused.

7. PW-236 Siddiqbhai Allabux Mansuri: This witness has not named this accused but has only identified him in the court by his face as being the leader of the mob. The court has found the testimony of this witness to be not credible qua this accused.

8. PW-261 Mariambibi Hasanbhai Saiyed: This witness has named this accused as one of the persons who broke the door of her house and took her son Maiyuddin out of her house and set him ablaze. This witness has been found to be credible and, therefore, through her testimony the presence of this accused in the incident in question is duly established.

9. Two witnesses, namely, PW-105 Hussainbhai Valibhai Kaladiya and PW-204 Abdulrazzak Abdulrehman have neither named this accused nor implicated him but have wrongly identified him in place of the accused named by them.

490. FINDINGS: Thus, out of nine witnesses who have deposed against this accused two credible witnesses have testified against him. PW 261 Mariambibi Hasanbhai Saiyed has named this accused in the incident of assaulting and burning her son Maiyuddin in the afternoon hours, and PW 145 Shahnawazkhan Abbaskhan Pathan has deposed that he had seen him in the mob which was looting and setting the houses on fire at about 11:00 a.m. on the day of the incident.

Thus, two witnesses whose testimonies have been accepted on their own strength have testified against this accused. Therefore, the two witnesses test stands satisfied in the case of this accused. The presence of this accused in the chawls from around 11:00 in the morning till around 4:00 to 5:00 in the evening stands established. This accused has, therefore, rightly been held guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 153A

(2), 323, 324, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Penal Code as well as under section 188 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act. The judgment of conviction and sentence qua those offences, therefore, deserves to be sustained. However, his conviction for the offence punishable under section 120B of the Penal Code is required to be set aside.

491. Accused No.4 Ganpat Chhanaji Didawala (Chhara): This accused has been named by in all five witnesses.

1. PW-116 Lalabhai Nizambhai Luhar: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob at around 5:00 to 5:30 p.m. This witness has failed to identify the accused and hence, his testimony would be of no avail to the prosecution.

2. PW-117 Anishbhai Nasirbhai Mansuri: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob at 9:30 in the morning. He, however, has failed to identify this accused in the dock. Hence, his evidence would be of no avail to the prosecution.

3. PW-177 Ishratjahan Parvezhussain Saiyed: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob at Hussainnagar in the afternoon. This court has not found this witness to be credible insofar as the present accused is concerned. Her testimony is, therefore, of no avail to the prosecution.

4. PW-197 Kherunisha Riyazbhai Shaikh: This witness has named this accused in the mob near the Noorani Masjid and pelting stones in the chawl. She, however, has failed to identify the accused in the dock and hence, her testimony would not assist the prosecution against this accused.

5. PW-238 Nasreen Mahammadrafiq Shaikh: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob looting the houses in their chawls and setting them ablaze at 5:00 to 5:30. This witness has not been found to be credible qua the present accused and hence, her testimony would be of no avail to the prosecution.

492. FINDINGS: Thus, none of the witnesses who have deposed against this accused have been found to be credible insofar as the present accused is concerned. Under the circumstances, the prosecution has failed to establish the charge against this accused. The conviction of the accused is required to be set aside and he deserves to be acquitted by giving him the benefit of doubt.

493. Accused No.5 Vikrambhai Maneklal Rathod (Chhara) @Tiniyo son-in-law of deceased Dalpat: This accused has been named by two witnesses.

1. PW-116 Lalabhai Nizambhai Luhar: This witness has named this accused in the mob coming from the side of the highway at about 5:00 to 5:30 p.m. He, however, has failed to identify the accused and hence, his evidence would be of no avail to the prosecution.

2. PW-149 Faridabanu Abdulkadar Khalifa: This witness has deposed that while she was sitting outside the S.R.P. Quarters, a mob came from the direction of Uday Gas Agency. The people in the mob had swords, dharias, iron pipes, iron rods and cans filled with kerosene or petrol in their hands. This mob had broken the compound wall of Jawannagar and entered inside. In this mob, she had seen this accused along with other named accused, who were leading the mob. This witness has been found to be credible qua this accused.

494. FINDINGS: Thus, out of the two witnesses who have named this accused, only one witness is found to be credible. Therefore, the two witnesses test is not satisfied in the case of this accused, and hence his conviction cannot be sustained and he deserves to be acquitted by giving him the benefit of doubt.

495. Accused No.10 Hareh @ Hariyo son of Jivanlal @ Agarsinh Rathod (Chhara): This accused has been named by, in all, thirteen witnesses.

This witness has been found to a credible and truthful witness.

3. PW-149 Faridabanu Abdulkadar Khalifa:This witness has deposed that while she was sitting outside the S.R.P. Quarters, a mob came from the direction of Uday Gas Agency. The people in the mob had swords, dharias, iron pipes, iron rods and cans filled with kerosene or petrol in their hands. This mob had broken the compound wall of Jawannagar and entered inside. In this mob, she had seen this accused along with other named accused, who were leading the mob. The testimony of this witness has been accepted insofar as this accused is concerned.

4. PW-156 Abdulmajid Mohammadusman Shaikh: This witness has named this accused in the incident of burning of Ayub in the afternoon at about 4 o'clock before the police in his statement dated 15.4.2002 as well as before the SIT. Before the SIT there was a slight improvement regarding Ayub being put in a rickshaw and burnt, however, as regards the involvement of the accused in the incident, he is consistent. This court has found the testimony of this witness to be credible qua this accused.

5. PW-170 Mohammad Jalalluddin Ibrahim Shaikh: This witness has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob which was damaging the houses and stalls near the Noorani Masjid and setting them on fire at 9:00 to 9:15 a.m. This witness has been found to be a credible witness.

6. PW-175 Saiyed Yakubali Kasamali: This witness has named this accused in the mob in the afternoon at 1:30. However, the said witness has not been found to be a credible witness.

7. PW-182 Bhikhabhai Habibbhai Mansuri: This witness has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob which was pelting stones at the Noorani Masjid as well as the Muslims in the morning at about 9:00 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. This witness has not been found to be credible qua this accused.

11. PW-209 Shabana Bundubhai Kureshi: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob in the passage of the water tank, however, the testimony of this witness though found to be credible as regards the version of the events that took place on that day, has not been found to be credible insofar as the accused named by her are concerned.

12. PW-212 Rukshana Bundubhai Kureshi: This witness has deposed that this accused was in the mob which had assaulted her mother in the passage of the water tank. The testimony of this witness, though found to be otherwise credible and trustworthy, has not been found to be credible as regards the accused named by her

13. PW-242 Mahammadsalim Ahemadbhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob in the Jawannagar pit armed with weapons like rods and swords. This witness has not been found to be credible witness qua this accused.

496. FINDINGS: Thus, out of thirteen witnesses who have testified against this accused, five witnesses are such whose testimonies have been accepted on their own strength by this court. PW 145 has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob that was setting houses in Hukamsing-ni-chali on fire at around 11 o'clock in the morning. PW 149 has proved his presence in the mob that came after breaking the Jawannagar wall; PW 156 has proved his presence in the incident of Ayub at about 4:00 p.m.; PW 184 has proved his presence in the mob on the road in the morning; and PW 189 has proved his presence in the mob that was looting household articles from houses and burning them. From the testimonies of these witnesses, the presence of this accused in the mob on the road from about 9:00 a.m. in the morning as well as in the mob inside the chawls till 4 o'clock in the afternoon has been duly proved. This accused has therefore, rightly been held guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 153A (2), 323, 324, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Penal Code as well as under section 188 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act. The judgment of conviction and sentence qua those offences is, therefore, deserves to be sustained. However, the order of conviction and sentence for the offence punishable under section 120B of the Penal Code is required to be set aside.

497. Accused No.18 Babubhai alias Babu Bajrangi son of Rajabhai Patel: This accused has been named by in all ten witnesses.

This witness has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob in the afternoon talking with the people in the mob. His testimony has been accepted qua this accused.

498. FINDINGS: Out of the ten witnesses who have testified against this accused, the testimonies of six of the private eyewitnesses have not been accepted qua this accused. However, four of the police witnesses, viz. PW 262, PW 266, PW 274 and PW 277, whose presence at the scene of offence on the day of the incident has been duly established, have referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the afternoon. The trial court has not accepted the testimonies of the police witnesses unless they are corroborated by the testimony of some private witness. For the reasons recorded hereinabove, this court has not agreed with the view adopted by the trial court and has found no reason to discard the testimonies of the police officers implicating the accused. Therefore, through the testimonies of the four police witnesses, the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the afternoon has been duly established. Insofar as this accused is concerned, he has been found to be guilty of the offence of criminal conspiracy under section 120B of the Indian Penal Code and, therefore, it is not necessary that he should participate from the inception of the conspiracy to the end. On the principal of agency he is liable for all the offences committed at different stages of the crime. This accused has therefore, rightly been held guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 153A (2), 323, 324, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and for the same offences read with section 120B of the Penal Code, as well as under section 188 and 120B of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act.

11. PW-277 Madansinh Takhatsinh Rana: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob in the afternoon. The testimony of this witness has been found to be acceptable qua the accused.

500. FINDINGS: Thus, out of eleven witnesses who have testified against this accused, one credible private witness namely PW-73 Basubhai Maiyuddin Saiyed and four police witnesses, namely PW 262, PW 266, PW 274 and PW 277, whose testimonies qua the accused have been found to be credible, have referred to his presence from the 8:30 in the morning to 2:00 to 2:30 in the afternoon in the incidents the road, as well as at 5 o'clock in the incident at Jawannagar. The two witnesses test is, therefore, clearly satisfied in the case of this accused. This accused has therefore, rightly been held guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 153A (2), 323, 324, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Penal Code as well as under section 188 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act. However, the order of conviction and sentence under section 120B of the Penal Code is required to be set aside.

501. Accused-21 Prakash Sureshbhai Rathod (Chhara): No witness has implicated his accused.

502. FINDINGS: None of the witnesses have implicated this accused. However, from the testimony of PW-322 Ashish Khetan, the extra-judicial confession of this accused has been proved, which indicates his complicity and participation in the offence in question. The court has found this accused guilty of the offence of criminal conspiracy punishable under section 120B of the Indian Penal Code and therefore, on the principal of agency he is liable for all the offences committed at different stages of the crime. This accused has, therefore, rightly been held guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 153A (2), 323, 324, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and for the same offences read with section 120B of the Penal Code, as well as under section 188 and 120B of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act.

504. FINDINGS: Thus, out of fifty seven witnesses who have testified against this accused, fifteen witnesses have been found to be credible and trustworthy namely PW 112, PW 114, PW 142, PW 144, PW 145, PW 149, PW 157, PW 170, PW 171, PW 180, PW 181, PW 199, PW 202, PW 234 and PW 261 and in case of three witnesses, viz. PW 109, PW 147 and PW 167, the court has observed that it would look for corroboration from some other witness. From the testimonies of these witnesses who have consistently named this accused before the police as well as in their deposition before the court and have identified him in the dock, the presence of this accused on the road in the morning and then in the chawls throughout the day as well as in the massacre that took place in the passage of the water tank in the evening has been duly established. This accused is one of the accused on whom sting operation had been carried out by PW-322 Ashish Khetan and the charge of criminal conspiracy under section 120B of the Indian Penal Code has been duly proved against him. This accused has therefore, rightly been held guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 153A (2), 323, 324, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and for the same offences read with section 120B of the Penal Code, as well as under section 188 and 120B of the Penal Code and sections 354 and 376 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act.

505. Accused No.25 Premchand @ Tiwari Conductor son of Yagnanarayan Tiwari: This accused has been named by in all sixteen witnesses.

1. PW-73 Basubhai Maiyuddin Saiyed: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the chawls in the afternoon. However, his testimony has not been accepted qua this accused.

2. PW-83 Fatmabibi Maqboolbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. The testimony of this witness has not been accepted qua any of the accused named by her.

3. PW-94 Akbarsubhani Nazirahmed Munshi: This witness has deposed that in the mob which was committing arson and was killing people in the evening, he had seen Jay Bhavani and accused No.25 Tiwari. The witness has been found to be a credible and trustworthy witness.

4. PW-105 Hussainbhai Valibhai Kaladia: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning but has failed to identify him in the dock and hence, his testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

5. PW-106 Farzanabanu Ayubkhan Pathan: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the evening incident near Gopinath and Gangotri Society where a Hindu mob killed members of her family and set them ablaze. The court has found that through the testimony of this witness, the presence of this accused in the mob during the evening incident has been established.

6. PW-112 Fatmabibi Mohmmad Yusuf Shaikh: This witness has deposed that they had taken shelter in the house of a Hindu woman and when they came out of this house, a person by the name of Tiwari, who was working as a conductor in the AMTS and a policeman in uniform were standing there, and they (the witness) had requested them to take them to a safe place and give them shelter, whereupon they had told that arrangement is made for them towards the khada and told them to go there. Apart from the fact that there is nothing incriminating in her statement so far as this accused is concerned, the witness had not named him in her statement dated 19.4.2002. The testimony of this witness has not been accepted insofar as this accused is concerned.

7. PW-137 Rafikanbanu Rehmanbhai Saiyed: This witness has neither named nor referred to the presence of this accused but has wrongly identified him instead of accused No.26.

8. PW-173 Mahammadnaseem Shaikhbuddhu Shaikh: This witness has not attributed any overt act to this accused and has stated that he had given them shelter in his house. The only incriminating part of his testimony is that he had stated that Tiwari had told them to go towards Naroda as arrangements had been made for them. However, from the testimony of the witness, it has come out that no arrangements had been made for their safety and that the victims were led into a trap by misleading them. The testimony of this witness would therefore, not assist the prosecution in establishing the charge against this accused.

9. PW-176 Zulekhabanu Sardarahemad Sarmuddin Chaudhary: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob near Gangotri Society. The testimony of this witness has not been found to be credible and trustworthy.

10. PW-185 Mahammadaiyub Sofilal Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning as well as in the mob near Gangotri in the evening. The court has found that the testimony of this witness can be accepted provided it is corroborated by the testimony of some other witness.

11. PW-187 Altafhussain Abdulrehman Saiyed: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob which set houses on fire in Jawannagar in the afternoon. The court has found that the testimony of this witness can be accepted provided it is corroborated by the testimony of some other witness.

12. PW-188 Mahammadbhai Bachubhai Belim: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the evening at 5:00 p.m. pointing out to the mob the place where people were hiding. The testimony of this witness has not been accepted qua the accused.

13. PW-198 Haroon Mahammadbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused at Gopinath and Gangotri Society at about 4 o'clock in the evening. The testimony of this witness has not been accepted qua this accused.

14. PW-199 Noormahammad Nazirmahhammad Mev (Pathan): This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob which came from Krushnanagar leading and instigating the mob on the road in the morning. The testimony of this witness has been accepted qua this accused.

15. PW-202 Samsuddin Shahbuddin Rathod: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused late at night when he had gone searching for the Muslims who were left there and were hiding. The testimony of this witness has not been accepted qua this accused. The witness has not deposed regarding any incriminating facts against this accused.

16. PW-217 Salim Rahimbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused standing outside the building on the terrace on which people had gone in the evening. The court has not accepted the testimony of this witness qua this accused.

506. FINDINGS: Out of the sixteen witnesses who have testified against this accused, two witnesses namely PW-94 Akbarsubhani Nazirahmed Munshi and PW-106 Farzanabanu Ayubkhan Pathan, who have deposed regarding his presence in the mob which was killing and burning people to death in the evening have been found to be consistent in their versions before the police and in their depositions before the court and have also identified him. One credible witness, namely, PW-199 Noormahammad Nazirmahammad Mev (Pathan) has referred to his presence in the mob on the road in the morning. One witness viz. PW-185 Mahammadayub Sofilal Shaikh, whose testimony the court has found to be acceptable subject to corroboration by some other witness has deposed about his presence in the mob in the morning, and another such witness viz. PW-187 Altafhussain Abdulrehman Saiyed has deposed about his presence in the afternoon. The two witnesses test is clearly satisfied in the case of this accused. Therefore, from the testimonies of the witnesses, the prosecution has succeeded in establishing the presence of this accused in the mob in the morning and in the afternoon as well as in the mob which was killing and burning people to death at the passage of the water tank in the evening. This accused has therefore, rightly been held guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 153A (2), 323, 324, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Penal Code as well as under sections 188 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act. He is, however, required to be acquitted of the offence punishable under section 120B of the Penal Code.

3. PW-106 Farzanabanu Ayubkhan Pathan: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob which was stripping her daughter, raping and causing injury and setting the persons on fire. However, her testimony has not been accepted qua this accused.

4. PW-109 Sarfarazkhan Maheboobkhan Pathan: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. The court has accepted his testimony subject to corroboration by some other witnesses.

5. PW-112 Fatmabibi Mahmadyusuf Shaikh: This witness has deposed having seen this accused in the passage of the water tank in the evening. However, since the witness has not named the accused in her statement dated 19.4.2002, her testimony has not been accepted qua this accused.

6. PW-136 Bashirkhan Nanhekhan Mansuri: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the riotous mob that was present on the road in the morning. The witness has been found to be credible and trustworthy.

7. PW-137 Rafikanbanu Rahemanbhai Saiyed: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused as part of the mob which was killing people at Teesra Kuva. However, the witness has failed to identify this accused. Moreover, since she had named him very belatedly after a period of more than six years for the first time before the SIT, her testimony has not been accepted qua this accused.

8. PW-138 Mahammad Abdulhamid Khalifa: This witness has deposed that at about 2:00 p.m. in the afternoon, this accused along with others, came to his house at Hussainnagar and looted Rs.40,000/- in cash as well as took away the vaults from his house. This witness has been found to be credible and trustworthy.

9. PW-142 Zannatbibi Kallubhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob in the chawls in the afternoon after 11 o'clock. The witness has been found to be credible and trustworthy.

10. PW-149 Faridabanu Abdulkadar Khalifa: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mobs on the road in the morning. Her testimony has been found to be credible and trustworthy.

11. PW-150 Ishaqkhan Sardarkhan Pathan: This witness has deposed that there was a mob of around fifty to sixty persons at the Jawannagar corner, where on the front side, he had seen this accused with three other named accused. These four persons and others hurled abuses at them and were saying, “cut them! kill them!”. They also said “where are you going; Miyas, where will you go now, your end has come; today, we will certainly cut you!” All the four were holding swords in their hands. He reached the open ground in front of Jaybhavani’s house where he saw this accused along with three other named accused holding weapons in their hands and grabbing the sister of a girl called Nagina and her mother and molesting both of them. This court after appreciating the evidence of this witness has found that he does not come across as a truthful witness. Moreover, in his first available police statement, he had named the accused on the basis of hearsay. Therefore, his testimony has not been accepted.

12. PW-177 Ishratjahan Parvezhussain Saiyed: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob in Hussainnagar in the afternoon at 2:00 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. Since the witness has not named this accused in her statement dated 12.5.2002, her testimony has not been accepted qua this accused.

13. PW-183 Bashirbhai Usmanbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road holding sword in his hand. This witness has named this accused in his statement dated 13.5.2002 as well as in his deposition before the court and has identified. After appreciating the evidence of this witness, this court has found that through his testimony the prosecution has established the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning.

14. PW-184 Mahammad Hanif Yusufbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in front of the Noorani Masjid in the morning instigating the mob and attacking the Muslims. The testimony of this witness has been accepted qua this accused.

15. PW-186 Taherabanu Mahammadkasam Abdulla Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused as leading different mobs when she was returning from her work place. She, however, thereafter has stated that she had given the name of this accused out of nervousness. Therefore, the testimony of this witness is of no avail to the prosecution qua this accused.

16. PW-197 Kherunisha Riyazbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob near the Noorani Masjid as well as pelting stones in the chawls. She, however, has failed to identify him in the dock and hence, her testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

17. PW-198 Haroon Mahammadbhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed that this accused along with others came and told them that they should go from the road on the rear side to the S.R.P. Quarters. Since no overt act has been attributed to the accused and the accused has been named for the first time in the year 2008, the testimony of this witness has not been accepted qua this accused.

18. PW-203 Sharifabibi Iqbalbhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed that from a terrace on Gangotri Society she saw that her son Sharif was being assaulted with swords, hockey, sticks and he was beaten and felled down. Thereafter, kerosene and petrol was poured on Sharif and he was set ablaze. She has further deposed that in the mob which had assaulted and burnt her son Sharif, she had seen she had seen this accused along with other named accused. After appreciating the evidence of this witness, this court has accepted her testimony against this accused.

19. PW-229 Sairabanu Khwajahussain Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob in the afternoon committing loot and arson as well as to a conversation between the accused and the Muslim women in Pinjara's house. This court has not found this witness to be credible as far as involvement of the accused is concerned.

20. PW-236 Siddiqbhai Allahbax Mansuri: Insofar as this accused is concerned, the witness has alleged that after the incident, he had tried to influence him and asked him to make an affidavit in his favour as his name had cropped up in the case. Therefore, the witness has not implicated this accused in any offence that took place on the day of the incident. His testimony, therefore, would be of no avail to the prosecution.

21. PW-238 Nasreen Mahammadrafiq Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob which had gathered on the road in the morning. She has also referred to the presence of this accused in the mobs looting the houses in their chawls and setting them ablaze at about 5:00 to 5:30 in the evening. Since at the relevant time this witness has not named the accused before the police and has named him for the first time in the statement before the SIT, her testimony has not been accepted qua this accused.

22. PW-261 Mariyambibi Hasanbhai Saiyad: This witness has named this accused as one of the persons who broke the door of her house and took her son Maiyuddin out of her house and set him ablaze. This witness has been found to be credible and, therefore, through her testimony the presence of this accused in the incident in question is duly established.

508. FINDINGS: Out of the twenty two witnesses who have deposed against this accused, four credible witnesses namely PW 136, PW 149, PW 183, and PW 184, have deposed about his presence in the mob on the road in the morning and one witness whose testimony has been accepted subject to corroboration viz. PW 109, has referred to his presence on the road in the morning. One witness who has been found to be credible and trustworthy namely PW 138 has deposed about his presence in the mob at Hussainnagar at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon and one credible and trustworthy witness namely PW 203 has referred to his presence in the mob that assaulted her son and set him ablaze in the evening near Gangotri Society, one credible witness namely PW 142 has referred to the presence of this accused in the chawls in the afternoon after 11 o'clock and another credible witness viz., PW 261 has named him as one of the persons who assaulted her son and set him ablaze. Therefore, the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning, in the mob in the chawls in the afternoon as well as in the mob near Gangotri Society in the evening has been duly established through these witnesses.

This accused has therefore, rightly been held guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 153A (2), 323, 324, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Penal Code, as well as under section 188 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act. He is, however, required to be acquitted of the offence punishable under section 120B of the Penal Code.

2. PW-145 Shahnawazkhan Abbaskhan Pathan: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused along with other named accused in the mob which had vandalized his house which is situated in Hukamsing-ni-Chali and set it on fire at around 11 o'clock in the morning. This witness has been found to a credible and truthful witness.

3. PW-264 Kirankumar Parsottambhai Makwana: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused on the road in the morning throwing burning rags on the houses in the chawls. The testimony of this witness has been accepted qua this accused.

4. PW-265 Sajjansingh Jaswantsingh Puvar: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob that was pelting stones and burning rags. The testimony of this witness has been found to be acceptable.

5. PW-267 Manubhai Madhabhai Rathod: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the Hindu mob on the road throwing burning rags on the Muslim mob. The testimony of this witness has been accepted.

510. FINDINGS: In the case of this accused, all the five witnesses who have deposed against him have been found to be consistent and credible. PW 144 and PW 145 have deposed about the presence of this accused in Hukamsing-ni-chali in the morning at around 11 o'clock whereas PW 264, PW 265 and PW 267 have deposed about his presence in the mob on the road in the morning. Thus, through the testimonies of these witnesses, the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning as well as in the chawls at about 11 o'clock has been established.

This accused has therefore, rightly been held guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 153A (2), 323, 324, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Penal Code, as well as under section 188 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act. He is, however, required to be acquitted of the offence punishable under section 120B of the Penal Code.

511. Accused No.28 – Manubhai Keshabhai Maruda:

This accused has been named by, in all, eight witnesses.

1. PW-72 Shakilabanu Firozahmed Ansari: This witness has deposed that they had gone to a shuttered shop towards Gangotri Society and were sitting inside the shop. When they were hiding inside, this accused along with other named accused came there and told them that they should not be frightened and asked them to come with them and that they would make arrangements for their meal. Later on when they were going towards the rear side she had seen the mob assaulting her family members. This accused was present in the mob that beat up her family members in front of her eyes along with four other named accused. These five persons were helping the mob in setting everything on fire. This mob poured kerosene over her family members and burnt them alive. Her three month old infant nephew was also thrown alive in the fire by the mob. The testimony of this witness has not been accepted as the names of the accused have cropped up for the first time before the SIT and before the police, she had stated that she does not know any of the accused.

2. PW-106 Farzanabanu Ayubkhan Pathan: This witness has deposed that she had seen this accused in the incident where her daughter was stripped and brutally raped as well as in the mob which was setting people on fire. However, her testimony qua this accused has not been accepted as she had not named him in her statements recorded by the police at the relevant time.

3. PW-113 Jainulabedin Mahmadvhaja Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob near the S.T. Workshop Gate. However, from his testimony, it emerges that he has named this accused on the basis of assumption as he did not allow the witness to stand near his house.

4. PW-156 Abdulmajid Mahammadusman Shaikh: This witness has deposed that his daughter had informed him that this accused was also amongst one of the persons who had raped her. Since this accused has been named only at a subsequent stage before the SIT and has not been named in any of the earlier statements of this witness recorded by the police, his testimony has not been accepted qua this accused.

5. PW-176 Zulekhabanu Sardarahemad Sarmuddin Chaudhary: This witness has deposed that she had seen this accused in the mob near Gangotri Society. The witness has, however, not named this accused in her statement dated 12.5.2002 recorded by the police at the relevant time and has named him only in the statement dated 28.5.2008 recorded by the SIT and hence, her testimony has not been accepted qua this accused.

6. PW-201 Sattarbhai Mahammadhussain Shaikh: This witness has deposed that this accused had driven the Muslims women towards the field with a hockey stick. Though the witness has been sought to be contradicted in his cross-examination to the effect that he had not stated such facts in his statement dated 13.5.2002, however, the contradiction has not been proved in the cross-examination of the Investigating Officer. Nonetheless, this court after appreciating the evidence of this witness has found that the role attributed to this accused does not appear to be credible, and has not accepted the testimony of this witness qua him.

7. PW-209 Shabana Bundubhai Kureshi: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob in the passage of the water tank where several persons were killed and set ablaze. This witness had not named the accused in her statement dated 11.5.2002 and has named him for the first time in her statement dated 23.5.2008 recorded by the SIT and hence, though the witness is found to be credible as regards the version of the events that took place on that day, she has not been found to be credible insofar as the accused named by her are concerned.

8. PW-228 Javed Ismail Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob near the passage of the water tank. This witness has named the accused for the first time in his statement recorded by the SIT and had not given any statement before the police at the relevant time and hence, his testimony has not been accepted insofar as the involvement of the individual accused is concerned.

512. FINDINGS: Thus, out of the eight witnesses who have deposed against this accused, none of their testimonies have been accepted by this court insofar as this accused is concerned. The conviction of this accused, therefore, deserves to be set aside and he is required to be acquitted by giving him the benefit of doubt.

513. Accused No.30 Shashikant alias Tiniyo Marathi son of Yuvraj Patil: This accused has been named by, in all, four witnesses.

1. PW-149 Faridabibi Abdulkadar Khalifa: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning as well as in the mob which broke the Jawannagar wall and lifted Ayub in a rickshaw and set him on fire. She, however, has failed to identify this accused and hence, her testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

2. PW-156 Abdul Majid Mahammad Usman Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the passage of the water tank dragging his daughter Supriya. However, his testimony has not been accepted qua this accused.

3. PW-158 Naemuddin Ibrahim Shaikh: This witness has not named any accused, but has identified this accused as being near the water tank and hacking and killing people. This court has held that the testimony of this witness insofar as this accused is concerned, to be in the nature of very weak evidence, which cannot be relied upon to prove the charge in such a serious offence.

4. PW-201 Sattarbhai Mahammadhussain Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob which came from the side of Uday Gas Agency at about 4 o'clock in the evening. The testimony of this witness has been accepted qua this accused. While this witness has referred to this accused as Tiniya Marathi and A-55 is also known as Tiniya Marathi, he has identified this accused as Tiniya Marathi whom he had seen. Therefore, the testimony of this witness qua this accused is acceptable.

514. FINDINGS: Thus, out of the witnesses who have deposed against this accused, only one witness, namely, PW-201 Sattarbhai Mahammadhussain Shaikh has deposed that he had seen him in the mob which came from the side of Uday Gas Agency about 4 o'clock. The two witnesses test is, therefore, not satisfied in case of this accused and he deserves to be acquitted by giving him the benefit of doubt.

515. Accused No.33 Babubhai alias Babu Vanzara, son of Jethabhai Salat (Marwadi): This accused has been named by, in all, five witnesses.

1. PW-200 Shoukat Nabibhai Mansuri: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob in the morning at the Noorani Masjid. He, however, has failed to identify the accused and hence, his testimony is of no avail to the prosecution qua this accused.

2. PW-213 Hasibkhan Achhankhan Pathan: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the morning with the police in the mob on the road. Since this witness has named this accused for the first time before the SIT and has not named him in his statement dated 17.7.2002, his testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

3. PW-227 Zuber Khan Ismail Khan Pathan: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob which came from the side of Krushnanagar in the morning and that he was armed with a weapon. The witness has, however, failed to identify the accused and hence, his testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

4. PW-232 Shahid Hussain Abdulgafur Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused leading the mob which had come from Natraj Hotel to S.T. Workshop. He, however, could not identify the accused in the dock. The testimony of this witness would, therefore, be of no avail to the prosecution.

5. PW-249 Salauddin Sarifuddin Saiyed: This witness has named this accused, but has not attributed any criminality to him. Moreover, he has failed to identify him in the dock. The testimony of this witness would, therefore, be of no avail to the prosecution.

516. FINDINGS: Out of the five witnesses who have testified against this accused, the presence and participation of this accused in the incident has not been established through the testimony of even a single witness. Under the circumstances, this accused deserves to be acquitted by giving him the benefit of doubt.

516-A Accused No.34 Laxmanbhai alias Lakho son of Budhaji Thakor:

Only one witness, viz., PW-167 Mahammadhussain Kaiyumbhai Shaikh has testified against this accused. This witness has deposed that in the mob which had come from Krushnanagar, he had seen this accused who had a trishul in his hand and was saying "Cut the Miyas, burn them, loot them, don't spare them". This court after appreciating the evidence of this witness, has found that the witness is consistent about the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning and that his acquaintance qua this accused has also been established. The court has considered this witness to be a credible witness insofar as this accused is concerned.

FINDINGS: Thus, only one credible witness, viz., PW-167 Mahammadhussain Kaiyumbhai Shaikh has named this accused. The two witnesses test, therefore, is not satisfied. This accused, therefore, deserves to be acquitted by giving him the benefit of doubt.

517. Accused No.37 Dr. Mayaben Surendrabhai Kodnani: In all, eleven witnesses have testified against this accused.

1. PW-52 Amina Abbas Belim: This witness has deposed that she had gone in front of the Noorani Masjid and had seen a mob standing there. From the midst of the mob, a white car came and halted near the masjid and Mayaben and her assistant got down. Mayaben told the mob that the masjid and the Muslim area should be destroyed. The witness has further stated that the mob had started pelting stones and vandalizing houses. Thereafter, she had seen that Mayaben had something like a pistol in her hand and she was also firing. After firing, Mayaben told the mob that they should continue and thereafter, she returned in the same car in which she had come.

No statement of this witness had been recorded by the police at the relevant time. After appreciating the evidence of this witness, the court has found that she is not a credible and truthful witness.

2. PW-104 Mahammad Salim Hussain Shaikh: This witness has stated that after 9:00 to 9:30 in the morning, a police jeep came which halted at the S.T. Workshop Gate. The jeep was followed by Kishan Korani, Manoj Videowala and Murli Sindhi. After a little while, MLA Mayaben Kodnani came there in a white Maruti Franti car and spoke to the above referred three accused and the police. While talking, Mayaben's voice was aggressive and she was gesturing towards their area and was saying something. All these people gestured to the mob which had gone away towards Natraj Hotel and called it back.

Mayaben discussed something with the mob in an aggressive tone and thereafter, she had left in the car in which she had come.

The statement of this witness came to be recorded only in the year 2008 after the SIT came to be constituted. This court, after appreciating the evidence of this witness, has found that no reliance can be placed upon his evidence insofar as this accused is concerned.

3. PW-136 Basirkhan Nannekhan Pathan: This witness has deposed that Mayaben came in a white car near a police vehicle which was parked near the S.T. Workshop Gate and talked to the police, after which the police fired at the Muslims. In all his prior statements recorded by the police, this witness had not named this accused and for the first time, has named her in his statement dated 27.5.2008 recorded by the SIT.

Thus, all that emerges from the testimony of this witness insofar as this accused is concerned is that she came to the corner of the S.T. Workshop in the morning and talked to some police officers standing there. No criminal act has been attributed to her. Under the circumstances, apart from the fact that there is an inordinate delay in recording the statement of this witness, even otherwise, he has not attributed any criminality to this accused.

4. PW-143 Dildar Umrao Saiyed: This witness has stated that while he was standing near Panchvati Estate, Mysorewala came in a jeep and parked it near Panchvati Estate. Four to five policemen also alighted from the vehicle with him. After ten minutes, a white coloured Maruti car came from which MLA Mayaben Kodnani and three other accused alighted. The mob followed the car. Thereafter, the door of the car was opened and swords were taken out and distributed.

The statement of this witness was recorded for the first time in the year 2008 and this court after appreciating the evidence of this witness, has found that he is not a credible and truthful witness. His testimony, therefore, does not further the prosecution case.

5. PW-149 Faridabibi Abdulkadar Khalifa: This witness has deposed that she was standing near the S.T. Workshop compound wall near the Noorani Masjid at around 9:00 to 9:30 in the morning. At that time, the police and S.R.P. Personnel were present near the Noorani Masjid and Shri K.K. Mysorewala was also present at the S.T. Workshop with a government jeep. At this time, Mayaben Kodnani came out of the mob and went near K.K. Mysorewala and spoke to him. The witness has named several other accused in the mob along with this accused. She has further deposed that after talking with Mysorewala, Mayaben left, whereafter police firing and private firing as well as arson commenced near the Noorani Masjid.

Insofar as implication of this accused in the offence in question is concerned, the same has come at a belated stage at the time when the statement of the witness came to be recorded. Taking the testimony of this witness at face value, what has been deposed by the witness is that Mayaben came out of the car, talked with Mysorewala and left, and thereafter there was police firing and private firing. Thus, the only overt act attributed to Mayaben is that she had talked to Mysorewala and left. Under the circumstances, apart from the fact that in view of the delay in naming this accused, the statement of this witness cannot be accepted, even otherwise from the testimony of this witness, the complicity of this accused in any offence is not established.

6. PW-156 Abdul Majid Mahammad Usman Shaikh: This witness has deposed that the mob started coming on the road at 9:00 a.m. Two police vehicles came near the S.T. Workshop and unloaded two black trunks. Thereafter, a white car came and everyone started taking Mayaben Kodnani's name. Mayaben got down from the car and instigated the mob, after which the mob attacked them. Insofar as reference by this witness to the presence of Mayaben Kodnani on the National Highway in the morning is concerned, such version has come up for the first time in the year 2008 in the statement recorded by the SIT. Prior thereto, the witness had not named Mayaben before the investigating agencies despite the fact that several statements of this witness were recorded by different Investigating Officers.

This court after appreciating the evidence of this witness, has found that it would be hazardous to rely upon his testimony against this accused when her involvement has been brought on record after a period of more than six years in the year 2008. The testimony of this witness is, therefore, of no avail to the prosecution insofar as this accused is concerned.

7. PW-176 Zulekhabanu Sardarahmed Sarmuddin Chaudhary: This witness, at the end of her cross-examination-in-chief, has stated that in the mob which she saw between 9:00 to 9:45 in the morning on the road, she had seen Mayaben Kodnani also and she had recognized her. Thus, except for a passing reference at the end of her examination-in-chief, nothing has been stated as regards the place where she had seen her and no role has been attributed to her. Moreover, this witness, in her previous statement recorded by the police at the relevant time when the incident took place, has not named this accused and has named her for the first time in her statement recorded by the SIT. Considering the delay in naming the accused as well as the testimony of this witness, in the opinion of this court, no reliance can be placed upon her testimony for the purpose of proving the charge against this accused.

8. PW-192 Rasidabanu Imtiyaz Hussain Momin: This witness has deposed that the mob which had come from the direction of Krushnanagar was pelting stones on the masjid as well as on them and was also throwing bottles. The mob which came from the direction of Natraj was also pelting stones and bottles at them and that Mayaben Kodnani was in this mob and was instigating the public by saying "come forward" and "kill".

This witness has named this accused only in her statement recorded by the SIT after a period of more than six years. Considering the version given by this witness, which is contrary to the version given by the other witnesses, and more so, considering the delay in naming the accused, the court is of the view that it would be hazardous to place reliance upon her testimony to implicate her in such a serious offence.

9. PW-198 Harun Mahammadbhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed that the mobs had gathered near the S.T. Workshop as well as the S.R.P. Quarters Gate and in the mob, he had seen Mayaben together with other named accused in the morning at around 9:30 on the day of the incident and that they were leading the mob. This witness has named this accused after a period of more than six years at the time when his statement came to be recorded by the SIT.

Considering the nature of the evidence of this witness together with the fact that he has named this accused after a considerable delay, no reliance can be placed upon the testimony of this witness to implicate the accused in such a serious offence.

10. PW-227 Zuber Khan Ismail Khan Pathan: This witness has deposed that he had gone to the Natraj Hotel and he had seen Mayaben Kodnani (A-37) on the road in the mob from the side of Natraj Hotel. She was telling the people in the mob that they should go ahead and that she was with them. It may be pertinent to note that the statement of this witness has not been recorded at the relevant time and for the first time his statement was recorded by the SIT, in the year 2008. It appears that the witness had made a complaint application on 6.3.2002, wherein he had named certain accused, but he had not named this accused in it.

In view of the fact that the statement of this witness has been recorded after a considerable delay, the credibility of this witness is considerably impeached. Moreover, after considering the overall testimony of this witness, this court has found that this witness does not come across as a credible and trustworthy witness and no part of his evidence can be relied upon for the purpose of proving the charge against the accused.

11. PW-236 Siddiquebhai Allabax Mansuri: This witness has deposed that there was a huge mob near Natraj Hotel at around 8:30 to 9:00 in the morning. Mayaben came in a Maruti Franti car together with her P.A./assistant and both of them alighted from the car. Mayaben gave a provocative speech to the people there and told that she had gone to Godhra and had seen the dead bodies of the Kar Sevaks and that they Ram Bhakts should kill and cut the Miyas. Just like the Babri Masjid had been demolished, they should also demolish the masjid here. She had also said that she and Narendra Modi were with them and they would not have to face any problems. After saying this, she went away. This witness has further deposed that at around 11 o'clock, Mayaben came in a white coloured Maruti Franti car near the S.T. Workshop Gate which was followed by a TRAX jeep. Both the vehicles came from the direction of Krushnanagar and halted near the S.T. Workshop. Mayaben alighted from the Maruti car and gestured towards the mob standing near Natraj and called them near the S.T. Workshop Gate. At this time, about a hundred leaders, including Mayaben's P.A. came there. Mayaben talked with those people and discussed something and thereafter, gestured to her P.A. and gave him instructions, whereupon her P.A. took out weapons from the TRAX jeep, which comprised of swords, spears, tridents and something that looked like a revolver from far. Under her instructions, her P.A. gave all those weapons to the leaders of the mob. Thereafter, Mayaben left and the mob, in which her P.A. was present, attacked the Noorani Masjid.

This court after discussing the evidence of this witness, has found that the prosecution has led two sets of evidence, one which shows the presence of this accused at the scene of offence and another which negates her presence and in view of the two sets of evidence which has been led by the prosecution, one against and one favouring the accused, the view in favour of the accused has to be adopted.

518. FINDINGS: Thus, out of all the eleven witnesses who have deposed regarding the presence of this accused on the road in the mob or otherwise, in the morning on the day of the incident, none of the witnesses had named this accused in their statements recorded by the police at the relevant time when the incident took place. The name of this accused has cropped up for the first time when the statements of the witnesses came to be recorded by the SIT. Moreover, the versions given by the witnesses are contradictory to each other. While discussing the topic of criminal conspiracy, this court has discussed the testimonies of the witnesses at length. It has also been noted that the witnesses have referred to Mayaben alighting from her vehicle and talking to the police, however, none of the police witnesses have referred to her presence at the scene of incident on the day of the incident. Considering the delay in naming this accused as well as the nature of the testimonies of the witnesses, the court has found it hazardous to rely upon the testimonies of the witnesses to implicate this accused in such a serious offence.

Thus, the testimony of none of the witnesses who have testified against this accused has been accepted qua this accused. Therefore, the two witnesses test is not satisfied in the case of this accused. Moreover, the trial court has convicted this accused of the offences with which she was charged only by invoking section 120B of the Indian Penal Code. This court while discussing the topic of criminal conspiracy, has found that the charge under section 120B of the Indian Penal Code has not been established against this accused. This accused, therefore, deserves to be acquitted of the offences with which she has been charged by giving her the benefit of doubt.

519. Accused No.38 Ashok Hundaldas Sindhi: This accused has been named by in all three witnesses.

1. PW-52 Amina Abbas Belim: This witness has named this accused. However, the witness has not been found to be truthful and credible witness and her testimony has not been accepted qua any of the accused.

2. PW-73 Basubhai Mayuddin Saiyed: This witness has referred the presence of this accused in the mob in the morning as well as in the mob which set Majid's house on fire in the evening. He, however, has failed to identify the accused and hence, his testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

3. PW-135 Hussainabanu Agarkhan Pathan: This witness has named the accused in her deposition as the person whom she had identified in the test identification parade. She has not named him in any of her statements before the police as well as the SIT. Though she had identified him in the test identification parade, she had failed to identify him in the dock and had wrongly identified accused No.58 as accused No.38. Her testimony is, therefore, of no avail to the prosecution qua this accused.

520. FINDINGS: Thus, out of the three witnesses who have testified against this accused, none of them have consistently named him before the police as well as in his/her deposition before the court and identified him. Therefore, in the absence of any cogent and credible evidence against him, this accused is entitled to be given the benefit of doubt and acquitted of the offences with which he has been charged.

520-A Accused No.39 Harshad alias Mungda Jilgovind Chhara:

In all three witnesses have testified against this accused.

1. PW-109 Sarfarazkhan Mehboobkhan Pathan has deposed against this accused. This accused has deposed that when he came out of his house on the road at around 9 o'clock in the morning, in the mob he had seen this accused along with other named accused. This court after analyzing the testimony of this witness, has found that through his testimony, the prosecution has proved the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning, but has observed that it would look for corroboration while considering his evidence against the individual accused.

2. PW-170 Mahammad Jallaluddin Ibrahim Shaikh has deposed that in the morning after 9:15, he had gone to the tap near the S.T. Workshop at the corner of the chawl and in the mob, he had seen this accused along with other accused. This accused was one of the persons who was leading the mob and managing it. After appreciating the testimony of this witness, the court has found that while the witness has improved upon his original version by stating that he had seen the accused on the road and has also attributed overt acts to him, to the effect that he was leading and managing the mob, to the extent of their involvement in the offence in question, the witness is consistent. The court has, accordingly, held that the prosecution has established the presence of this accused in the mob which was damaging the houses and stalls near the Noorani Masjid and setting them on fire.

3. PW-202 Samsuddin Shabuddin Rathod has deposed that in the morning at around 9 o'clock, he had seen this accused in the mob coming from the direction of Natraj Hotel. Such mob was setting the shops and houses in their area on fire. He has stated that he had seen this accused in the mob along with other named accused. After appreciating the evidence of this witness, the court has found him to be a credible and trustworthy witness and has accepted his testimony qua this accused.

FINDINGS: Thus, out of the three witnesses who have deposed against this accused, two credible witnesses whose testimony has been accepted by this court, have deposed regarding the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. Thus, this accused has rightly been held guilty for the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148, 295, 427, 435, 436, 153, 153A, 153A(2), 149 and 188 of the Penal Code as well as under section 135(1) of the Bombay Police Act. However, his conviction for the offences punishable under sections 323, 324, 325, 326, 302, 307 and 440 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and under section 120B of the Penal Code is required to be set aside.

521. Accused No.40 Mukesh alias Vakil Ratilal Rathod, son of Jaybhavani: This accused has been named by in all six witnesses.

1. PW-142 Zannatbibi Kallubhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed that at about 4:00 to 4:30 p.m. while she was in a passage between the Gopinathnagar and Gangotri Society, she saw that clothes of girls were being torn and they were being set ablaze. At this time, two mobs came, one from the side of Parshwanathnagar and the other from the opposite side. The witness has referred to the presence of this accused viz. Bhavanisingh's son in this mob. This witness has been consistent in her testimony insofar as implication of this accused is concerned. Therefore, through the testimony of this witness the prosecution has proved the presence of this accused in the mob near the passage of the water tank in the evening.

2. PW-156 Abdulmajid Mahammadayub Shaikh: This witness has referred to the involvement of this accused whom he has described him as Jaybhavani's son, amongst the persons who had raped his daughter Supriya. The witness has, however, failed to identify this accused in the dock and hence, his testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

3. PW-184 Mahammad Hanif Yusufbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the highway in the morning instigating the mobs and attacking the Muslims. The accused has been referred to as Bhavani's son. This witness has not named this accused in his first available statement dated 12.5.2002 and has named him for the first time in his statement recorded by the SIT and hence, his testimony has not been accepted qua this accused.

4. PW-203 Sharifabibi Iqbalbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob which killed her son. She, however, has failed to identify him in the dock. Therefore, her testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

5. PW-209 Shabana Bundubhai Qureshi: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused describing him as Jaybhavani's son in the mob in the passage of the water tank where the massacre took place. This witness had not named this accused in her statement recorded by the police and has named him for the first time in the statement recorded by the SIT and hence, her testimony, though found to be credible as regards the version of the events that took place on that day, has not been found to be credible insofar as the accused named by her are concerned.

6. PW-212 Rukshana Bundubhai Kureshi: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob which had assaulted her mother in the passage of the water tank in the evening. This witness had not named the accused in her statement dated 11.5.2002 recorded by the police and had named him for the first time in her statement dated 3.6.2008 recorded by the SIT and hence, the testimony of this witness, though found to be otherwise credible and trustworthy, has not been found to be credible as regards the accused named by her.

522. FINDINGS: Out of the six witnesses who have testified against this accused, only one witness has been found to be credible and trustworthy insofar as this accused is concerned. The two witnesses test is, therefore, not satisfied in the case of this accused and consequently, he deserves to be acquitted by giving him the benefit of doubt.

523. Accused No.41 Manojbhai alias Manoj Sindhi, son of Renumal Kukrani: This accused has been named by in all twenty two witnesses.

1. PW-73 Basubhai Maiyuddin Saiyed: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob coming from Kubernagar in the morning as well as in the mob that set Majid's house on fire in the evening. This witness has been consistent insofar as having seen this accused in the mob on the road in the morning is concerned, in his statements dated 12.5.2002 and 4.6.2008 as well as in his deposition before the court. He has also identified him. Therefore, his testimony has been found acceptable to the extent he has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning.

2. PW-104 Mohammadsalim Mohammadhussain Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning and firing at Abid. This witness has not named the accused in his statement dated 11.6.2002 and has named him for the first time in his statement dated 29.5.2008 recorded by the SIT and hence, such implication which has come after six years, has not been accepted by the court.

3. PW-105 Hussainbhai Valibhai Kaladiya: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning, but has failed to identify the accused in the dock. His testimony, therefore, is of no avail to the prosecution.

4. PW-108 Iqbalhussain Amirmiya Qureshi: This witness has deposed that when he was returning from his workplace in the morning on the day of the incident he had seen this accused in the mob on the road. The testimony of this witness has been found to be credible and trustworthy.

5. PW-109 Sarfarazkhan Mehboobkhan Pathan: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on road in the morning. This witness has consistently named the accused in his police statement as well as in his deposition before the court and had identified him in the dock. However, in view of the fact that prior acquaintance with the accused was not properly established, the court while finding his testimony to be acceptable qua the accused so named and identified, has observed that it would look for corroboration while considering his evidence against the individual accused.

6. PW-113 Jainulabedin Mahammad Khwaja Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the afternoon near the S.T. Workshop Gate. This witness had not named this accused in his first available statement dated 19.4.2002 and had named him for the first time before the SIT and hence, his testimony has not been accepted qua this accused.

7. PW-145 Shahnawazkhan Abbaskhan Pathan: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused along with other named accused in the mob which had vandalized his house which is situated in Hukamsing-ni-Chali and set it on fire at around 11 o'clock in the morning. This witness has been found to a credible and truthful witness.

8. PW-149 Faridabibi Abdulkadar Khalifa: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob near the Noorani Masjid in the morning. However, in her statement dated 12.5.2002 recorded by the police she had named Manoj Tyrewala Sindhi and not Manoj Videowala and no correlation between the two has been brought on record. Therefore, the testimony of this witness has not been accepted qua this accused.

9. PW-167 Mahammad Hussain Kayumbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. However, as his acquaintance with the accused has not been duly established, this court while analysing the testimony of this witness has held that it would look for corroboration to his testimony.

10. PW-174 Abdulalim Abdulmajid Chaudhary: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob near the Noorani Masjid and has alleged that he had a revolver and was firing by using the S.T. Workshop compound wall as a buffer. Since this witness has named this accused for the first time before the SIT in the year 2008, his testimony has not been accepted against the accused.

11. PW-175 Yakubali Kasamali Saiyed: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob in the afternoon at 1:30. This witness has not been found to be a credible and trustworthy witness and hence, his testimony cannot be relied upon.

12. PW-184 Mahammad Hanif Yusufbhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed that on the day of the incident in the morning, he had seen this accused in the mob on the highway, firing at the Muslims. Since this witness has not named this accused in his statement dated 12.5.2002, and has named him for the first time before the SIT in the year 2008, his testimony has not been accepted qua this accused.

13. PW-188 Mahammadbhai Bachubhai Belim: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning damaging the Noorani Masjid. This witness had not named this accused in his statement dated 12.5.2002 and has named him for the first time before the SIT in the year 2008 and hence, his testimony has not been accepted qua the accused.

14. PW-189 Mahammad Imran Imtiyaz Hussain: This witness has deposed that he had seen this accused with a trishul in the mob near the Noorani Masjid and has deposed that he along with other accused was pelting stones and shouting "kill, cut". The witness has been consistent in his version regarding the presence of this accused in the mob near the Noorani Masjid in the morning in his statements as well as in his deposition before the court, but has failed to identify him in the dock. His testimony would, therefore, be of no avail to the prosecution.

15. PW-190 Salauddin Abdulkarim Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning, but has failed to identify him in the dock. His testimony would, therefore, be of no avail to the prosecution qua this accused.

16. PW-192 Rasidabanu Imtiyazhussain Momin: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. She, however, has named the accused for the first time in her statement recorded by the SIT and has not named him in her statements dated 12.5.2002 and 11.6.2002 recorded by the police. Therefore, her testimony has not been accepted qua this accused.

17. PW-198 Harun Mahammadbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused on the road in the morning. This witness has named this accused for the first time before the SIT and has not found to be a credible and truthful witness.

18. PW-202 Samsuddin Shabuddin Rathod: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the morning mob which was setting the shops and houses in their locality on fire. This witness is found to be credible and trustworthy witness and his testimony against this accused has been found to be acceptable.

19. PW-204 Abdulrazak Abdulrehman Saiyed: This witness has deposed that this accused had taken a revolver and fired on the road in the morning. This witness has not named this accused in his statements dated 13.5.2002 and 11.6.2002 and has named him for the first time before the SIT on 22.6.2002. Furthermore, he has failed to identify the accused in the dock and hence, his testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

20. PW-230 Mahammad Rafik Abdul Karim Shaikh: This witness has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob on the road in the morning at 11:00 a.m. and that he had snatched a revolver from the police and started firing. The witness has not named this accused in his statement dated 13.5.2002 and has named him for the first time in the statement recorded by the SIT in the year 2008. Apart from the delay in naming the accused, the role attributed by the witness to this accused does not find support in the testimony of any other witness, including the police witnesses and even otherwise does not appear to be credible. It would, therefore, be hazardous to rely upon the testimony of such witness to convict the accused.

21. PW-233 Rajabax alias Rajesh Nabisha Saiyed: This witness has named this accused and has claimed to have seen him in a mob throwing his cart inside the Noorani Masjid and setting it ablaze. The sole statement of this witness was recorded in the year 2008 and hence, the court has not accepted his testimony qua the accused named by him.

22. PW-258 Mahammadusman Mahemoodbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob instigating the people in the mob on the road in the morning. He, however, has failed to identify this accused. Besides, in his sole statement recorded by the SIT, he had attributed different roles to the accused than stated before the court. The court has, therefore, found his testimony to be not reliable.

524. FINDINGS: Thus, out of twenty two witnesses who have testified against this accused, the testimony of PW-73 Basubhai Maiyuddin Saiyed has been accepted by this court to the extent he has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. The testimony of PW-108

Iqbalhussain Amirmiya Qureshi who has deposed regarding the presence of this accused in the mob on the road has been found to be credible and trustworthy. The testimony of PW-109 Sarfarazkhan Mehboobkhan Pathan who has referred to the presence of this witness in the mob on the road in the morning has been accepted subject to corroboration by some other witness. The testimony of PW-145 Shahnawazkhan Abbaskhan Pathan who has referred to the presence of this accused along with other named accused in the mob which had vandalized his house which is situated in Hukamsing-ni-Chali and set it on fire at around 11 o'clock in the morning has been found to be credible and trustworthy. PW-167 Mahammad Hussain Kayumbhai Shaikh has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. The testimony of this witness has been accepted subject to corroboration. PW-202 Samsuddin Shabuddin Rathod has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob which was setting the shops and houses in their locality on fire in the morning after 9'clock. This witness has been found to be a credible and trustworthy witness. Thus, three credible witnesses have referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road. One credible witness viz., PW 145 Shahnawazkhan Abbaskhan Pathan has referred to his presence along with other named accused in the mob which had vandalized his house which is situated in Hukamsing-ni-Chali and set it on fire at around 11 o'clock in the morning. One witness, whose testimony has been accepted by this court subject to corroboration by any other witness, has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. Therefore, through the testimonies of the above referred five witnesses, the prosecution has duly established the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning as well as in the chawls at around 11 o'clock.

Since the presence of this witness has been established in the mob on the road in the morning as well as inside the chawls, the trial court has rightly held him to be guilty of the offences punishable under sections his conviction under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 153A (2), 323, 324, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Penal Code, as well as under section 188 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act. He is, however, required to be acquitted of the offence punishable under section 120B of the Penal Code.

525. Accused No.42 Hiraji alias Hiro Marwadi alias Sonaji son of Danaji Meghval (Marwadi): This accused has been named by two witnesses.

1. PW-150 Ishaqkhan Sardarkhan Pathan: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob at the S.R.P. Quarters in the morning as well as in the evening inside the chawls at 6:30 p.m. The witness has not named this accused in his statement dated 18.3.2002 and has named him for the first time in his statement recorded by the SIT on 11.6.2008. This witness has not been found to be truthful and credible witness and hence, his testimony would be of no avail to the prosecution.

2. PW-183 Basirbhai Usmanbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. This court has accepted the testimony of this witness qua the presence of this accused in the mob pelting stones on the highway in the morning.

526. FINDINGS: Out of the two witnesses who have deposed against this accused, only one witness has been found to be credible and trustworthy. The two witnesses test is, therefore, not satisfied in the case of this accused and he deserves to be acquitted by giving him the benefit of doubt.

527. Accused No. 44 Bipinbhai @ Bipin Autowala son of Umedrai Panchal: This accused has been named by, in all, thirty five witnesses.

1. PW-37 Salimbhai Roshanali Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob at Noorani Masjid in the morning as well as in the incident of killing Sadiq and Sharif near the water tank in the evening. This witness has not been found to be a credible witness and hence, his testimony would not advance the prosecution case.

2. PW-52 Aminaben Abbasbhai Belim: This witness has deposed that this accused was firing from the terrace of his garage. This witness has not been found to be a truthful and credible witness and hence, her testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

3. PW-105 Hussainbhai Valibhai Kaladia: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning but has failed to identify him. His testimony would, therefore, be of no avail to the prosecution.

4. PW-107 Mohmmmedbhai Kalubhai Khalifa: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. However, the court has found that insofar as his testimony against this accused is concerned, it would look for corroboration.

5. PW-108 Iqbalhussain Amirmiya Kureshi: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning while he was returning from his workplace. This witness has been found to be a credible and trustworthy witness.

6. PW-115 Ibrahimbhai Chhotubhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused on the road in the morning leading and instigating the mob. The testimony of this witness has been found to be credible and trustworthy as he has consistently named this accused and has identified him before the court.

7. PW-136 Bashirkhan Nanhekhan Mansuri: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the riotous mob that was present on the road in the morning on the day of the incident. This witness has been consistent insofar as the presence of this accused is concerned in his previous statements as well as in his deposition and has identified him. His testimony is, therefore, credible and trustworthy.

8. PW-142 Zannatbibi Kallubhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob in the chawls in the afternoon at 11 o'clock. The witness is consistent in her testimony qua this accused and has been found to be reliable and trustworthy.

9. PW-143 Dildar Umrao Saiyed: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob; however, he has been found to be not credible and trustworthy and hence, his testimony would be of no avail to the prosecution.

10. PW-144 Sarfaraz Abbaskhan Pathan: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mobs in the chawls in the morning. This witness is a credible and trustworthy witness and through his testimony the involvement of the accused has been proved.

11. PW-145 Shahnawazkhan Abbaskhan Pathan: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused along with other named accused in the mob which had vandalized his house which is situated in Hukamsing-ni-Chali and set it on fire at around 11 o'clock in the morning. This witness has been found to a credible and truthful witness.

12. PW-149 Faridabanu Abdulkadar Khalifa: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road near Noorani Masjid in the morning. The witness has been found to be credible and trustworthy.

13. PW-157 Mohammadsafi Allabux Mansuri: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning near Noorani Masjid. His testimony has been found to be trustworthy and credible insofar this accused is concerned.

14. PW-169 Belim Zubedaben Mahammadidrish: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob in the evening between 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. She, however, has failed to identify him in the dock and hence, her evidence is of no avail to the prosecution.

15. PW-170 Mahammadjalaluddin Ibrahimbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob which was damaging houses and stalls near the Noorani Masjid and setting them on fire. The testimony of this witness has been accepted qua this accused.

16. PW-175 Saiyed Yakubali Kasamali: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob at 1:30 in the afternoon. This witness has not been found to be a credible and truthful witness and hence, his testimony would be of no avail to the prosecution.

17. PW-179 Naseembanu Abdulrehman Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob coming from the side of Uday Gas Agency. She, however, has failed to identify the accused and hence, her testimony would not help the prosecution to prove the charge against this accused.

18. PW-184 Mahammad Hanif Yusufbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob in front of the S.T. Workshop on the day of the incident, instigating the mob and attacking the Muslims. This witness is consistent in his testimony and has been found to be a truthful and credible witness.

19. PW-186 Taherabanu Mahammadkasam Abdulla Shaikh: This witness has deposed that she had seen that this accused was leading different mobs when she was returning from her workplace. Considering the quality of her evidence, the court has found that her testimony is not reliable qua this accused.

20. PW-188 Mohammadbhai Bachubhai Belim: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob from Krushnanagar at 10:00 a.m. in the morning. The witness has not named this accused in his first available statement dated 12.5.2002 and had named him belatedly in his statement dated 26.5.2008 recorded by the SIT. This court has, therefore, found that his testimony cannot be relied upon against this accused.

21. PW-192 Rasidabanu Imtiazhussain Momin: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. This witness had not named the accused in her statements dated 12.5.2002 and 11.6.2002 and has named him for the first time in her statement dated 10.6.2008 recorded by the SIT. This court has, therefore, not accepted the testimony of this witness qua this accused.

22. PW-193 Ibrahimbhai Hasanbhai Shaikh: This witness has stated that he had seen this accused going from his garage to Krushnanagar. The witness has failed to identify the accused in the dock. Moreover, he had named this accused merely on the basis of presumption. His testimony, therefore, does not in any manner support the prosecution case.

23. PW-198 Haroon Mahammadbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. This witness had not given any statement before the police at the relevant time and it is only in the year 2008, when his statement came to be recorded by the SIT, that he has named the accused. This court has found the witness to be not a credible and truthful witness.

24. PW-200 Shoukat Nabibhai Mansuri: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob in the morning, but in his statement dated 13.5.2002 he had referred to the accused as Bipin Patel. Upon an overall consideration of the testimony of this witness, his testimony has not been believed qua this accused.

25. PW-202 Samsuddin Shahbuddin Rathod: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob in the morning which was setting shops and houses in their locality on fire. He has also deposed that he had seen this accused leading the mob which came from the direction of Krushnanagar to the Jawannagar Pit at 1:30 in the afternoon. The court has found this witness to be a credible and trustworthy witness.

26. PW-213 Haseebkhan Achhankhan Pathan: This witness has deposed that he has seen this accused in the mob in the morning on the road with the police as well as in the incident in which Ayub was killed in the evening. Considering the fact that in his initial statement dated 17.7.2002, this witness had not named the accused and he had named him at a much belated stage in the year 2008, without any plausible explanation coming forth, this court has found that his testimony could not be relied upon against this accused.

27. PW-227 Zuberkhan Ismailkhan Pathan: This witness has stated that in the mob from the side of Krushnanagar, he had seen this accused and that he was armed with a weapon. This court has not found this witness to be credible and trustworthy and hence, his evidence cannot be relied upon.

28. PW-233 Rajabaksh @ Rajesh Nabisha Saiyed: This witness claims to have seen this accused in a mob throwing his cart along with the cart belonging to one Usmanbhai, inside the Noorani Masjid and setting them ablaze. The witness, however, could not identify this accused in the dock. Under the circumstances, the evidence of this witness is of no avail to the prosecution.

29. PW-234 Mahmmadyunus Basirahemad Shaikh: This witness has stated that he had seen this accused standing at his auto centre and instigating the mob. The statement of this witness was recorded for the first time after more than six years and no plausible reason has been advanced as to why his statement was not recorded at the relevant time. Apart from the delay, the witness has not been found to be a credible and truthful witness and hence, no reliance can be placed upon his testimony.

30. PW-235 Nadeemuddin Sharifuddin Shaikh: This witness has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob in the afternoon between 11:30 to 12:00. This witness, however, has failed to identify the accused. The testimony of this witness is, therefore, of no avail to the prosecution insofar as this accused is concerned.

31. PW-236 Siddiqbhai Allabux Mansuri: This witness claims to have seen this accused as one of the hundred leaders who met Mayaben Kodnani on the road. This witness has not named the accused in any of his previous statements recorded by the investigating agencies nor has he named him in his deposition before the court. No test identification parade had been carried out through this witness to identify the accused; however for the first time before the court, this witness has identified the accused by his face as being a leader of the mob. Under the circumstances, such identification after a period of eight years for the first time before the court without first fixing the identity of the accused has not been accepted by this court.

32. PW-243 Sabbirali Nivasali Ansari: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob which came from Krushnanagar with something like a revolver with him. This witness in his first available statement had not named this accused. Moreover, he has failed to identify the accused in the dock. Under the circumstances, no reliance can be placed upon his testimony qua this accused.

33. PW-249 Salauddin Sarifudfin Saiyed: This witness has deposed that ten to fifteen persons from the minority community had gone to meet this accused who had assured them that nothing would happen. Apart from the fact that no criminality has been attributed to the accused by this witness, the witness has also failed to identify the accused in the dock. The testimony of this witness, therefore, does not in any manner help the prosecution in proving the charge against this accused.

34. PW-258 Mahammadusman Mahemoodbhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed that he had seen this accused instigating the people in the mob. This witness has named the accused in the incident and has attributed specific role to him; however, in his sole statement recorded by the SIT, he has attributed a different role to the accused than stated before the court. Considering the quality of the evidence of this witness together with the fact that his statement was recorded at a highly belated stage in the year 2008, this court has not accepted the testimony of this witness qua this accused.

35. PW-260 Rasulbibbi Azmuddin Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob that entered their chawls. This witness in her first available statement has not named any accused and for the first time after more than six years, she has implicated this accused before the SIT. Under the circumstances, the testimony of this witness cannot be relied upon to prove the charge against this accused.

528. FINDINGS: Out of 35 witnesses who have deposed against this accused eleven witnesses have been found to be credible and in case of one witness (PW 107), the court has observed that it would look for corroboration by other witnesses. Out of the witnesses who have named this accused, PW 107, PW 108, PW 115, PW 136, PW 149, PW 157, PW 170 and PW 184 have referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road near the Noorani Masjid or the S.T. Workshop in the morning on the day of the incident, two of these witnesses have stated that he was leading the mob and instigating them. Three witnesses, viz. PW 142, 144 and 145 have deposed about the presence of this accused in the chawls at about 11 o'clock in the morning. One witness, namely PW 202 Samsuddin Shahbuddin Rathod has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob which came from the side of Krushnanagar to Jawannagar at 1:30 in the afternoon. Thus, through the testimonies of these witnesses, the presence of this accused on the road in the morning and in the chawls in the afternoon has been duly established. This accused has therefore, rightly been held guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 440, 153, 153A, 153A (2), 323, 324, 326, 302 and 307 read with section 149 of the Penal Code, as well as under section 188 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act. He is, however, is required to be acquitted of the offence punishable under section 120B of the Penal Code.

529. Accused No.46 Vijaykumar Takhubhai Parmar:
Only one witness has testified against this accused.

PW-149 Faridabanu Abdulkadar Khalifa has testified that she had seen this accused in the mobs on the road in the morning as well as amongst the persons who were leading the mob in the evening. The testimony of this witness has been found to be credible and trustworthy.

530. FINDINGS: Thus only one credible and trustworthy witness has testified against this accused, both in the morning and evening incidents. The two witnesses test is therefore, not satisfied in the case of this accused. The conviction of this accused, therefore, cannot be sustained and he deserves to be acquitted of all the offences with which he is charged, by giving him the benefit of doubt. .

531. Accused No.47 Ramesh Keshavlal Didawala (Chhara): Only one witness has testified against this accused.

PW-235 Nadeemuddin Sharifuddin Shaikh has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob towards Krushnanagar in the afternoon between 11:30 to 12:00 hours. The court has found the testimony of this witness qua this accused to be consistent right from the beginning and has held that the complicity of this accused in the incident to the extent referred to by this witness is proved.

532. FINDINGS: Since this accused has been named by only one witness, the two witnesses test is not satisfied. This accused is, therefore, entitled to be given the benefit of doubt and acquitted of all the offences with which he has been charged.

533. Accused No.52 Sachin Nagindas Modi: In all, three witnesses have testified against this accused.

1. PW-198 Haroon Mahammadbhai Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. Considering the nature of the contradictions in the testimony of this witness as well as the fact that his version has come on record for the first time after a period of six years when the SIT recorded his statement, this court has found that the witness is not a credible and truthful witness. No reliance can, therefore, be placed upon his testimony qua this accused.

2. PW-217 Salim Rahimbhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed that while he was on the terrace of a house at Gopinath Society, his brother Rashid had informed him that his mother was burnt in the passage of the water tank as well as regarding the involvement of this accused in the offence. This witness is not an eyewitness to the incident. In his first statement recorded on 7.6.2002, he had not named this accused and has named him for the first time in his statement recorded by the SIT. Under the circumstances, the court has not accepted his testimony qua this accused.

3. PW-218 Abdulrashid Rahimbhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob with a hockey stick when his mother was killed. Having regard to the fact that no statement of this witness was recorded at the relevant time as well as keeping in view the fact that this witness had narrated the incident regarding his mother being killed to PW-217 his brother Salim, whose statement was recorded on 7.6.2002, but he (his brother) had not named this accused at the relevant time, this court has found that it would be hazardous to rely upon the testimony of this witness against this accused.

534. FINDINGS: In view of the fact that none of the three witnesses who had testified against this accused have been found to be credible and trustworthy, the two witnesses test has not been satisfied. This accused is, therefore, entitled to be given the benefit of doubt and acquitted of the offences with which he was charged.

535. Accused No.53 Vilas @ Viliyo Prakashbhai Sonar: This accused has been named by only one witness.

PW-209 Shabana Bundubhai Kureshi: This witness has deposed that she when they entered the passage of the water tank, the people in the mob surrounded them from all four sides. In this mob, she had seen this accused with several other named accused and others. She has further deposed that she was called to identify two accused and she had gone there and identified an accused by the name of Vilas. She has further identified this accused in the dock. The witness has admitted that the test identification parade had been carried out through her in the year 2008, after six years. This witness has neither named this accused nor described him either in the statements before the investigating agencies or before the court. She, however, had identified him in a test identification parade conducted in the year 2008 and has also identified him before the court. However, considering the events that have taken place in the intervening period, this court has found it hazardous to rely upon such identification, for the purpose of establishing the charge against the accused.

536. FINDINGS: Thus, this court after appreciating the testimony of the sole witness who has testified against this accused, has found it hazardous to rely upon her testimony against this accused. Even otherwise, only one witness has testified against this accused and hence, the two witnesses test is not satisfied. Hence, the conviction of this accused cannot be sustained and he deserves to be acquitted by giving him the benefit of doubt.

537. Accused-55 Dinesh @ Tiniyo Govindbhai Barge (Marathi): This accused has been named by, in all, five witnesses.

1. PW-73 Basubhai Mayuddin Saiyed: This witness has deposed that after the incident that took place at Majid's house, those persons who were left in the godown, who were approximately fifteen to twenty persons, as well as those who could not climb near the S. T. wall, were sitting near the compound wall and Tiniyo Marathi (A-55), son of S.R.P. chased them away. The witness has wrongly identified accused No.22 as Tiniyo Marathi, and therefore has failed to identify this accused.

Insofar as this accused is concerned, all that has been attributed to him is that he chased away the people who had come out of the shuttered hall and were sitting near the S.T. compound wall and chased them away. Moreover, the witness has failed to identify this accused. His evidence would, therefore, be of no avail to the prosecution.

2. PW-137 Rafikanbanu Rehmanbhai Saiyed: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob towards Teesra Kuva in the evening. This court after considering the overall testimony of this witness has not found her to be a credible and truthful witness. No reliance can, therefore, be placed upon her testimony to prove the charge against this accused.

3. PW-143 Dildar Umrao Saiyed: This witness has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob near the S.R.P. Quarters in the evening at about 5:30 to 6:00 p.m. This witness had not named this accused in his statements dated 4.5.2002 and 9.5.2002 and had named him for the first time in his statement dated 3.6.2008. This court has found that no reliance can be placed upon the testimony of this witness for the purpose of proving the charge against any of the accused named by him.

4. PW-156 Abdulmajid Mohammad Usman Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob in the evening as well as in the afternoon. He, however, has failed to identify this accused in the dock. No reliance can, therefore, be placed upon his testimony qua this accused.

5. PW-203 Sharifabibi Iqbalbhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed that she had seen this accused in the mob which assaulted and burnt her son Sharif. The testimony of this witness has been found to be acceptable qua this accused in the incident relating to the murder of her son Sharif.

538. FINDINGS: Insofar as this accused is concerned, out of the five witnesses who have testified against him, only one witness viz., PW-203 Sharifabibi Iqbalbhai Shaikh has been found to be credible. The two witnesses test is, therefore, not satisfied in the case of this accused. The conviction of this accused, therefore, cannot be sustained and he is required to be acquitted of the offences with which he has been charged by giving him the benefit of doubt.

539. Accused No.58 Santoshkumar Kodumal Mulchandani, also known as Santosh Dudhwala: Two witnesses have testified against this accused.

1. PW-104 Mahammasalim Mahammadhussain Shaikh: This witness has not named this accused in any of his statements before the court but has merely identified him by his face in the dock. The court has, therefore, found that it would be very risky to rely upon the testimony of this witness to establish the charge against this accused.

2. PW-192 Rasidabanu Imtiazhussain Momin: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the morning. This witness has named the accused for the first time after a period of six years and despite the fact that two of her statements had been recorded at the relevant time, she had not named any accused. The court has, therefore, found that it would be hazardous to rely upon her testimony to prove the charge against this accused.

540. FINDINGS: Thus, both the two witnesses who have implicated this accused have not been found to be credible and trustworthy witnesses. Therefore, the two witnesses test is not satisfied in the case of this accused. It may be noted that PW-135 Hussainabanu Asgarkhan had wrongly identified this accused instead of accused No.38 Ashok Sindhi. The trial court has considered this to be a circumstance against this accused while recording a finding of guilt. In the opinion of this court, when the witness has neither named nor implicated this accused and has wrongly identified him instead of another accused, no reliance can be placed upon the testimony of such witness against this accused who has been wrongly identified. Thus, in the absence of any credible evidence to establish the complicity of this accused, his conviction deserves to be set aside and he is required to be acquitted of the offences with which he was charged by giving him the benefit of doubt.

541. Accused No.60 Pintu Dalpatbhai Jadeja (Chhara): In all, three witnesses have testified against this accused.

1. PW-37 Salimbhai Roshanali Shaikh: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob at the Noorani Masjid in the morning as well as in the incident of dragging Siddique and killing him in the evening. This witness had not named this accused in his statement recorded by the police and named him for the first time in the statement recorded by the SIT. Moreover, he has failed to identify this accused in the dock. The testimony of this witness, therefore, cannot be relied upon against this accused.

2. PW-209 Shabana Bundubhai Kureshi: This witness has deposed regarding having seen this accused in the mob in the passage of the water tank. This witness had not named the accused at the relevant time when her statement came to be recorded on 11.5.2002, and has named him for the first time before the SIT. This court has found the testimony of this witness to be credible as regards the version of the events that took place on that day, but has not found her testimony to be credible insofar as the accused named by her are concerned.

3. PW-212 Rukshana Bundubhai Kureshi: This witness has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob which assaulted her mother near the passage of the water tank. This witness had not named this accused in her statement dated 11.5.2002 and had named him for the first time in her statement dated 3.6.2008 recorded by the SIT. Furthermore, she has failed to identify this accused. Under the circumstances, her testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

542. FINDINGS: Thus, out of the three witnesses who had testified against this accused, the evidence of none of the witnesses has been accepted by this court insofar as implication of this accused is concerned. This accused is therefore, entitled to be acquitted of all the offences with which he has been charged by giving him the benefit of doubt.

543. Accused No.62 Kirpalsingh Jangbahdursingh Chhabda: In all three witnesses have testified against this accused.

1. PW-52 Amina Abbas Belim: This witness has deposed that while she was standing in front of the Noorani Masjid, Mayaben Kodnani came in a white car which halted near the Noorani Masjid and Mayaben and her assistant got down. Thus, insofar as this accused is concerned, it is the case of the witness that he got down along with Mayaben near the Noorani Masjid. The witness has failed to identify this accused in the dock. Moreover, there is nothing on record to show as to how he is sought to be implicated as an accused inasmuch as this witness has only referred to a person who according to her was Mayaben's Assistant, but nothing has been brought on record to show that accused No.62 is in fact Mayaben's assistant, nor has any test identification parade been carried out to establish his identity. In view of the fact that this witness has failed to identify the accused in the dock, her testimony would be of no avail to the prosecution.

2. PW-157 Mahammad Shafi Allabax Mansuri: This witness has deposed that he had come out of his house at around 9:00 to 9:30 in the morning. The witness has stated that there were mobs from Natraj and Krushnanagar and the people in the mob were armed with weapons like swords, dharias, rods, pipes, etc. and in this mob, he had seen Bipin Autowala. The police were present and behind them, Kirpal Singh (A-62) was present who was in the mob which was near the S.T. Workshop, opposite Noorani Masjid. This witness has further deposed that at around 4:30 in the evening, a mob had come from the side of Uday Gas Agency. The people in the mob were armed with weapons, and in this mob, he had seen this accused along with other named accused. In the cross-examination of this witness, he has admitted that in his statements dated 13.4.2002 and 23.5.2002, he had not stated the facts regarding accused Kirpal Singh. In his further cross-examination, it has come out that in his statement dated 2.6.2008 recorded by the SIT, he had not named this accused in the mob which came from the side of Uday Gas Agency. Thus, this witness had not named this accused in his original statements recorded at the relevant time when the incident took place and has named him for the first time after a period of more than six years in the statement recorded by the SIT and that too, only in respect of the morning incident.

Considering the fact that this witness has named this accused after a considerable delay and had not named him in his initial statement recorded by the police, this court has found that the evidence of this witness cannot be relied upon qua this accused.

3. PW-236 Siddique Allahbax Mansuri: This witness has stated that at 11 o'clock, Mayaben Kodnani came near the S.T. Workshop and gestured to the mob and called them to the S.T. Workshop Gate. At this time, about a hundred leaders, including her P.A., also came there. Mayaben gestured to her P.A. and gave him instructions, whereupon he took out weapons from the TRAX jeep and under her instructions, he gave all the weapons to the leaders of the mob. Thereafter, Mayaben went away and the people in the mob, including her P.A., attacked the Noorani Masjid. The witness has stated that he does not know the name of Mayaben's P.A. and that he knows him by his face. He has identified accused No.62 as Mayaben's P.A. The statement of this witness has not been recorded at the relevant time and came to be recorded for the first time by the SIT in the year 2008. After his statement was recorded, it was read over to him. In his statement recorded by the SIT, the witness has stated that Mayaben had come with her pati (her husband), but in his testimony, he has clarified that he had referred to Mayaben's P.A. Thus, before the SIT, the witness has referred to Mayaben's husband and not her P.A. and for the first time, he has identified him by his face before the court. Under the circumstances, when the witness has not named this accused in his statement before the SIT, which even otherwise was recorded belatedly, such identification before the court for the first time cannot be accepted. Under the circumstances, the testimony of this witness is not reliable qua this accused.

544. FINDINGS: Thus, out of three witnesses who have deposed against this accused, none of them have been found to be credible witnesses. Each of the witnesses had named this accused belatedly in the year 2008 after the SIT came to be constituted. Moreover, PW 52 Amina Abbas Belim and PW 236 Siddique Allahbax Mansuri have merely referred to him as Mayaben's P.A. and no evidence has been brought on record to establish the fact that this accused is in fact Mayaben's P.A. Insofar as PW 236 is concerned, this accused stands implicated for the first time before the court when the witness identified him by his face in the dock. Therefore, insofar as these two witnesses are concerned, the identity of the accused itself had not been established prior to the accused being identified in the dock, therefore, it would be hazardous to place reliance upon such identification before the court for the first time. As regards PW-157 Mahammad Shafi Allahbax Mansuri, this witness has named him for the first time only in his statement recorded by the SIT and had not named him in his statements recorded by the police at the relevant time. Moreover, even before the SIT, he had named him only in the morning incident, whereas before the court he has improved upon that version and has referred to his presence in the mob had come from the side of Uday Gas Agency at 4:30 in the evening.

Considering the fact that none of the three witnesses who have deposed against this accused are found to be credible and trustworthy insofar as implication of this accused is concerned, the two witnesses test is not satisfied in the case of this accused and he is entitled to be given the benefit of doubt and acquitted of the offences with which he has been charged.

XXXIII QUANTUM OF SENTENCE:

545. On behalf of the appellants it has been submitted that the trial court, after conviction has erred in imposing upon a few of the accused persons, non-concurrent sentence, in the facts of the present case. It was submitted that in the case of accused No.18, he has been convicted till the last breath; however, the case does not fall in the rarest category and, therefore, does not warrant non-concurrent conviction and such harsh punishment.

546. The trial court while imposing sentence has held that all substantive sentences, except the sentences for life, the applicable meaning of which has been given by it in the order with reference to each of the accused shall run concurrently.

547. Insofar as interference with the imposition of sentence by the trial court is concerned, the legal position in this regard is well settled. The Supreme Court in Bikram Dorjee v. State of W.B., (2009) 14 SCC 233, has held thus:

5. The logic behind the sentence in a criminal trial has been highlighted by this Court in State of M.P. v. Ghanshyam Singh, (2003) 8 SCC 13:

“15. After giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, for deciding just and appropriate sentence to be awarded for an offence, the aggravating and mitigating factors and circumstances in which a crime has been committed are to be delicately balanced on the basis of really relevant circumstances in a dispassionate manner by the court. Such act of balancing is indeed a difficult task. It has been very aptly indicated in Dennis Council McGautha v. State of California, 402 US 183 : 28 L.W. 2D 711, that no formula of a foolproof nature is possible that would provide a reasonable criterion in determining a just and appropriate punishment in the infinite variety of circumstances that may affect the gravity of the crime. In the absence of any foolproof formula which may provide any basis for reasonable criteria to correctly assess various circumstances germane to the consideration of gravity of crime, the discretionary judgment in the facts of each case is the only way in which such judgment may be equitably distinguished.

16. ... The object should be to protect the society and to deter the criminal in achieving the avowed object of law by imposing appropriate sentence. It is expected that the courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects the conscience of the society and the sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. ...

17. Imposition of sentence without considering its effect on the social order in many cases may be in reality a futile exercise. The social impact of the crime e.g. where it relates to offences against women, dacoity, kidnapping, misappropriation of public money, treason and other offences involving moral turpitude or moral delinquency which have great impact on social order and public interest cannot be lost sight of and per se require exemplary treatment. Any liberal attitude by imposing meagre sentences or taking too sympathetic a view merely on account of lapse of time in respect of such offences will be resultwise counterproductive in the long run and against societal interest which needs to be cared for and strengthened by a string of deterrence inbuilt in the sentencing system.

19. ... The court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which the criminal and victim belong. The punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality with which the crime has been perpetrated, the enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'."

548. Thus, the court has held that the punishment to be awarded for a crime should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality with which the crime has been perpetrated, the enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'. Having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case, the trial court after considering the enormity of the crime which warrants public abhorrence has responded to the society's cry for justice against the criminals while imposing the sentence. Considering the brutality and depravity of the crime, it cannot be said that the sentence awarded by the trial court is disproportionate to the crime which has been committed. Therefore, except to the extent where in a given case, this court has found the sentence to be disproportionate to the role attributed to an individual accused, there is not warrant for intervention with the sentence imposed by the trial court.

XXIV FINAL ORDERCriminal Appeal No.1708 of 2012

549. The appeal is hereby allowed insofar as appellant No.2 – Ganpat Chhanaji Didawala (Chhara) (original accused No.4 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009), appellant No.3 – Vikrambhai Maneklal Rathod (Chhara) alias Tiniyo (original accused No.5 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009), appellant No.10 – Manubhai Keshabhai Maruda (original accused No.28 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), appellant No.11 – Shashikant alias Tiniyo Marathi son of Yuvraj Patil (original accused No.30 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), appellant No.12 – Babubhai @ Babu Vanzara S/o Jethabhai Salat (Marwadi) (original accused No.33 in Sessions Case No.242 of 2009), appellant No.13 – Laxmanbhai alias Lakho son of Budhaji Thakor (original accused No.34 in Sessions Case No.243 of 2009), appellant No.15 – Mukesh alias Vakil Ratilal Rathod son of Jaybhavani (original accused No.40 in Sessions Case No.245 of 2009), appellant No.16 – Hiraji alias Hiro Marvadi alias Sonaji son of Danaji Meghval (Marvadi) (original accused No.42 in Sessions Case No.245 of 2009), appellant No.17 – Vijaykumar Takhubhai Parmar (original accused No.46 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009), appellant No.18 – Ramesh Keshavlal Didawala (Chhara) (original accused No.47 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009), appellant No.19 – Sachin Nagindas Modi (original accused No.52 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009), appellant No.20 – Vilas alias Viliyo Prakashbhai Sonar (original accused No.53 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009), appellant No.21 – Dinesh alias Tiniyo

Govindbhai Barge (original accused No.55 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009) and appellant No.22 – Pintu Dalpatbhai Jadeja (Chhara) (original accused No.60 in Sessions Case No.270 of 2009) are concerned.

550. Accordingly, the judgment and order of conviction and sentence against appellant No.2 – Ganpat Chhanaji Didawala (Chhara) (original accused No.4 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009), appellant No.3 – Vikrambhai Maneklal Rathod (Chhara) alias Tiniyo (original accused No.5 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009), appellant No.10 – Manubhai Keshabhai Maruda (original accused No.28 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), appellant No.11 – Shashikant alias Tiniyo Marathi son of Yuvraj Patil (original accused No.30 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), appellant No.12 – Babubhai @ Babu Vanzara S/o Jethabhai Salat (Marwadi) (original accused No.33 in Sessions Case No.242 of 2009), appellant No.13 – Laxmanbhai alias Lakho son of Budhaji Thakor (original accused No.34 in Sessions Case No.243 of 2009), appellant No.15 – Mukesh alias Vakil Ratilal Rathod son of Jaybhavani (original accused No.40 in Sessions Case No.245 of 2009), appellant No.16 – Hiraji alias Hiro Marvadi alias Sonaji son of Danaji Meghval (Marvadi) (original accused No.42 in Sessions Case No.245 of 2009), appellant No.17 – Vijaykumar Takhubhai Parmar (original accused No.46 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009), appellant No.18 – Ramesh Keshavlal Didawala (Chhara) (original accused No.47 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009), appellant No.19 – Sachin Nagindas Modi (original accused No.52 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009), appellant No.20 – Vilas alias Viliyo Prakashbhai Sonar (original accused No.53 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009), appellant No.21 – Dinesh alias Tiniyo

Govindbhai Barge (original accused No.55 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009) and appellant No.22 – Pintu Dalpatbhai Jadeja (Chhara) (original accused No.60 in Sessions Case No.270 of 2009), is hereby set aside and the appellants are acquitted of the offences with which they were charged by giving them the benefit of doubt. They shall forthwith be set at liberty unless required in any other case.

551. The appeal is partly allowed insofar as the appellant No.1 Naresh Agarsinh Chhara alias Nariyo (original accused No.1 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009), appellant No.4 Haresh alias Hariyo son of Jivanlal alias Agarsing Rathod (Chhara) (original accused No.10 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009), appellant No.7 Premchand alias Tiwari Conductor son of Yagnanarayan Tiwari (original accused No.25 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), appellant No.8 Suresh alias Sehjad Dalubhai Netlekar (Chhara) (original accused No.26 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), the appellant No.9 – Navab alias Kalu Bhaiyo Harisinh Rathod (original accused No.27 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009) and appellant No.14 – Harshad alias Mungda Jilagovind Chhara Parmar (original accused No.39 in Sessions Case No.245 of 2009), are concerned. The appeal is dismissed qua appellant No.5 Prakash Sureshbhai Rathod (Chhara) (Original accused No.21 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), appellant No.6 Suresh alias Richard alias Suresh Langado son of Kantibhai Didawala (Chhara) (original accused No.22 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009).

552. Accordingly, while confirming the impugned common judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 31st August, 2012/5th October, 2012 passed by the learned

Special Judge, Court for conducting Speedy Trial of Riot Cases, situated at SIT Courts, Ahmedabad against the appellant No.1 Naresh Agarsinh Chhara alias Nariyo (original accused No.1 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009), appellant No.4 Haresh alias Hariyo son of Jivanlal alias Agarsing Rathod (Chhara) (original accused No.10 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009, appellant No.7 Premchand alias Tiwari Conductor son of Yagnanarayan Tiwari (original accused No.25 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), appellant No.8 Suresh alias Sehjad Dalubhai Nettlekar (Chhara) (original accused No.26 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009) and the appellant No.9 – Navab alias Kalu Bhaiyo Harisinh Rathod (original accused No.27 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), the conviction and sentence of the appellants for the offence under section 120B of the Penal Code is hereby set aside. Insofar as appellant No.14 – Harshad alias Mungda Jilagovind Chhara Parmar (original accused No.39 in Sessions Case No.245 of 2009), is concerned, his appeal is partly allowed. The judgment and order of conviction and sentence passed by the learned Special Judge is hereby set aside to the extent the appellant has been convicted and sentenced for the offences punishable under sections 323, 324, 325, 326, 302, 307 and 440 read with section 149 of the Penal Code. The conviction and sentence for the offence punishable under section 120B of the Penal Code is also set aside. The rest of the order of conviction and sentence is confirmed. The judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 31st August, 2012/5th October, 2012 passed by the learned Special Judge, Court for conducting Speedy Trial of Riot Cases, situated at SIT Courts, Ahmedabad against appellant No.5 Prakash Sureshbhai Rathod (Chhara) (Original accused No.21 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), appellant No.6 Suresh alias Richard alias Suresh Langado son of Kantibhai Didawala (Chhara) (original accused No.22 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009 is hereby confirmed.

Criminal Appeal No.1709 of 2012

553. The appeal is allowed qua the appellant No.3 – Ashok Hundaldas Sindhi, (original accused No.38 in Sessions Case No.245 of 2009). The impugned common judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 31st August, 2012 /5th October, 2012 passed by the learned Special Judge, Court for conducting Speedy Trial of Riot Cases, situated at SIT Courts, Ahmedabad against this accused is hereby set aside and the appellant is acquitted of the charges leveled against him by giving him the benefit of doubt. He shall forthwith be set at liberty unless required in any other case. The appellant No.5 – Ashokbhai Uttamchand Korani (Sindhi), known as Ashok Pan-na Galla walo and Bholenath Pan-na-Galla walo Ashok Sindhi (original accused No.45 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009) has passed away during the pendency of this appeal and hence the appeal stands abated qua this accused.

554. The appeal is partly allowed insofar as appellant No.1 – Morlibhai Naranbhai Sindhi alias Murli (original accused No.2 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009) and appellant No.2 – Kishan Khubchand Korani (original accused No.20 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009) are concerned. The impugned common judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 31st August, 2012 / 5th October, 2012 passed by the learned Special Judge, Court for conducting Speedy Trial of Riot Cases, situated at SIT Courts, Ahmedabad against the appellant No.1 –

Morlibhai Naranbhai Sindhi alias Murli (original accused No.2 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009) and appellant No.2 – Kishan Khubchand Korani (original accused No.20 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009) is hereby set aside to the extent the appellants have been convicted and sentenced for the offence under section 120B of the Penal Code. The rest of the judgment and order of conviction and sentence is hereby confirmed. Appellant No.2 Kishan Khubchand Korani has been granted bail. He shall forthwith surrender to judicial custody.

Insofar as appellant No.4 – Manojbhai alias Manoj Sindhi son of Renumal Kukrani, known as Manoj Videowala and Manoj Tyrewala (original accused No.41 in Sessions Case No.245 of 2009) is concerned, the prosecution has established his presence on the road in the morning and in the chawls at 11 o'clock in the morning. This appellant is similarly situated to accused No.27 Navab alias Kalubhaiya Harisinh Rathod, who has been sentenced to life imprisonment (to be meant in the usual terms) and to pay fine of Rs.3000/- in default to suffer further rigorous imprisonment for twenty days for the offence punishable under section 302 of the Penal Code. Therefore, on the grounds of parity, the sentence for the offence under section 302 of the Penal Code in the case of this accused is required to be reduced to that extent. Accordingly, the appeal is partly allowed. The impugned common judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 31st August, 2012/ 5th October, 2012 passed by the learned Special Judge, Court for conducting Speedy Trial of Riot Cases, situated at SIT Courts, against the appellant No.4 – Manojbhai alias Manoj Sindhi son of Renumal Kukrani, known as Manoj Videowala and Manoj Tyrewala (original accused No.41 in Sessions Case No.245 of 2009) is hereby set aside to the extent the appellant has been convicted and sentenced for the offence under section 120B of the Penal Code and to the extent the appellant has been sentenced to “rigorous imprisonment to serve a minimum sentence of twenty one years in jail without remissions before consideration of his case for premature release and fine of rupees five thousand, in default to suffer further rigorous imprisonment for forty days” for the offence under section 302 of the Penal Code. The sentence for the offence under section 302 of the Penal Code is reduced to “life imprisonment (to be meant in the usual terms) and to pay fine of Rs.3000/- in default to suffer further rigorous imprisonment for twenty days”. The rest of the judgment and order of conviction and sentence is hereby confirmed.

555. The appeal is partly allowed. The impugned common judgment and order of conviction dated 31st August, 2012/5th October, 2012 passed by the learned Special Judge, Court for conducting Speedy Trial of Riot Cases, situated at SIT Courts, Ahmedabad against the appellant Babubhai @ Babu Bajarangi S/o Rajabhai Patel, original accused No.18 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009, is hereby confirmed. However, insofar as the sentence is concerned, having regard to the evidence on record, the involvement of the appellant in the commission of the crimes cannot be said to be of a higher degree than that of the accused persons who are actually found to be involved in the offences that came to be committed both on the road and in the chawls. Significantly, the eye-witnesses who have been found to be credible qua this accused are all police witnesses who have deposed regarding his presence in the mob on the road. Insofar as the more serious offences committed inside the chawls are concerned, this accused has been convicted on the basis of section 120B of the Penal Code and his actual involvement in those offences has not been established by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt. Under the circumstances, there is no reason why he should be sentenced to a harsher punishment than the other accused. His sentence is required to be reduced to the same as in case of the other accused who have been found guilty of the commission of the offences throughout the day. Accordingly, the order of sentence passed by the trial court is hereby set aside to the extent the appellant, for the offence under section 302 read with section 149 and section 120B of the Indian Penal Code, has been sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment for remaining period of his natural life subject to remission or commutation at the instance of the Government for sufficient reason and to also pay a fine of Rs.500/- and in default, to suffer further rigorous imprisonment for fifteen days, if his case is considered for commutation and remission. Instead, for the offence under section 302 read with section 149 of the Indian Penal Code, the appellant is sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment to serve a minimum sentence of twenty one years in jail without remissions before consideration of his case for premature release and shall also pay a fine of Rs.5000 (Rupees five thousand only), in default, to suffer further rigorous imprisonment for forty days. The sentences awarded for all the other offences are confirmed. All the substantive sentences, except the sentence for imprisonment for life shall run concurrently.

Criminal Appeal No.1711 of 2012

556. The appeal is partly allowed. The impugned common judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 31st August, 2012/5th October, 2012 passed by the learned Special Judge, Court for conducting Speedy Trial of Riot Cases, situated at SIT Courts, Ahmedabad against the appellant Bipinbhai @ Bipin Autowala S/o Umedrai Panchal (original accused No.44 in Sessions Case No.245 of 2009), it is hereby set aside to the extent the appellant has been convicted for the offence under section 120B of the Penal Code. The rest of the judgment and order of conviction and sentence is hereby confirmed.

Criminal Appeal No.1713 of 2012:

557. The appeal is allowed. The impugned common judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 31st August, 2012 / 5th October, 2012 passed by the learned Special Judge, Court for conducting Speedy Trial of Riot Cases, situated at SIT Courts, Ahmedabad against the appellant Dr. Mayaben Surendrabhai Kodnani original accused No.37 in Sessions Case No.243 of 2009, is hereby set aside and the appellant is acquitted of the offences with which she was charged by giving her the benefit of doubt. The appellant is already on bail. The bail bond shall stand cancelled.

Criminal Appeal No.1740 of 2012:

558. The appeal is allowed. The impugned common

Criminal Appeal No.1862 of 2012:

559. The appeal is allowed. The impugned common judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 31st August, 2012 / 5th October, 2012 passed by the learned Special Judge, Court for conducting Speedy Trial of Riot Cases, situated at SIT Courts, Ahmedabad, against the appellant Santoshkumar Kodumal Mulchandani (original accused No.58 in Sessions Case No.243 of 2009) is hereby set aside and the appellant is acquitted of the offences with which he was charged by giving him the benefit of doubt. The appellant shall forthwith be set at liberty unless required in any other case.

XXXV ACQUITTAL APPEALS:

CRIMINAL APPEAL NO.1050 OF 2013

560. The State of Gujarat has filed only one acquittal appeal being Criminal Appeal No.1050 of 2013, challenging the acquittal of accused No.19 – Padmendrasinh Jaswantsinh Rajput, accused No.24 – Rajkumar alias Raju son of Gopiram Chaumal, accused No.43 – Haresh Parshuram Rohera, accused No.56 – Geetaben Ratilal alias Jaybhavani Rathod and accused No.61 – Ramilaben Ratilal alias Jaybhavani Rathod.

561. Mr. Prashant Desai, learned Special Public Prosecutor submitted that insofar as accused No.19, 24 and 43 are concerned, only police witnesses have named them. It was submitted that since in the first information report, their names figure and the complainant has specifically stated that they were at the site of incident, which is also supported by the other police witnesses, viz., PW-266, PW-274 and PW-277, their involvement is proved by these witnesses. It was submitted that accused No.19 has been named by four witnesses, viz., PW-262, PW-266, PW-274 and PW-277 all of whom are police witnesses, whereas accused No.24 has been named by five witnesses, viz., PW-236, PW-262, PW-266, PW-274 and PW-277. It was contended that from the evidence of these witnesses, their involvement is proved beyond reasonable doubt. In case of accused No.24, even PW-236 has also spoken about his involvement. In this view of the matter, there is no reason to acquit these three accused, or at least, accused No.19 and 20. It was submitted that at least in case of those accused who were also named by prosecution witnesses other than police witnesses, the benefit of doubt should not have been given. It was submitted that while accused No.19 has been named only by police witnesses, accused No.24 has also been named by PW-236 Siddique Allabax who has identified him, but has not named him, whereas accused No.43 has been named only by PW-262 Shri V.K. Solanki.

562. It was submitted that the criteria adopted by the trial court for considering the involvement of an accused only if a witness other than the police witnesses names him, is not proper and reasonable. It was argued that if the trial court has concluded that apart from the police witnesses, other witnesses have also named them and is taking support of the first information report, there is no logical reason not to accept the contents of the first information report and also convict these three accused. It was submitted that a specific question was also asked to PW-274 K.K. Mysorewala and also PW-262 V.K. Solanki that they had delayed the filing of the first information report only to include these five accused, which was denied by both of them. It was submitted that if that be so, there is no reason to disbelieve the first information report and the police witnesses who have named these accused and the justification given by the trial court is not correct.

563. It was submitted that insofar as accused No.56 – Geeta and accused No.61 – Ramila are concerned, three eyewitnesses have named Geeta, viz., PW-219 Noorbanu Zakirhussain Saiyed, PW-137 Rafikanbanu Rehmanbhai Saiyed and PW-177 Ishratjahan Parvez Hussain Saiyed and insofar as accused No.61 Ramila is concerned, four witnesses have deposed against her, viz. PW-137 Rafikanbanu Rehmanbhai Saiyed, PW -142 Zannatbibi Kallubhai Shaikh, PW-177 Ishratjahan Parvez Hussain Saiyed and PW-212 Rukshana Bundubhai Kureshi. Referring to the findings recorded by the trial court in respect of these accused, it was submitted that the reasons given by the trial court are not correct. It was submitted that these accused had been identified in the test identification parade as well as in the court and hence, their presence is proved beyond reasonable doubt, and hence, they could not have been given the benefit of doubt. It was submitted that both, the presence and participation of these accused in the crime has been established by the prosecution, and hence, they should not have been acquitted. It was submitted that both these accused should be held liable and punished for aiding and abetting the crime.

564. Six of the victims/witnesses have jointly filed an acquittal appeal being Criminal Appeal No.1812 of 2012, challenging the acquittal of accused No.3, 6, 7, 9, 11, 17, 19, 23, 24, 31, 36, 43, 48, 49, 51, 54, 56, 57, 59 and 61. In the appeal the appellants have also prayed for the following reliefs:

“(B) YOUR LORDSHIPS be pleased to resort to the remedy available u/s 391 Cr.P.C. and record the additional evidence of the prosecution witnesses considering the applications at annexures ‘F’ herein in the interest of justice;

(C) YOUR LORDSHIPS be pleased to pass orders under Section 173(8)(2) ordering further investigation by an independent agency into authentication, ownership and location of the Mobile Phone Records CD, as the Investigation by the SIT has been found to be seriously wanting and lacking in thoroughness by the Ld Sessions Judge;

(D) YOUR LORDSHIPS be pleased to grant reliefs to victims and survivors of gender violence in accordance with evolving and newly set national and international norms;”

565. Mr. Y. N. Ravani, learned counsel appearing for the victims/witnesses, submitted that the trial court has discarded the evidence of the police witnesses unless the testimony of such witnesses was corroborated by the testimony of other eyewitnesses. It was submitted that the police witnesses were not just Investigating Officers but they were also witnesses whose presence at the scene of offence was established. In these circumstances, they should not have been treated as police officers investigating the offence, but as eyewitnesses of the offence and their evidence ought to have been taken into consideration and given due weightage. It was argued that merely because the police witnesses may not have named influential persons, is no reason to discard the evidence against the named persons. According to the learned counsel, the evidence of the police witnesses should have been given more weightage as they are more acquainted with the people involved in criminal activities. Moreover, it is not the case of the defence that the accused had any enmity with the police officers and therefore, there was no question of wrongly implicating them. It was urged that the trial court has, therefore, committed serious error in acquitting those accused who were named by the police officers.

565.1 Next it was submitted that certain victims had named certain accused, who have been acquitted on the ground of non-identification before the court or delay in giving their names. It was pointed out that the Supreme Court stayed the investigation and thought it fit to constitute a Special Investigation Team after six and a half years and, therefore, that was the first opportunity for the witnesses to name those accused. It was contended that the delay in giving the names should not have been a ground for non consideration of the evidence of such witnesses and not much weightage should have been given to non-identification of the accused after such a long time.

565.2 Referring to the testimony of PW-262 Shri V.K. Solanki, it was submitted that this witness could recognize only the leaders and gave the names of only known persons. Therefore, this shows the credibility of the witnesses qua the names of the accused persons. It was submitted that just because the police did not discharge their duties properly, the benefit should not go to the accused. It was submitted that this witness had named and identified the accused and nothing has been brought out in the cross-examination which shows that the identity of the accused is not believable. It was submitted that in the cross-examination of this witness, the presence or the identity of the accused has not been dislodged, and hence, his evidence qua the accused named by him is credible, reliable and believable.

565.3 Reference was made to the testimony of PW-274 Shri K.K. Mysorewala, to submit that this witness had named and identified accused Umesh Bharwad, Murli Sindhi, Raju Choumal, P. J. Rajput and Babu Bajrangi. It was submitted that the presence of this witness at the scene of offence has not been disputed. He was the Senior Police Inspector of the Naroda Police Station and was present at the scene along with his staff. It was submitted that he may not have given complete details about the incident, but he has identified the named accused in the mob, which stands undislodged in his cross-examination.

565.4 Referring to the testimony of PW-277 Shri M.T. Rana, it was submitted that this witness who has named the accused also talks of the presence of Shri K. K. Mysorewala and his evidence has not been shaken in his cross-examination. It was submitted that this witness has deposed that he had seen Shri P.J. Rajput (A-19), Kishan Korani (A-20), Raju Chaubal (A-24) and Babu Bajrangi (A-18) in the mob. It was submitted that insofar as accused No.18 Babu Bajrangi is concerned, in the sting operation conducted on this accused, his involvement in the offence has been established. It was submitted that having regard to the fact that the presence of accused No.18 has been duly established, the testimony of this witness against the other accused named by him along with accused No.18 should have been believed.

565.5 The attention of the court was drawn to the testimony of PW-264 Shri K. P. Makwana, to submit that this witness has referred to the presence of three accused persons, namely, Naresh (A-1), Kalu (A-27) and Umesh Bharwad (A-3). While accused Naresh and Kalu have been convicted, there was no valid reason to acquit Umesh Bharwad. It was submitted that this police witness had no enmity with the accused so as to wrongly implicate him, and hence, the trial court was not justified in discarding his evidence against accused Umesh Bharwad.

565.6 Referring to the testimony of PW-267 Shri M. M. Rathod, it was submitted that this witness has named accused Naresh, accused Umesh Bharwad and accused Kalu as well as identified all of them in the court. It was submitted that there was no reason for the trial court to discard the testimony of this witness and acquit accused Umesh Bharwad on the ground that no witness other than the police witnesses had named him.

565.7 The attention of the court was drawn to the testimony of PW-116 Lalbhai Nizambhai Luhar, to submit that on account of the fact that the witness had not seen the accused after the incident, the connection with the accused got snapped because later on, there was no occasion for them to see each other. It was submitted that the testimony of the witness has been recorded after a long gap of about eight to nine years; therefore, there is all possibility of the witness having forgotten the faces which might have been known to him when he was residing in the same area. It was submitted that on behalf of the defence, it has not been stated that this witness had any enmity with the persons named by him. It was further pointed out that the witness was so terrified that without police protection, he had not even ventured to identify the accused.

565.8 Reference was made to the testimony of PW-236 Siddiquebhai Allabax Mansuri, to submit that this witness has named only Maya Kodnani in his deposition, but has identified many accused by their faces as being the persons who were leading the mob. It was submitted that this witness had returned to Naroda Patiya, and, therefore, in view of the live link with the accused, he had an opportunity to identify the accused by their faces. According to the learned counsel, this witness had identified only those persons whom he knew and the witness appears to be more reliable. Moreover, he has described the place from where he had seen the incident. It was submitted that the difference in versions between the witnesses indicates how natural the versions of the witnesses are. It was submitted that this witness is a resident of the Naroda Patiya area and he has rightly identified the accused. It was submitted that the fact that he had not named other accused, is no reason to discard his evidence. It was pointed out that this witness had got a natural opportunity to see the incident from an uncompleted building and had also got the opportunity to hear the speech. The witness might not know the names of the accused, and, therefore, the first opportunity that he had to identify them was in the court. It was contended that if there is any defect in the investigation in not carrying out test identification parade, the benefit cannot go to the accused. Moreover, in the cross-examination of the witness, nothing is shown to indicate any enmity with the accused, and, therefore, there was no intention of falsely implicating them.

565.9 Referring to the testimony of PW-212 Rukshanabanu Bundubhai Qureshi, it was pointed out that this witness has also named Chintu (A-31), Pintu (A-40) and Jaybhavani's daughter (A-61). It was submitted that this witness had seen the incident, including the death of her mother. She was the sufferer and had no reason to falsely implicate any accused. It was pointed out that even in her cross-examination the credibility of this witness has not been shaken. It was submitted that this witness has named Chintu (A-31) which is further corroborated by the police evidence. It was pointed out that the accused have continued to commit offence after offence and their presence has been established

565.10 The attention of the court was invited to the testimony of PW-213 Asifkhan Achchankhan Pathan, to submit that this witness has named accused Navin Chhagan Chhara. It was submitted that he has named this accused in the company of other accused. Four out of the five accused have been convicted and therefore, there was no reason to give the fifth name incorrectly. It was submitted that the witness was from the same area as that of the accused and he had no enmity with Navin Chhara and that the suggestion made in the cross-examination that there was a demand of rupees three lakh, and, therefore, he implicated this accused, is not supported by any evidence.

565.11 Referring to the testimony of PW-156 Abdul Majid Mahammad Usman Shaikh, it was pointed out that this witness along with other accused has named Nilam Marathi (A-54) and has identified him earlier as well as in the court. It was submitted that therefore, there was no reason to discard the testimony of this witness.

565.12 Reference was made to the testimonies of PW-177 Ishratjahan Parvez Hussain Saiyed, PW-219 Noorbanu Zakirhussain Saiyed, PW-142 Zannatbibi Kallubhai Shaikh and PW-137 Rafikanbanu Rehmanbhai Saiyed, to submit that these witnesses have deposed against Geeta (A-56) and Ramila (A-61), daughters of Jaybhawani. It was submitted that insofar as PW-137 Rafikanbanu is concerned, not naming the accused in the affidavit is no reason to give them a clean chit, more so, when the implication of the father and brother of these girls has been accepted by the trial court.

565.13 Reference was made to the testimony of PW-273 Pankajbhai Pradhyumanbhai Bhatt, to submit that this witness has duly established the presence of P.M. Shah (A-57) and S.T. Darji (A-59) at the scene of offence. Referring to the impugned judgment, it was submitted that the findings regarding previous investigation are contradictory. It was submitted that the investigation was initially conducted by the police, where later on the Supreme Court found that further investigation was necessary and constituted the SIT. It was urged that merely because the previous investigation was not up to the mark, would not give any benefit to the accused who are named in such investigation. According to the learned counsel, the investigation ought to have been appreciated by clubbing both the investigations, and if any part thereof was found to be doubtful, that should have been discarded.

565.14 Referring to the findings of the trial court in respect of accused No.6 Rajesh alias Pangdo Kantilal Parmar (Chhara), it was pointed out that this accused has been named by PW-116 Lalbhai Nizambhai Luhar whose deposition had been recorded after a number of years. Therefore, due to this fact, the non-identification should not be given so much importance after so many years.

565.15 In the context of accused No.7 Champak Himmatbhai Rathod (Chhara), it was submitted that he is identically situated to accused No.6, except that during the course of identification, he had put on glasses and immediately after the witness had gone, he had taken them off, to avoid identification. It was submitted that since this accused had tried to see that he is not identified by changing his appearance, non-identification of the accused should not have been taken into consideration.

565.16 Since accused No.9 Amrat alias Kalu Babubhai Rathod and accused No.11 Kaptansing Jawansing Parmar (Chhara) are similarly situated to accused No.6 Rajesh alias Pangdo Kantilal Parmar (Chhara) and have been named by PW-116 Lalbhai Nizambhai Luhar who could not identify them before the court, similar submissions were advanced.

565.17 As regards accused No.17 – Nandlal alias Jecky Vishnubhai (Chhara), it was submitted that PW-236 Siddiqbhai Allabax Mansuri had identified this accused in the court as being one of the persons in the group of leaders whom Mayaben had summoned and to whom weapons had been distributed. It was submitted that this witness has not named this accused anywhere, but before the court he had identified him and that the trial court was not justified in not accepting such identification before the court and acquitting this accused.

565.18 As regards accused No.19 Padmendrasinh alias P.J. Rajput Jaswantsinh Rajput, it was submitted that this accused has been named by, in all, four police witnesses, namely, PW-262 Vinubhai Khemabhai Delvadiya (V.K. Solanki), PW-274 Kerman Khurshid Mysorewala, PW-277 Madansinh Takhatsinh Rana and PW-266 Parbatsinh Vajesinh Thakor. It was submitted that all these witnesses have deposed that they had seen this accused in the mob in the afternoon at around 2 o'clock and had identified him before the court. All the witnesses have been consistent in their statements regarding the presence of this accused. Therefore, the trial court was not justified in acquitting these accused solely on the ground that no witness other than the police witnesses had implicated him. It was submitted that this is a fit case for reversal of the acquittal and convicting the accused.

565.19 As regards accused No.23 Ashok Silvant Parmar (Chhara), it was submitted that this witness was named by PW-250 Naseembanu Khwaja Hussain Shaikh who had stated that she had seen him pelting stones near the Noorani Masjid and that merely because due to lapse of time, the witness could not identify the accused, is no reason to acquit him.

565.20 As regards accused No.24 Rajkumar alias Raja Gopiram Chaumal, it was submitted that this accused has been named by in all five police witnesses, namely, PW-236 Siddiqbhai Allabax Mansuri, PW-262 Vinubhai Khemabhai Delvadiya (V.K. Solanki), PW-266 Parbatsinh Vajesinh Thakor, PW-274 Kerman Khurshid Mysorewala and PW-277 Madansinh Takhatsinh Rana. It was submitted that all these witnesses have referred to the presence of this accused in the mob at around 2 o'clock in the afternoon on the day of the incident. It was submitted that the testimonies of the witnesses stand undislodged in their cross-examinations. They have not only consistently named this accused, but have also identified him before the court. Moreover, PW-236 Siddiqbhai Allabax Mansuri has identified this accused by face as one of the persons who were amongst the leaders whom Mayaben had summoned near the S.T. Workshop and distributed weapons. It was submitted that considering the evidence which has come against this accused, the trial court was not justified in acquitting him and that this is a fit case for reversal of acquittal and convicting the accused of the offences with which he has been charged.

565.21 As regards accused No.31 Ankur alias Chintoo Ashokbhai Parmar, it was submitted that PW-212 Rukshanabanu Bundubhai Qureshi has named this accused as being in the mob in the passage of the water tank where her mother was done to death. It was submitted that this witness has named this accused in her statements recorded by the SIT on 3.6.2008 as well as 14.9.2008 and has identified him in the dock. It was submitted that this witness is a credible witness whose testimony has not been shaken in her cross-examination and therefore, the trial court was not justified in not convicting this accused on the basis of the testimony of this witness.

565.22 As regards accused No.43 Haresh Parshuram Rohera, it was submitted that this witness has been named in the first information report by the informant PW-262 V.K. Solanki who has also named him in his deposition before the court and has identified him. It was submitted that the presence of this witness at the scene has been duly established and his testimony has not been dislodged in his cross-examination. He had no enmity with the accused so as to falsely implicate him and hence, there was no justification in not accepting his testimony against this accused.

565.23 As regards accused No.36 Janaksinh Dharamsinh

Nehra alias Janak Marathi, it was submitted that PW-146 Iqbal Ismailbhai Mansuri has referred to the presence of this accused near Gangotri Society with a pipe in his hand. It was submitted that through the testimony of this witness, the presence of this accused at the scene of incident is duly established, and hence, the trial court was not justified in acquitting him.

565.24 As regards accused No.48 Kishanbhai Shankarbhai Mahadik (Kishan Manek), it was submitted that PW-203 Sharifabibi Iqbalbhai Shaikh has referred to the presence of this accused in the mob which assaulted her son and burnt him to death. It was submitted that this witness has named this accused consistently, but could not identify him in the dock, under the circumstances, non-identification of the accused after a lapse of eight to nine years, ought not to have been given undue weightage and the testimony of this witness ought to have been accepted to convict this accused.

565.25 As regards accused No.49 Ranchhodbhai Manilal Parmar, it was submitted that this accused has been named by PW-273 Pankaj Pradhyumanbhai Bhatt who used to serve as an officer at the Central Officer, S.T. Workshop at Naroda. This witness has named this accused as well as has identified him before the court. It was submitted that from the deposition of this witness, it is clear that the accused was present on duty at the S.T. Workshop. It was submitted that many witnesses have mentioned that there was stone pelting from inside the S.T. Workshop and burning rags with oil and iron scrap were thrown in the chawls of Muslims. It was submitted that this witness is an independent witness and there is no reason to disbelieve his testimony.

565.26 As regards accused No.51 Navin Chhaganbhai Bhogekar (Chhara), it was submitted that this accused has been named by PW-213 Haseebkhan Achchankhan Pathan who has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob with a gas cylinder. This accused used to bring gas cylinders, open their pin and by applying cloth on it, used to throw them in a burning state on the Noorani Masjid and the Muslim houses. It was submitted that in his statement dated 2.6.2008 recorded by the SIT, the witness has stated that this accused was leading the mob with a gas cylinder and has identified him before the court. This witness has given concrete evidence against this accused and there is no reason to disbelieve him.

565.27 As regards accused No.56 Geetaben Ratilal alias Jaybhavani Rathod, it was submitted that this accused has been named by three witnesses, viz., PW-177 Ishratjahan Parvez Hussain, PW-219 Noorbanu Zakirhussain Saiyed and PW-137 Rafikanbanu Rahemanbhai Saiyed. It was submitted that PW-177 has named this accused in her statement dated 23.5.2008 before the SIT. In her deposition before the court, she has stated that at around 2:00 to 2:30 in the afternoon, she had seen a mob entering their chawl and Sahejad Chhara, Ganpat Chhara and two Chhara girls were in the forefront of the mob. She has identified the accused by their names before the court during the course of her deposition, and hence, has given adequate evidence against the accused. It was submitted that PW-219 has referred to the presence of this accused near the Pinjara's house with her father Bhavani, exclaiming that don't they make khadhi and khichdi when someone dies. The witness has further deposed that from below the paan-cabin where she had taken the shelter, she had seen the mob standing near Jaybhavani's house and Jaybhavani and his daughter were driving all the people out. That Jaybhavani and his younger daughter gave mattresses soaked with kerosene to the mob. It was submitted that through the testimony of this witness, it is established that though this accused is a woman, she has acted in a brutal manner and played an active role in the commission of the offence. It was pointed out that PW-137 has deposed that when out of fear they came to Gopinath Society, she had her three daughters with her and Ramila and Geeta, daughters of Bhavani, had placed mattresses soaked with petrol and diesel on her daughter Afsana's waist and burnt her. It was submitted that since this accused had submitted an exemption application, she is deemed to have been identified. Thus, there is no reason to disbelieve the testimony of this witness. It was, accordingly, urged that three witnesses have deposed against this accused and have also identified her before the court and the trial court was not justified in acquitting this accused.

565.28 As regards accused No.54 – Nilam Manohar Chaubal (Marathi), it was submitted that PW-156 Abdul Majid Mahammad Usman Shaikh has named this accused. The witness has deposed that on the day of the incident, he had seen this accused in the mob along with Mayaben and other accused. It was submitted that this witness has also identified this accused and hence, there was no justification in not convicting this accused.

565.29 As regards accused No.57 – Pankaj Mohanlal Shah, it was submitted that, in all, three witnesses have testified against this accused. PW-107 Mahammad Kalubhai Khalifa has named this accused in his statement before the SIT on 31.5.2008 and has stated that he had given petrol and diesel from the S.T. Workshop. He has also named him in his testimony before the court, but has failed to identify him. It was submitted that thus, this accused was giving kerosene and diesel to the mob. The intention of the mob was to burn the properties of the Muslims and this accused by giving kerosene to the mob, had played an active role and thereby, committed criminal acts. Therefore, there was no reason to disbelieve the testimony of this witness. It was pointed out that PW-108 Iqbalhussain Samirmiya Qureshi has named this accused before the SIT in his statement dated 12.6.2008, but could not identify him. This witness has deposed that when he was returning from his job in the morning, he had seen stones being pelted at the Patiya Circle and he had seen this accused in the mob. It was submitted that there is no reason to disbelieve the deposition of the witness. It was pointed out that PW-273 Pankaj Pradyumanbhai Bhatt used to work as an officer at the office of the Central Workshop, Naroda and has named this accused and has identified him before the court. From the testimony of this witness, it is clear that this accused was present on duty at the S.T. Workshop and this witness have being an Administrative Officer was well acquainted with this accused. It was submitted that many witnesses have mentioned that stones were being pelted from inside the S.T. Workshop, and burning rags and iron pieces were thrown in the chawls of the Muslims. This witness is an independent witness and there is no reason to disbelieve his testimony. It was submitted that in the light of the evidence of three credible witnesses, the trial court was not justified in acquitting this accused.

565.30 As regards accused No.59 Subhashchandra alias Darji Jagannath Darji, it was submitted that this accused has been named by PW-273 Pankaj Pradyumanbhai Bhatt. It was pointed out that PW-273 Pankaj Pradyumanbhai Bhatt used to work as an officer at the office of the Central Workshop, Naroda and has named this accused and has identified him before the court. From the testimony of this witness, it is clear that this accused was present on duty at the S.T. Workshop and this witness have being an Administrative Officer was well acquainted with this accused. It was submitted that many witnesses have mentioned that stones were being pelted from inside the S.T. Workshop, and burning rags and iron pieces were thrown in the chawls of the Muslims.

565.31 As regards accused No.61 Ramilaben Ratilal alias Jaybhavani Somabhai Rathod, it was submitted that this accused has been named by, in all, four witnesses. PW-142 Zannatbibi Kallubhai Shaikh has deposed that in the lane between Gangotri Society and Gopinathnagar, the elder daughter of Bhavani was giving petrol and diesel to the mob from a white can and that Bhavanisingh, Guddu Chhara, Suresh, Bhavanisingh's advocate son and his elder daughter were in the mob that came from the opposite side.

565.32 It was submitted that PW-177 Ishratjahan Parvez Hussain has named this accused in her deposition before the court and has identified her. She has deposed that at around 2:00 to 2:30 in the afternoon, the mob was damaging, burning and looting inside their chawl and she had seen Sahejad

Chhara, Ganpat Chhara and two Chhara girls in the forefront of the mob. It was submitted that this witness has identified this accused as one of the two Chhara girls who were present there.

565.33 Referring to the testimony of PW-212 Rukshanabanu Bundubhai Qureshi, it was submitted that this witness has named this accused in both her statements dated 3.6.2008 and 14.9.2008 recorded by the SIT and has identified her. She has deposed that Jaybhavani's daughter was giving water to the people in the mob that had assaulted and killed her mother.

565.34 Referring to the testimony of PW-137 Rafikanbanu Rahemanbhai Saiyed, it was submitted that this witness has named this accused before the court and has also identified her. She has deposed that this accused along with her sister Geeta placed mattresses soaked with petrol and diesel on her daughter Afsana's waist and burnt her. It was submitted that thus, this accused has placed a direct role in burning the daughter of this witness. It was submitted that considering the consistent testimony of four eyewitnesses, the trial court was not justified in acquitting this accused.

565.35 The learned counsel referred to the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of National Human Rights Commission v. State of Gujarat and others, (2009) 6 SCC 767, to submit that the Supreme Court found the investigation to be inadequate, but did not comment on the same in view of the consensus between the parties. It was pointed out that various interim orders were passed by the Supreme Court at intervals, wherein the Supreme Court had directed further investigation considering that the accused were not arraigned. The Supreme Court found it fit to intervene and the SIT had arraigned more accused and named more witnesses. Such investigation could not be brushed aside only on the ground of delay. It was submitted that the Supreme Court has also monitored the investigation.

565.36 In support of his submissions, the learned counsel placed reliance upon the following decisions of the Supreme Court, the relevant extracts whereof have been reproduced below:

- (i) Lokeman Shah and another v. State of W.B., (2001)
5 SCC 235:

21. In that case this Court held that where a large crowd collected, and one among them committed a stray assault on a victim, the said assault cannot be treated as an act committed in prosecution of the common object of the unlawful assembly. Nor can the remaining accused be imputed with the knowledge that such an offence was likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object of the assembly. In Prabhakar Shankar Sawant v. State of Maharashtra⁹ this Court observed that it is an overstatement of law that when a morcha moved on to a stage when it became unlawful any person who was a member of that morcha must be presumed to share the common object of the unlawful assembly. The court must enter satisfaction that a particular accused was a member of the unlawful assembly either through his active participation or otherwise. It must further be shown that he shared the common object of the assembly. Of course the court can draw necessary inference from the conduct, but mere presence in the assembly is hardly sufficient to draw any adverse inference against him. The question whether or not the offence having been committed in prosecution of the common object of the assembly is one of fact, depending upon the facts and circumstances of each particular case.

22. In this context it is appropriate to refer to Section 142 IPC. It pertains to a person who intentionally joins an unlawful assembly and continues to involve himself in it. The only condition which the section envisages is that the person who joins the unlawful assembly should have been aware of the facts which rendered such assembly unlawful. If he knew that an unlawful assembly had been formed with a common object and if he has chosen to join it en route to its destination the person joining midway can also be fastened with the vicarious liability envisaged in Section 149 IPC, unless he drops himself out before reaching such destination.

23. We have no doubt that appellant Lokeman Shah joined the unlawful assembly knowing fully well that it had already become unlawful as its common object was to chase the persons whom the rioters believed to be responsible for defilement of the mosque. It is immaterial that the deceased V.K. Mehta had no part in the destruction or defilement of any mosque, but the rioters believed him to be the one. We must bear in mind that the chasers carried with them explosive and lethal weapons. In all such broad circumstances it would be inane to presume that the common object of those chasers was something less than finishing the prey whom they were chasing after.

(ii) State of Rajasthan v. Abdul Mannan, (2011) 8 SCC 65:

13. When an accused is acquitted of a criminal charge, a right vests in him to be a free citizen and this Court is very cautious in taking away that right. The presumption of innocence of the accused is further strengthened by the fact of acquittal of the accused under our criminal jurisprudence. The courts have held that if two views are possible on the evidence adduced in the case, then the one favourable to the accused, may be adopted by the court. However, this principle must be applied keeping in view the facts and circumstances of a case and the thumb rule is that whether the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt. If the prosecution has succeeded in discharging its onus, and the error in appreciation of evidence is apparent on the face of the record then the court can interfere in the judgment of acquittal to ensure that the ends of justice are met. This is the linchpin around which the administration of criminal justice revolves.

14. It is a settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that the burden of proof lies on the prosecution and it has to prove a charge beyond reasonable doubt. The presumption of innocence and the right to fair trial are twin safeguards available to the accused under our criminal justice system but once the prosecution has proved its case and the evidence led by the prosecution, in conjunction with the chain of events as are stated to have occurred, if, points irresistibly to the conclusion that the accused is guilty then the court can interfere even with the judgment of acquittal. The judgment of acquittal might be based upon misappreciation of evidence or apparent violation of settled canons of criminal jurisprudence.

(iii) Mehbub Samsuddin Malek and others v. State of Gujarat, (1996) 10 SCC 480:

37. It was, however, contended by the learned counsel for the appellants that even if the prosecution evidence against Appellant 1 is believed his conviction under Section 120-B cannot be sustained. It was contended that when the bus started from the station Appellant 1 did not know that a communal disturbance had taken place near Mandavi and that a mob of Muslim boys would be standing at the entrance of Rajpura Pole. Thus there was no scope whatsoever for him to hatch a conspiracy with the mob near the entrance of Rajpura Pole. It was also submitted that Appellant 1's getting down from the bus and going near the mob was consistent with his innocence and in all probability he had gone near the mob to say that he was a Muslim and therefore he should not be beaten. He submitted that before an accused can be convicted under Section 120-B the prosecution has to establish an agreement and an agreement requires at least two persons. In this case there is nothing on record to show that there was an agreement between Appellant 1 and any person from that mob. In our opinion there is no substance in this contention. The prosecution case was that sensing some trouble and seeing a mob of armed Muslim boys standing at the entrance of Rajpura Pole Appellant 1 stopped the bus just opposite Rajpura Pole with a view to facilitate an attack on the passengers by the said mob. In spite of the request of the passengers he did not start the bus before the mob could approach it but instead he got down from it, went up to the mob and had some discussion with the persons of that mob. Thereafter the mob came near the bus and assaulted the passengers. That was the conspiracy alleged by the prosecution. If really the bus had stopped because of the mob coming in front of it then it was not necessary for him to get down from the bus. He could have disclosed his identity even by remaining in the bus. In view of the evidence of the eyewitnesses, the explanation given by him has to be regarded as false. His conduct is also inconsistent with his innocence. The stopping of the bus at a place where there was no necessity to stop it, his getting down from the bus and going across the road right up to the entrance of the Rajpura Pole and talking to the persons in the said mob leads to an irresistible inference that he not only facilitated the attack on the passengers by stopping the bus just opposite the entrance of Rajpura Pole but also induced the members of the said unlawful assembly to attack the passengers. Thus an agreement between him and the said unlawful assembly is satisfactorily established by the prosecution and therefore his conviction under Section 120-B IPC also deserves to be upheld.

(iv) Paresh Kalyandas Bhavsar v. Sadiq Yakubbbhai Jamadar and others, (1993) 3 SCC 95:

6. It is not in dispute that on the night of April 7, 1990 communal riots took place in that area and that a crowd consisting of Muslims unlawfully went around and damaged the houses and properties belonging to some of the Hindus in that locality and also attacked some of them. In this case we are mainly concerned with the occurrence that took place inside the house of PW 5. To prove that the deaths of the deceased Nishitaben and Komalben, wife and daughter of PW 5 respectively were homicidal the prosecution has examined Dr Rakesh Tandon, PW 10 who conducted the post-mortem and his evidence establishes beyond all reasonable doubt that the deaths of these two deceased were due to shock as a result of burn injuries found on their persons. In the course of the rioting PW 5 and some others also received injuries. The evidence of Dr Praveen Thakkar proves the injuries found on them and there cannot be any doubt that they received these injuries during the same rioting. Now the question is whether the evidence of these witnesses can be relied upon. The learned counsel in this context submitted that all these witnesses are interested and therefore they are likely to speak falsehood and it is not possible to separate truth from falsehood. It is needless to say that mere interestedness is not a ground to reject the evidence of the eyewitnesses particularly those who were injured. Firstly their presence during the occurrence cannot be doubted. Secondly the injured witnesses would be the last persons to leave out the real culprits and implicate others falsely. However, it becomes necessary to scrutinise their evidence with great care and caution.

(v) Lal Bahadur and others v. State (NCT of Delhi),
(2013) 4 SCC 557,

14. The High Court on the first issue regarding delay in filing of FIR held that the circumstances of the present case are extraordinary as the country was engulfed in communal riots, curfew was imposed, Sikh families were being targeted by mobs of unruly and fanatic men who did not fear finishing human life, leave alone destroying/burning property. As regards recording of the statements of witnesses by the police on 30-11-1984 after a delay of 27 days, the High Court observed that the city was in turmoil and persons having witnessed crimes would naturally be apprehensive and afraid in coming forward to depose against the perpetrators, till things settled down; that the State machinery was overworked; and in such circumstances, delay in recording the statements of witnesses cannot be a ground to reduce its evidentiary value or to completely ignore it. The High Court further found that the witnesses prior to the incident were the residents of the same area and knew the assailants and it was not the case of the appellants that the delay could have resulted in wrong identification of the accused.

15. As regards contradictions in the testimony of various witnesses, the High Court observed as under:

“19. ... Harjit Kaur had mentioned that her house was looted by a mob comprising, inter alia, of Lal Babu and Surinder. Her subsequent mentioning of names of other respondents does not appear to be an improvement of such importance that her entire eyewitness account which finds corroboration by other witnesses can be overlooked. At best here a doubt may arise only with regard to complicity of Virender and Ram Lal (it seems to have mistakenly typed as Surinder in ... trial court judgment) because later she had identified the other respondents Virender and Ram Lal also as having participated in looting her house.

23. It is no doubt true that the entire case of the prosecution hinges upon the neighbours and the widow of the victim, who may be interested in securing conviction of the accused persons but no rule of law prescribes that conviction cannot be based on the testimony of such witnesses. The only requirement of law is that the testimony of those witnesses must be cogent and credible. Here it is apposite to extract the substance of the testimony of PWs. ...

*** **

27. On reading of the evidence of above witnesses, we find that the testimonies of the witnesses are trustworthy. This we say so on account of the fact that their evidence has been consistent and they have also remained unshaken during their cross-examination. Thus, we do not find any reason to discard the evidence of these witnesses in totality. They do not vary in any manner on any material fact and if there are any discrepancies, the same are trivial, immaterial and could not be made the basis of the acquittal.”

We fully endorse the view expressed by the High Court and reject the contentions raised by the appellants.

(vi) Inder Singh and others v. State of Rajasthan, (2015)

2 SCC 734:

14. *The main issue that now requires consideration is whether the courts below have rightly applied Section 149 IPC against the appellants for convicting them for the death of four persons and for murderous assault on the informant. The principle of law governing application of Section 149 IPC has been explained by this Court in many judgments including those cited by the learned Senior Counsel for the appellants. In *Kuldip Yadav*⁵, the law was stated in para 39 in the following words:*

“39. It is not the intention of the legislature in enacting Section 149 to render every member of unlawful assembly liable to punishment for every offence committed by one or more of its members. In order to attract Section 149, it must be shown that the incriminating act was done to accomplish the common object of unlawful assembly and it must be within the knowledge of other members as one likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. If the members of the assembly knew or were aware of the likelihood of a particular offence being committed in prosecution of the common object, they would be liable for the same under Section 149 IPC.”

15. *In *Busi Koteswara Rao*⁶ the facts showed involvement of large number of persons and, therefore, while approving the view taken in *Masalti*⁸ this Court cautioned in para 11 of the judgment that the courts should be cautious in cases of arson and murder where the number of accused is large, to rely upon the testimony of the witnesses speaking generally without specific reference to the accused or the specific role played by them.*

(vii) Sadhu Saran Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh and others (2016) 4 SCC 357:

20. Generally, an appeal against acquittal has always been altogether on a different pedestal from that of an appeal against conviction. In an appeal against acquittal where the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused is reinforced, the appellate court would interfere with the order of acquittal only when there is perversity of fact and law. However, we believe that the paramount consideration of the Court is to do substantial justice and avoid miscarriage of justice which can arise by acquitting the accused who is guilty of an offence. A miscarriage of justice that may occur by the acquittal of the guilty is no less than from the conviction of an innocent. This Court, while enunciating the principles with regard to the scope of powers of the appellate court in an appeal against acquittal, in Sambasivan v. State of Kerala² has held:

“7. The principles with regard to the scope of the powers of the appellate court in an appeal against acquittal, are well settled. The powers of the appellate court in an appeal against acquittal are no less than in an appeal against conviction. But where on the basis of evidence on record two views are reasonably possible the appellate court cannot substitute its view in the place of that of the trial court. It is only when the approach of the trial court in acquitting an accused is found to be clearly erroneous in its consideration of evidence on record and in deducing conclusions therefrom that the appellate court can interfere with the order of acquittal.”

21. This Court, in several cases, has taken the consistent view that the appellate court, while dealing with an appeal against acquittal, has no absolute restriction in law to review and relook the entire evidence on which the order of acquittal is founded. If the appellate court, on scrutiny, finds that the decision of the court below is based on erroneous views and against settled position of law, then the interference of the appellate court with such an order is imperative.

22. This Court in Chandrappa v. State of Karnataka³ after referring to a catena of decisions, has laid down the following general principles with regard to powers of the appellate court while dealing with an appeal against an order of acquittal:

“42. From the above decisions, in our considered view, the following general principles regarding powers of the appellate court while dealing with an appeal against an order of acquittal emerge:

(1) An appellate court has full power to review, reappraise and reconsider the evidence upon which the order of acquittal is founded.

(2) The Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 puts no limitation, restriction or condition on exercise of such power and an appellate court on the evidence before it may reach its own conclusion, both on questions of fact and of law.

(3) Various expressions, such as, "substantial and compelling reasons", "good and sufficient grounds", "very strong circumstances", "distorted conclusions", "glaring mistakes", etc. are not intended to curtail extensive powers of an appellate court in an appeal against acquittal. Such phraseologies are more in the nature of "flourishes of language" to emphasise the reluctance of an appellate court to interfere with acquittal than to curtail the power of the court to review the evidence and to come to its own conclusion.

(4) An appellate court, however, must bear in mind that in case of acquittal, there is double presumption in favour of the accused. Firstly, the presumption of innocence is available to him under the fundamental principle of criminal jurisprudence that every person shall be presumed to be innocent unless he is proved guilty by a competent court of law. Secondly, the accused having secured his acquittal, the presumption of his innocence is further reinforced, reaffirmed and strengthened by the trial court.

(5) If two reasonable conclusions are possible on the basis of the evidence on record, the appellate court should not disturb the finding of acquittal recorded by the trial court."

565.37 In conclusion, it was submitted that the police witnesses who are also eyewitnesses should not have been excluded. According to the learned counsel, the fact that prosecution witness No.250 Naseembanu Khwajahussain Shaikh could not identify the accused should not be given weightage due to lapse of time and her evidence should be taken into consideration. It was submitted that Rukshanabanu's deposition has remained unaltered, naming various persons; Haseebkhan's statements have remained unaltered qua Navin Chhara; the presence of Umesh Bharwad has been deposed by two police witnesses namely K.P. Makwana and Manu Rathod; and Lalabhai Luhar has named four accused. It was submitted that the evidence of all these witnesses should be relied upon while considering the complicity of the accused. It was pointed out that one accused viz., Champak Barot who had put on glasses at the time of identification could not be identified which shows the conduct of the accused to avoid identification. The trial court has taken judicial notice thereof, but has acquitted the accused. It was submitted that all the above accused persons have been wrongly acquitted by the trial court and their acquittals are required to be reversed and they should be convicted.

565.38 It was submitted that, in all, twenty-nine accused have been acquitted by the trial court, whereas the appellants have preferred this appeal against twenty accused only where specific role has been mentioned by the witnesses in respect of such accused. It was submitted that the fact remains that the first investigation was not satisfactory and therefore, due weightage should have been given to the subsequent investigation; however, the evidence collected in the first investigation should not have been discarded. It was submitted that the delay that has occurred in the investigation is not attributable to any of the witnesses, and, therefore, the delay should not come in the way of such persons.

566. On behalf of the respondents, Mr. B. B. Naik, learned counsel submitted that insofar as accused No.19, 24 and 43 are concerned, only police witnesses have named them. It was pointed out that in the first information report of Naroda Patiya as well as Naroda Gam incidents, the names of the accused are same. In Naroda Police Station I-C.R. No.19/2002 which relates to the incident of Naroda Gam, the presence of the accused has been shown from 12 o'clock to 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and in the first information registered as Naroda Police Station I – C.R. No.100/2002, their presence has been shown after 2 o'clock. It was submitted that all the five accused are named in both the first information reports in the same sequence. Out of these five accused, accused No.20 and accused No.18 are shown in the mob in the morning on the highway. It was submitted that in case of the three accused except for two to three police witnesses, namely, Delwadia, K.K. Mysorewala and M.T. Rana and one or two police constables, no other witnesses have implicated them. Insofar as accused No.43 is concerned, neither K.K. Mysorewala nor M.T. Rana has implicated him. It was submitted that accused No.24 Raju Chaumal was hospitalized at the relevant time which has been duly proved. It was submitted that looking to the role of the police in the whole incident, the evidence of the police witnesses is not reliable. The evidence of police officers on many counts runs contrary to the evidence of other occurrence witnesses examined by the prosecution. It was submitted that the first information report is ante-timed and ante-dated and both the sets of accused in both the first information reports, are identical, which is admitted by Shri K.K. Mysorewala, which is another reason for disbelieving these witnesses insofar as these accused are concerned. It was submitted that there is no criminal complicity indicated by any victim witness against these two accused persons who have been acquitted by the trial court and if the circumstances are put together, it cannot be said that their complicity has been proved beyond reasonable doubt and that there are any justifiable reasons to take a different view than that taken by the trial court and to hold that the presence and complicity of these two acquitted accused in any crime under the provisions of the Penal Code has been proved beyond reasonable doubt. It was submitted that even if these witnesses are to be believed, according to these witnesses, they were present after 2:00 p.m., that too, talking and discussing something. None of the accused had any weapons with them. At the time shown by them, the mobs had already entered the chawls as per other witnesses, so there was no need for them to instigate anyone. In these circumstances, the acquittal recorded by the trial court does not warrant interference.

CRITERIA FOR DETERMINING CULPABILITY OF THE ACCUSED IN THE ACQUITTAL APPEALS:

567. Insofar as the accused who have been acquitted by the trial court are concerned, the criteria for determining their culpability in the offences in question would be the same as that which has been adopted in case of the accused who have been convicted. Thus, for the purpose of convicting the accused, the two witnesses test would be required to be satisfied. The complicity of each individual accused who has been acquitted by the trial court and whose acquittal is subject matter of challenge before this court may be now examined by applying the two witnesses test.

XXXVI COMPLICITY OF THE ACCUSED IN THE ACQUITTAL APPEALS:

568. Accused No.3 Umeshbhai Surabhai Bharwad: Two witnesses, both of whom are police witnesses, have testified against this accused.

1. PW-264 Kirankumar Parshottambhai Makwana: This witness has deposed that after the TATA 407 incident, people from the mobs started pelting stones at Pandit-ni-Chali, Hussainnagar-ni-Chali and Jawannagar hutments situated opposite the Noorani Masjid. In the mob he had seen this accused, who resides in Krushnanagar Housing, shouting 'Kill! Hack!' This court after appreciating the evidence of this witness has found it to be acceptable qua this accused.

2. PW-267 Manubhai Madhabhai Rathod: This witness has deposed that after the TATA 407 incident, the mob caused damage to the Noorani Masjid as well as to the shops situated near the Noorani Masjid. The mob attempted to enter Hussainnagar-ni-chali, Jawannagar Chhapra, Panditji-ni-chali situated opposite the S.T. Workshop. The mob was comprised of Hindus. When they were trying to enter Hussainnagar-ni-chali, a mob of around four hundred to five hundred Muslims opposed them with weapons like sticks, pipes and dharias and the mobs came up against each other. At this time, attempts were made by the police to disperse the Hindu mob. The witness has deposed that this accused along with two other named accused was in the Hindu mob and was shouting "kill" "cut". After appreciating the evidence of this witness, this court has found his evidence to be acceptable qua this accused.

569. FINDINGS: Thus, two witnesses, whose testimonies have been found to be acceptable qua this accused, have deposed against this accused. The two witnesses test is, therefore, satisfied in the case of this accused. The trial court has discarded the testimonies of the police witnesses if they were not supported by any private eye witness. This court while discussing the testimonies of the police witnesses has given reasons for not agreeing with the course of action adopted by the trial court. In the opinion of this court, the credibility of each witness, even if he is a police witness, is required to be considered independently and no rule of thumb can be applied by discarding the testimonies of the police witnesses unless supported by the testimony of any other witness. Under the circumstances, the presence of this accused as a member of the unlawful assembly on the road in the morning after 11 o'clock on the day of the incident is clearly established. The judgment and order of acquittal therefore deserves to be set aside and this accused is required to be convicted for the offences committed on the road with the aid of section 149 of the Penal Code. This accused is, therefore held guilty of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 153, 153A and 153A (2) read with section 149 of the Penal Code and, as well as under section 188 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act.

Accused No. 6 Rajesh alias Pangdo Kantilal Parmar (Chhara),

Accused No.7 Champak Himmatlal Rathod (Chhara), Accused No.9 Amrat alias Kalu Babubhai Rathod, and Accused No.11 Kaptansing Jawansing Parmar (Chhara)

570. In case of all these four accused persons, the evidence against them is in the nature of the testimony of PW 116 Lalabhai Nizambhai Luhar and the roles attributed to them are also identical. Hence, the complicity of all these accused can be considered together.

PW 116 Lalabhai Nizambhai Luhar: This witness has deposed that after 5:00 to 5:30 in the evening, they went on a terrace and sat there. From the terrace, he saw a mob coming from the side of the highway. There were many people in the mob, however, he knew twelve persons in the mob and identified them. Some of the people in the mob had spears, some had swords, some had kerosene for burning, some had pipes and some had sticks in their hands. In this mob, he saw these accused along with the other named accused. This witness has named these accused in his statement before the police as well as before the SIT and has also named them in his deposition before the court, but has failed to identify them in the dock.

571. FINDINGS: In the opinion of this court, though the witness has consistently named these accused, in the absence of identification of the accused, the evidence of this witness would be of no avail to the prosecution. The contention that much significance cannot be attached to identification of the accused after a lapse of a considerable period of time does not merit acceptance, inasmuch as, unless the accused are identified, their involvement in the offence cannot be said to have been proved beyond reasonable doubt. Even otherwise, only one witness, whose evidence has not been found acceptable, has implicated these accused, and hence, the two witnesses test has not been satisfied in the case of these accused. No case is, therefore, made out for reversal of the order of acquittal in the case of these accused.

572. Accused No.17 Nandlal alias Jecky Vishnubhai (Chhara): Only one witness has testified against this accused.

PW 236 Siddique Allabax Mansuri: This witness has deposed that at around 11 o'clock, Mayaben came near the S.T. Workshop gate in a white coloured Maruti Franti car which was followed by a jeep. Both the vehicles came from the direction of Krushnanagar and halted near the S.T. Workshop and were parked facing the S.T. Workshop gate. Mayaben alighted from the Maruti car. After getting down, she gestured towards the mob standing near Natraj to come to the S.T. Workshop gate. At this time, around a hundred leaders came there; including her P.A. Mayaben talked with those people and discussed something. Thereafter, she gestured to her P.A. and gave him instructions whereupon, Mayaben's P.A. took out weapons like swords, spears, tridents and something which looked like a revolver from the TRAX jeep. Under Mayaben's instructions, her P.A. gave all these to the leaders of the mob. Thereafter, Mayaben left, after which the people in the mob, including her P.A., attacked the Noorani Masjid. The witness has further deposed that he knows the leaders of the mob by their faces, but does not know their names but can identify them, and has, accordingly identified this accused along with several other accused by his face.

573. FINDINGS: No statement of this witness has been recorded at the relevant time by the police. Despite the fact that his statement came to be recorded for the first time by the SIT in the year 2008, this witness has not named this accused. In his deposition he merely refers to a hundred leaders having come near the S.T. Workshop upon Mayaben gesturing to them, and has identified certain accused as being amongst these hundred persons. This court after appreciating the evidence of this witness has expressed the opinion that it would be highly risky to accept such identification after a period of eight years from the date of the incident without having first fixed the identity of the accused.

Apart from the fact that the testimony of this witness is not acceptable in respect of this accused, even otherwise, only one witness having testified against him, the two witnesses test is not satisfied. Under the circumstances, there is no warrant for intervention with the order of acquittal in the case of this accused.

574. Accused No.19 Padmendsinh alias P.J. Rajput Jasvantsinh Rajput: In all, four witnesses, all of whom are police witnesses, have testified against this accused.

1. PW-262 Vinubhai Khemabhai Delwadia: This witness is the first informant in this case, who has deposed that mobs were coming from Krushnanagar, Saijpur Fadeli, Kubernagar and Chharanagar and were gathering near the Noorani Masjid as well as Hussainnagar hutments. Sometime after 11:30, active workers of the Vishwa Hindu Parishad as well as the B.J.P., namely, Kishan Korani (A-20), P. J. Rajput (A-19), Haresh Rohera (A-43), Babu Bajrangi (A-18) as well as Raju Chaumal (A-24) were present in the mob, as leaders. They had taken the leadership of the mobs and were instigating the mobs and in a little while, shops and houses belonging to the Muslim community as well as the Noorani Masjid were targeted and damaged and were set on fire and looted.

This witness has named the accused in the first information report and has also named them in his deposition and has identified them before the court. The presence of this witness at the scene of offence is established. In the cross-examination of this witness, nothing has been brought out to suggest that the witness had any enmity with the accused so as to falsely implicate him nor has anything been brought out so as to shake his credibility insofar as implication of this accused is concerned. Under the circumstances, there is no reason to disbelieve the witness insofar as the complicity of this accused is concerned.

2. PW-274 Kerman Khurshed Mysorewala: This witness who was the Senior Police Inspector at the Naroda Police Station at the relevant time, has deposed that in the mob that had gathered there in the afternoon after 2 o'clock, he had seen this accused P. J. Rajput (A-19) as well as Kishan Korani (A-20), Rajubhai Chobal (A-24) and Babu Bajrangi (A-18) in the area between Noorani Masjid and Hussainnagar-ni-Chali, talking and trying to explain something to the mob and at this time, the mob was shouting, "kill, cut". He had seen all these four people in the mob till around 2:45 p.m.

This witness has consistently named this accused in his statements recorded by the investigating agencies as well as in his deposition and has identified them before the court. Nothing has been pointed out to indicate that this witness was bearing any animosity against this accused so as to falsely implicate him nor has his testimony been shaken in the cross-examination insofar as this accused is concerned. Under the circumstances, there is no reason to disbelieve the testimony of this witness against this accused.

3. PW-277-Madansinh Takhatsinh Rana: This witness has deposed that in the stone pelting by the mob, Shri Mysorewala and other police staff had sustained nominal injuries. At around 1:30 in the afternoon, when they were once again trying to disperse the mob, he had seen this accused P.J. Rajput (A-19) as well as Kishan Korani (A-20), Raju Chaubal (A-24) and Babu Bajrangi (A-18) in the mob. All these four persons were talking about something with the people in the mob, but he had not heard what they were talking. However, the mob got more and more volatile.

Thus, this witness speaks about the presence of this accused in the mob at sometime in the noon hours. This witness also had no axe to grind against the accused so as to falsely implicate him. He has consistently named this accused in his statements before the police, in his deposition before the court and has also identified him. In these circumstances, there is no reason to disbelieve the witness insofar as implication of this accused is concerned.

4. PW-266 Parbatsingh Vajesinh Thakore: This witness has deposed that at around 2:00 to 2:15 in the afternoon, he had seen workers from around the Naroda area, namely, this accused P. J. Rajput (A-19) as well as Kishan Korani (A-20), Babu Bajrangi (A-18), and Raju Chaumal (A-24), amidst the mob at Naroda Patiya. They were talking about something. The mob was pelting stones and rioting and were also creating a lot of commotion.

Thus, this witness also speaks about the presence of this accused in the mob at about 2:00 to 2:15 in the afternoon. Nothing has been brought out in the cross-examination of this witness to show that he had any grudge against this accused so as to falsely implicate him. Under the circumstances, considering the fact that this witness has consistently named his accused and has also identified him before the court, there is no reason to disbelieve his testimony to the extent he has implicated this accused.

575. FINDINGS: Thus, in all, four witnesses have testified against this accused. From the testimonies of the four witnesses, the presence of this accused in the mob from around 11:30 to 2:45 in the afternoon stands duly established. The evidence of these witnesses further establishes that this accused was leading the mob. All the four witnesses are police witnesses. The trial court has not accepted the testimonies of the police witnesses unless they are corroborated by the testimony of some other eyewitness.

In the opinion of this court, merely because the witnesses are police officers and the investigation by the police in this case was not up to the mark, the testimonies of such police witnesses who were present at the scene of offence and are eye witnesses cannot be disbelieved. Besides, it is nobody's case that the police have acted in a partisan manner against the Hindu mob, nor is it the case of the defence that the police witnesses had any enmity or bore any animosity towards the accused. All the four witnesses have been consistent in the version given by them in their statements before the police as well as before the SIT and in their depositions and have identified the accused in the dock. Under the circumstances, from the testimonies of the four witnesses, the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the afternoon stands duly established. Since the accused was present on the road after curfew was declared, it is evident that he was a member of the unlawful assembly and shared its common object. Therefore, even in the absence of any specific role other than being a leader being attributed to him, as a member of the unlawful assembly, he would be guilty of all the offences committed on the road with the aid of section 149 of the Penal Code. The acquittal of this accused is, therefore, required to be reversed and he is required to be convicted for the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 153, 153A and 153A (2) read with section 149 of the Penal Code and, as well as under section 188 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act.

576. Accused No.23 Ashok Silvant Parmar

(Chhara): Only one witness has testified against this accused.

PW-250 Naseembanu Khwaja Hussain Shaikh: This witness has deposed that when they came on the road near the Noorani Masjid there was a mob on the road and in this mob she had seen this accused pelting stones. The witness, however, has failed to identify this accused in the dock. Her testimony would, therefore, be of no avail to the prosecution.

577. FINDINGS: In view of the fact that the sole witness who has deposed against this accused has failed to identify him in the dock, no case is made out for reversal of acquittal of this accused. The order of acquittal passed by the trial court, therefore, deserves to be sustained.

578. Accused No.24 Rajkumar alias Raja son of Gopiram Chaumal: In all, five witnesses have deposed against this accused.

1. PW 236 Siddique Allabax Mansuri: This witness has deposed that at around 11 o'clock, Mayaben came near the S.T. Workshop gate in a white coloured Maruti Franti car which was followed by a jeep. Both the vehicles came from the direction of Krushnanagar and halted near the S.T. Workshop and were parked facing the S.T. Workshop gate. Mayaben alighted from the Maruti car. After getting down, she gestured towards the mob standing near Natraj and called them to the S.T. Workshop gate. At this time, around a hundred leaders, including her P.A., came there. Mayaben talked with those people and discussed something. Thereafter, she gestured to her P.A. and gave him instructions, whereupon, her P.A. took out weapons like swords, spears, tridents and something which looked like a revolver from the TRAX jeep. Under Mayaben's instructions, her P.A. gave all these weapons to the leaders of the mob. Thereafter, Mayaben left. After which the people in the mob, including her P.A., attacked the Noorani Masjid. The witness has further deposed that he knows the leaders of the mob by their faces, but does not know their names but can identify them, and has, accordingly identified this accused along with several other accused by his face.

2. PW-262 Vinubhai Khemabhai Delwadia: This witness is the first informant in this case, who has deposed that mobs were coming from Krushnanagar, Saijpur Fadeli, Kubernagar and Chharanagar and were gathering near the Noorani Masjid as well as Hussainnagar hutments. Sometime after 11:30, active workers of the Vishwa Hindu Parishad as well as the B.J.P., namely, Kishan Korani (A-20), P. J. Rajput (A-19), Haresh Rohera (A-43), Babu Bajrangi (A-18) as well as Raju Chaumal (A-24) were present in the mob, as leaders. They had taken the leadership of the mobs and were instigating the mobs and in a little while, shops and houses belonging to the Muslim community as well as the Noorani Masjid were targeted and damaged and were set on fire and looted.

This witness has named the accused in the first information report and has also named them in his deposition and has identified them before the court. In the cross-examination of this witness nothing has been brought out to suggest that the witness had any enmity with the accused so as to falsely implicate him. Under the circumstances, there is no reason to disbelieve the witness insofar as the complicity of this accused is concerned.

3. PW-274 Kerman Khurshed Mysorewala: This witness who was the Senior Police Inspector at the Naroda Police Station at the relevant time, has deposed that in the mob that had gathered there in the afternoon after 2 o'clock, he had seen this accused Rajubhai Chobal (A-24) as well as P. J. Rajput (A-19), Kishan Korani (A-20), and Babu Bajrangi (A-18) in the area between Noorani Masjid and Hussainnagar-ni-Chali, talking and trying to explain something to the mob and at this time, the mob was shouting, "kill, cut". He had seen all these four people in the mob till around 2:45 p.m.

This witness has consistently named this accused in his statements recorded by the investigating agencies as well as in his deposition and has identified them before the court. Nothing has been pointed out to indicate that this witness bore any animosity against this accused so as to falsely implicate him. Under the circumstances, there is no reason to disbelieve the testimony of this witness against this accused.

4. PW-277-Madansinh Takhatsinh Rana: This witness has deposed that in the stone pelting by the mob, Shri Mysorewala and other police staff had sustained nominal injuries. At around 1:30 in the afternoon, when they were once again trying to disperse the mob, he had seen this accused Raju Chaubal (A-24) as well as Kishan Korani (A-20), P.J. Rajput (A-19) and Babu Bajrangi (A-18) in the mob. All these four persons were talking about something with the people in the mob, but he had not heard what they were talking. However, the mob became more and more volatile.

Thus, this witness speaks about the presence of this accused in the mob at sometime in the noon hours. This witness also had no axe to grind against the accused so as to falsely implicate him. He has consistently named this accused in his statements before the police, in his deposition before the court and has also identified him. In these circumstances, there is no reason to disbelieve the witness insofar as implication of this accused is concerned.

5. PW-266 Parbatsingh Vajesinh Thakore: This witness has deposed that at around 2:00 to 2:15 in the afternoon, he had seen workers from around the Naroda area, namely, this accused Raju Chaumal (A-24) as well as Kishan Korani (A-20), Babu Bajrangi (A-18), and) P. J. Rajput (A-19), amidst the mob at Naroda Patiya. They were talking about something. The mob was pelting stones and rioting and were also creating a lot of commotion.

Thus, this witness also speaks about the presence of this accused in the mob at about 2:00 to 2:15 in the afternoon. Nothing has been brought out in the cross-examination of this witness to show that he had any grudge against this accused so as to falsely implicate him. Under the circumstances, considering the fact that this witness has consistently named his accused and has also identified him before the court, there is no reason to disbelieve his testimony to the extent he has implicated this accused.

579. FINDINGS: Thus, in all, five witnesses have testified against this accused. Insofar as PW-236 is concerned, no statement of this witness has been recorded at the relevant time by the police. Despite the fact that his statement came to be recorded for the first time by the SIT in the year 2008, this witness has not named this accused. In his deposition he merely refers to a hundred leaders having come near the S.T. Workshop upon Mayaben gesturing to them, and has identified certain accused as being amongst these hundred persons. This court after appreciating the evidence of this witness has expressed the opinion that it would be highly risky to accept such identification after a period of eight years from the date of the incident without having first fixed the identity of the accused.

Insofar as the other four witnesses who have testified against this accused are concerned, they are all police witnesses whose presence at the scene of offence has not been disputed. Through the testimonies of these witnesses, the presence of this accused in the mob on the road from around 11:30 to 2:45 in the afternoon stands duly established. The evidence of these witnesses further establishes that this accused was leading the mob. The trial court, however, has not accepted the testimonies of these witnesses as they are police witnesses unless they are corroborated by the testimony of some other eyewitness.

In the opinion of this court, merely because the witnesses are police officers and the investigation by the police in this case was not up to the mark, the testimonies of such police witnesses who were present at the scene of offence and are eye witnesses cannot be disbelieved. Besides, it is nobody's case that the police have acted in a partisan manner against the Hindu mob, nor is it the case of the defence that the police witnesses had any enmity or bore any animosity towards the accused. All the four witnesses have been consistent in the version given by them in their statements before the police as well as before the SIT and in their depositions and have identified the accused in the dock. Under the circumstances, from the testimonies of the four witnesses, the presence of this accused in the mob on the road in the afternoon stands duly established. Since the accused was present on the road after curfew was declared, it is evident that he was a member of the unlawful assembly and shared its common object. Therefore, even in the absence of any specific role other than being a leader being attributed to him, as a member of the unlawful assembly, he would be guilty of all the offences committed on the road with the aid of section 149 of the Penal Code. The acquittal of this accused is, therefore, required to be reversed and he is required to be convicted for the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 153, 153A and 153A (2) read with section 149 of the Penal Code and, as well as under section 188 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act.

580. Accused No.31 Ankur alias Chintu Ashokbhai Parmar: Only one witness has testified against this accused.

PW-212 Rukshanabanu Bundubhai Qureshi: This witness has deposed that this accused was in the mob which had assaulted her mother in the passage of the water tank. The testimony of this witness, though found to be otherwise credible and trustworthy, has not been found to be credible as regards the accused named by her, inasmuch as, she had not named any accused in her statement before the police and had named them for the first time after a period of more than six years when her statement came to be recorded by the SIT.

581. FINDINGS: Thus, only one witness who has not been considered to be credible insofar as implication of this accused is concerned has testified against this accused. Under the circumstances, there is no evidence on record to establish the involvement of this accused in the offence in question. No case is, therefore, made out for reversal of the order of acquittal passed by the trial court. Resultantly, the order of acquittal passed by the trial court deserves to be sustained.

582. Accused No.36 Janaksinh Dharamsinh Nehra alias Janak Marathi: Only one witness is stated to have testified against this accused.

PW-146 Iqbalbhai Ismailbhai Mansuri has deposed that at about 5:30 in the evening they went to Gangotri Society. At that time, Janak Marathi was standing in front of Gangotri Society with a pipe in his hand. He recognised him and told him that they should go away from there. In his cross-examination, this witness has admitted that all the Muslims went from the direction shown to them by Janakbhai and on account of that the lives of about thirty to forty Muslims were saved.

583. FINDINGS: The prosecution seeks to establish the charge against this accused through the testimony of PW-146. However, from the deposition of this witness, it is evident that he has not implicated this accused in any offence and on the contrary from the evidence of this witness, it has come out that this accused was responsible for saving the lives of about thirty to forty Muslims. Under the circumstances, the judgment and order of acquittal deserves to be sustained insofar as this accused is concerned.

584. Accused No.43 Haresh Parshuram Rohera: Only one witness, namely, the first informant, has named this accused.

PW-262 Vinubhai Khemabhai Delwadia: This witness is the first informant in this case, who has deposed that mobs were coming from Krushnanagar, Saijpur Fadeli, Kubernagar and Chharanagar and were gathering near the Noorani Masjid as well as Hussainnagar hutments. Sometime after 11:30, active workers of the Vishwa Hindu Parishad as well as the B.J.P., namely, Kishan Korani (A-20), P. J. Rajput (A-19), Haresh Rohera (A-43), Babu Bajrangi (A-18) as well as Raju Chaumal (A-24) were present in the mob, as leaders. They had taken the leadership of the mobs and were instigating the mobs and in a little while, shops and houses belonging to the Muslim community as well as the Noorani Masjid were targeted and damaged and were set on fire and looted.

This witness has named the accused in the first information report and has also named them in his deposition and has identified them before the court. In the cross-examination of this witness nothing has been brought out to suggest that the witness had any enmity with the accused so as to falsely implicate him. Under the circumstances, there is no reason to disbelieve the witness insofar as the complicity of this accused is concerned.

585. FINDINGS: From the evidence on record, it emerges that only one witness, namely, PW-262 has testified against this accused. Under the circumstances, the two witnesses test is not satisfied in the case of the present accused. Consequently, the order of acquittal passed by the trial court deserves to be sustained.

586. Accused No.48 Kishanbhai Shankarbhai Mahadik (Kishan Manek): Only one witness has deposed against this accused.

PW-203 Sharibibi Iqbalbhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed that in the mob which had assaulted her son and set him ablaze, she had seen this accused together with the other named accused. The witness, however, has failed to identify this accused though he was present in the court. Under the circumstances, the testimony of this witness would be of no avail to the prosecution.

587. FINDINGS: In the light of the fact that only one witness has deposed against this accused and she too has failed to identify him before the court, no case is made out for reversal of the order of acquittal passed by the trial court, which consequently, deserves to be sustained.

588. Accused No.49 Ranchhodbhai Manilal Parmar:

Only one witness had deposed in connection with this accused.

PW-273 Pankaj Pradyuman Bhatt, on the basis of the muster roll maintained at the S.T. Workshop, has deposed that this accused, namely, R.M. Parmar, Artisan-B was present on duty on 28.2.2002 and that his full name was Ranchhodbhai M. Parmar. This witness has further deposed that on 27.2.2002 the opening balance of high speed diesel was 3487 litres and no diesel was received on that day and the total consumption on that day was 76 litres. He has further deposed regarding the quantities of furnace oil in terms of the register maintained by them. It appears that no discrepancies have been noticed in the quantities of diesel and furnace oil maintained by the S.T. Workshop. Thus, all that this witness has deposed is with regard to the presence of this accused at his workplace, namely, the S.T. Workshop at Naroda. There is nothing in his testimony which implicates this accused in the offence in question. Under the circumstances, his testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

589. FINDINGS: The prosecution has placed reliance upon the testimony of this witness to implicate this accused. However, considering the testimony of this witness it is apparent that all that has been established is the presence of this accused at his workplace viz. the S.T. Workshop. This witness has not implicated this accused in the offence in question nor have any incriminating circumstances been proved against him. Under the circumstances, the testimony of this witness, who is the sole witness on whose testimony the prosecution has placed reliance insofar as this accused is concerned, does not in any manner support the prosecution case. Under the circumstances, no case is made out for reversal of the order of acquittal passed by the trial court, which consequently, deserves to be sustained insofar as this accused is concerned.

590. Accused No.51 Navin Chhaganbhai Bhogekar (Chhara): Only one witness has testified against this accused.

PW-231 Haseebkhan Achchhankhan Pathan has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob on the road in the morning and that he had a gas cylinder with him. The witness has further deposed that this accused was bringing gas cylinders, taking out the pins, wrapping a cloth around it and lighting the gas cylinders and putting them in the Noorani Masjid and houses of Muslims.

591. FINDINGS: This court after appreciating the evidence of this witness has not accepted his testimony in respect of the accused named by him. In view of the fact that the testimony of the sole witness who has testified against this accused has not been found to be acceptable by this court, no case is made out for reversal of the order of acquittal passed by the trial court, which, therefore, deserves to be sustained insofar as this accused is concerned.

592. Accused No.54 Nilam Manohar Chaubal (Marathi): This accused has been named by only one witness.

PW-156 Abdul Majid Mahammad Usman Shaikh: This witness has deposed that from the terrace of Gangotri Society, he had seen Guddu Chhara, Guddu Chhara's two brothers, Tiniyo and others were present. All of them had swords, sticks and kerosene cans in their hands. They had attacked Ayub, Allabux's son. They had put him in a rickshaw near the compound wall of the S.R.P. Quarters and near Abeda's house in the last lane of Jawannagar, and had burnt him. He himself had seen that Guddu Chhara had a sword in his hand. One of Guddu Chhara's brothers had a can of kerosene and his other brother had a stick in his hand. Five to six other Marathi youths were also there. The witness has further deposed that he had been called to the Gheekanta Court, where he had identified Nilam Marathi (A-54) whom he had seen in the mob and had thereafter seen in the court also. The witness has also deposed that out of the accused that he had seen on the day of the incident, Guddu Chhara, Dalpat Chhara and Jaybhavani have died. Out of the other accused whom he had seen on the day of the incident, he can identify Mayaben, Guddu's two brothers, Tiniyo, Manu, Suresh Langdo and Jaybhavani's son and Nilam Marathi. The witness has thereafter identified Mayaben Kodnani (A-37), Guddu's brother (A-10), Suresh Langdo (A-22), Manu Harijan (A-28) and Neelam (A-54).

This court after appreciating the evidence of this witness has observed that insofar as accused No.54 is concerned, the witness has not named him in his examination-in-chief and has merely referred to the presence of some Marathi youths in the incident pertaining to the death of Ayub and has stated that he had identified this accused in the test identification parade and has identified him in the dock. Thus, in the absence of reference to this accused in the examination-in-chief, mere identification of the accused in the mob, without reference to the mob in which he had seen him, is too slender an evidence to incriminate the accused in such a serious offence. Thus, this court has not accepted the testimony of this witness qua this accused.

593. FINDINGS: As noted hereinabove, only one witness has testified against this accused. The witness, however, has not named the accused in his examination-in-chief and has merely identified him in the dock by his name and has stated that he had seen him in the mob. Having regard to the fact that this court, after appreciating the evidence of the sole witness who has testified against this accused, has found his evidence to be too slender to incriminate the accused in such a serious offence, the testimony of this witness would be of no avail to the prosecution. Even otherwise, since only one witness has deposed against this accused, the two witnesses test is not satisfied. This accused is, therefore, entitled to be given the benefit of doubt and his acquittal deserves to be sustained.

594. Accused No.56 Geetaben daughter of Ratilal @ Jaybhavani Rathod: In all, three witnesses have deposed against this accused.

1. PW-177 Ishratjahan Parvezhussain Saiyed: This witness has deposed that at around 2:00 to 2:30 in the afternoon, the mob had committed vandalism, arson and looting, and had entered their chawl. Sahejad Chhara (A-26), Ganpat Chhara (A-4) and two Chhara women were in front of the mob. The Chhara women were looting. The witness has, accordingly, identified the other three accused by their names, but has not identified this accused by her name. From the cross-examination of PW-

327, the Investigating Officer (SIT), it has been proved that the witness had stated before him that she does not know the names of the two women who were with the two named accused and that she cannot even identify them if she sees them. Insofar as this accused is concerned, even before the Investigating Officer (SIT) the witness had not named her and had in fact stated that she would not be in a position to identify them even if she saw them. This court, after appreciating the evidence of this witness has not accepted her testimony qua the accused named by her.

2. PW-219 Noorbanu Zakirhussain Saiyed: This witness has deposed that while she was hiding under a paan-cabin she had seen Jaybhavani and his daughter driving everyone out of their house and telling them that if the mob comes, there will be difficulty. They had driven everyone out, but thereafter they called the mob behind their house and Jaybhavani and his daughter gave kerosene soaked quilts to the mob. They used kerosene sprinkled quilts and set Jadikhala, Noori and Jadikhala's grandson on fire. In the act of burning them in this manner, Jaybhavani and his younger daughter had also participated. The witness has further deposed that the SIT had called her to the Gheekanta Court for identification of Jaybhavani's daughter and that she had gone to the Gheekanta Court and identified her. The witness has stated that even today, she can identify Jaybhavani's younger daughter, and has correctly identified Jaybhavani's younger daughter. In the cross-examination of the witness an omission has been brought on record that in her statement dated 17.5.2002 she has not stated any fact regarding her having seen the incident of Jadikhala, Noori and Jadikhala's grandson or named the accused or the role played by them. This omission which is a material omission amounting to a contradiction has been proved through the testimony of the concerned assignee officer who had recorded her statement dated 17.5.2002, and has admitted that this witness had not stated any facts regarding the incident of Jadikhala, Noori and Jadikhala's grandchildren and had also not given the names of any accused or attributed any role to them. In her cross-examination, the witness has admitted that in her first statement dated 3.6.2008 recorded by the SIT; she had not given Geeta's name because till then, she did not know her name.

Considering the overall testimony of this witness, this court has found that this witness does not come across as a truthful witness and her testimony is full of improvements, exaggerations and embellishments. Her testimony is also contrary to the testimony of majority of the witnesses, who had stated that the incident of Jadikhala took place near the passage of water tank. Having regard to the testimony of this witness and considering the manner in which she claims to have seen the accused, this court had found that this witness does not appear to be a credible and truthful witness and her evidence cannot be taken into consideration for the purpose of establishing the charge against the accused named by her.

3. PW-137 Rafikanbanu Rahemanbhai Saiyed: This witness has deposed that her three daughters, Rukshana, Zarina and Afsana were with her. Bhavani's daughters – Ramila (Accused No.61) and Geeta (Accused No.56) had set her daughter Afsana on fire. Her daughter Afsana was saved, whereas her son Samsad and daughters Ruksana and Zarina, all the three, have died in this incident. Her all three children had breathed their last in her presence. Ramila and Geeta had thrown petrol and diesel soaked quilts on her daughter Afsana's waist and set her ablaze. Insofar as identification of this accused is concerned, the witness had stated that she can identify her, but this accused had filed an exemption application and hence, is deemed to have been identified.

However, in the cross-examination of this witness a material omission amounting to a contradiction has been brought on record to the effect that she had not stated the facts regarding her three daughters Rukshana, Zarina and Afsana being with her and Bhavanisingh's daughters Ramila and Geeta having burnt her daughter Afsana, in her statement recorded by the SIT. Such omission has been proved through the testimony of PW 327 the Investigating Officer (SIT), who has admitted that the witness had not given the names of Ramila and Geeta and had also not attributed any role to them in the statement recorded by him. Thus this witness has named accused Ramila and Geeta for the first time before the court. This court after appreciating the evidence of this witness has found that apart from the fact that the version given by the witness has come up for the first time at a highly belated stage, even such version is full of contradictions and material omissions and the credibility of the witness has been fully dented during the course of cross-examination by the defence. Considering the overall testimony of this witness, this court has found that she does not come across as a credible and truthful witness and it would be very hazardous to base a conviction on such evidence. The evidence of this witness, therefore, would not help the prosecution in establishing the charge against the accused named by her.

595. FINDINGS: Thus, none of the three witnesses who have testified against this accused have been found to be reliable and credible insofar as this accused is concerned. Under the circumstances, the two witnesses test is not satisfied in the case of this accused. Consequently, the order of acquittal is required to be sustained.

596. Accused No.57 Pankaj Mohanlal Shah: This accused has been implicated by, in all, three witnesses.

1. PW-107 Mohammadbhai Kalubhai Khalifa has deposed that he had seen this accused in the mob that had gathered on the road at around 10:00 to 10:30 and was pelting stones. He has further stated that this accused was giving diesel and kerosene to the people in the mob and was shouting "kill" "cut". The witness, however, has failed to identify this accused in the dock. Under the circumstances, his testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

2. PW-108 Iqbalhussain Samirmiya Qureshi has deposed that as the mob was advancing, the witness and others were going to Jawannagar. At that time, there was stone pelting from the S.T. Workshop and he had heard the people in the mob addressing P.M. Shah and asking him to throw stones and rags on that side. The witness, however, has not identified this accused in the dock. Moreover, from his testimony it appears that he had heard people in the mob addressing one P.M. Shah but he has not witnessed this accused committing any offence.

3. PW-273 Pankaj Pradyumanbhai Bhatt has deposed that this accused was a Time Keeper in their Accounts Division in February, 2002. He has further deposed on the basis of the entries in the register that this accused was present on duty at the Naroda S.T. Workshop on 28.2.2002. He has also deposed that on 27.2.2002 the opening balance of high speed diesel was 3487 litres and no diesel was received on that day and the total consumption on that day was 76 litres. He has further deposed regarding the quantities of furnace oil in terms of the register maintained by them. It appears that no discrepancies have been noticed in the quantities of diesel and furnace oil maintained by the S.T. Workshop. Thus, all that this witness has deposed is with regard to the presence of this accused at his workplace, namely, the S.T. Workshop at Naroda. There is nothing in his testimony which implicates this accused in the offence in question. Under the circumstances, his testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

597. FINDINGS: Thus, the testimonies of none of the three witnesses who have testified against this accused are found to be acceptable insofar as this accused is concerned. Under the circumstances, no case is made out for reversal of the order of acquittal passed by the trial court, which, consequently, deserves to be sustained insofar as this accused is concerned.

598. Accused 59 Subhashchandra alias Darji son of Jagannath Darji: Insofar as this accused is concerned, the prosecution has placed reliance upon a sole witness.

PW-273 Pankaj Pradyuman Bhatt: This witness has deposed that this accused, namely, S.J. Darji was working on the post of Artisan-B. From the muster roll maintained at the S.T. Workshop, the witness has stated that this accused was present on duty on 28.2.2002 and that his correct name was Subhash Darji. The witness has stated that the original register is maintained by their office in the routine course. This witness has further deposed that on 27.2.2002 the opening balance of high speed diesel was 3487 litres and no diesel was received on that day and the total consumption on that day was 76 litres. He has further deposed regarding the quantities of furnace oil in terms of the register maintained by them. It appears that no discrepancies have been noticed in the quantities of diesel and furnace oil maintained by the S.T. Workshop. Thus, all that this witness has deposed is with regard to the presence of this accused at his workplace, namely, the S.T. Workshop at Naroda. There is nothing in his testimony which implicates this accused in the offence in question. Under the circumstances, his testimony is of no avail to the prosecution.

599. FINDINGS: The prosecution has placed reliance upon the testimony of this witness to implicate this accused. However, considering the testimony of this witness it is apparent that all that has been established is the presence of this accused at his workplace viz. the S.T. Workshop. This witness has not implicated this accused in the offence in question nor have any incriminating circumstances been proved against him. Under the circumstances, the testimony of the sole witness on whose testimony the prosecution has placed reliance insofar as this accused is concerned, does not in any manner support the prosecution case. No case is, therefore, made out for reversal of the order of acquittal passed by the trial court, which consequently, deserves to be sustained insofar as this accused is concerned.

600. Accused No. 61 Ramilaben, daughter of Ratilal alias Jaybhavani Somabhai Rathod, known as elder daughter of Jaybhavani: In all, four witnesses have testified against this accused.

1. PW 142 Zannatbibi Kallubhai Shaikh: This witness has deposed that while she was in a passage between the Gopinathnagar and Gangotri Society, she saw that clothes of girls were being torn and they were being set ablaze. At this time, two mobs came from the side of Parshwanathnagar as well as from the opposite side. Bhavanisingh, Guddu Chhara, Suresh Chhara, Bhavanisingh's son and Bhavanisingh's elder daughter were there in this mob. The elder daughter of Bhavanisingh was giving petrol and kerosene filled in white cans to the persons in the mob. Bhavanisingh, Guddu Chhara, Suresh, Bhavanisingh's son who is an advocate and his elder daughter were in the mob which came from the opposite side. The witness has also stated that Bhavanisingh's daughter brought some kerosene for him and Kausarbanu and her child were burnt on the spot.

In her cross-examination an omission has been brought out that she had not referred to Bhavanisingh's daughter in either of her statements recorded by the police as well as in her statement recorded by the SIT. Such omission, which amounts to a contradiction, has been proved through the testimonies of the concerned assignee officer as well as Investigating Officer who had recorded the respective statements and had admitted that this witness has not named Bhavani's elder daughter in the statements recorded by them nor had she attributed any role to her.

This court after appreciating the evidence of this witness has observed that insofar accused No.61 Ramila daughter of Jaybhavani is concerned, this witness had not named her in either of her statements recorded by the police at the relevant time in the year 2002, which has duly been proved through the testimonies of the concerned assignee officer and Investigating Officer who had recorded such statements. Even before the SIT, she had not named this accused and had merely referred to the presence of two girls. Thus, for the first time before the court she has identified her. In these circumstances, the testimony of this witness cannot be accepted qua this accused.

2. PW 177 Ishratjahan Parvezhussain Shaikh: This witness has deposed that at around 2:00 to 2:30 in the afternoon, the mob had committed vandalism, arson and looting, and had entered their chawl. Sahejad Chhara (A-26), Ganpat Chhara (A-4) and two Chhara women were in front of the mob. The Chhara women were looting. The witness has, accordingly, identified the other three accused by their names, but has not identified this accused by her name. From the cross-examination of PW-327, the Investigating Officer (SIT), it has been proved that the witness had stated before him that she does not know the names of the two women who were with the two named accused and that she cannot even identify them if she sees them. Thus, insofar as this accused is concerned, even before the Investigating Officer (SIT), this witness had not named her and had in fact stated that she would not be in a position to identify them even if she saw them. This court, after appreciating the evidence of this witness has not accepted her testimony qua the accused named by her.

3. PW 212 Rukshana Bundubhai Qureshi: This witness has deposed that while she was running to escape from the mob, near the passage of the water tank, she suddenly saw that Suresh Langda had inflicted a blow with a gupti (dagger) in her mother's stomach. Naresh, Haresh, Suresh Langdo, Guddu Chhara and others were present in the mob which was assaulting her mother and Jaybhavani's daughter was giving water to the people in the mob. This witness has correctly identified this accused as Jaybhavani's daughter (A-61) in the dock. In her cross-examination, the witness has been confronted with her statement recorded by the police on 11.5.2002, to the effect that she had not named this accused at the relevant time. This omission has been proved through the testimony of the concerned assignee officer who has admitted that the witness in the statement recorded by him, has not Bhavani's daughter nor attributed any role to her.

This court after appreciating the evidence on this witness has found that from the cross-examination of the witness and the testimony of PW-278, the assignee officer who had recorded her statement dated 11.5.2002, it has been established that the witness had not named any accused in the statement recorded by him. Therefore, for the first time, the names of the accused have been disclosed by this witness in her statement recorded by the SIT in the year 2008. The court has found that the submission of the witness that though at the relevant time she had named the accused, the concerned police officer had not recorded such names, does not merit acceptance, for the reason that the accused named by this witness have also been named by the other witnesses, and the concerned Investigating Officer/assignee officer has recorded their names; therefore, there would be no reason for the Investigating Officer/assignee to not record the names of such accused in her statement. Therefore, it would be very hazardous to rely upon the testimony of this witness to the extent she has named the accused who have allegedly committed the offence when such names have come on record more than six years after the incident. The testimony of this witness would, therefore, be of no avail to the prosecution to prove the charge against this accused.

4. PW-137 Rafikanbanu Rahemanbhai Saiyed: This witness has deposed that her three daughters, Rukshana, Zarina and Afsana were with her. Bhavani's daughters – Ramila (Accused No.61) and Geeta (Accused No.56) had set her daughter Afsana on fire. Her daughter Afsana was saved, whereas her son Samsad and daughters Ruksana and Zarina, all the three, have died in this incident. Her all three children had breathed their last in her presence. Ramila and Geeta had thrown petrol and diesel soaked quilts on her daughter Afsana's waist and set her ablaze. The witness has identified this accused in the dock.

However, in the cross-examination of this witness a material omission amounting to a contradiction has been brought on record to the effect that she had not stated the facts regarding her three daughters Rukshana, Zarina and Afsana being with her and Bhavanisingh's daughters Ramila and Geeta having burnt her daughter Afsana, in her statement recorded by the SIT. Such omission has been proved through the testimony of PW 327 the Investigating Officer (SIT), who has admitted that the witness had not given the names of Ramila and Geeta and had also not attributed any role to them in the statement recorded by him. Thus this witness has named accused Ramila and Geeta for the first time before the court. This court, after appreciating the evidence of this witness, has found that apart from the fact that the version given by the witness has come up for the first time at a highly belated stage, even such version is full of contradictions and material omissions and the credibility of the witness has been fully dented during the course of cross-examination by the defence. Considering the overall testimony of this witness, this court has found that she does not come across as a credible and truthful witness and it would be very hazardous to base a conviction on such evidence. The evidence of this witness, therefore, would not help the prosecution in establishing the charge against the accused named by her.

601. FINDINGS: Thus, none of the four witnesses who have testified against this accused have been found to be reliable and creditworthy insofar as this accused is concerned. In these circumstances, no infirmity can be found in the order of acquittal passed by the trial court in case of this accused.

The order of acquittal, therefore, deserves to be sustained.

FINAL ORDER

Criminal Appeal No.1812 of 2012 and 1050 of 2013

602. The appeals against the acquittal of respondent No.1 Umeshbhai Surabhai Bharwad (accused No.3 in Session Case No.235/2009), respondent No.7 Padmendrasinh Jashwantsinh Rajput (accused No.19 in Sessions Case No.236/2009) and respondent No.9 Rajkumar alias Raju son of Gopiram Chaumal (accused No.24 in Sessions Case No.236/2009) are hereby allowed. The impugned common judgment and order of acquittal dated 31st August, 2012/ 5th October, 2012 passed by the learned Special Judge, Court for conducting Speedy Trial of Riot Cases, situated at SIT Courts, Ahmedabad in favour of respondent No.1 Umeshbhai Surabhai Bharwad (accused No.3 in Session Case No.235/2009), respondent No.7 Padmendrasinh Jashwantsinh Rajput (accused No.19 in Sessions Case No.236/2009) and respondent No.9 Rajkumar alias Raju son of Gopiram Chaumal (accused No.24 in Sessions Case No.236/2009) is hereby set aside and they are convicted of the offences punishable under sections 143, 144, 147, 148 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and sections 295, 427, 435, 436, 153, 153A and 153A (2) read with section 149 of the Penal Code and, as well as under section 188 of the Penal Code and section 135 (1) of the Bombay Police Act. The order of sentence is required to be passed after giving the accused an opportunity of hearing and hence, these appeals are directed to be posted for hearing on the question of sentence on 9th May, 2018.

603. The appeals are dismissed insofar as the other respondents are concerned. The judgment and order of acquittal in favour of accused No.6 in Sessions Case No.235/2009 Rajesh @ Panglo son of Kantilal Parmar (Chhara), accused No.7 in Session Case No.235/2009 Champak Himmatlal Rathod (Chhara), accused No.9 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009, Amrat alias Kalu Babubhai Rathod (Chhara) accused No.11 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009 Kaptansing Javansing Parmar (Chhara), accused No.17 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009 Nandlal alias Jeki son of Vishnubhai Chhara, accused No.23 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009 Ashok Silvant Parmar (Chhara), accused No.31 in Sessions Case No.241 of 2009 Ankur alias Chintu son of Ashokbhai Parmar, accused No.36 in Sessions Case No.243 of 2009 Janaksinh dharamsinh Nehra alias Janak Marathi, accused No.43 in Sessions Case No.245 of 2009 Hareish Parshuram Rohera, accused No.48 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009 Kishanbhai Shankarbhai Mahadik, accused No. 49 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009 Ranchhodbhai Manilal Parmar, accused No.51 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009 Navin Chhaganbhai Bhogekar (Chhara), accused No.54 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009 Nilam Manohar Chaumal (Marathi), accused No. 56 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009 Geetaben daughter of Ratilal alias Jaybhavani Rathod, accused No.57 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009 Pankajkumar Mohanlal Shah, accused No.59 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009 Subhashchandra alias Darji, son of Jagannath Darji, known as Maharashtraian Darji and accused No.61 in Session Case No.270/2009 Ramilaben daughter of Ratilal @ Jaybhavani Somabhai Rathod, is hereby confirmed.

PRAYER FOR COMPENSATION UNDER SECTION 357 OF THE CODE:

604 Mr. Y.N. Ravani, learned counsel for the appellants, submitted that these appeals have also been preferred for compensation under section 357 of the Code, and that irrespective of the compensation which might have been given by the Government; compensation should have been recovered from the accused and given to the victims in exercise of the powers under section 357 of the Code. It was submitted that compensation/reparation should be paid to all those and survivors of brute gender violence like rape, gang rape and other such sexual offences in recognition of and reparation of the fact that these are special offences that require special steps and protection. It was submitted that both the Supreme Court and the National Commission of Women and international law now recognises the deep need for acknowledgment and reparation for gender violence.

605. FINDINGS: As regards the prayer to grant reliefs to victims and survivors of gender violence in accordance with evolving and newly set national and international norms, no such norms have been pointed out to the court during the course of hearing.

606. The prayer for compensation has been made under section 357 of the Code. It may therefore, be germane to refer to the provisions of that section which read thus:

“357. Order to pay compensation.—(1) When a Court imposes a sentence of fine or a sentence (including a sentence of death) of which fine forms a part, the Court may, when passing judgment, order the whole or any part of the fine recovered to be applied—

(a) in defraying the expenses properly incurred in the prosecution;

(b) in the payment to any person of compensation for any loss or injury caused by the offence, when compensation is, in the opinion of the Court, recoverable by such person in a Civil Court;

(c) when any person is convicted of any offence for having caused the death of another person or of having abetted the commission of such an offence, in paying compensation to the persons who are, under the Fatal Accidents Act, 1855 (13 of 1855), entitled to recover damages from the person sentenced for the loss resulting to them from such death;

(d) when any person is convicted of any offence which includes theft, criminal misappropriation, criminal breach of trust, or cheating, or of having dishonestly received or retained, or of having voluntarily assisted in disposing of, stolen property knowing or having reason to believe the same to be stolen, in compensating any bona fide purchaser of such property for the loss of the same if such property is restored to the possession of the person entitled thereto.

(2) If the fine is imposed in a case which is subject to appeal, no such payment shall be made before the period allowed for presenting the appeal has elapsed, or, if an appeal be presented, before the decision of the appeal.

(3) When a Court imposes a sentence, of which fine does not form a part, the Court may, when passing judgment, order the accused person to pay, by way of compensation, such amount as may be specified in the order to the person who has suffered any loss or injury by reason of the act for which the accused person has been so sentenced.

(4) An order under this section may also be made by an Appellate Court or by the High Court or Court of Session when exercising its powers of revision.

(5) At the time of awarding compensation in any subsequent civil suit relating to the same matter, the Court shall take into account any sum paid or recovered as compensation under this section.

607. Thus, sub-section (1) of section 357 of the Code provides for application of the fine recovered under an order of sentence of fine in the manner provided therein. In the opinion of this court, the present case will not fall under any of the contingencies mentioned therein, in which case the fine can be applied. The relief claimed in the present case would, therefore, fall within the ambit of sub-section (3) of section 357 of the Code which provides for making an order for payment of compensation to the person who has suffered any loss or injury by reason of the act for which the accused person has so been sentenced. However, sub-section (3) of section 357 of the Code can be invoked where fine does not form part of the sentence. In the present case, there is a sentence of fine in respect of each offence in case of each accused who has been convicted. The provisions of sub-section (3) of section 357 of the Code, therefore, would not be applicable. The most significant aspect of the matter is that such relief for payment of compensation has been claimed in the acquittal appeals viz. against the accused who have been acquitted and not in the appeals filed against those accused who have been convicted. Since an order of compensation can be made against the accused person who has been sentenced, the question of making any order for payment of compensation in case of accused who are acquitted would not arise. Out of the accused against whom acquittal appeals had been preferred, the appeals have been allowed only qua three accused, who have been held guilty of commission of the offences committed on the road, which are offences other than offences against the human body. The appellants have prayed for compensation for the survivors of brute gender violence like rape, gang rape and other such sexual offences, therefore, the question of ordering any of these three accused to pay compensation to victims of gender violence would not arise. Under the circumstances, no order for payment of compensation as prayed for by the appellants can be passed in this appeal.

PRAYER FOR RESORTING TO THE REMEDY AVAILABLE UNDER SECTION 391 OF THE CODE:

609. Mr. Y.N. Ravani learned counsel for the appellants submitted that in view of the provision of section 391 of the Code, the appellate court, if it thinks additional evidence to be necessary, shall record its reasons and may either take such evidence itself or direct it to be taken by a Magistrate, or when the appellate court is a High Court, by a Court of Sessions or a Magistrate. It was submitted that in the facts of the present case, for the reasons set out in the application Exhibit-2558 (Annexure "F" to the memorandum of appeal), additional evidence of prosecution witnesses is required to be recorded.

610. FINDINGS: Insofar as the relief for taking additional evidence is concerned, it may be noted that this appeal has been heard right from December, 2016 and it is only in August, 2017, at the when the hearing of the appeals was on the verge of being completed that the learned counsel for the appellants has raised this plea before the court. Apart from the fact that no specific case has been made out for taking additional evidence, in the opinion of this court, considering such request at this stage would unnecessarily not only delay the process, but might result in setting at naught all the hearing that has taken place so far. Moreover, no such relief has been claimed in the conviction appeals. Therefore, it would not be in the interest of justice to consider such plea at this stage of hearing. If the appellants were serious about this prayer, the learned counsel should have taken steps to ensure that such plea was heard soon after the appeals came to be filed instead of waiting till the hearing of the conviction appeals was concluded. A perusal of application Exhibit-2558 (Annexure "F" to the memorandum of appeal) reveals that the same is in the nature of an application under section 319 of the Code for arraigning various persons as accused and is not an application under section 391 of the Code.

611. The prayer for resorting to the remedy available under section 391 of the Code, is, therefore, rejected.

FURTHER INVESTIGATION UNDER SECTION 173(8) (2) OF THE CODE:

612. The appellants have also prayed to pass orders under section 173(8)(2) of the Code, ordering further investigation by an independent agency into authentication, ownership and location of the Mobile Phone Records, CD, as the investigation by the SIT has been found to be seriously wanting and lacking in thoroughness by the learned Sessions Judge.

613. Mr. Y.N. Ravani, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the trial court in page 792 to 799 of the impugned judgment has referred to the mobile call details and has given detailed findings as to how the Special Investigation Team failed to clinch or authenticate simple aspects of the investigation related to ownership and location of mobile phone records despite being applied for. It was submitted that the trial court has erred in not using the powers given to the court under section 311 of the Code and order a complete investigation to ensure integrity and protection of evidence. It was submitted that this court may therefore, rectify the lacunae and order further investigation by an independent agency to ensure that complete justice is done in this case. It was submitted that the failure of the Special Investigation Team to thoroughly and rigourously investigate and authenticate ownership and location of mobile phone owners through service providers and proper statements has in fact rendered this aspect of the SIT investigation weak and puerile.

613.1 In support of his submissions, the learned counsel placed reliance upon the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Popular Muthiah v. State represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296, wherein it has been held thus:

“27. While exercising its appellate power, the jurisdiction of the High Court although is limited but, in our opinion, there exists a distinction but a significant one being that the High Court can exercise its revisional jurisdiction and/or inherent jurisdiction not only when an application therefor is filed but also suo motu. It is not in dispute that suo motu power can be exercised by the High Court while exercising its revisional jurisdiction. There may not, therefore, be an embargo for the High Court to exercise its extraordinary inherent jurisdiction while exercising other jurisdictions in the matter. Keeping in view the intention of Parliament, while making the new law the emphasis of Parliament being “a case before the court” in contradistinction from “a person who is arrayed as an accused before it” when the High Court is seized with the entire case although would exercise a limited jurisdiction in terms of Section 386 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the same, in our considered view, cannot be held to limit its other powers and in particular that of Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure in relation to the matter which is not before it.

28. In certain situations, the court exercises a wider jurisdiction e.g. it may pass adverse remarks against an investigator or a prosecutor or a judicial officer, although they are not before it. Expunction of such remarks may also be directed by the High Court at a later stage even suo motu or at the instance of the person aggrieved.

29. The High Court while, thus, exercising its revisional or appellate power, may exercise its inherent powers. Inherent power of the High Court can be exercised, it is trite, both in relation to substantive as also procedural matters.

30. In respect of the incidental or supplemental power, evidently, the High Court can exercise its inherent jurisdiction irrespective of the nature of the proceedings. It is not trammelled by procedural restrictions in that:

(i) Power can be exercised suo motu in the interest of justice. If such a power is not conceded, it may even lead to injustice to an accused.

(ii) Such a power can be exercised concurrently with the appellate or revisional jurisdiction and no formal application is required to be filed therefor.

(iii) It is, however, beyond any doubt that the power under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is not unlimited. It can inter alia be exercised where the Code is silent, where the power of the court is not treated as exhaustive, or there is a specific provision in the Code; or the statute does not fall within the purview of the Code because it involves application of a special law. It acts ex debito justitiae. It can, thus, do real and substantial justice for which alone it exists."

614. FINDINGS: The learned counsel for the appellants has urged that further investigation be directed to be carried out in connection with the deficiencies in the investigation conducted by the SIT as noted by the trial court. From the averments made in the memorandum of appeal it appears that previously an application Exhibit 2233 came to be filed on behalf of the victim witnesses seeking further investigation by an independent agency into authentication, ownership and location of the Mobile Phone Records CD, as the investigation by the SIT has been found to be seriously wanting and lacking in thoroughness. The application was ultimately not pressed as it was conveyed by the investigating agency SIT, that it had already made further investigation on the call details supplied to it, but however, it would not hesitate to look into the clues provided by the victims, the SIT would also look into the matter afresh is so required. It is further averred that the appellant witnesses had already given sufficient material to the SIT and therefore, it was the duty of the investigating agency to investigate independently. Upon this assurance for further investigation was not pressed and was ultimately rejected vide order dated 7.12.2011.

615. Thus, at the relevant time, during the pendency of the trial, an application for further investigation was made, which according to the appellants was not pressed in view of certain assurance given by the SIT. Now, such relief is claimed in this appeal. In this regard it may be pertinent to note that this is an appeal under section 372 of the Code, though it is stated to be an appeal under section 372 read with section 391 read with section 482 of the Code. The proviso to section 372 of the Code confers a right upon the victim to prefer an appeal against any order passed by the court acquitting the accused or convicting for a lesser offence or imposing inadequate compensation, and such appeal shall lie to the court to which an appeal lies against an order of conviction of such court. Therefore, what can be subject matter of challenge in this appeal is (i) an order of acquittal; (ii) an order of conviction for a lesser offence; or (iii) an order imposing inadequate compensation. Therefore, in an appeal under section 372 of the Code, the victim cannot seek further investigation or recording of additional evidence under section 391 of the Code. In respect of such reliefs, separate applications have to be filed under the relevant provisions of the Code.

616. Moreover, it may be noted that this appeal has been preferred in the year 2012. It appears that at the relevant time no request had been made to the court to direct further investigation in the matter. Even when the appeals were taken up for hearing by this Bench, no request was made to order further investigation. In this case, the record is very bulky, running into a hundred volumes, out of which about 30 volumes of the evidence have been read and re-read by the learned counsel for the respective parties during the course of hearing of the appeal. The court has been regularly taking up these appeals in the second session from 19th December, 2016 and for almost the entire day since the reopening after the summer break. Throughout this time, the learned counsel for the appellant did not deem it fit to request that the prayer for further investigation be considered, and now at this stage, when the learned counsel for the accused and the learned Special Public Prosecutor have concluded their arguments and the learned advocate for the victims are being heard in the acquittal appeals and the hearing of the appeals is on the verge of being completed, the request for further investigation is put forth. Therefore, passing any orders, as prayed for, would amount to delaying the conclusion of all the appeals. If at all the appellants were serious regarding such relief, they ought to have filed separate applications under the appropriate provisions of law at the time when the appeals came to be filed so that if the court deemed it fit to direct further investigation, the same would have been completed by the time the appeals came up for hearing. Under the circumstances, apart from the fact that such relief cannot be prayed for in an appeal under section 372 of the Code, the parties by their conduct are disentitled to the grant of such relief inasmuch as at this stage of hearing of the matter, the appellants cannot be heard to say that the court may defer the judgment and direct further investigation in the case. For this reason also the prayer for further investigation does not merit consideration.

XXXVII ENHANCEMENT APPEALS

617. The State of Gujarat has preferred three appeals seeking enhancement of the sentence awarded to the accused.

618. Criminal Appeal No.1598 of 2013 has been filed by the State seeking enhancement of the sentenced awarded to Murlibhai Naranbhai Sindhi alias Murli (accused No.2 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009), Manojbhai @ Manoj Sindhi (accused No.41 in Sessions Case No.245 of 2009), Bipinbhai @

Bipin Autowala S/o. Umedrai Panchal (accused No.44 in Session Case No.245 of 2009) and Dinesh @ Tinio S/o. Govindbhai Barge (Marathi) (accused No.55 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009).

619. Criminal Appeal No.1599 of 2013 has been filed seeking enhancement of the sentence awarded to Babubhai alias Babu Bajrangi, son of Rajabhai Patel (accused No.18 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), Suresh alias Richard alias Suresh Langdo (accused No.22 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), Premchand alias Tiwari Conductor (accused No.25 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), Suresh alias Sehjad Dalubhai Netliker (Marathi Chharo) (accused No.26 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009), Manubhai Keshabhai (Maruda) (accused No.28 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009) and Shashikant alias Tinio Marathi son of Yuvraj Patil (accused No.30 in Sessions Case No.236 of 2009).

620. Criminal Appeal No.1600 of 2013 has been filed by the State of Gujarat seeking enhancement of the sentence awarded to respondent No.1 - Naresh Agarsinh Chhara (Accused No.1 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009), respondent No.2 - Haresh alias Hario son of Jivanlal alias Agarsing Rathod (Chhara) (Accused No.10 in Sessions Case No.235 of 2009), respondent No.3 - Mukesh (Vakil) Ratilal alias Jaybhavani Rathod (Accused No.40 in Sessions Case No.245 of 2009), respondent No.4 - Sachin Nagindas Modi (Accused No.52 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009), respondent No.5 - Vilas alias Vilio Prakashbhai Sonar (Accused No.53 in Sessions Case No.246 of 2009) and respondent No.6 - Pintu Dalpatbhai Jadeja (Chhara) (Accused No.60 in Sessions Case No.270 of 2009).

621. Mr. Prashant Desai, learned Special Public Prosecutor, submitted that the respondents No.1, 2 and 3 in Criminal Case No.1598 of 2013 namely the accused No.2, 41 and 44 respectively, have been convicted and sentenced to undergo a total imprisonment of thirty one years with the condition that remission, if any, would be admissible only after the said respondents have served out a sentence of twenty one years. Insofar as respondent No.4 viz. accused No.55 is concerned he has been sentenced to undergo total imprisonment of twenty four years with a condition that remission can be allowed only after he has served out fourteen years of the sentence. It was submitted that the State is seeking enhancement of the sentences of the respondents to rigorous imprisonment for twenty five years without remission.

621.1 Insofar as Criminal Appeal No.1599 of 2013 is concerned, the respondent No.1 therein viz. accused No.18 has been sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment for the remaining period of his life subject to remission or commutation at the instance of the Government for sufficient reason only together with fine. The respondents No.2 and 3 viz. accused No.22 and 25 have been sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment to serve a minimum sentence of twenty one years in jail without remissions before consideration of their case for premature release as well as fine. Accused No. 22 has also been convicted of the offence under section 354 and 376 of the Penal Code and sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment for two years and ten years respectively as well as fine. Respondent No.4 viz. accused No.26 has been convicted to serve a minimum sentence of 21 years in jail without remissions, before consideration of his case for premature release as well as fine. Respondents No. 5 and 6 viz. accused No.28 and 30 respectively, have been sentence to life imprisonment in usual terms with fine. It was submitted that the State is seeking enhancement of the sentence in case of all these accused to rigorous imprisonment to full term of life, that is, till the remainder of natural life, without remission for their respective convictions.

621.2 Insofar Criminal Appeal No.1600 of 2013 is concerned, the respondents No.1 and 2 have been convicted of the offence punishable under section 302 read with section 149 of the Penal Code and are sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment to serve a minimum sentence of twenty one years in jail without remissions before consideration of their case for premature release and to pay fine of Rs.5,000/- (Rupees five thousand only), in default, to suffer further rigorous imprisonment for forty days, whereas for the same offence respondents No.3, 4, 5 and 6, have been sentenced to life imprisonment (to be meant in usual terms) and to pay a fine of Rs.3,000/- (Rupees three thousand only), in default, to suffer further rigorous imprisonment for twenty days. It was submitted that the State is seeking enhancement of the sentence in the case of all these accused to rigorous imprisonment without remission in connection with the conviction for the offence punishable under section 302 read with section 149 of the Penal Code.

621.3 It was submitted that accused No.1, 2, 10, 22, 25, 41 and 44 are among the accused who have been implicated in the crime committed for the entire day by different reliable witnesses and these seven accused were also leading conspirators of the entire conspiracy and some were close aides of accused No.37. The gruesome and barbaric acts of the accused and more particularly the above mentioned seven accused have crossed all limits of inhumanity. The dastardly acts committed by these accused by killing as many as ninety six victims by burning them alive at the site of the Muslims chawls are horrifying and terrifying.

621.4 It was submitted that the prosecution has established that the entire incident which resulted in the murder of ninety six persons was an act of cold blooded and brutal murder where no provocation was offered by the helpless and innocent victims, and hence, this case falls in the category of "rarest of rare" cases without there being any mitigating circumstances. It was submitted that therefore, all the three appeals deserve to be allowed by enhancing the sentence as prayed for.

622. FINDINGS: At the outset it may be noted that insofar as accused No.55 Dinesh @ Tinio S/o Govind Barge (Marathi), accused No.28 Manubhai Keshabhai (Maruda), accused No.30 Shashikant @ Tinio Marathi S/o. Yuvraj Patil, accused No.40 Mukesh (Vakil) Ratilal alias Jaybhavani Rathod, accused No.52 Sachin Nagindas Modi, accused No.53 Vilas alias Vilio Prakashbhai Sonar and accused No.60 Pintu Dalpatbhai Jadeja (Chhara) are concerned, they have been acquitted by this court by giving them the benefit of doubt. Hence the question of enhancement of sentence does not arise in their case.

623. Insofar as the remaining accused are concerned, it may be noted that while on the one hand it has been submitted by the prosecution that this case falls in the category of rarest of rare cases, it does not seek death penalty in case of any of the accused. Insofar as accused No.2, 41 and 44 are concerned the prosecution seeks enhancement of sentence from twenty one years to twenty five years without remission and in case of accused No.18, 22, 25 and 26, it seeks imprisonment for a full term of life without any remission. Insofar as accused No.1 and 10 are concerned, it seeks enhancement of the sentence to rigorous imprisonment for minimum actual imprisonment for thirty years without remission. Accused No.18 has already been sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment for the remaining period of his natural life subject to remission or commutation at the instance of the Government for sufficient reason only. Accused No.22, 25, 26, 1 and 10 have been sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment to serve a minimum sentence of twenty one years in jail without remissions before considering their case for premature release. In case of accused No.22 he has also been sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment for two years and ten years respectively for the offences punishable under section 354 and 376 of the Penal Code.

624. On behalf of the prosecution reliance has been placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Swamy Shraddananda alias Murali Manohar Mishra v. State of Karnataka, (2008) 13 SCC 767, wherein it has been held thus:

“92. The matter may be looked at from a slightly different angle. The issue of sentencing has two aspects. A sentence may be excessive and unduly harsh or it may be highly disproportionately inadequate. When an appellant comes to this Court carrying a death sentence awarded by the trial court and confirmed by the High Court, this Court may find, as in the present appeal, that the case just falls short of the rarest of the rare category and may feel somewhat reluctant in endorsing the death sentence. But at the same time, having regard to the nature of the crime, the Court may strongly feel that a sentence of life imprisonment subject to remission normally works out to a term of 14 years would be grossly disproportionate and inadequate. What then should the Court do? If the Court's option is limited only to two punishments, one a sentence of imprisonment, for all intents and purposes, of not more than 14 years and the other death, the Court may feel tempted and find itself nudged into endorsing the death penalty. Such a course would indeed be disastrous. A far more just, reasonable and proper course would be to expand the options and to take over what, as a matter of fact, lawfully belongs to the Court i.e. the vast hiatus between 14 years' imprisonment and death. It needs to be emphasised that the Court would take recourse to the expanded option primarily because in the facts of the case, the sentence of 14 years' imprisonment would amount to no punishment at all."

625. In the present case, the trial court appears to have kept in mind the principles enunciated in the above decision and has, accordingly, sentenced the accused to imprisonment for more than fourteen years. Besides, if one considers the reliefs prayed for by the appellant, in case of accused No.2, 41 and 44, it seeks enhancement of the sentence from rigorous imprisonment for twenty one years without remissions to rigorous imprisonment for twenty five years without remissions. No rationale has been explained for seeking four years more of imprisonment. Once the trial court has exercised its discretion and has sentenced the accused to rigorous imprisonment for twenty one years without remissions, some specific case has to be put forth as to why such imprisonment is inadequate and more so, the logic behind seeking four more years of imprisonment.

626. In case of accused No.22, 25 and 26, who have also been sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment for twenty one years without remission, the appellant seeks enhancement of the sentence to rigorous imprisonment for full term of life, that is, for the remaining period of the natural life of those accused without any remission. Whereas in case of accused No.1 and 10 who also have been sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment for twenty one years without remission, the appellant seeks enhancement of such sentence to thirty years without remission. However, nothing has been pointed out as to why in case of these accused the sentence is required to be enhanced more than in the case of accused No.2, 41 and 44 who too have been sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for twenty one years without remission. In case of accused No.18, he has already been sentence to rigorous imprisonment for the remaining period of his natural life subject to remission or commutation at the instance of the Government for sufficient reason only. Now the appellant seeks enhancement of the sentence to rigorous imprisonment for the remaining period of his natural life without any remission, which is quite incomprehensible for the reason that whether or not to grant remission is within the domain of the appropriate Government, namely the appellant herein. Under the circumstances, it is always open for the appellant not to grant remission to the said accused. Moreover, in the appeal filed by accused No.18 against his conviction and sentence, this court has reduced the sentence to rigorous life imprisonment for twenty one years without remission and fine of rupees five thousand, and in default of payment of fine to undergo further imprisonment for forty days.

627. Another aspect of the matter which requires to be mentioned here is that during the pendency of the appeals, several applications for temporary bail on various grounds came to be made by these accused. However, at no point of time have such applications been opposed by the State on the ground that the offences committed are so heinous that the accused are not entitled to the grant of temporary bail nor has it ever been pointed out to this bench that the trial court has sentenced them to rigorous imprisonment without any remissions. It, therefore, appears that the State Government is merely paying lip service and is not really interested in keeping the respondent behind the bars as is sought to be contended in these appeals for enhancement of the sentence imposed by the trial court.

628. In view of the above discussion, no case is made out for enhancement of the sentence as prayed for. The appeals are, accordingly, dismissed. Record and proceedings be returned to the concerned court.

Criminal Appeal No.1709 of 2012:

At this stage, the learned counsel appearing for the appellants has submitted that the appellant No.2 Kishan Khubchand Korani and appellant No.4 Manojbhai alias Manoj

Sindhi son of Renumal Kukrani, known as Manoj Videowala and Manoj Tyrewala are on regular bail on medical grounds and hence, sometime may be granted to them to surrender to the judicial custody.

The court has considered the request made by the learned counsel for the appellants which appears to be reasonable. Hence, the appellants are granted time of six weeks to surrender to judicial custody.
